Athletic Banquet Slated For LHS Athletes March 29

Lincoln senior high school athletes will be honored Tuesday, March 29, at the annual athletic banquet to be held at 6:30 p.m. in Zion Lutheran church, according to Harold Rasmusen, general chairman. Bill Fitch, head basketball coach at the University of North Dakota in Grand Forks, will be the guest speaker.

Bob Carlson will serve as master of ceremonies with Rev. Leland Steen to give the invocation. Rick Contos, president of the Thief River Falls Jaycees, will give the welcome in behlaf of the sponsoring organizations—Jaycees, Lions, Rotary and Champber of Commerce. High school athletes are guests of these organizations at the banquet each year.

Serving on the arrangements committee with Rasmussen are Wendell Olson (ticket chairman), Al Bacon, Roger Tunberg, Jon Larson, Jarvis Prichard and Lewis Helfner. Tickets at $1.75 each may be purchased from the above members, or from Dr. W. P. Kaisler, Al Torkelson, William Frolland, W. G. Maves, Anderson Bros., Glenn Peterson, James Dale, Orvis Olen, Klem Gigstad and Del Seefeldt. Tickets may also be purchased at Larson Music company or the Chamber of Commerce office.

Special music during the evening will be presented by a group including Larry Johnson, Howard Hindler, Stevt Lehr and Dan Bacon.

Bill Fitch has been head basketball coach at UND since April 30, 1962, after two years at Creighton university and four years at Coe college. In the past two seasons the sioux teams have won 51 and 61 games, earned two North Central conference championships, captured two holiday tournaments and placed third and fourth in the NC tournaments and collected two NCAA midwest regional titles. In two years as freshman coach at Creighton, Fitch directed his teams to a 29-1 record.

North Central Station Here Has Best February

North Central Airlines set a new company record for February when it boarded 127,166 passengers, according to Frank N. Buttomer, vice president of traffic and sales. Thief River Falls boardings in February totaled 17—the best February in history for the local station.

The February passenger traffic represented a 24 per cent increase over the same month last year, Buttomer said. Passenger miles flown in February were 20,906,628—22 per cent ahead of 1965.

Cargo traffic gains in February were also substantial. Some 288,110 ton miles of cargo (including air freight, express, and mail) were carried for a 21 per cent increase over 1965.

Freight ton miles gained 27 per cent, with a new high for February of 156,925. Mail ton miles increased 24 per cent as 60,781 were flown. Express ton miles rose seven per cent to 70,404.

While establishing the new February records, the company completed over 97 per cent of its 1,206,200 scheduled miles.

Since inaugurating service in 1948, North Central has maintained a perfect safety record. The airline has carried 12 million passengers and flown 1,975,000,000 passenger miles without a single fatality or injury to passengers or crew members.

North Central serves 90 cities in 10 states and Canada over a 7,000-mile route system.

Trinity Father And Son Banquet Slated Tuesday

Annual father-son banquet at Trinity Lutheran church will be held Tuesday at 6:30 p.m. in the church parlors with Oscar Almquist coach of the Roseau high speaker. Attending with Almquist will be Bryan Grand, all-state center on the 1965-66 Rams team and winner of the award for the outstanding player in the state hockey tournament.

Martin Gulbranson and William Herzog are co-chairmen of ticket sales for the banquet with tickets selling for $1.50 for fathers and 75 cents for sons. Tickets for the turkey dinner will also be available at the door.

Ann Kinsman Wins County Spelling Contest Tuesday

Ann Kinsman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kinsman of rt. 4, Thief River Falls, was the first place winner in the Minneapolis Tribune spelling contest for Pennington county held at the Goodridge school Tuesday. She is an eighth grade student at St. Bernard's school and is taught by Sister Caroline.

It took three extra spelling lists of 10 words to determine the first and second place winners in the contest. Second place winner was Robert L. Armstrong, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Armstrong of St. Hilaire. He is in the seventh grade and is taught by Mrs. Tom Wanle. Third place winner was also from St. Hilaire's seventh grade and was Gary Lynn Rux, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gail Rux of rt 5, Thief Rier Falls.

Two lists of 10 words were needed to determine the fourth and fifth positions in the contest. Fourth place winner was Richard Hanson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Hanson of Goodridge. He is in the seventh grade at Goodridge, taught by Erling Fugelso. Tom Hall from St. Bernard's eighth grade was the fifth place winner. He is the son of Mr. and Mr. Bruce Hall of Thief River Falls.

Pronouncing master was Scott Hammon, director of speech and drama at Plummer high seool.

One-Day Seminar For Women Slated Here April 14th

Financing government will be the subject of five one-day town and country public affairs conferences for women to be held in Minnesota in April. One of these sessions will be April 14 at the American Legion clubrooms in Thief River Falls.

The meetings are sponsored by the University of Minnesota's agricultural extension service to give leaders of various women's groups information on public spending and taxation.

Other conferences are scheduled for April 13, Erie Junior cafe, Detroit Lakes; April 19, Perkins Pancake House, Duluth; April 20, Odd Fellows hall, Aitkin; and April 21, First Methodist church, Bemidji. Similar conferences were held last fall in six locations in the state.

Speakers will be Mrs. Carole B. Yoho, extension specialist in public affairs; Arley Waldo, extension economist in public affairs; and Robert Snyder, extension economist in land use, University of Minnesota.

Subjects for discussion will include the roles played by the federal, state and local governments, services provided by each level and the policy-making process of formulating tax and spending policies.

Information on the conferences is available from county home agents.

"South Pacific" Will Be Staged by Lincoln Chorus

SAILORS and Marines stationed on a South Pacific island during World War II, pace the cargo-strewn beach in frustration, because while they have all the comforts of home, they "ain't got dames", and like the song they are singing says, "There is nothing like a dame". The "dames" soon appear on the scene, however, in the form of corps nurses. The scene is from Rodgers' and Hammerstein's "South Pacific" to be presented by the Lincoln high school music department Friday, Saturday and Monday evenings in the school auditorium. Curtain time is 7:30 p.m. on all three nights.

Entertainment with a South Sea flavor awaits everyone who attends the Lincoln high school music department's production of Rodgers' and Hammerstein's "South Pacific" scheduled for a three-night run at the scool auditorium starting Friday night. Curtain time is 7:30 p.m. Fiday, Satuday and Monday nights.

Against a lavish background of tropical scenery, a large cast of Lincoln chorus members portrays a group of sailors, marines, Frenchmen, Tonkinese natives and corps nuses who occupy a South Pacific island duing Woid Wa II. As of the opening scene, Ensign Nellie Forbush has fallen in love with Emile de Becque, a French plantation owner who fled to the island after killing a man in a fight in France 25 years previously.

Another romance that enters the picture is that of Lt. Joseph Cable, a young Marine lieutenant fresh from the front, and Liat, the shy and innocent daughter of Bloody Mary. Laughs are created as Bloody Mary incurs the warth of Capt. George Brackett by selling the sailers tempting souvenirs made by the native girls on the nearby island of Bali Ha'I which has been declared off-limits.

Comedy turns to drama as Emile and Lt. Cable undertake a dangerous coast-watching mission on a Japanese-held island and Nellie, Capt. Brackett and others listen anxiously in the radio room for a message from the two men.

Ensign Forbush is played by Karen Ferber, Emile by Bruce Parnham, Lt. Cable by George Larson, Liat by Elaine Mortenson, Bloody Mary by Mary Kraemer and Capt. Backett by Iven Ose.

Other members of the cast are Mary Grundhaus, Ngana; Bruce Resjad, Jerome; Allen Johnson, Henry; Jackie Myrin, Bloody Marys assistant; Tom Cummings, Abner; Paul Stokke, Stewpot; Howad Hidler, Luther Bills; Gary Olson, professor; Mike Gulbranson, Commdr. William Harbison; Tim Dalzell, Yeoman Herbert Quale; Mike Anderson, Sgt. Kenneth Johnson; Jerry Nesland, Seabee Richard West; Wayne Pound, Seabee Morton Wise; and Billy Olson, Sea Tom O'Brien;

Also Rod Colliver, Radio Operato Bob McCaffey; Caig Folkedahl, Maine Cpl. Hamilton, Steeves; Ron Olson, Staff Sgt. Thomas Hassinger; Mark Halverson, Pet: Victor Jerome; Mark Hanson, Pet. Sven Larson; Dennis Larson, Sgt. Jack Waters; Janet Flom, Lt Genevieve Marshall; Emily Hoel, Ensign Lisa Manelli; Bonnie VeVea, Ensign Connie Walewski; Jane Grundhaus, Ensign Janet McGregor; Becky Berg, Ensign Besse Noonan; Alyce Weckwerth, Ensign Pamela Whitmore; Tami Steen, Ensign Sue Yaeger; Jodi Martin, Ensign Cora MacRae; Brenda Gul-

Gatzke Meeting To Discuss Duck Damage, Drainage

To discuss the problems of duck depredation, crop damage and drainage a public metting will be held Wednesday, March 3, at 2 p.m. in the Gatzke school gymnasium. Farmers, sportsmen and representatives of state and federal wildlife and conservation organizations are expected to be in attendance. Lunch will be served following the session and all interested persons are encouraged to attend.

Local Airman Is Pictured in Army Paper in Vietnam

Pictured recently in the Asian edition of "Stars and Stripes", newspaper for U. S. military personnel, was A-1C Gene S. Sannes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gil Sannes, of rt. 2 Thief River Falls. He is serving at Cam Ranh Bay, Vietnam, and is scheduled to return to the United States next November.

The article and picture dealt with providing fuel for F-4C Phantom fighter planes where permanent facilities were not yet available. A six-inch pipeline was built from a tanker ship anchored in the bay to the air strip where the planes are fueled, a distance of seven miles. The pipeline can move up to 30,000 gallons per hour.

Airman Sannes was shown assisting in refueling one of the fighters.

Urge Elderly To Seek Medicare Enrollment Here

To handle applications of all elderly persons who wish to sign up for medicare, a representative of the Social Security administration will be at the Thief River Falls city auditorium on Friday from 1 to 2 p.m.

Under a grant from the Office of Economic Opportunity, medicare workers have been securing applications throughout the area served by the Inter-County Community Council, according to Edwin Bilek, director. Because of adverse weather conditions, however, they have not been able to contact everyone and the Friday hour is being arranged for those who wish to apply before the March 31 deadline.

Persons who do not apply by March 31 will not be able to do so until October of 1967.

Conservation Group Holds Meeting in RLF Thursday

Northwest Association of Conservation clubs held its annual meeting Thursday evening in the American Legion club in Red Lake Falls with a sizeable delegation from Thief River Falls and the Agassiz Refuge present. Lynn Kelfenheim, Red Lake Falls, president, called the meeting to order.

Robert Farmes, area game manager, reported on the deer situation on Randen Ridge, stating that several hundred deer were wintering on the ridge, many of which were snowbound. In the rescue operation, a bulldozer was hired for 30 hours at $10 per hour. In the course of making the trails so the deer could find food, sportsmen found 10 dead deer, nine fawns and one young buck.

Farmes indicated it was not necessary to spend additional funds to rescue these deer as the spring thaw and the work already done was sufficient. It was moved to pay the sum of $200 toward the bill, along with $100 in state funds earmarked for emergency use, and that any excess funds collected for this rescue operation be kept by the association for some future emergency.

A motion was made by Newell Ueland and seconded by Duane Cash that the association oppose the Dodd bill or any similar firearms control bill. The motion carried without opposition.

After some discussion in wich many in attendance participated, a motion was made by Joe Sekula that the secretary be instructed to write to area congressmen favoring appropriation of funds for wildlife development in the National Forest budgets. The motion pertained to all National Forests but particularly to the experimental projects now in progress in the Chippewa National Forest in Minnesota. The motion was seconded by Jim Wills and duly carried.

A report was given on the February 2 meeting at Baudette which dealt with commercial fishing and trawlers on Lake of the Woods. After the discussion, no official action was taken by the organization.

Also discussed was the Juneberry supplement to the Roseau Wildlife Management area. Farmes stated that the Roseau county board of commissioners first approved sale of the are for the project and later withdrew their approval, largely due to opposition from the Western Roseau County Sportsmen's association. No official action was taken by the association.

A discussion was held on small watershed projects. Although no official action was taken, it was apparent that this would be a worthwhile project for the future when guidelines for these projects are more fully developed.

Officers for the coming year were elected. Elected by unanimous ballots were Jerry Hruby, East Grand Forks, president; Howard Kraemer, East Grand Forks, secretary-treasurer; and Joe Sekula, Crookston, director for a three-year term.

Gay Warnecke, secretary of the Pennington County Sportsmen's club presented a resolution which had been passed by the Pennington club at its monthly meeting Wednesday. The resolution, which pertains to appropriation of moneys from the Natural Resources Act of 1961 for acquisition and development of wildlife management areas, was adopted by the association.

First Session in Babysitter Clinic Starts Tuesday

First session in the babysitter clinic being offered by the Thief River Falls Mrs. Jaycees will be held Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the basement meeting room of the Pennington county courthouse in Thief River Falls.

All girls interested in babysitting are encouraged to attend, according to the Mrs. Jaycees, and a clinic fee of one dollar will cover the five sessions to be given.

Speaking at the first session will be a nurse employed at Northwestern hospital and Miss Luxenburg, kindergarten teacher in the local school system. Schedules to speak at the March 29 meeting are Ellsworth Jorgenson, deputy director of Civil defense for Pennington county, and Roy Langevin, Thief River Falls fire chief.

On April 5 a film on artificial respiration will be shown by a representative of Northwestern Bell Telephone company and a demonstration on rescue breathing will be offered.

Conducting the program on April 12 will be a panel of mothers and a member of the local police department. April 19 will be examination night with testing to be conducted and lunch served.

Mothers with regular babysitters are encouraged to pay the registration fee for them so that they can attend the course.

Flag Presented To BPW Club at Dinner-Meeting

At a very solemn ceremony the Flag of the United States of America, a gift from Mrs. Minnie Vorachek, was presented to the Thief River Falls Business and Professional Women at their dinner-meeting Tuesday at the Rex cafe Terrace room. The presentation was made by Mrs. E. O. Peterson at the request of Mrs. Vorachek who is spending the winter in Arizona. In making the presentation, Mrs. Peterson spoke of the significance of the flag and briefly touched upon several rules of flag etiquette. President Anna Zinter accepted the flag on behalf of the club and lead the group in the pledge of Allegiance.

Corresponding with the program topic, "Personal Development" Janice Melvie, Marjorie Dalzell and Clarice Collins emphasized its various phases. In stressing the importance of beauty in personal development, Janice Melvie noted the constant reference made by the commercial world and advertising companies to outward beauty and personal appearances. She stated that although outward appearances were important, they could not be compared to the value of inward beauty—that of living a life for God and showing love, compassion, meekness, temperance and gentleness toward mankind.

The need of education in personal development was stressed by Marjorie Dalzell. She mentioned the excellent growth of the educational system in Thief River Falls and the responsibility of the adults to continue bettering themselves by self-education.

Clarice Collins emphasized the important part the business woman plays in the lives of teenagers and the obligation of the community to elevate the youth by giving them encouragement and recognizing their accomplishments.

Following the program, members were called upon for impromptu acting or for spontaneous answers. Those unable to comply paid a 50-cent fine with a total of $3.50 being added to the treasury.

Reports were made by JoAnne Wedul and Margaret Race of tentative plans for honoring the 1966 graduating girls in Thief River Falls with members giving approval of their plans. It was announced that one of the members of their committe, Marjorie Dalzell, had been promoted and will be transferred to Detroit Lakes, thus leaving a vacancy. Clarice Collins volunteered to fill the vacancy.

Joan Sorum of the Civic and Commerce office was accepted as a new member. In accordance with the by-laws, that past presidents serve on the nominating committee for new officers, Ruth Wilson, JoAnne Wedul and Clarice Collins were selected to act in that capacity. Nominees are to be announced at the April meeting to be followed by election of officers.

Invitations were received to attend the Bemidji BPW annual style show March 28-29 at 8 p.m. at the Bemidji high school and Governor Karl Rolvaag's highway traffic safety seminar in St. Paul April 18. Announcements were made of the District 21 Spring meeting to be held April 24 in Crookston and the State convention at Hibbing May 19-22.

For the dinner-meeting tables were gaily decorated in the St. Patrick day motif featuring green candles, shamrocks and top hats. At each individual place setting was a shamrock decorated favor filled with green and white candy.

Reception At Grygla Honors Gary Groffs

The Grace Lutheran parish hall of Grygla was the scene of a wedding reception Thursday evening, February 17, honoring Mr. and Mrs. Gary Groff who were married that afternoon in Grand Forks, N. D. Mrs. Groff is the former Betty Sistad, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Palmer Sistad of Grygla.

For the event the honored couple and their attendants, Miss Fern Hovet and Al Carlson, were seated at a table centered with a four-tiered wedding cake flanked on either side by tall, white slender tapers. The cake featured a top tier, supported by pillars, adorned with a miniature bride and groom backed by a heart-shaped arbor. Decorated in white with yellow roses, the cake was baked and decorated by Mrs. Melvin Walbert of Grygla.

Also seated at the bridal table were Mr. and Mrs. Palmer Sistad, Joel Sistad and Mrs. Al Carlson.

Vocal selections during the reception were furnished by Mrs. Kelin Jankowski of Crookston, Mrs. Roy Nordby and Sandra Warne of Grygla. They sang "Blest Be the Tie that Binds" and "O Perfect Love" while "The Lord's Prayer" was sung as a solo by Mrs. Jankowski.

At the reception, Mrs. Willard Sletten of Thief River Falls, assisted by Mrs. Stewart Sistad of Grygla, cut and served the wedding cake while Mrs. Arvid Sistad poured. Waitresses were Carold Nordby and Linda Dyrseth, both of Grygla. They wore white Bible-trimmed aprons.

Mrs. Arthur Nordby and Mrs. Curtis Nordby, both of Grygla, assisted in the kitchen while Mrs. Warne arranged the gifts. Miss Linda Sistad, sister of the bride, registered the guests.

Among the 50 guests attending the reception were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hovet of Goodridge, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Sletten, Mr. and Mrs. Olaf Halverson and Mrs. Glen Sistad, all of Thief River Falls and Mrs. Keith Jankowski of Crookston.

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Groff are residing in Grand Forks, N. D.

Kathy Kohler Marks Her Ninth Birthday

Cosmetologists Hear Reports on Raising Prices

At the regular meeting of the Red River Valley Affiliates of Hairdressers and Cosmetologists held in Thief River Falls, Monday, March 17, at 8 p.m. at the cosmetology department of the area vocational - technical school, reports were given regarding the observance of National Beauty Salon week. Local members reported that in observance of the event, free work provided to residents at the local rest homes included 47 permanent waves, 56 hair cuts, 64 shampoos and 62 hair sets. The work was done and supplied by the Modern Beauty shop, JoAnne's, Gelene's, Pearl's and the local cosmetology department.

A report was also given of the four-day seminar of the Minnesota State Hairdressers and Cosmetologist association held recently at the Radisson Hotel in Minneapolis. As a result of an evaluation of the price structure in beauty salons, the M.H.C.A. recommended that all salons re-evaluate their price structure and raise their prices accordingly. They felt that with the cost of supplies, equipment, additional taxes and salaries, plus that of attending educational clinics to maintain professional standards, it was imperative that the prices on all beauty service be increased.

Following the reports, plans were made to host a member of the Minnesota State Hairdressers and Cosmetologists association at a dinner-meeting preceeding the regular meeting April 4.

At the close of the meeting, refreshments were served by Adeline Quam.

KITCHEN KÁRNIVAL

Features from the Kitchen of

MRS. CLARENCE L. PETERSON

Among the many entries receiving first place at the recent Seed and Feed show in Thief River Falls were the Baked Donuts, in the potato division, and the Walnut Carmel Candy, in the corn division, that were submitted by Mrs. Clarence L. Peterson of Silverton township. We are grateful to her for sharing her recipes with us.

BAKED DONUTS

1 cup mashed potatoes
1 cake or package of yeast
¼ cup warm potato water
1 cup milk, scalded
¾ cup shortening
½ cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
2 eggs, beaten
4½ cups flour

Method: Add shortening, sugar and salt to the scalded milk, cool to lukewarm. Add mashed potatoes and yeast that has been dissolved in potato water. Blend in beaten eggs and work in flour. Cover and let rise until light. Knead on floured board and roll dough about ½-inch thick. Cut with doughnut cutter and place on buttered cookie sheets and let rise until light. Bake in 425 degree oven until delicately browned. Brush with butter while still warm and roll in granulated sugar. Makes three dozen.

WALNUT CARMEL CANDY

2 cups white sugar
1 cup light corn syrup
1 cup light cream
¼ cup butter
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup walnuts, chopped

Method: Butter an 8 x 8-inch pan. Combine sugar, syrup, cream and butter in sauce pan; cook over medium heat until sugar is dissolved. Continue cooking, stirring once in a while until a few drops in cold water forms a firm ball. Remove from heat, stir in vanilla and nuts. Pour into buttered pan, let cool one hour and cut into squares.

Mr. and Mrs. Peterson live on a farm located four miles northeast of this city. They have a family of seven children, six girls and one boy, of whom five are married. Carol is employed at the court house and Joyce, 16, is a junior at Lincoln high school. The Petersons also have 14 grandchildren.

Mrs. Peterson's hobbies are baking, sewing and gardening.

Post Office To Offer Medicare Blanks to Public

Application blanks for supplemental medicare benefits are available at the general delivery window of the Thief River Falls post office, according to R. J. Dyrden, postmaster.

Application blanks are being made available as the Social Security administration seeks to contact 3.1 million senior citizens before a March 31 deadline imposed by the medicare law.

Initially, some two and one-half million application blanks were distributed to nearly 34,000 main post offices throughout the 50 states. Additional forms are available as needed.

A copy of the application blank is displayed on the lobby bulletin board of the Thief River Falls post office.

Senior citizens who reached 65 before 1966 face a two-year delay if they do not sign up by March 31. The application forms are pre-addressed to the Social Security Administration in Baltimore, Maryland.

Land O'Lakes Has Highest Volume in 45-Year History

Land O'Lakes Creameries, Inc., Minneapolis, reported the greatest volume of business in its 45-year history for the 1965 year at its annual meeting held March 10 and 11 in Minneapolis. Marlan Augustine of rural Thief River Falls was reelected to the board of directors at the meeting.

Land O'Lakes had a total gross volume of $294,153,261 in 1965, an increase of 20.7 per cent over the previous year when the volume was $243,757,238. Net margins or savings accruing to members and patrons in 1965 totalled $7,336,095. Net working capital was at an all-time year-end high of $29,162,000, as of Dec. 31, 1965.

This increase was achieved after cash payments in redemption of prior years' patronage equities to members and patrons had exceeded that of any previous year. Members and patrons owned Land O'Lakes equities totalling $48.8 million at the end of 1965.

During 1965 members and patrons had equities for prior years redeemed for cash amounting to over $5.1 million. Over the past five years approximately $20 million of equities of prior years' earnings have been redeemed for cash.

Dan Holtz, President of Land O'Lakes, noted that the $7.3 million net margin represented a 15 per cent return on the $48.8 million of members' equity which they have invested in their marketing cooperative. All officers of the cooperative were reelected.

Holtz emphasized that 75 per cent of the capital of Land O'Lakes is owned by its farmer members and that these equities have been revolved in cash each year at an accellerated rate.

In his report, F. D. Stone, general manager, stated that the merger with Dairy Maid Products cooperative of Eau Claire, Wis., had been a factor in the increased volume of business in 1965.

He said that every effort possible had been made to induce the Secretary of Agriculture to raise supports—so far without success. He added that Land O'Lakes recommended an increase in the support price on milk of 50 cents per hundredweight.

Memorials Given To Heart Fund

Heart Fund memorials in the name of the late Mrs. Sophia C. Evenson of Thief River Falls were recently received by the Minnesota Heart association, according to David Drotts, Pennington county memorial chairman.

Because the full amount of these gifts will be used for heart research, Drotts said, they are likely to lead to further advances in the conquest of heart disease.

Two "Shiners" Are Sentenced In Warren Court

Two Middle River area farmers were found guilty of deer shining by a Ninth Judicial District Court jury in Warren on Monday, March 14, and were sentenced by Judge Harley G. Swenson to 90 days at the Duluth work farm and a $100 fine. The sentence further stipulates that the men must serve an additional month at the work farm if the fine is not paid by June 1.

Gilbert "Pete" Olson and Raymond Rybakowski were arrested by state game wardens last fall and pleaded not guilty to the charge. Warren A. Saetre, county attorney, prosecuted the charges and Jaroslav Kruta was appointed by the court to serve as the defense attorney.

Svendsgaard Herd Tops Pennington DHIA in January

Orville Peterson, supervisor of the Pennington County Dairy Herd Improvement association, lists the following herds as the top 10 in the association for the month of January:

	Pounds Milk	Pounds Fat
Dale Svendsgaard	1,421	52.8
Darrow Lundeen	1,270	48.1
John Burtness	1,109	44.4
Myron and Mylo Carlson	1,102	43.7
Albert Koop	1,049	40.6
Martin Hanson	1,037	40.5
Donavon and Mark Bruggeman	1,140	40.2
Donald Erickson	1,104	39.0
Carl and Kermit Finstad	1,044	38.7
Mordy Morrison	954	38.1
Clyde Christensen	937	38.1

Herd averages are affected by the number of dry cows in the herd. Amount of milk or butterfat produced is averaged out over all the cows, giving the farmer a record of the earning power of the herd for the month.

If many dry cows are included in the herd, the average for that month may be low although the cows which are milking produce a lot of milk.

There were 24 herds on test during January with a total of 713 cows and an average of 29.7 cows per herd, 81 per cent of which were milking. Average amount of milk produced per cow was 930 pounds which tested 3.79 per cent fat. This amounted to 35.3 pounds of butterfat per cow.

Four cows finished with over 500 pounds butterfat during the testing year, in a 365-day or less lactation. They were from the following herds:

	Pounds Milk	Pounds Fat
Dale Svendsgard	13,710	515
Clyde Christensen	19,500	770
Clyde Christensen	14,460	642
Donald Erickson	16,800	563

Toasts 'n Tidings BY Your Minnesota Hostess

Pretty airline hostess Jane Barthel, whose dad is a Minnesota beer distributor, reports even the lightest English beer tastes bitter by our standards. German beer drinkers have their own mugs waiting in the taverns. Keg beer is still delivered by horse-drawn wagons in Holland. And, she adds, beer in these countries is served at room temperature.

Bock Beer Season

Fifteenth Century Germans and Austrians are said to have originated the tradition of heralding Spring with specially-brewed "bock" beer . . . made from a dark-roasted malt, roasted longer at higher temperatures, and aged several months. Many 20th Century Americans ask for bock beer this time of year, and it is the favorite St. Patrick's Day beverage of many Irishmen.

Pork Chops in Beer

Mrs. Vern Wooden of Winona, Minn. suggests you brown six ½-inch-thick chops and one large sliced onion in 2 Tbsp. butter. Place all in small roaster; dot each chop with 1 Tbsp. catsup, 1 Tbsp. brown sugar and a little salt and pepper. Add enough beer to cover the chops well. Bake 45 minutes at 350 degrees. Remove chops; thicken sauce with flour. Serve with mashed potatoes and cool beer . . . then send for your free copy of my recipe book. Write "Minnesota Hostess", 333 WCCO Bldg., Minneapolis, Minn. 55402.

IT'S A FACT: TODAY AMERICANS ENJOY "OUT OF SEASON" FRUITS AND VEGETABLES AND MANY OTHER FOODS YEAR AROUND, BECAUSE OF DEVELOPMENTS IN REFRIGERATED TRANSPORT. BEER WAS RESPONSIBLE FOR PIONEERING THIS IMPORTANT FIELD! AS BREWERS EXPANDED FROM HOME-TOWN FIRMS TO NATIONWIDE SUPPLIERS, THE NEEDS OF BEER-IN-TRANSIT CAUSED REFRIGERATION AND AIR CONDITIONING TO GROW TOO.

Glenice Rugland Chosen in Farm Youth Exchange

A young Minnesota women who is now a home agent in Kittson county will go to India in the fall as an International Farm Youth Exchange (IFYE) delegate. She is Glenice Rugland, Hallock, who has been directing the extension home economics program as home agent in Kittson county since 1964.

She will leave for India September 11 to spend approximately six months in that country living and working with rural families to obtain an understanding of their way of life and at the same time introducing them to American ideals and customs.

A graduate of the University of Minnesota, Miss Rugland received her bachelor's degree in home economics education. She holds memberships in Phi Upsilon Omicron, national home economics professional fraternity; Omicron Nu, national home economics honorary society; Pi Lambda Theta, national honor society for women in education; and the Minnesota Home Economics association.

For 12 years she was a member of a 4-H club in Roseau county where she grew up on a 540-acre farm. As a 4-H member she held the offices of president, secretary and treasurer and gave many demonstrations at county and state fairs.

Spring Arrives With Seasonal Weather Sunday

After one of the longest, coldest, snowiest winters in the history of northern Minnesota, spring made its official entrance at 7:53 p.m. Sunday, when the rays of the sun focused directly on the Equator. Spring-like weather accompanied the Vernel Equinox; much of the snow melted as the mercury soared to 46 degrees and the sun shone through a clear sky.

The weather may begin to disregard the calendar shortly, however. Forecast calls for increasing cloudiness today becoming mostly cloudy tonight and tomorrow. Scattered light rain changing to snow is also predicted. Highs today will be in the 30's; lows tonight in the 30's.

Temperature and precipitation readings recorded at the airport are as follows: 45, 32 and a trace on Wednesday; 39 and 32 on Thursday; 38, 20 and three inches of snow containing .27 inch of water on Friday; 38 and 21 on Saturday; 46 and 23 on Sunday; and a low this morning of 29.

don't flip over switches

Sure, it's hard to stay calm and collected when family income finishes a poor second to family out-go. Right about then, every household expenditure gets a second (and third) look — including the cost of electricity.

But please don't flip your lid when you flip a switch.

As an average Otter Tail customer, electricity is costing you less per kilowatt-hour every time you flip a switch. In the past 2½ years, Otter Tail has made voluntary electric rate reductions and adjustments resulting in net savings to Otter Tail customers of nearly $840,000 annually.

Similarly, as an average Otter Tail customer, the more electricity you use, the less you pay per kilowatt-hour. Your added usage is at the lowest steps of your electric rate. And the average Otter Tail residential customer is using much more . . . 4,926 kilowatt-hours of electricity in 1965 compared with only 2,981 kilowatt-hours in 1956.

Lower unit costs of electricity and your increased enjoyment of electrical servants, unheard of just a few years ago, go hand-in-hand.

Measure the pleasure and convenience electricity brings you (the list will surprise you). Then take another look at your electric service bill. It's one bright spot where the unit cost goes down — as the value goes up.

11 Auto Mishaps in City Cause Damage of $2,455 in Past Week

Eleven automobile accidents, including one three-car mishap and four hit-run accidents, were reported today by the Thief River Falls police department. Total damage resulting from the accidents was $2,455.

Four of the mishaps occurred Wednesday, March 9. At 8:10 a.m. a car driven by Alvin Moran, rt. 4, Crookston, was traveling south on Main avenue and at the intersection with Zeh street saw a car entering the highway from Zeh. The second vehicle was driven by Elsie Duden, rt. 4, Red Lake Falls. Moran applied his brakes in an attempt to avoid a collision and his vehicle spun around and was struck on the left side. Damage was estimated at $350 to the Moran car and $200 to the Duden vehicle. Police said the vision was obstructed by high snowbanks at the intersection.

At 4:30 p.m. it was reported that a pickup owned by Stankely K. Ranum, city, was parked on East Eighth st. and had been struck by an unknown vehicle. After striking the truck from the rear, the party had backed up and gone east on Highway 1.

The hit-run car was later found in the ditch beside Highway 1 about a mile east of town. The sheriff reported that the driver of the car, Otto Fjeld of Goodridge, had stopped to aid Bennie Groven whose car was stalled on the highway. Fjeld tried pushing the car, but the vehicles collided and the Fjeld car went into the ditch on the north side of the road. The left front of the Groven car was damaged and more extensive damage was done to the Fjeld vehicle. Fjeld was contacted and charged with leaving the scene of an accident. Damage sustained by Fjeld in the first accident amounted to $15.

At 5:40 p.m. a car owned by Leonard Peterson, city, was parked on the south side of First street facing east near the Holiday store and was struck by a vehicle driven by Mrs. Mona Johnson, city, which was going east on First. The Peterson car had stalled on the street and was eight feet from the edge of the plowed portion of the roadway. Damage was estimated at $115 to the Peterson car and $55 to the Johnson vehicle.

At 11:50 p.m. a car driven by Roger Quern, rt. 2, Oslo, was going south on Knight avenue and was struck in the left front by one driven by Dale Huot, Crookston, which was going west on Fourth. The Quern car was damaged to the extent of about $250; the Huot car was considered a total loss. Huot was charged with failure to yield the right-of-way.

On Saturday at 12:05 a.m. a car driven by Robert Brodin, city, was going east on Third street, following another vehicle which came to a stop on the bridge in front of him. Brodin also stopped and was struck from the rear by a vehicle driven by Thomas Huot, rt. 3, Red Lake Falls. Damage was estimated at $50 to the Brodin car and $90 to the Huot vehicle. The mishap is under investigation.

At 10 a.m. a car driven by Andrew Hovrud, city, was going west on Third and attempted a left turn onto Horace in front of a car driven by Mrs. Mary Scheuneman, city, which was going east on Third. The Scheuneman car struck the Hovrud car vehicle in the right rear. Damage was estimated at $265 to the Hovrud car and $175 to the Scheuneman vehicle. Hovrud was charged with failure to yield the right-of-way.

At 10 p.m. a car driven by Peter Czeh, rt. 2, made a left turn from LaBree avenue to Third street to go west on Third. The machine struck a car owned by Fred Sorenson, city, which was parked in the second stall east of the alley between LaBree and Main. This car was in turn pushed into one owned by Gerald Wigness, city, which was parked in the first stall east of the alley. Damage was estimated at $110 to the Czeh car, $60 to the Sorenson vehicle and none to the Wigness car. The accident is under investigation.

At noon Monday a car driven by Clifford Anderson, city, was going east on First street and collided with one driven by Osmund Urdahl, city, which had been parked facing west on the south side of First and had pulled across the street to get into the proper lane. Damage was estimated at $150 to the Anderson car and -50 to the Urdahl vehicle. The accident is under investigation.

It was reported by Harold M. Johnson, city, that his car had been parked on Davis avenue facing south on Saturday and was struck in the left rear by an unknown vehicle, possibly a 1959 Ford. Damage was estimated at $45.

It was reported on Tuesday that on the previous night a truck owned by Western Oil and Fuel was parked on the east side of Atlantic avenue and was hit by another pickup which backed out of the parking space across the street, damaging the Western pickup to the extent of about $65. The mishap is under investigation.

At 9:45 p.m. Tuesday officers Kozojed and Jones were on general patrol and noticed that a vehicle traveling on Atlantic avenue made a siren-like sound and was traveling at an unusually high rate of speed. The sound was by a rubbing wheel. The officers followed the car as it turned east on Highway 1 and stopped it just outside the city limits. Backtracking, it was found that the car had struck a parked car owned by Charles Thorstad, city, which was parked on Main near Fifth street, damaging it to the extent of $125. Garner Erickson, Middle River, was arrested for driving under the influence of liquor and leaving the scene of an accident. His car sustained $250 damage.

On Thursday it was reported that a car aerial had been broken and another had been bent. Also reported was the larceny of a spare tire and wheel sometime during the blizzard. Mrs. Marie Sherack reported the loss of a statue from her yard Sunday night.

Beef Producers Look Forward to Good Year

Beef producers can look forward to an excellent price year, according to Paul R. Hasbargen and Kenneth E. Egertson, University of Minnesota agricultural economists.

Production will be down and prices higher for dairy products, pork, lamb and cow beef. Consumer income and population continue to grow, military expenditures are high and unemployment levels are low. These conditions will strengthen demand for fed steers and heifers during 1966.

Hasbargen and Egertson estimate total demand for fed beef during January - June will be six for the first half of 1965. Marketings will probably increase during the last half of 1966 and demand could be lower than the first half.

The increase in fed beef marketings this year will probably be less than increases in demand. Thus 1966 prices should hold above year ago levels, except for some possible price weakness in the March - May quarter.

Three factors could work to increase fed beef marketings and lower prices, says Hasbargen and Egertson.

(1) Heifer placements and marketings are running above 1965. On 12 per cent over year earlier levels, while steers on feed were up only two per cent. The 500-699 pound weight group—up 24 per cent over Jan. 1, 1965—made up most of the heifer increase, and heifers will "account for most of the increased marketings" through midyear.

(2) More "two way" cattle are on feed because of the favorable beef outlook. As slaughter of these cattle is delayed, March-May prices could be lower as these cattle are marketed at heavier weights.

(3) Heavier market weights are the trend this year. In January, average weights were 10 pounds above a year ago. Around May, weights could be up by 40 pounds and prices could be down significantly during April and May, but prices will likely move up again after midyear.

As long as fed beef prices show strength, prices on heavier feeders will also move up. Replacement feeders will be expensive all year, but may be even more so next fall. If you find good buys and have the facilities, consider buying lightweight feeders this spring, the economists advise.

This year's calf crop will be about a million head lower than 1965, with more of the decrease in dairy calves. By next fall, feeder calf supplies will be relatively tight and choice calves could bring more than $30.

Contract prices dropped for cattle traded on the futures market—escially for the April and June contract months—after the January 1 cattle on feed report. However future prices are expected to strengthen. If prices for some of the months ahead move above your expectations, consider hedging some of your cattle by selling on the futures market.

Two-Year Old RLF Girl Dies In Gun Mishap

A tragic accident occurred Thursday morning, March 10, at rural Red Lake Falls when Joy Ray Owens, two-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Owens, was shot and killed by her six year old brother. The children were not alone at the time as they were being cared for by an uncle who happened to be upstairs when the boy used the 30-30 deer rifle. Mrs. Owens had ridden into Red Lake Falls, some five miles away, to do some shopping after being snowbound and Mr. Owens was in Minneapolis where he had just accepted employment.

Funeral services for Joy Rae Owens were held Saturday, March 12 at the Angus Tabor Presbyterian church at Warren with the Rev. Vern Maxa officiating. Hyms were sung by Mrs. Myron Carlson and Mylo Carlson with Mrs. L. Daby as organist. Interment was in Oakdale cemetery at Crookston.

Pallbearers were Reed Owens, Clayton Schele and Kenneth Jorgenson of Warren and Allen DeMeyers of Iron.

Joy Rae Owens was born in Warren March 21, 1963, was baptized and on the cradle roll of the Angus Tabor Presbyterian church in Warren.

She is survived by per parents, her brother, Michale; Paternal her brother, Michael; Paternal grandmother, Mrs. Mildred Owens parents, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Schele, also of Warren.

Red Cross Plans Assistance for Flood Victims

Red Cross flood readiness headquarters, Grand Forks, N. D., estimates more than 2,000 families in the Red River Valley along the North Dakota-Minnesota border will be affected by flooding on the Red river and tributaries as streams move to flood crest this week.

William E. Probes, readiness director, said Friday that "We expect a very large feeding operation, since there will be small armies of dike workers sandbagging from now on through cresting".

The office estimates more than 1,200 families will be fed and sheltered by Red Cross as flooding causes evacuation. Cots, blankets and comfort supplies are stockpiled at Grand Forks for use in towns and cities northward to Pembina on the Canadian border.

Three Red Cross mobile units in Grand Forks are already feeding the first of thousands of dike workers being recruited along the stream of battle high water. At Crookston high school students were released from classes Friday to sandbag portions of the town threatened by flooding. Several mobile units will provide food for the dike operation during the weekend.

Preparations are being made for feeding and sheltering at East Grand Forks high school; National Guard armory, Grand Forks; city hall, Pembina; local churches and city hall, Grafton; and Manvel school, with additional locations ready if needed.

Police, civil defense and other officials will direct families to the Red Cross shelters nearest their homes should evacuation become necessary or should disaster conditions make their homes unlivable.

William M. Probes said that this step has been taken according to a plan of action worked out over a period of years by the Red Cross.

Red Cross disaster preparedness and relief committees are composed of specially trained local citizens ready to handle emergency situations. Five disaster specialists from St. Louis and Minneapolis are assisting Red River Valley chapters with preparedness measures.

All Red Cross assistance to disaster victims is given without any charge to those who need it.

Rites To Be Held At Newfolden For Even Hansen, 72

Even Hansen, 72, a life-time resident of the Newfolden community, died Friday at Northwestern hospital.

Funeral services for Even Hansen will be held Tuesday at 2 p.m. in the Bethlehem Lutheran church. The Rev. Loren Nielson will officiate and interment will be in the Folden cemetery.

The body will lie in state at the Green Funeral home until 10 a.m. Tuesday and at the church for one hour prior to the time of services. A complete obituary will follow.

Rites Held Friday For Mrs. L. Dokkin, 75, of Rural TRF

Mrs. Lewis (Selena) Dokkin, 75, a resident of rural Thief River Falls for the past 13 years, died Tuesday at Northwestern hospital in this city.

Funeral services for Mrs. Dokkin were held Friday at 2 p.m. at the Trinity Lutheran church with Rev. Harold R. Peterson officiating. Mrs. Harold Peterson presided at the organ and Mrs. Donald Olson served as soloist. Interment was in the Greenwood cemetery at Hallock with Sinding's Funeral chapel in charge of arrangements.

Pallbearers were Sidney Caulkins, Donald Caulkins, Herman Hanson, Wallace Evenson, Goodwin Wilson and Art Brown.

Mrs. Dokkin, the former Selena Laroque, was born Oct. 23, 1890 to the late Calixte Laroque and Julienne Ladouceur at Pembina, N. D., where she received her elementary education. She was married at Hallock on Oct. 30, 1909 to Lewis G. Dokkin. Engaged in farming, the Dokkins lived on various farms in northwestern Minnesota before moving to rural Thief River Falls. For the past two months she had resided at the Valley rest home in this city.

Survivors include her husband, Lewis; three sons, Alfred Dokkin, Hallock, Lawrence, Minneapolis and Vernon of Thief River Falls; eight grandchildren, 11 great-grandchildren; two sisters, Mrs. Delma Stranger of St. Vincent and Mrs. Manuel (Agnes) Jerome of Hallock and two brothers, Joe Laroque of St. Vincent and Stanley of Nevada.

Three brothers and five sisters preceded her in death.

Transplants Require Number of Conditions

Whether you should start your own flower and vegetable transplants depends upon a number of conditions—whether you have a place for the plant containers, have good and the proper temperature, says Orrin C. Turnquist, extension horticulturist at the University of Minnesota. If you can provide the proper conditions, an advantage of starting your own plants is that you can get the varieties you want.

Good distribution and uniformity of light are necessary for success in growing transplants, the university horticulturist points out. If the light comes from only one direction, stems will elongate and bend toward the light, with the result that plants will be spindly.

A night temperature of 50 to 60 degrees is preferable, with a day temperature about five degrees higher.

Timing is of prime importance to success in growing your own transplants. Spindly plants result when the time lag is too great between seeding and transplanting.

Vegetables and flowers that can be started in early March are sweet Spanish onions, cauliflower, cabbage, broccoli, head lettuce, petunias, pansies, verbena, lobelia, scabiosa and annual dianthus. Pepper and eggplant should be started about the middle of March, as should annual larkspur, dahlia, moss rose, spiderplant and strawflower. Most other summer-blooming annuals can be started by the first of April.

Don't start tomatoes yet, the university horticulturist cautions. It's best to start tomatoes around April 15, allowing about six weeks from the time the seed is planted indoors until the plants are set out in the garden—about June 1.

Start seeds in peat pots, plastic pans or in shallow flats. Fill the flats with a soil mixture which has been sifted through a quarter inch mesh screen. A good soil mixture consists of two parts garden loam, one part sand and one part organic matter.

After filling the flat, firm the soil and level it to about ½ inch below the top of the flat. Make the rows about two inches apart and one-fourth to one-half inch deep.

To insure good germination, treat the seed with a protectant dust such as Phalatan, captan or dichlone, adding to the seed packet the amount you can get on the end of a toothpick. Shake the seed packet well so all seeds are treated.

Next scatter the seed uniformly in the row and label each row. Avoid planting the seeds too thickly since good air circulation around the seed helps to prevent damping-off disease. Cover the seeds lightly with sand, screened soil or peat moss. Water the plants thoroughly through a muslin cloth stretched over the flat, then delay watering until the emergence of the seedlings. Once the seedlings have come up, water the plants well each morning.

Most Hazardous Three Violations Noted by Dept.

The driver who watches his speed, yields right of way and stays on his side of the road avoids the three most hazardous violations a driver can commit, says the Minneota highway department.

Illegal or unsafe speed, failure to yield and driving over the centerline (not in passing) are the violations that most threaten the driver's life on the road.

The state had an all-time high of 871 persons killed last year in traffic, and these three violations contributed to more than 60 per cent of all fatal accidents, according to the highway department.

Speeding contributed to about 25 per cent of the fatal accidents last year. But, the department points out, speeding means more than simply high speed. It also means going too fast for conditions, and that could be traveling 30 miles per hour in a 60 mile-per-hour zone when the road is covered with ice. In addition to being a major contributing factor to accidents, high speed increases the probability of a fatality when a collision does occur.

Last year rural areas had only about 30 per cent of the state's total of 80,000 accidents, but it had 70 per cent of the fatal ones. The main reason for this is that most accidents in rural areas occur at higher speeds.

Failure to yield right-of-way led to about 20 per cent of the total fatal accidents last year. Any driver can argue about right-of-way, cautions the departmnt, but the intelligent driver yields whenever it is the safe thing to do, no matter if he has the right-of-way under the law.

Driving over the centerline (but not while passing) accounted for nearly 16 per cent of the fatal accidents. The highway department points out that this driving error leads to the worst kind of accident, the head-on collision of two vehicles. Some reasons for this causative factor are fatigue, inattention or a vehicle breakdown.

WEAKENED by starvation to the point where death was imminent within 24 hours, this young buck was located Sunday morning by a small crew of browse cutters on Randen Ridge east of Highway 89. The same deer had been seen Saturday, but was then able to get to its feet and stagger a short distance. On Sunday, at the time the photo was taken, the animal was barely conscious and showed signs of fright when closely approached, but was too weak to move or even to raise its head. The agonized animal was mercifully dispatched, and an examination of a leg bone showed a lack of marrow, indicating near starvation. Biologist Robert Farmes said, however that the deer may also have been weakened by disease or injury, since bucks of this age are normally the last of a deer herd to die. Farmes also pointed out that winter losses due to starvation prove the falsehood of the notion that a closed hunting season will bring a build-up in deer population.

Flynn, Knight To Attend State Masonic Meeting

The 113th annual meeting of the Grand Lodge of Masons of Minnesota will be held Wednesday and Thursday at the Masonic Temple, Smith and Sixth, St. Paul, according to Frank E. Edey, St. Louis Park, grand master. Among those attending will be Robert Flynn, master of the Thief River Falls lodge, and Lucius A. Knight, district representative of the grand lodge. Mrs. Flynn and Mrs. Knight will also attend.

Highlights of the annual session, beginning at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday, will include presentation of $1,500 in scholarships to four Minnesota high school seniors; reports on the campaign for $1 million to add two floors to Masonic Memorial hospital at the University of Minnesota; awards to lodges with a 100-year histyey; trophies to cribbage team winners in the statewide tournament; and certificate awards to district representatives for outstanding service.

Election of the grand master and other officers for the 1966-67 year will be held Thursday. The grand lodge dinner will be at 6 p.m. Wednesday.

Social Security Office Announces Special Hours

March 31 is the final deadline for persons over 65 to apply for medical insurance benefits under medicare, according to Clifford Kittleson, district manager for social security.

Those who apply by March 31 will have help with doctor and medical bills starting July 1. Those who do not sign up will not have another opportunity until October of 1967. Th premium then will be higher, and protection will not start until July of 1968, Kittelson said.

The Grand Forks social security office will be open from 9 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. on Saturday, March 26, and from 8:30 a.m. until 9 p.m. during Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday March 28-31. These extra hours, Kittelson said, will help to accommodate the large crowds that are expected during the days before the final deadline.

PUBLIC OPINION

Editorial Department

Thief River Falls, Minnesota

Gentlemen:

Never in my life did I receive more for my dollar than I have by reading your Editorial of March 14th issue, the reprint of the Rock County-Herald at Luverne. It expresses my sentiment to a "T". The editorial is on the "Tired-American."

For the last five years, I have been making a trip to Warroad with a stop-over for lunch in Thief River Falls at the lovely "Rex" restaurant. I take a train to Fargo and back track on a bus. I have a brother living in the Lake of the Woods Region.

This compliment comes from an X-school teacher in commercial subject in Minnesota, although I have been in Chicago as a secretary since 1949.

When I come this Spring, I shall stop by and say "hello" to you and your staff.

Many thanks for your help... through your enlightening newspaper.

Sincerely,
Mae S. Emery

Boat and Sports Show Will Open In Minneapolis

Annual edition of the Northwest Boat, Travel and Sports show opens Friday afternoon for a 10-day run in the Minneapolis auditorium's new convention hall. The show has been described as featuring the greatest assemblage of fishing, hunting, camping, boating and travel displays in its history.

In addition it will include a 15-act stage show playing at 3:30 and 9:30 p.m. daily, except on Friday's opening day when the doors will be open at 6 p.m.

Sparking the stage show will be champion woman archer Ann Marston, the Rhodins, spectacular aerialists, internationally famous woman dog trainer and handler Loruel I. Armstrong, northwoods guides and log rollers Hank and Joe Peters, Fraser Whymott and Don Wamboldt, European illusionist Ferry Foert, Joan Salvato, national all-around women casting champ, Stanton and Peddie, musical comedians, Sparky the seal and master of ceremonies Joe McKenna.

In addition there will be special demonstrations featuring a display of predatory birds, including live eagles, falcons, hawks and owls, a live trout pond, dog obedience exhibitions, Bill Knight's live exhibit of poisonous and non-poisonous snakes, the Minnesota conservation department's display of live fish and animals, a free movie theater and a display of saltwater mounted fish specimens.

"There will be more than $3 million worth of fishing, hunting, camping and boating equipment on the convention hall floor, with all the newest trends in outdoor equipment well represented," said the show's producer, F. W. (Nick) Kabler of Minneapolis.

Will Reason Prevail?

"The dam builders are restless again." Thus sadly muses the Record - Chronicle of Denton, Texas. And its discussion has to do with a proposal by the Bureau of Reclamation to build two dams on the Colorado river. These, the paper points out, would virtually ruin a large section of one of this nation's natural wonders—the Grand Canyon. Something like 100 miles of great scenic beauty, which attracts travelers, would be lost forever.

Why, then, should such a proposal be made? The Record - Chronicle answers: "The dam engineers claim that their work will provide hydroelectric power for sale to the Central Arizona Irrigation project. However, the modern fuel burning plants which supply the Arizona project now do it cheaper than the new dams could."

Naturally enough, this scheme has the conservationists up in arms. As a typical example of that, James L. Rouman, executive director for the Michigan United Conservation clubs, has said: "This is the most irresponsible proposal I've heard in years. The fact that the engineers are actually serious about the plan makes it all the more frightening. This would be another classic expenditure, designed to produce some benefits for one segment of the population, without any thought for conservation, or the rights and wishes for the nation's people."

The Colorado river dams are not the only menaces of this kind. Another grandiose proposal is to build a dam in Alaska which would flood a land area the size of New Jersey—and do irreparable damage to wildlife and other natural resources. And experts say there is no conceivable market in that remote region for the power that would be produced.

Finally, it can be said that all the power that is or will be needed anywhere can be furnished without destroying grand and irreplacable works of nature. The true conservationists have their work cut out for them.

There must be men in Washington with enough common sense to realize that some of these proposals are ridiculous. Why should it be necessary for dedicated Americans to fight preservation of resources and against such schemes at every turn? These are situations where the special interest groups must be stopped in their wild plans and reason must be allowed to prevail.

To Tell The Truth

Perhaps when the President of the United States takes office, his oath should include a pledge to tell "the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth." It wouldn't be ethical to call the President a liar, but there are a number of informed sources in the nation who don't believe he has been entirely honest in his public appraisal of certain situations.

There are a number of situations which prompt this line of thought.

Bill D. Moyers, White House press secretary, recently said the President prefers to talk directly with the people on radio and television since news conferences are too likely to be interepreted by newsmen who are "subject to the frailties of human nature." (Besides that, people watching television or listening to the radio can't ask questions that might be embarrassing to answer.)

Moyers admitted that he plants questions with friendly newsmen on subjects the President wants to discuss. After all, he contends, the press conference is only a "device. . . for the President to say what is on his mind."

Conclusion: It is all right for the President to give a one-sided view of the problem but all wrong for an experienced Washington reporter to give his own interpretation.

A case in point might be the situation in Rhodesia—summarized in a report from National News-Research in Washington, D. C. The organization says that economic sanctions imposed by the United States may deliver Rhodesia to chaos, bloodshed and control by communist-financed terrorists.

While the state department sides with Great Britain in pursuing a rule or ruin policy in Rhodesia, British ships are sending some 200 ships per year to North Viet Nam with supplies for the communist government now waging war against our nation's military forces.

National News-Research contends that the government of Rhodesia had been legitimately elected and, following its break with the British, made only small and nonessential changes in a constitution respected by the English.

Rhodesia is sending more children to school than any other country on the continent of Africa. The school population, in relation to total population, is 1-to-6. In England, it is 1-to-5, and in the rest of Africa it falls to 1-to-80.

"Unlike other nations in Africa, there is no repression," the Washington source states. "The country is efficiently and honestly run with less discrimination than you see in most parts of the United States. Its economy was booming until the British and the United States set out to kill it by cutting off trade.

"These facts are suppressed by the state department. To keep the facts from the American people. . .the state department has just ordered the Rhodesian information office in Washington to shut down and is attempting to deport those who run it. This is in violation of the law, but this has not troubled the state department in the past."

Maybe it wouldn't hurt the administration to take a refresher course in basic honesty; it apparently isn't included in the political science curriculum.

The Great Experiment

While President Johnson has been expounding his views of the Great Society, Senator Walter Mondaye recently said that programs to eliminate poverty in America ". . .must be seen as a great experiment." The senator addressed the Minnesota Welfare association in Minneapolis.

"Like any experiment," Sen. Mondale said, "we must be prepared for failures as well as successes."

We believe the senator is closer to right in terming the government's fantastic welfare programs as a great experiment than the President is in terming them the great society. There is a difference in the government's approach and most approaches in experimentation, however, which the senator should keep in mind.

The government apparently assumes that when its experiments fail it is because not enough money has been expended. Therefore, to achieve success, it is necessary only to increase the money spent.

In other experiments, when failure is noted, the method of attack is varied in an attempt to achieve the same end. Private enterprise and the government use widely diverse means to achieve the same end.

It might be compared in this respect: Let us say that it would be desirable to produce a ball four inches in diameter which would bounce when dropped from a height of several feet. Private enterprise and the government each start with a steel ball four inches in diameter. Steel will not bounce, but it is discovered that rubber has this quality. While private enterprise would produce a rubber ball, the government would build a thick and expensive rubber base on which the steel ball would bounce.

The interest of private enterprise in this situation would be that the rubber ball would be marketable at a profit. The government is not concerned about profit or loss since it extracts its financing from the people. We pay for the foolish experiments while private enterprise, with a purpose for its experimentation, is shoved aside. This is the price of the "great experiment."

Outdated Exemption

We noted the other day where someone took the time to do a little figuring in regard to a situation which we have deplored for some time and criticized before. Our reference is to the $600 exemption for dependents which is allowed by the federal government on income tax payments.

As an example, the person mentioned cites the federal government spending $7,000 per year per person in the Job Corps program. Under the Cuban refugee program, an assumed minimal upkeep of $1,200 per year is used—and if the child is going to school another $1,000 is added by Uncle Sam.

The writer notes further:

"If the austere environs of a federal prison, with no frills, no luxuries and no borrowing of the family car, the government has found that it costs $2,300 per person for upkeep. Under social security, the government will pay $169 per month to maintain the elderly, yet taxpayers are allowed only $50 per month per growing child.

"The VISTA program (Volunteers in Service to America) spent $3,100,000 this past year to turn out only 202 trainees. This indicates a cost of $15,000 per student. To keep one youngster in military uniform the government allows $55.20 per month for housing, $30.27 per month for food, and $4.20 per month for clothing. These items alone amount to $1,067 per year per man.

"How in the world can our leaders figure that parents can provide all the necessities listed above, plus doctor bills, medicines, music lessons, bicycles and motor scooters for $600 per year? The government with its own figures admits it can't be done.

". . .Why is it that honest, hard-working taxpayers are allowed only a $600 per year allowance for our legitimate children. . . . . and the government will pay more than $800 per year to keep up an illegitimate one?"

We don't believe the administration and Congress are actually naive enough to believe that the $600 exemption is sufficient. It is entirely possible that they don't particularly care, for they are more concerned with money available for their spending programs than the average family's budget. We must regard this as another of the many inequities which exist in America today.

Congressmen can raise their own salaries; they can grant pay increases to government employees; they can dole out money to those who will not work for it; they can authorize huge sums for untested, untried and unsuccessful programs; they can concoct grandiose schemes to aid minority groups; they can recognize "cost of living" increases for labor; they can lament the living conditions in Appalachia; they can talk at length about the trials which befall their constituents who are not feeding at the federal trough; but when it comes to doing something about the plight of John Doe taxpayer the action is slower than the proverbial molasses in January.

A change in the dependency allowance is long overdue; it should be increased at this session of Lyndon's chosen people.

Interesting Opinions . . .

"Nothing in life is more remarkable than the unnecessary anxiety which we endure, and generally occasion ourselves."

—Benjamin Disraeli

Borrowed Nonsense . . .

One farmer who decided to quit and do something else offered this explanation: "Too many 'ups' for me. First, you have to wake up, then you have to get up. Next you have to wash up, feed up and hitch up. Then you have to catch up and keep up. When you check up, you find you've hardly enough to pay up. That's when I gave up."

COUNTY BOARD PROCEEDINGS

Consumers Co-op. TRFalls, Per gallon, $4.80.

Moved by Hanson seconded by Anderson that the bid of the Farmers Union Oil Co. be accepted as the lowest and best bid received and the Chairman and Auditor are authorized and instructed to enter into contract with said successful bidder. Motion carried.

Moved by Anderson seconded by Olson that the Engineer and Auditor be authorized and instructed to advertise for bids for Sub-base, Base and Bituminous Base on SAH No. 3 from the Air port road east to Highway 59 and on SAH No. 12 (Wylie road) from the St. Hilaire road south to the County line with bids to be opened at 11:00 a.m., April 5, 1966. Motion carried.

Moved by Anderson seconded by Olson that the Engineer and Auditor be authorized and instructed to advertise for bids for Repair of County Ditch No. 66 in conjunction with construction of SAR No. 15 as they run concurrently with the bids to be opened at 2:00 p.m., April 5, 1966. Carried.

Commissioner Lindberg introduced the following resolution and moved its adoption:

RESOLVED, By the Pennington County Board of Commissioners, that Joseph Seidel, County Engineer, be and he is hereby authorized, in addition to the Statutory Limitations, to restrict the load limits on Pennington County roads, during the spring breakup, between the limits of 2 tons per axel and 5 tons per axel, according to the conditions of each road and to 'post' the load limits accordingly.

The foregoing resolution was duly seconded by Commissioner Olson and declared carried.

Commissioner Lindberg introduced the following resolution and moved its adoption:

WHEREAS, $20,000 of the Courthouse Bonds of 1953 of the County, dated June 1, 1953, maturing in the year 1967, consisting of bonds Nos. 211 to 230, both inclusive, and bearing interest at the rate of 3.20 per cent per annum are subject to redemption on June 1, 1963 and any interest payment date thereafter at par and accrued interest, and

WHEREAS, The County funds are available for the prior redemption thereof and this Board deems such prior redemption to be in the best interest of the County,

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by the Board of County Commissioners of Pennington County, Minnesota, as follows:

1. The County Auditor of Pennington County, Minnesota is hereby authorized and directed to give notice of redemption on June 1, 1966 of $20,000 of the outstanding Courthouse Bonds of 1953 above identified. Such notice shall be mailed at least thirty days in advance of such date to any known holder of any bond, bonds or coupons and to the First National Bank of Minneapolis, in Minneapolis, Minnesota, the place of payment with respect to such bonds.

2. The County Treasurer is authorized and directed to apply the available funds to the payment of the principal of the $20,000 Courthouse Bonds of 1953 being redeemed and to make all necessary arrangements with the First National Bank of Minneapolis as paying agent with respect to $20,000 of its outstanding Courthouse Bonds of 1953 to effect the redemption herein provided for.

The foregoing resolution was duly seconded by Commissioner Hanson and declared carried.

The Annual report of County Livestock Inspector, Dr. F. W. Hazard was read and ordered filed.

Discussion was held relative to the problems of the deer herds in the woods because of the heavy snows in the Northwestern Minnesota area. Board members agreed to give the matter their individual attention.

Moved by Olson seconded by Lindberg that the Board meet to appraise forfeited lands on April 19, 1966. Motion carried.

Commissioner Lindberg introduced the following resolution and moved its adoption:

IT IS HEREBY RESOLVED, That all lands which pursuant to Chapter 386, Laws of 1935, as amended have been forfeited to the State of Minnesota for non-payment of taxes, under any existing laws declaring the forfeiture of lands to the State for non-payment of taxes, shall be offered for sale to the highest bidders at the office of the County Auditor in the Courthouse in the City of Thief River Falls, in said County and State, with a separate list of lands currently being re-classified to be offered for rent; commencing at 10:00 o'clock a. m., Friday, May 6, 1966, a list of said lands being on file in the office of the County Auditor of said County.

The foregoing resolution was duly seconded by Commissioner Olson and declared carried.

The Board then noted the untimely death of Henry Storhaug, Clerk of Court, who had served the County as Clerk of District Court since assuming the position on January 1, 1941. The Board extends condolences to the family.

Commissioner Olson introduced the following resolution and moved its adoption:

WHEREAS, a vacancy had occurred in the Office of the Clerk of District Court by the untimely death of Henry Storhaug and

WHEREAS, the State Legislature has enacted legislation changing the theory of compensation for the Clerk of District Court in the event a vacancy occurs by the elimination of the retention of fees as a part of the compensation of the office.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that, pursuant to Chapter 822, Minnesota Laws of 1965, and effective March 1, 1966, the salary of the Clerk of District Court shall be $6,500.00 annually. The foregoing resolution was duly seconded by Commissioner Hanson and declared carried.

Commissioner Lindberg introduced the following resolution and moved its adoption:

WHEREAS, Chapter 822, Minnesota Laws of 1965, provides for the County Board to approve a budget and provide funds for the operation of the office of the Clerk of Court.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the sum of $3,250.00 be set aside and appropriated for Clerk Hire for the Office of the Clerk of Court for the balance of the year 1966.

The foregoing resolution was duly seconded by Commissioner Anderson and declared carried.

Moved by Olson seconded by Lindberg that the Bond of Ardith Johnson as Clerk of Court in the amount of $3,000.00 with the Agric. Ins. Co. be approved. Carried.

Abatement of Real Estate value on vacant lot owned by Inga Berg in Merriam addition was approved to correspond to the adjacent lots. Improvement was started after May 1, 1965.

Pursuant to certificate of satisfactory completion of Contract by Engineer Seidel the Contracts with Elk River Concrete in the amount of $3,973.00 and with the Wheeler Lumber & Bridge in the amount of $3,676.35 were approved and accepted and ordered paid upon motion by Olson seconded by Hanson and declared carried.

Commissioner Olson introduced the following resolution and moved its adoption:

WHEREAS, The County Planning Act, Minn. Statutes, Sec. 394.21 to 394.37 grants authority to counties having less than 300,000 population according to the 1950 federal census to proceed with county planning and zoning activities, and

WHEREAS, Pennington County, Minnesota, is a county within this class, and

WHEREAS, THE Board of County Commissioners of Pennington County, Minnesota, has carefully studied said act and is of the opinion it is desirable to establish county-wide planning and zoning in order to promote the health, safety, morals and general welfare of the people of the county.

NOT THEREFORE, the Board of County Commissioners of Pennington County, Minnesota, does hereby establish a Planning Advisory Commission whose members shall be appointed by the Chairman of said board for such terms and under such circumstances as are set out below:

1. Terms of Office. The term of office for service on the Planning Advisory Commission for each member of the Commission shall be for a period of years from the date of his appointment, unless otherwise stated, and until his successor is duly appointed and qualified.

a. The county commissioner serving on the Planning Advisory Commission shall serve for a period of one (1) year, but may succeed himself on the Commission. He shall be appointed at the first meeting of the Board of Commissioners in each calendar year.

b. The term of office for all other appointees to the Planning Advisory Commission shall be for a term of three (3) years except in the case of appointments made to the Commission when it is established and appointments made to enlarge the Commission. Such appoitments shall be made for such terms as the Board shall decide at the time of the appointment. It is the intention to provide for continuity on the Commission by using staggered terms to the extent possible.

c. Any county officer or employee designated by the Board of County Commissioners either as an ex-officio member of the Commission or as an advisor to the Commission shall serve in such capacity at the pleasure of the Board and only so long as he continues in the county office or position he held at the time of apointment.

2. Vacancies. Vacancies on the Planning Advisory Commission shall be filled as soon as practical after the vacancy occurs. Such appointment shall be for the unexpired term of the former member.

3. Removal. Any member of the Planning Advisory Commission may be removed from the Commission by the Board of County Commissioners for incompetency, misconduct or negligence shown after a hearing before the Board, upon due notice and upon stated charges in writing and on the concurring vote of four members of the Board. The member of the Commission charged with conduct or activity which is alleged to be grounds for removal shall have adequate notice of any charges made against him and sufficient time to prepare a defense against such charges.

4. Expenses. Each member of the Planning Advisory Commission shall be reimbursed for actual and necessary expenses incurred in attending meetings of the Commission and in the conduct of the business of the Commission. Reimbursement for transportation shall be limited to actual sums paid for fares, except that if a Commission member used his own automobile, he may be reimbursed therefore for each mile acutally driven by the Commission member. Any County Officer or employee designated as an ex-officio member of the Commission may be reimbursed for his actual and necessary expense in attending meetings of the Commission and in the conduct of the business of the Commission if his county position provides for reimbursement for expenses, but such reimbursement shall not exceed the amounts herein provided.

IT IS ORDERED, by the Board of County Commissioners, that a full, true and correct copy of this resolution shall be certified to by the County Auditor who shall forthwith file a record such certified copy in the office of the Register of Deeds for Pennington County, Minnesota. Such resolution shall be a public record and available for inspection at reasonable times in the office of the Register of Deeds.

The foregoing resolution was duly seconded by Commissioner Lindberg and declared carried.

The Chairman of the Board then announced the following appointments to the Planning Advisory Commission.

For a three year term: Wm. Palmquist, St. Hilaire, Roy Lee, Thief River Falls; Oscar C. Houske, St. Hilaire.

For a two year term: Roy Wiseth, Goodridge; Dr. O. D. Belch, Thief River Falls; Dake Ayers, Rt. 1, Thief River Falls.

For a one year term: Francis Hamerlinck, Thief River Falls; Don Olson, Commissioner representative; C. W. Rodekuhr, Thief River Falls.

Moved by Anderson seconded by Hanson that the 1st meeting of the Planning Advisory Commission be held in the Courthouse, Thursday evening, March 31, 1966, at 7:30 p.m. and that the County Board meet as a whole as an Inter-County Government Committee with the Commission. Carried.

Moved by Olson seconded by Lindberg that the Chairman and Auditor be authorized and instructed to sign an agreement with the State of Minnesota for operation of the State Teletypewriter Communications Network which was set up by Chapter 902, 1965 Laws of Minnesota, which provides for operational costs and a montly operational charge of $74.00 to the Northwestern Bell Telephone Co. Motion carried.

I want to thank everyone who visited me while I was in Northwestern hospital. Also those who sent flowers, cards, and gifts. Also Dr. Thorsgaard and nurses for good care, also Pastor Peterson for his visits. Mrs. Gladys Hamre. 1t23p

In Memoriam

In loving memory of Lucila S. Knutson, who passed away on March 27th, 1964.

The moon and stars are shining on a low and silent grave,
Beneath them lies one dearly loved,
and whom we could not save.
She left behind some broken hearts that loved her most sincere,
That never did or never will forget you, Mother dear.

Sadly missed by husband Arthur and family. 1t23p

Make your housecleaning this year a gradual process instead of large cleaning jobs throughout the year, suggest extension home management specialists at the University of Minnesota. Make a work schedule, allowing for daily cleaning plus special once-a-week or once-a-month jobs.

Don't feed the sink with leftover vegetable juices. Use these as part of the liquid in stews and soups.

SPECIAL NOTICE
to N.F.O. Farmers

Starting Thursday, March 24th we will be buying butcher cattle at Winger Collection point and every Thursday from now on.

Armour & Co. will do the buying. Also to follow we will hold public auctions. Starting March 26 and every Saturday there after.

So if you have mixed cattle we will sell your butcher cattle on Thursday & hold your feeder & dairy cattle for the auction on Saturday. For more information call Melvin Joppru at 681-2854.

Ada Shades Prowlers As Region Champions

The Ada Vikings won the Region Eight basketball title on Saturday night by turning in a strong second half to edge out the Thief River Falls Prowlers, 50 to 45, in the championship finals of the tourney that was concluded at the UND fieldhouse in Grand Forks. Ada, as the Region Eight champions, will participate in the state tournament, and will meet the Duluth East squad of Region Seven in tourney first-round action at 2 p.m. on Thursday.

In a consolation game, played prior to the championship game on Saturday night, the Bemidji Lumberjacks with Howard Hoganson scoring 18 points and Danny Christenson adding 15 points, defeated the Karlstad Rabbits, 77 to 56.

In the championship game the Prowlers gained an 11 to 9 first period edge, with Neil Josephson scoring three field goals and Mark Stromberg notching a pair of field goals. Tom Cummings added a free throw point.

The Prowlers, playing some of their finest basketball, and being very effective on defense and strong on clearing the boards against their larger opponents, outpointed the Vikings 12 to 11, in the second period to hold a 23 to 20 margin at the intermission. In this second period Josephson, who led the Prowlers in scoring for the game, dropped four free throws into the west basket. And Bob Brodin, who notched 11 points during the game, hit on a pair of field goals from the circle and added a free throw. For the Vikings, it was Doug Hanson with three outside field goals, and Ken Pierce with a pair of field goals who kept Ada in contention.

In the third period the Vikings outpointed the Prowlers, 14 to 10, and moved into a 34 to 33 lead. Bruce Johnson, a speedy guard for the Vikings, and who had tallied but a free throw in the first half, scored a pair of field goals and two free throws to spark the Vikings' attack.

In the hectic fourth period, Josephson's field goal, with 3:30 to play knotted the game at 41-all. But Hanson flipped in a field goal to give the Vikings' the lead. Cummings, on a bonus free throw attempt, scored two points, and the game was again in a tie, 43 to 43, with 2:30 to play. Tony Stadum then scored from close in, and Ada gained the lead that they maintained for the remaining two minutes and 20 seconds of the game. Hanson and Johnson marked up two free throws, giving Ada a 50-43 lead with seconds to play. Brodin, from the corner, hit on a field goal, paring the Vikings' margin to 50 to 45.

Josephson was the game's top scorer with five field goals and six free throws, for a 16-point effort. Ada's Hanson was runner-up with 15 points.

HIGH In the air goes Bob Brodin of the Prowlers as he scored two of his 10 points against Crookston Central in the championship game of the District 31 tournament, won by the Prowlers 48-47. Brodin led the Prowlers against Warren with 21 points in a semi-final game the night previous. Defending for Crookston is guard Ron Mutcher who led the Pirates with 15 points.

BREAKING away from the basket for the Karlstad Rabbits of District 32 in this opening game against Thief River Falls is Brian Sjodin, a talented sophomore guard. Sjodin was the floor leader for Karlstad and an exceptional shot from the field. Also pictured are Neil Skogerboe of the Rabbits, Karl Poppenhagen (42), Neil Josephson (50) and Wayne Liden (22) of the Prowlers. Josephson's 16 point effort against Ada in the championship game Saturday kept Thief River Falls in contention for the title until the final seconds when Viking free throws choked off the Prowler threat.

CHARGED with an offensive charging foul on this play under the Thief River Falls basket in the opening round of Region 8 tournament play was Bob Brodin of the Prowlers. Teaming up to stop the drive-in attempt for Karlstad are Tim Olson (41), David Henry (11) and Neil Skogerboe. The Prowlers won the game to advance into the championship round against the Ada Vikings.

TWO POINTS for Tom Cummings of the Prowlers just before the end of the half gave Thief River Falls a one-point lead over Crookston Central in the championship of the District 31 tourney Tuesday. The Prowlers marked up their third consecutive one-point win over Crookston this season to gain the district title 48-47. Cummings scored 11 points in the game. Defending is Norm Newell of the Pirates.

National Figures In NFO To Speak At Area Meetings

Two top figures in the National Farmers Organization will speak in Minnesota March 31. Oren Lee Staley, president, will speak at the Traverse county sausage feed at Wheaton while Erhard Phengsten, vice president, will address the Roseau county organization at Roseau.

Both speakers are expected to discuss the grain sale conducted February 23 by the county grain bargaining committees throughout a 16-state area. They will also reveal the latest developments in the dairy industry concerning the activities of Nationwide Milk Products, Inc.

Local NFO officers have been advised that another of the 15 major meat processors in the nation is now cooperating with the organization, bringing the total to seven cooperating packers.

County members are also reminded of the Seventh District NFO rally to be held Saturday, April 2, at 8 p.m. in the Detroit Lakes high school. Guest speaker will be W. W. Swaim, head of the national promotions department of the NFO.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

One for the Book

When the Prowlers defeated the Crookston Pirates, 48 to 47, in finals of the District 31 tournament at Grand Forks on Tuesday night, it marked the third time this season that the Prowlers had played a one-point game with the Pirates. And what is more remarkable, the Prowlers won all three games.

In mid-December, in a game played at Crookston, the Prowlers, on Tommy Cummings rebound shot with a couple of seconds to play, defeated the Pirates, 38 to 37. And in a return game played here early in February, the Prowlers scored a 52 to 51 win over Crookston. In this game the Pirates held an 18 to 8 first period lead, a 31 to 26 margin at the intermission, and a 46 to 43 lead entering the final period.

I leafed through my record book to see if I could find a Prowler squad that had duplicated this three one-point wins over one team in a season. Not only didn't I find where a Prowler cage team had played three one-point games with an opponent, but I wasn't able to find where a Prowler team had scored two one-point wins over an opponent in a single season. There have been a couple of one-point games played, but they were a win and a loss for the Prowlers.

Back in the 1924-25 season, a Prowler powerhouse that had such players as Cliff Bjorkman, Walt Larson, Lloyd Bennes and others, played at Stephen and dropped an 18 to 17 decision. Later, on the auditorium court here, the Prowlers defeated Stephen, 13 to 12. In the district tourney finals, the Prowlers rolled up a 28 to 5 win over Stephen.

And during the 1945-46 season, the Prowlers lost a 27 to 26 game to the Pirates at Crookston; and in a return game here, the locals won by a 22 to 21 margin. In the district tournament finals that year Crookston defeated the Prowlers, 31 to 23.

Hasn't Happened Often

The Region Eight basketball tournament that was concluded at the UND fieldhouse in Grand Forks on Saturday night was the 36th annual event. And do you realize that in those 36 years, the Bemidji Lumberjacks have been entrants in the regional tourney 33 times! Only in 1934 and 1937, when Cass Lake represented District 29, and in 1952 when the Red Lake Indians were the District 29 champions, did Bemidji fail to represent District 29.

And in those 33 tries for the Region Eight title the 'Jacks have been successful on 23 occasions. And what is more remarkable is that only four occasions has Bemidji been beaten in its regional first-round game. In 1939 the Middle River Skippers defeated Bemidji, 40 to 35, in a first-round game. Middle River then lost to the defending state champion Prowlers, 28 to 19, in the finals.

In 1942 the Bagley Flyers edged out the Lumberjacks, 21 to 18, in the first-round. And the Flyers went on to win the regional title by scoring a 30 to 28 win over the East Grand Forks Green Wave. In 1946 the Crookston Pirates defeated Bemidji, 36 to 35, in an opening-round game. And then the Roseau Rams surprised the Pirates by scoring a 37 to 29 win in the finals. That was the year that the Rams also won the Region Eight hockey title, and so had two state tournament teams in action.

And this past Friday night the Ada Vikings, with a solid lineup boastin good rebounder and a pair of sharpshooting guards, defeated Bemidji, 65 to 62, in a first-round game. But the 'Jacks made a desperate bid to remain in contention for the regional title. The Ada Vikings won the Region Eight championship by defeating the Prowlers, 50 to 45.

Of course, it should be mentioned that the Bemidji Lumberjacks defeated the Prowlers, 20 to 10, in the finals of the tourney held in 1933. But the Prowlers protested that game, contending that the 'Jacks Martin Connolly was ineligible having been five years in high school. This protest was upheld. But then Bemidji protested that the Prowlers' Arnold Stadum was over-age and ineligible. And investigation proved that this contention was true, and the locals were disqualified. The regional committee then awarded the title, and the entry in the state tournament, to the Ada Vikings. There was plenty of excitement around here for a couple of days.

Good for Joe

Joe Mrkonich, Prowler football coach here from 1954 through 1964, and assistant basketball coach during those years, is now the football and basketball coach at Duluth East. On Saturday night Joe's Duluth East Greyhouds won the Region Seven basketball championship by scoring a 71 to 69 win over Chisholm in an overtime game.

Chisholm led at the intermission 55 to 50, but East rallied to knot the score at 65-all in regulation time. East gained the championship finals by defeating Tower-Soudan, 78 to 59, in a semi-finals game.

Incidentally, Duluth East will open their state tournament play by meeting the Ada Vikings of Region Eight in a first-round game at 2 p.m. on Thursday in Williams arena on the U of M campus.

Kenneth Froehle Rejoins Army

Army Specialist Four Kenneth C. Froehle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Froehle of Thief River Falls, reenlisted for six years in the regular Army February 28, while serving with the 516th Engineer Company in Germany.

Specialist Froehle is a bridge specialist in the company. He entered the Army in January of 1964, received basic training at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo., and arrived overseas in June of 1964.

The 21-year-old soldier is a 1962 graduate of Lincoln high school.

Ada, TRF Win in Region 1st Round

The Ada Vikings and the Thief River Falls Prowlers won regional semi-finals basketball tournament games on Friday night at Grand Forks. The Vikings sidelined the defending champion Bemidji Lumberjacks of District 29, 65 to 62; and the Prowlers edged out a stubborn Karlstad team from District 32, winning by a 49 to 41 score.

Ada gained a 21 to 14 first period lead in their game against Bemidji but the 'Jacks, on a 16-point effort in the second period, came on to gain a 30-30 tie at the intermission.

Bemidji, starting the third period, took a one-point lead, but that advantage was short-lived as the Vikings, led by guard Bruce Johnson who scored three field goals, moved ahead 45 to 43 at the end of the period.

The final period proved to be a high-scoring period with Ada notching 20 points, ten of which came from the free throw line. Bemidji pared the Ada lead to one point, 63 to 62, with two seconds to play, but the Vikings' Mike Sheridan dropped in a pair of free throws and coach Denny Anderson's squad had a well-earned 65 to 62 win over Bemidji.

The Prowlers had several uneasy minutes before they were able to subdue the hustling Karlstad Rabbits. Karlstad held a 12 to 9 lead at the end of the first period, and the Rabbits increased that margin to 20 to 11 in the late moments of the second period before the Prowlers, with Brodin scoring five points, and Wayne Liden driving in for a layup pared that lead. Karlstad led 22 to 20 at the intermission.

With Tom Cummings leading the attack with three field goals, the Prowlers moved into a 33 to 30 margin at the end of the third period. But the locals were unable to pull away from the Rabbits, and midway in the final period it was 37 to 34 for the Prowlers. Brodin scored on a breakaway, Cummings added a pair of free throws, and the locals had some point-insurance. But Tom Olson and Brian Sjodin, dropped in four free throws, and a Karlstad field goal sliced the lead to 43 to 40 with 1:10 to play. Stromberg, with 36 seconds to play, notched two free throws; and then, with 20 seconds to play, Stromberg scored from close in and the Prowlers had locked up their win.

Agassiz Refuge Deer and Moose Count Increases

Annual mid-winter inventory of deer and moose populations on Agassiz refuge and adjacent state wildlife management areas was made on February 24, according to the Agassiz National Wildlife refuge staff.

The aerial survey showed that 680 deer were present on those areas. This figure represents an eight per cent increase over the number of deer present last year.

The local moose herd showed a much more substantial increase, however, with these animals increasing from 128 in 1965 to 169 this year. This represents a 32 per cent population increase, and a stocking rate of approximagely four moose per square mile of available upland refuge wintering habitat.

Counts for moose and deer for the past five years are as follows:

Year	Deer	Moose
1962	532	139
1963	520	136
1964	522	140
1965	624	128
1966	680	169

The majority of moose and deer appear to have withstood the difficulties imposed on them by the severe blizzard of March 9-12. A number of weakened deer were detected soon after the storm and a D-8 caterpillar was used to break trails in order to help the animals reach their natural food supplies.

Only one dead deer has been found to date, and the recent spell of mild weather has greatly reduced the hardships imposed on the animals by the deep snows, refuge personnel indicate. Precluding additional severe weather between now and spring break-up, it is believed that only minimal winter deer losses will occur this year.

New Regulations For Small Boats Delayed to 1967

Pleasure boatmen not yet complying with new federal regulations requiring changes in small boat ventilation will not be penalized by Coast Guar boarding officers, it was announced today by Admiral Edwin J. Roland, commandant of the Coast Guard.

Acknowledging that many U. S. boating enthusiasts had protested enforcement of the new safety requirements on the basis that they had been afforded insufficient time to get their boats in order, the coast Guard has extended the deadline to June 1, 1967.

The grace period will be particularly welcomed by owners of older inboard engined types. New small craft owners will find that many of the late models have already had the new requirements built into the design by safety-minded manufacturers.

Boarding officers of Coast Guard safety patrols will continue to bring the new rules to the attention of owners and operators during their normal inspections and will recommend preventive measures against unsafe practices they observe.

13-Step Program Proposed....

Community Development Is Discussed Here Monday

Outline of a 13-step program for "total community development" was presented Monday noon to a combined meeting of the Thief River Falls Rotary and Lions clubs in the Elks club rooms. Speaker was Richard Bailey, Manager of the Northwestern division of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce.

Donovan Narverud, president of the Chamber of Commerce, introduced the speaker at the session which was also attended by several Chamber of Commerce members not affiliated with either the Rotary or Lions clubs.

Bailey said the question which must be asked is, "How can Thief River Falls best organize all of its resources for total community development?" Central theme of the balanced community development program, the speaker added, is that there are no insurmountable obstacles of any kind for the city that knows where it is going.

The common approach to development has long followed a pattern of attempting to identify the problem, accumulate pertinent facts pertaining to it, analyze the facts and suggest courses of action and formulate recommendations for discussion and action, Bally said.

A more effective course, he noted, calls for discussion of general problems, establishment of priorities, securing full citizen participation and mobilizing resources to concentrate on the most pressing problems.

As summarized by Bailey, the 13-step program would include the following steps:

(1) Organize a study course of seven study sessions; 2) plan succeeding steps; (3) make basic assumptions; (4) select a priorities committee; (5) hold city-wide meetings to explain procedure and identify problems; (6) identify problem areas; (7) select resource persons; (8) standardize procedure; (9) organize the participation process; (10) receive the priorities committee report on all projects recommended or contained in the report; (11) offer the report for consideration by all citizens; (12) plan and institute the program of work; and (13) continue the action to accomplish goals.

Bailey mentioned a number of communities in his division where the plan has been put into action or is being organized at the present time. He termed the 13-step approach "a self-help plan that really works."

Filings To Open April 2nd for TRF School Board

Filings for the Thief River Falls board of education will open April 2 with the filing period to remain open until Tuesday, April 26, according to Robert Bredeson, school clerk. Filing for the board may be done with the clerk.

Three members of the local board of education will have their terms expire this year. They include Lloyd Howick, Rufus Olson and John Burtness, the latter of whom resigned his board post at a recent meeting of the board due to the pressures of work at his farm.

The annual school election will be held Tuesday, May 17, at which time three members will be elected for three-year terms. Members elected will take office following the July meeting of the board.

D.F.L. Convention Slated Saturday

Pennington county's DFL convention will be held Saturday at 8 p.m. in the Thief River Falls city auditorium, according to Henry Panek, Goodridge, county chairman.

Eligible voters for candidates will be the elected delegates from the county DFL precinct caucuses held March 1, but all interested members of the DFL party are invited to attend the convention.

Included on the agenda will be the election of county officers including chairman, chairwoman, vice chairman, vice chairwoman, secretary and treasurer, and election of delegates and alternates to the district and state conventions. One delegate to the state central committee will also be elected.

Pennington county will elect six delegates and alternates to the district and state conventions, with delegate numbers based on one voting delegate for each 1,000 votes cast for President Johnson in the 1964 election.

Also included on the agenda will be adoption of resolutions to be presented at the district convention and the endorsement and recommendation of candidates for public office. The district convention will be held May 21 and 22 at Detroit Lakes and the state convention June 17, 18 and 19 in Minneapolis.

Based on the attendance at the precinct caucuses, the largest-attended DFL convention in the history of Pennington county is anticipated, Panek said. He attributed the large caucus turnouts to actions and efforts on the part of the DFL to strengthen its organization at all levels and "enthusiasm among DFL party members generally to sweeping legislative and congressional victories in next November's elections."

Jaycees Nominate Candidates for Offices in 1966

Nominations for Jaycee officers in the coming year were submitted by the nominating committee at the regular meeting of the Thief River Falls Jaycees held Tuesday at the American Legion club rooms. Election of officers will take place on Tuesday, April 19.

Nominees submitted by the committee included the following: Charles Follett and James Dale, president; Jon Larson and Dr. Donald Goodrich, first vice president; Roger Person and Robert Ekeren, second vice president; Neil McEwen and James Carlson, secretary; Myron DeMers and Bennie Bjerken, treasurer; Kenneth Corriveau, Sander Tureson, James Wills, Tony Kozojed, Howard Rokke and Darrell Bakke, directors; and Lt. Harold Shelby, state director.

Among projects discussed by the chapter were the Boss - Employee banquet scheduled for April 13, motor vehicle safety check, Boy Scout exposition and several others.

Name Appraisers In Condemnation Proceedings Here

Three commissioners and two alternates to ascertain and report the amount of damages to be sustained by owners in condemnation proceedings initiated by the city of Thief River Falls have been appointed by Judge H. O. Chommie in Ninth District court.

Named by the court were Albert Koop, N. C. Lindberg and John Lang as appraisers (commissioners) and Hugh E. Carlson and Maynard Mehrkens as alternates. The property sought by the city through condemnation proceedings is located east of the Thief river and north of highway 1 on the northeast corner of the city. It would be made available to the state junior college board as a permanent junior college site.

Respondents in the action initiated by the city are Myrtle E. Myrin, Clifford Norman Myrin, Marguerite Myrin and the county of Pennington. Robert A. Wurst, city attorney, represents the city and Lyman A. Brink represents the respondents.

At a hearing held March 14, city attorney and the respondents and their attorney appeared before the court. Attorney Wurst filed proof of service of the notice of the objects of the petition. The respondents objected that the taking of the property was not necessary and that the law under which the petitioner is acting is unconstitutional.

Judge Chommie's order issued Thursday stated that ". . . . the petition of petitioner should be and hereby is granted; that the use for which such lands are to be taken is a public use; that such taking is authorized by law and is necessary for such use and purpose."

The commissioners (appraisers) appointed by the court will first meet on April 1 at 10 a.m. in the county courthouse in Thief River Falls.

FIELD DAY
March 27, 1966
T.R.F. CITY AUDITORIUM
Thief
Empress Ch

FIRST field day for the Thief River Falls unit of Empress Chinchilla Breeders cooperative will be held Sunday at the Thief River Falls city auditorium. Ribbons and rosettes will be awarded in five color phases in four classes of competition. Registration will open at 8:30 a.m., animal classification will run from 10 a.m. to noon and the main event will begin at 1 p.m. following a dinner for exhibitors at the Rex cafe. Al Mock from Hawley will judge the show. Breeders are limited to 20 individual animal entries in the event with a entry of $1.50 per animal for E.C.B.C. members and $2 per animal for non-members. A few of the major rosettes to be awarded are shown above, together with one of the furry little show veterans from Kenneth Wendel's chinchilla herd at Thief River Falls.

Farmers Union Shippers Will Meet Saturday

1965 Statement Shows $500 in Scholarships Given by Association

Northern Minnesota Farmers Union Shipping association will hold its annual meeting Saturday at 1:30 p.m. in the basement meeting room of the Thief River Falls city auditorium, according to Lloyd Nelson, secretary-treasurer.

Election of three directors for three - year terms and a report of the past year's operations will be main items of business at the session. Guest speaker will be Berget Bergeson of Twin Valley, area fieldman for the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation service.

Directors whose terms expire include Nelson and Bernard Myers, Thief River Falls, and Charles Egestad, Roseau. Current officers include Arne Samuelson, Viking, president; Jay Estling, vice president; and Nelson, secretary-treasurer. Directors are Archie Wilson, Goodridge; Oliver Venaas, Roseau; George Helmstetter, Roosevelt; Myers; Egestad; and Edgar Naplin, Red Lake Falls.

Total assets of the association at the end of the 1965 fiscalyear were $2,639, all of them in the form of undivided earnings due to patrons. Gross operating income was $2,868 while operating losses and expenses totaled $3,185—leaving a net loss to patrons of $317.

Among expenses during the past year was the awarding of five $100 scholarships to Cynthia Karlsson, Charlotte Myers, Pam Torkelson, Edythe Peters and Carter Hedlund. Other expense included $249.47 for directors expense, $115 in printing, office supplies and telephone, $83 for annual meeting, $200 for bookkeeping, $24 for audit, $220 for banquet and $164 for trophies.

Wilson Bros. Opens Branch Office in RLF

A branch office of the Wilson Bros. auto parts company, of Thief River Falls, opened for business in Red Lake Falls several weeks ago in the Red Lake Falls Oil company building.

Operated by Merle Brevik, the auto parts firm recently completed remodeling the north half of the building and erection of shelving and bins. The firm will complete stocking of parts in the near future.

NAVY NURSES appear on the beach of their wartime island home shortly after the departure of a similar-sized group of sailors who made the astute observation that "There is nothing like a dame." Singing in the foreground is Ensign Nellie Forbush, played by Karen Ferber, who has fallen for Emile de Becque, a French plantation owner played by Bruce Parham, who has lived on the island for 25 years. She has had second thoughts upon hearing of Emile's dubious past, and sings "I'm Gonna Wash That Man Right Outa My Hair." She does, for a short time. The scene is from Rodger's and Hammerstein's "South Pacific," to be presented Friday, Saturday and Monday evenings in the Lincoln high school auditorium by the Lincoln music department. Curtain time all three nights is at 7:30 p.m.

LHS Chorus To Present "South Pacific" Operetta

Resplendent in color and punctuated by a number of songs that have become American standards, Rodgers' and Hammerstein's famous Broadway musical production, "South Pacific", will be presented Friday, Saturday and Monday nights by the Lincoln high school music department. Curtain time will be at 7:30 p.m. each night in the Lincoln auditorium.

Reserved seat tickets in the center front section may be purchased at the Larson Music company for $1. General admission tickets are available from chorus members at a cost of $1 for adults and 50 cents for students, with the exception of Monday night tickets which cost $1 for all persons. Director of the operetta is Bryant Ulseth, with James Solsten directing the orchestra.

Comedy, romance and wartime adventure all find their way into the story, which takes place on an island in the South Pacific during World War II. The war finds an odd assortment of Navymen, Marines, Frenchmen, Tonkinese natives and corps nurses on the island.

As the curtains open, the scene is the terrace of the plantation home of Emile de Becque a French man who fled to the island from France 25 years previously to escape a possible murder rap. Emile (Bruce Parnham) and Ensign Nellie Forbush (Karen Ferber), a Navy nurse formerly of Little Rock, Ark., talk and sing of their newly-found romance over a cup of coffee.

The scene shortly shifts to the beach, where Bloody Mary (Mary Kruemer), a French-Tonkinese resident of the nearby island of Bali Ha'i, is driving a group of bored sailors to distraction by selling them native-made grass skirts and singing a tantalizing song, "Bali Ha'I". This island has been declared off-limits to military personnel.

Soon to appear is Lt. Joseph

Easter Coloring Contest Pictures To Appear Monday

Again this year the Thief River Falls Times and local merchants are cooperating in an Easter coloring contest. Competition is open to children in two age groups—the first group through seven years of age and the second group for children eight through 12.

Two prizes will be awarded by each participating business firm in amounts of three dollars for each age group. Children must bring their colored pictures to the respective stores whose name appears under each picture. No mailed entries will be accepted.

Judging will be conducted on Wednesday, April 6 and all pictures must be turned in by that date. Each participating business place will notify the winners in that store and a complete list of winners will be published in the April 11 issue of the Times.

Pictures to be colored will be published in the Monday, March 28, issue of the Times and the Shopper to be printed Saturday and mailed throughout the area on Monday. Extra copies of the coloring page will be also available at the Times office and in participating stores.

Stores participating in the contest this year include Ward's Catalog store, Woolworth's, Robertson's Holiday Discount store, Bostwick's, Paint and Glass Supply, Junior Shop, Penney's, Mostue's, Winjum's Hartz supermarket and Parkins Corner Drug.

Goodridge Man Named First VP Of Insurance Firm

Ernest Swanson, Goodridge, was named first vice president of Group Health Mutual at the board meeting March 12 held following the company's 27th annual meeting. Swanson replaces Douglas Bade on the executive committee. Chester Larson, Thief River Falls, is chairman of the supervisory committee of Group Health.

Guest speaker for the noon banquet was Raymond Halk, member of the Minneapolis law firm of Erickson, Popham, Halk & Schnobrich, and a member of the President's Water Pollution Control Board. Halk warned of the need for immediate national concern with the problem of pollution of our lakes and rivers.

Two nursing scholarships were awarded by the Group Health Association through the George E. Feller Foundation. The awards, which are renewed annually depending on scholarship achievements, went to Sally Poeske, Milwaukee, and Judith Fitzpatrick, Madison.

Norman Peterson Elected County SCD Supervisor

Norman Peterson was elected as the new supervisor for the Pennington County Soil Conservation district at the recent township elections. Ray Olson of Numedal township received seven write-in votes and Melvin Scholin of Bray Township received three write-in votes.

Peterson operates a 640 - acre farm in Sanders township. He has been a cooperator with the local soil district since 1954 and was selected as the conservation farmer of the year in 1963 for Pennington county. Peterson will represent the following townships as a supervisor of the Pennington district: Numedal, Bray, Polk Centre, Sanders and Black River.

Pennington Among Disaster Counties In Federal Grant

Twenty-two Minnesota counties have been declared a major disaster area by President Johnson at the request of Governor Karl Rolvaag, according to word received here Tuesday from Senators Eugene McCarthy and Walter F. Mondale. A federal allocation of $500,000 has been made available to the state due to flood damage.

Counties listed in the disaster area are Aitkin, Becker, Cass, Clay, Crown Wing, Kittson, Lake of the Woods, Mahnomen, Marshall, Morrison, Norman, Ottertail, Pennington, Polk, Red Lake, Roseau, Sherburne, Stearns, Todd, Wadena, Wilkin and Wright.

Livestock Co-Op Notes 50 Years Of Area Service

Fifty years of livestock shipping were observed last week when the golden anniversary meeting of the Thief River Falls Livestock Cooperative Shipping association was held at Trinity Lutheran church. A large crowd attended the noon dinner and afternoon business session.

Harry Oen, secretary - treasurer of the association, reviewed the past history of the cooperative, noting that initial shipments were made by rail and that motor trucks later came into general use. There are believed to be no living charter members of the association, but many of the people who are currently doing business with the association are members of families who were original stockholders.

The secretary's report for 1965 showed that 8,177 head of livestock were marketed through the association the past year, including 2,957 cattle, 535 calves, 769 hogs and 3,916 sheep. Total weight of livestock shipped was 3,102,655 pounds and gross sale of livestock totaled $523,992. From the gross sale were deducted $22,270 for trucking, $13,618 for charges in St. Paul and $2,824 to the sinking fund.

The cooperative began the year with $4,862 assets, received $2,836 in the sinking fund and had other income of $71 for total income during the year of $7,770.

Total expense of $2,879 included $1,680 for livestock losses, $45 for annual meeting expense, $383.82

Annual Pre-School Roundup Slated Saturday, April 16

Annual pre-school roundup in Thief River Falls has been scheduled for Saturday, April 16 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Washington elementary school. It will be conducted under the direction of Mrs. Merle Lindberg, chairman, Mrs. Randall Noper and Mrs. Margaret Race, school nurse.

All children who will be five years old on or before Sept. 1, 1966, and who will be entering kindergarten in the fall, are invited to attend. It is emphasized by the committee that any child entering first grade who did not attend kindergarten in Thief River Falls must attend the roundup.

New residents in the community who will be entering children in the grade schools next fall should telephone Mrs. Lindberg at 681-1536 or Mrs. Race at 681-1336.

Parents are reminded that the child's birth certificate should be brought to the pre-school roundup. This can be obtained from the clerk of court in the county where the child was born. A hospital birth certificate will not be accepted.

Sponsors of the pre-school roundup are parent and teacher association groups at Knox, Mark Twain, Northrop, Washington and St. Bernard's elementary schools.

Sullivan Trial Opens Monday in District Court

Trial of Robert Joseph Sullivan of Thief River Falls on a charge of criminal negligence will open Monday at 10 a.m. before Judge H. O. Chommie in Ninth District court in Thief River Falls.

Sullivan appeared in district court November 2 and entered a plea of not guilty to the charge. On November 5 he entered a motion to waive jury trial, and the case to open on Monday will be heard without a jury.

Curtis L. Charlson, Pennington county attorney, will prosecute the case for the state while Robert A. Wurst will represent the defendant.

The case arises from a traffic accident at the intersection of Main avenue and First street in Thief River Falls last summer in which two people were killed.

Sorenson-Isaacson Vows Spoken In Minneapolis

Miss Audrey Ann Sorenson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sorenson of rural Thief River Falls became the bride of Harold E. Isaacson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Isaacson of Eleva, Wis., at a recent ceremony at Central Lutheran church in Minneapolis.

For her wedding the bride chose a floor-length gown of lace fashioned with long tapered sleeves and a scalloped neckline enhanced with sequins. The lace sheath skirt that swept back into a full length train was styled with a matching lace over-skirt, also designed with a train. A cap-designed headpiece, accented with sequins and pearls held the fingertip veil and she carried a crescent bouquet of miniature wite orchids and red roses. Her matching pearl necklace and earrings were gifts from the groom.

Sisters of the bride, Mrs. Robert Eckers, as matron of honor and Mrs. Glenn Davidson, as bridesmatron, wore red velveten floor-length gowns styled with belled skirts and white sashes. To complement their atfire they wore veiled red velveteen pillbox hats and carried matching muffs with white roses. Their pearl necklaces and earrings were gifts from the bride.

Cherie Eckers, a niece of the bride was flower girl. She wore a floor-length white lace dress with red velvet trim and carried a white satin muff with red roses. A nephew of the groom, Timmy Stanton of Eau Claire, Wis., was ring bearer.

Friends of the groom, Dallas Beck, Mondovi, Wis., and Clifford Anderson, Minneapolis, were best man and groomsman, respectively. Ushers were Roger Sorenson, brother of the bride and Mike Stanton, nephew of the groom. Craig Davidson, nephew of the bride served as acolyte.

The mother of the bride wore a blue lace dress with coordinating accessories while the mother of the groom wore a turquoise woolen dress with black accessories. Their corsages were of carnations and red roses.

A reception followed at the banquet room at the Hasty Tasty restaurant in Minneapolis with Mrs. Kenneth Stanton, sister of the groom, as hostess. Arleen Mulberg, cousin of the bride, cut the three-tiered wedding cake and Lida Muzzy, aunt of the bride, poured. Opening and displaying the gifts were Eva Uran of Minneapolis, friend of the bride, and Mrs. Luke Maidment of Minneapolis, a cousin of the bride.

The newly-weds are making their home at 9501 West Lawrence court, Schille Park, Ill., where the groom is employed as a quality control representative by the Boeing company.

Zehlian Art Club Evaluates Recent "Best Sellers"

Zehlian Art group of the Women's club met Thursday evening, March 3, at the Women's club room at the local City auditorium. President Mrs. Art Forsberg reminded the members of the District Convention to be held April 16 at Stephen. She urged all members to attend and reminded them that their reservations are to be in by April 10. Members were also urged to enter the Member art competition co-sponsored by the Outdoor Advertising association of America.

During the evening, spent in oil painting and water coloring, a discussion and evaluation was made of the best seller, "Up the Down Staircase" and the serial "Papa Hemmingway" appearing in the Saturday Evening Post. (An acquaintance of several local residents, Hemmingway's widow, Mary Welch Hemmingway, visited Thief River Falls several times during the time her parents were residents of this city.) With the efforts of the General Federation of Women's clubs to stop the flow of indecent literature the question was brought out, after reading the serial, "Where does good literature end and pornography take over?" Members felt that this should be of great concern to every citizen.

The next meeting of the Zehlians will be held April 7 at the club rooms with Mrs. Harold Rasmussen showing movies of her trip to Hawaii.

The Library Corner

By Flora Allison

They're arriving regularly, and just begging to be read, new books of every sort (for this is a PUBLIC library, and we do not censor, just bring on the books you've read about and are asking for). We strive to please all of you in the selections we have to offer.

It's a distasteful subject, but the annual "take" for Uncle Sam is in process, and there's a timely book, Kiplinger's "You and Your Taxes", with facts on cutting down on what you pay out, and all of it strictly legal, of course.

Other books in the economic vein are these, by the same author: "Stretching Your Auto Dollars," "Before You Buy a House," "Make Your Paycheck Pay Your Way", "You, Your Job and Your Future", and "Successful Retirement, Plan It Now." This latter pulls one up short with the "later than you think" reality. . .the time for planning for the so-called Golden years is NOW. There is much of a helpful nature here.

Sparklingly illustrated and factually vivid, the "Year 1966-The Encyclopedia News Annual", highlights the outstanding news events of the period spanning mid-year to mid-year. It is one of a number of companion works covering the historically vital in several years past. We have one other in this series, "Year 1965," in our files.

They keep coming in, in almost prodigious numbers, the books we order regularly. Some of the noteworthy references have just been unpacked and displayed on the shelves. Their numbers are prefixed with an "R", the reference designation; they are not loaned out, but you can take them to one of the reading tables and digest them in segments or at length.

Really, such truly superior books should circulate and re-circulate; the National Geographic's "Water, Prey, and Game Birds of North America" and "Song and Garden Birds of North America" are replete with actual photos in color, for stark realism, and there's fully half a page about each bird, its habitat, habits, size and description, and other pertinent information appealingly presented.

These are among the many such volumes on the feathered friends their beauty, fascinate us with their songs, or please our palates, not to mention firing the restless aimrod with the tug of the hunting instinct in proper season. Men especially will not want to pass these up. And women will find them aesthetically enjoyable as well.

Everlastingly popular are the stories, tales, accounts and pictures of the old West. "Before Barbed Wire" is crammed with photos by L. A. Huffman, billed as the photographer on horseback, who captured the old frontier in its homely realism. Riding buckboards or on horseback, he sought to record for posterity the vast, untamed, dust-covered panorama of the world of his day, the late 1800's.

Cattle drives, saloons, Indian personalities and those whose names are forgotten but whose visages are immortalized through his photography, early scenes of a varied nature, are all here to be enjoyed by the generations whose closest contact with a cowboy will be only through picture records such as are kept here for us in their unvarnished honesty. Unembellished with the props of the modern photo, only the truth as it existed shows through this early master's work. Borrow it for an afternoon.

For the youngsters, there's a cute story called "Bear Cub", and it's appealingly done by Ann Nolan Clark, with delightful illustrations by the talented Charles Frace. Beautifully handled is the life story of a bear cub, laced through with the tender love of its mother. This beautiful story of nature and of nature's ways carries the pair through the terror of forest fires, blizzards and other pain that is part of wilderness existence. The ending is compassionate and compelling but not maudlin; in a story of animals, the pain of parting seems to lack poignancy until handled by one of sensitive emotions such as the author of this story; she makes her point well. There is much to be learned here, of tenderness and understanding.

With our Twins in spring training, and their fans at present digging their toes into the dirt, almost in charge in at the current lack of finesse displayed by their heros, thoughts of the All-American sport come to the fore again. Tracing the game from small beginnings to its present stature, where it's called "everybody's game", Sam and Beryl Epstein in "The Game of Baseball" give a fact and pictorial backgrounding to this summer madness. It's on the juvenile level, and the kids will love it.

In fiction for this age group there's Curtis Bishop's "Little League Double Play", and there are many others. Look for the titles in the file, under Baseball or Sports.

A "please read to me" book, or one for the kids to curl up with on the rug is "Walter, the Lazy Mouse." Marjorie Flack produces chuckle-bate in this one, and the effect is enhanced by the intriguing illustrations by Cyndy Szekeres.

Another book for juveniles is "All About Fire" by Raymond Holden. Chapter headings such as, Fire in Myth and Magic, The Making of Fire, Fire as Friend, Armies Against Flame, Day of Disaster, Calamity and Chance, Fire on the Water, Fire From the Sun, give a glimpse of the subject matter treated between the covers.

From the feeble flicker of the caveman's cooking fire to the fury of flame accompanying the launching of man into space, drawings and photos depict the drama and the miracle of man's faithful servant and ruthless master. . .fire.

A magazine reader? All the latest and greatest ones are here; of course, we don't loan them out, but you are invited to select your preference from among the many available ensconce yourself comfortably at a table, and pursue it from cover to cover. When you're finished, simply replace it on the rack and select another. Just another service of the library—one we hope you'll use more and more.

And speaking of periodicals: in a democracy such as ours, where "We the People" have the reins of government in our hands, and should tug at them with firmness and tenacity, how many of you know what is being said to those who represent us on Congressional floors?

We are regular subscribers to the Congressional Record, where the facts are told. Learn what's going on behind the scenes; it's not secret, nor is it supposed to be, in the main. If your congressman is on his feet and making YOUR voice heard on Capital Hill, you're being truly represented. If not, let him hear about it! Not only is this the privilege of a free citizen, but it would appear to be also a duty. If you don't see the Record, ask for it. Sit down and read an eye-opener. Government is big business. It's everybody's business, or should be. Make it yours.

Another reminder to parents: Story hour for this season will have its first trial run on Saturday, March 26, at 2 p.m. All children age 3, 4 and 5 are invited to be here. Take them to the meeting room in the library basement. Mothers, don't dress your little gals for a party; they'll be sitting on the floor, and slacks will be the order of the day. We hope to see a large number of our youngsters here on Saturdays from now until the end of April.

Mrs. Olga Melvie returned Sunday following a six-week trip that included visiting the homes of eight of her 10 children. She was accompanied home from Denver, Colo., by her son, Lloyd, who had been there on business.

Improper Speed To Get Special April Attention

Improper speed will get special attention from law enforcement officers during April, as part of the state's "Operation Enforcement" program launched by the Minnesota highway patrol last month, reports patrol chief Leo. M. Smith.

Speed kills. Whether or not it is the direct cause of accidents, it is a major cause of fatalities once the accident happens. The faster you are going, the greater are the chances of getting killed when an accident occurs, Smith said.

He advises motorists to stay within the speed limit and to adjust speed to existing conditions of road, traffic and weather.

The enforcement program, in which the patrol has requested all police agencies in the state to cooperate, is aimed at making drivers more aware of the major violations that cause accidents, Smith said.

Each month the patrol will place emphasis on one of the leading causes of accidents. During March it has been "following too closely," and in succeeding months vehicle condition, pedestrian violations, improper passing and other violations will be covered.

Last year improper speed was the leading contributing cause of fatal accidents, accounting for 25 per cent of them. Improper speed also is the third leading cause of all traffic accidents.

Improper speed means both going over the limit and traveling too fast for conditions. Under the latter, traveling 40 miles per hour in a 60 m.p.h. zone could be too fast if the road is slippery or the night foggy.

Minnesota's basic speed law reads, "No person shall drive a vehicle on a highway at a speed greater than is reasonable and prudent under the conditions and having regard to the actual and potential hazards then existing."

To coordinate cooperative efforts of all police in the state, the patrol is publishing a special bulletin each month. The bulletin will explain what the patrol plans to do during the month and will request all police to cooperate by following the same plan.

While the program calls for special emphasis to be placed on a particular violation each month, this does not mean that other violations will come in for less attention than in the past, Smith said.

Income Tax Queries Are Answered by IRS

These questions most frequently asked by taxpayers on federal income tax matters with authoritative answers are provided by the office of the district director of Internal Revenue, St. Paul.

Q—The instruction book states that if the cost of automobile license tag is based on the value of your automobile, such amount is deductible as a personal property tax. Does this mean we can deduct auto license tags as a tax paid?

A—You cannot deduct the cost of Minnesota auto license tags. In this state, the cost is based on weight of the car, not ad valorem value.

Q—If we receive reimbursement from our family accident and health insurance policy in excess of the medical expenses incurred, is this excess considered taxable income?

A—No. You would not be entitled to any medical expenses deduction where the reimbursement exceeds your actual expenses, and, you do not have to include any part of the excess reimbursement in your gross income.

If your accident and health policy premiums were paid in part or in full by the employer, any excess reimbursement may qualify as excludable "sick pay" or may be includable in your gross income. You can secure advice on these situations from your local revenue service office.

Q—Are contributions to political parties deductible?

A—No. Political contributions are not deductible.

Q—I use my car in earning my salary. Do I have to keep extensive records to claim an automobile expense deduction?

A—A standard mileage rate of 10 cents a mile for the first 15,000 miles of business travel, and 7 cents for each succeeding mile may be used instead of actual automobile operating expenses and depreciation. Parking fees and tolls incurred during the business use of your car are deductible in addition to the standard mileage rate. Use of this standard arate is limited to individuals who own their own car and do not use more than one automobile simultaneously in their business or employment.

Q—Can I deduct the federal tax I pay on my telephone bill?

A—No. This is an excise tax which is not deductible by individuals.

Q—I am moving to a new residence. Which address should I put on my tax return?

A—Put your new address on the block on the return for your name and address. Your former address can be reported under this block.

Q—We have been buying U. S. Savings Bonds for our children. Who is liable for the interest?

A—If the children are listed as co-owners, the purchasers (the parents) are liable for any interest increment. However, if the children are sole owners, and the parents are named as beneficiaries, the children assume the tax liability.

Q—Does a parent have to include his child's earnings on his own tax return?

A—No. A minor is subject to tax on his own earnings, even though the parent may have the right to them and actually might have received the earnings.

These questions most frequently asked by taxpayers on federal income tax matters with authoritative answers are provided by the office of the district director of Internal Revenue, St. Paul.

Q—I am 65 years of age, but my wife is not. Are medical expenses for my wife subject to the three per cent limitation?

A—If one spouse is 65 years or older before the close of the year, both of you may claim your medical expenses without reducing the amount by three per cent, and your expenses for drugs and medicines without the one per cent reduction.

Q—I am a housewife and have no social security account number. Last year, I received some money from a relative's estate which I placed in a savings account. Do I need a social security number, and should this income be reported?

A—If you received $10 or more interest on this account, the law requires you to have a social security account number for tax purposes. Application for an account number can be secured from any Internal Revenue service or social security office.

If you and your husband file a joint tax return, interest from his account should be included in the joint return.

Q—I was absent from work due to illness from last December until early in February. Do I have two waiting periods to establish for my sick pay exclusion since the absence from work covered two years?

A—No. The waiting period applies to the time you are absent from work due to illness, whether it stretches from one year to another or not. A new waiting period would be determined only if you returned to work and suffered a relapse, or another illness, which resulted in an absence from work.

Q—We sustained several minor casualty losses last year. Does the $100 deduction apply to each one or the total of our casualty losses?

A—The $100 deduction applies to each separate casualty loss.

Q—Our daughter was married just before Christmas. Can I claim her as a dependent, even though she was married before the end of the year?

A—If you furnished more than one-half of the support for your daughter for the entire year, you may claim her as a dependent unless she files a joint return with her husband. You may not claim her exemption if she and her husband file jointly.

Q—After 30 years of government service, I retired last year on a disability pension at 58 years of age. Is this pension taxable?

A—Yes. However, disability pensions received before normal retirement age qualify for the sick pay exclusion. Government employees may retire at age 60 with 30 years' service. You may exclude up to $100 weekly of your disability pension as sick pay. When you reach age 60, your pension will be treated as an annuity for tax purposes.

Q—What types of income do not have to be reported for 1965?

A—Gifts, inheritances and insurance proceeds paid because of the death of the insured are not taxable. Accident and health insurance payments, social security and unemployment benefits, sickness and injury payments, certain scholarships and fellowship grants and a limited amount of sick pay are excluded from gross income.

Cable, (Greg Larson) USMC, who has just returned from combat. He finds favor with Bloody Mary, and succeeds in being smuggled to Bali Ha'I, where he is introduced to Bloody Mary's Tonkinese daughter, Liat (Elaine Mortenson).

Later in the story Emile, who has already told Nellie that he killed a man in a fight back in France, reveals his former marriage to a Polynesian woman, by whom he has two children. Nellie, a race-conscious southerner, is unwilling to accept this phase of Emile's history, and terminates the relationship.

She has a change of heart, however, when Emile volunteers to accompany Lt. Cable on a dangerous coast-watching mission on a Japanese-held island. Together with Capt. George Brackett, USN (Iven Ose) and his staff, she listens anxiously for a radio message. Suspense being a major appeal of the story, the final outcome will not be disclosed.

Musical numbers in the operetta include "A Cockeyed Optimist", "Some Enchanged Evening," "Bloody Mary", "There Is Nothing Like a Dame", "Bali Ha'I", "Younger Than Springtime" and others.

Nonfarm Employment Up 46,800 from 1965

February nonfarm wage and salary employment in Minnesota, although down slightly from January was 46,800 above the level in February of 1965. At the same time, unemployment in the state in February was 17,300 (20.9 per cent) below February last year.

In the monthly report on employment conditions just released by the Minnesota department of employment security, Commissioner Robert J. Brown said that last month's employment level of 1,063,700 represented the largest over-the-year gain for the month of February since 1952.

Unemployment in the state rose from 62,600 in January (4.3 per cent) to 65,500 in February (4.5 per cent). A year ago the rate was 5.8 per cent. When adjusted for seasonal factors, the unemployment rate last month was only 3.3 per cent, the same as in January; compared to 4.3 per cent in February last year.

Manufacturing employment, at 260,300 in February, increased slightly (500) over January, but was an impressive 14,400 over the level of a year ago. Employment increases in the nonelectric machinery industry led gains over the month as well as compared to last year. Over-the-month losses of 200 in the stone, clay and glass industry and over 100 in fabricated metals were offset by nominal gains in other durable goods firms; except for lumber and wood products employment, which remained stable.

Employment in the manufacture of nondurable goods in February was down 500 from January but up 3,300 over a year ago. The most substantial decline in this area from January was in food processing employment, which dropped 1,000 mostly in sugar beet processing (although the season for sugar refining extended longer this year than in 1965). Seasonal employment declines also occurred in dairy products, and in malt, beverage and liquor production.

A seasonal drop of 3,900 jobs in trade (primarily retail) was the largest influence in a net decrease of 3,900 between January and February. Cutbacks in construction and transportation offset jobs added in mining, services and government; with employment in communications, public utilities and finance remaining fairly constant.

Over the year, all major nonemployment advances. Job gains in trade (9,300) and in government (9,100) led all nonmanufacturing groups.

Average weekly earnings of manufacturing production workers in Minnesota declined slightly in February to $114.31 from $114.85 in January. Average hourly earnings of $2.77 were the same for January and February. The average workweek dipped slightly to 41.2 hours compared to 41.4 hours in January, but was up from the 40.5-hour week of a year ago.

Bank Debits in February Show Gain from 1965

Bank debits in Thief River Falls during February showed an increase of 2 per cent from the same period a year ago, according to statistics released by the Federal Reserve Bank in Minneapolis. In dollars, the city's bank debits volume during February was $8,006,000. In the same month of 1965, the total figure was $7,456,000. During the first two months of 1966 bank debits amounted to $17,482,000 an increase of 8 per cent from 1965.

For Minnesota the February volume of bank debits for reporting cities increased 25 per cent from February of last year. Debits for the first two months of 1966 increased 22 per cent from the same period in 1965.

The volume of bank debits reported by the total sample of Ninth Federal Reserve district cities for February increased 21 per cent from a year ago. The cumulative total for the first two months of 1966 indicated a 19 per cent increase from the comparable 1965 period.

Bank debits are mostly checks against depositors' accounts and thus represent payments for good services, debts, etc. They also include transfers of funds which of themselves have no business significance. Bank debits mainly include all debits against checking accounts of individuals, partnerships and corporations, and of states and political subdivisions. They do not include debits to the accounts of other banks, the United States government and savings accounts.

19 Cases Tried Monday in City Municipal Court

Nineteen cases were brought for trial before Judge Stanley N. Mortenson in Monday's session of Thief River Falls municipal court. Five violations were for no 1966 license tabs displayed. Charged with this offense were Grundy Aakhus, Clarence Gross and Robert Ahles, all of Thief River Falls, who were fined $10 of which $5 was suspended. Area Escapes Blizzard but Gets Cold North Wind

Thief River Falls and northern Minnesota escaped the late winter blizzard that swept through South Dakota, Nebraska and southern Minnesota Tuesday and early today. The area could not, however, escape the biting north wind that influenced the storm. From a high Tuesday of 43, observed at 6 p.m. the previous night, the mercury nose-dived to four degrees above zero early this morning.

Forecast calls for mostly fair and cold today with increasing cloudiness tonight turning mostly cloudy and slightly warmer tomorrow. Northerly winds at 30 to 50 miles per hour are predicted today. Highs today will range from 15 to 25; lows tonight from -5 to 12.

Temperatures recorded at the airport are as follows: 48 and 25 on Monday, 43 and 17 on Tuesday and a low this morning of 4.

Police Report Accident, Larceny

A two-car accident and a larceny were reported today by the Thief River Falls police department. At 9:15 p.m. Tuesday a car driven by Chris Pederson, Karlstad, pulled away from the curb two stalls west of the alley between Horace and Atlantic avenues and was struck in the left rear door by a vehicle driven by James Foley, city, which was going west and attempting a left turn into the alley. Damage was estimated at $195 to the Pederson car and $125 to the Foley vehicle.

Mrs. Alex Boutain, city, reported the loss of a battery charger taken Friday night.

Happy Homemaking

National Posion Prevention Week

An estimated half-million children swallow medicines and household products causing serious injury and sometimes death. Ninety per cent of the cases involve children under five years of age.

National Poison Prevention Week, March 20-26, emphasized the dangers of accidental poisoning.

Causes of Accidental Poisoning

Aspirin is the most common cause of accidental poisoning. Other products causing poisoning include household preparations, insect sprays, kerosene, lighter fluid and some furniture polish. All drugs and medicines should be kept where children cannot reach them, preferably in a locked cabinet or closet.

Safety Cap May Not Always Be Safe.

Many parents relax safety poison precautions if a bottle or container has a safety cap. But remember—children may break the tops of these containers or learn the "secret" of the lock. All potential poisons should be kept out of reach of children.

Poison Prevention in the Home

To poison-proof your home:

Keep household products and medicines out of reach and out of sight of children. Even if you must leave the room for only an instant, remove the container to a safe spot.

Store medicines separately from other household products and keep these items in their original containers.

Be sure that all products are properly labeled.

Always turn the lights on when giving or taking medicines and read the label before using.

Avoid taking medications in the presence of children; youngsters imitate adults.

Refer to medicines by their proper names. They are not candies.

Clean out your medicine cabinet periodically. Get rid of old medicines by flushing them down the drain, rinsing the container and discarding.

OPENING scene of Rodgers' and Hammerstein's "South Pacific" finds Ensign Nellie Forbush (Karen Ferber) and Emile de Becque (Bruce Parnham) on the terrace of de Becque's plantation home for an afternoon coffee break. They had met and fallen in love some time ago, and as their conversation turns to the time of their meeting, Emile sings "Some Enchanted Evening." Their romance later falls apart, but only until Emile returns from a dangerous coast-watching mission on a Japanese-held island. "South Pacific" will be presented by the Lincoln high school music department Friday, Saturday and Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the school auditorium.

AMONG the more dramatic scenes in the operetta "South Pacific" is the meeting of Liat, played by Elaine Mortenson, and Lt. Joseph Cable, USMC, played by Greg Larson. Liat, the Tonkinese, French-speaking daughter of comical souvenir peddler Bloody Mary, is introduced by her mother to the lieutenant when he's taken by boat to the off-limits island of Bali Ha'I. A case of "love at first sight" developes immediately. The night scene on Bali Ha'I is made even more impressive by black lighting, which causes certain colors in the scenery to glow brilliantly.

State Basketball Tournament Opens Thurs. Afternoon

The 54th annual Minnesota State High School basketball tournament will begin play on Thursday afternoon on the Williams arena court on the University of Minnesota campus in Minneapolis.

The first-round schedule will find Ada of Region Eight playing Duluth East of Region Seven in the tourney-opener at 2 p.m. At 3:30 p.m., Hutchinson from Region Three will play Mounds View from Region Four.

The evening program on Thursday will have Blooming Prairie of Region One playing Henning of Region Six at 7:30 p.m. And at 9 p.m. Windom from Region Two will meet Edina-Morningside of Region Five.

Only one returnee from last season's tournament is in this year's tourney, that team being the Henning Hornets of Region Six. Henning, with four regulars from last season's squad available, is rated as one of the tournament favorites. The Edina-Morningside squad, representing huge Region Five, which includes Minneapolis and the Lake conference, is the lone team entering the tournament with an unbeaten record, the squad having posted a 23 wins and no losses mark.

There are several teams, though, with only one loss on their season's records. Hutchinson has a 22 wins and one loss record; Henning has a record of 24 wins and one loss; and Duluth East has a mark of 22 wins and one loss.

Incidentally, WDAY-TV will telecast the Ada vs. Duluth East game on Thursday afternoon, starting at 2 p.m. And the championship game on Saturday night will also be telecast by WDAY-TV. And KTRF will carry radio broadcasts of the state tournament play, that is the championship round of games, consisting of the four first-round games on Thursday, the two semi-finals games on Friday and the championship game on Saturday night.

Nation Observes Wildlife Week March 20-26

One of many educational projects sponsored by the National Wildlife federation and its state affiliates, including the Minnesota Conservation federation, is the annual observance of National Wildlife Week, scheduled for the period March 20-26 this year. In fact, the theme highlighted during National Wildlife Week is expected to be continued throughout the year.

Headquartered in Washington, D. C., the federation represents some 2,000,000 persons in state conservation organizations, associate members and individual contributors. The federation was organized in 1936 to coordinate citizen efforts in sound management of the nation's natural resources — soils, waters, forests, rangelands and wildlife — through educational programs.

The Federation publishes the bi-monthly "Conservation News," the weekly "Conservation Report," distributes numerous free conservation education leaflets for teachers and school children and provides other services as part of its educational program. Colorful "National Wildlife" magazine is one of several services available to associate members.

The privately-financed organization also makes annual fellowship awards to college students majoring in conservation and distributes information on conservation problems to the public through newspapers and radio and television stations.

The observance of National Wildlife Week is conducted at the local level by sportsmen's clubs, conservation organizations and other groups which are members of state affiliates of the federation. Valuable assistance also is provided by state and federal governmental conservation agencies.

This year National Wildlife Week focuses public attention on the need to preserve natural beauty. The observance points to urgent needs for controlling water and air pollution, reducing soil erosion, and preventing the littering of lakes and streams, forests and parks and highways. It points out that conservation preserves natural beauty.

BEATING Doug Hanson of the Ada Vikings in this drive for the basket. Neil Josephson of the Prowlers racks up a pair of points in the Region 8 championship game Saturday evening at the University of North Dakota fieldhouse in Grand Forks. Ada staged a second half come-back to win 50-45 and enter the state tournament Thursday afternoon against Duluth East at Williams arena on the University of Minnesota campus in Minneapolis.

FIRING over the outstretched arms of Ada's Tony Stadum forward Neil Josephson of the Lincoln high school Prowlers scores two points in the Thief River Falls team's bid for a state tournament berth. After an all-out effort in defeating Bemidji 65-62 Friday night, the Vikings of District 30 were hard-pressed in edging the Prowlers in the championship game of Region 8 Saturday night by a 50-45 score. Josephson's 16 points—his highest game total for Prowlers—and rebounding helped keep the Prowlers in the game until the closing seconds. Also pictured are Ada's 6' 5" center Jim Stadum (34) and Karl Poppenhagen and Mark Stromberg of the Prowlers.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

A Tremendous Effort

Valiant is the term to describe the bid that the basketball Prowlers made on Saturday night against the Ada Vikings in the Region Eight finals at Grand Forks. It was only in the final two minutes of play that Ada was able to garner enough points to insure their win.

The game, which found the Prowlers leading much of the time, was deadlocked at 43-43 with 2:20 to play—Tommy Cummings converting two points on a bonus free throw to knot the game. But coach Denny Anderson's Vikings kept their poise and came on to score seven points while holding the Prowlers scoreless until the final seconds of play, when Bob Braslin hit on a corner shot.

So the score found Ada winning by a 50 to 45 margin, but the Vikings realized that they had been in a game. And the more than 4,000 fans who were in the fieldhouse realized, too, that they had witnessed one of the better Region Eight championship finals.

The Prowlers, and their coaches, Whitey Olson and Lee Swanson, can be rightly proud of the effort they made this season.

And now to look forward to next season. Of the teams that participated in the regional tourney, Ada will suffer greatly through graduation, losing eight of their squad members and their entire starting lineup. The Prowlers will be missing starters Mark Stromberg and Tom Cummings, and reserves Bruce Saustad and Jeff Gustafson. Karlstad will lose six squad members, including three starters, but the Rabbits will have Brian Sjodin returning. He's only a sophomore, but a fine all-round player and he won't need much help in order to make Karlstad a threat.

The Bemidji Lumberjacks will lose their starting guards, Rich Glas and Dan Christensen, center Bob Johnson, and forward Howard Hoganson. But with forward Doug Schwartz (who's only a sophomore and may develop into one of Bemidji's finest cagers) and John Boyer, also a forward, on hand, coach Bun Fortier will have a nucleus for another strong team. Such boys as John Swanson, Jerry Fruetel, Jim Sutton, Craig Daniel and Joel Haugen are due to develop.

On the district level, the Climax Vikings, losing but three players, could become a title threat. And the Crookston Pirates, although losing Norm Newell and Doug Sorenson, and reserves Mark Highlings, Steve Johnson and LeRoy Reitmeier, will have such returning regulars as Bruce Campbell, Ron Mutcher and Scott McFarlin.

Coach Larry Seik's East Grand Forks Green Wave will lose four of their starters—Gary Winkka, Gary Hjelmstad, Rich Anderson and Terry Johnson — but Kim Krostue the center will be back, as will be several promising reserves.

But, of course, by next season the State High School League may have reshuffled the districts and regions.

No Bona Fide Favorite

For one of the few times in the 54-year history of the Minnesota state high school basketball tournament there won't be a stand-out favorite when the first-round of play opens on Thursday afternoon in spacious Williams arena on the University of Minnesota campus.

Of course every team in the tourney will have its hard core of devoted supporters, but there hasn't been a decided trend by the neutral observers.

The Edina - Morningside Hornets with an unbeaten record and receiving the benefits of the Minneapolis publicity mill, do carry some odds on being the team to beat. And the Henning Hornets from Region Six, a team that was in the tourney last year, is also drawing considerable support from unbiased fans.

And, as always, there is the fact that Region Seven, the Iron Range, produces some strong teams. And it is possible that coach Joe Mrkonich's Duluth East squad, winning its first district and regional titles in the school's history, may come on and "win it all". East is reputed to have the biggest team physically, with fine all-round height and weight.

But having been subjected to the propaganda campaign of Stan Cockrell all season, in behalf of the Henning team, and noting that the club played one of the toughest schedules of the year, beating such teams as Minneapolis Roosevelt, Ada and Bemidji, among others, I'll make a modest wager on the Region Six champions.

Vital Statistics for Minesota Revealed

One baby was born in Minnesota on the average of every seven minutes in 1965, and one person died every 16 minutes. Every 20 minutes a marriage took place, and one divorce occurred on the average of almost every two hours.

The number of live births occurring in Minnesota in 1965 was down 8.2 per cent from 1964, according to provisional vital statistics compiled by the Minnesota department of health. Live births totaled 70,851 the lowest since 1946. The crude birth rate of 19.9 live births per 1,000 population was the lowest since 1941 and is a 24 per cent decline since 1959 when the rate was 26.2 per 1,000 population. The decline is part of a nationwide trend.

Nationwide, a post-war peak in the number of births was reached in 1957, with a crude birth rate of 25 per 1,000 population. By 1964 this had fallen to 21.9. Minnesota reached the post-war peak in 1959, with 88,294 live births and a crude birth rate of 26.2. Since then the decline in Minnesota has been steady and somewhat sharper than for the rest of the nation.

The number of illegitimate births reached an all-time high of 3,749 in 1965 and represents 5.3 per cent of all live births. The illegitimate rate per 1,000 live births was 52.9 compared to 40.1 in 1963 and 47.3 in 1964.

Provisional data indicates that there were 33,150 deaths in Minnesota in 1965. The provisional crude death rate was 9.3 per 1,000 population. Both the number of deaths and the death rates were slightly lower than for 1964. Infant deaths (1,470) and the infant death rate per 1,000 live births (20.7) are the lowest ever recorded.

The ten leading causes of death accounted for 88.5 per cent of the deaths. Their rank order has been unchanged for the last three years. In rank order they are: heart disease, cancer, vascular lesions affecting the central nervous system (strokes), accidents, pneumonia and influenza, certain diseases of early infancy, general arteriosclerosis, diabetes, other diseases of the circulatory system, and congenital malformations.

Heart diseases claimed the most lives (12,094) and accounted for 36.3 per cent of all deaths. Cancer took 5,841 lives, representing 17.6 per cent of all deaths. There were 4,602 persons who died as the results of strokes (13.9 per cent of all deaths). These three causes of death accounted for 69.8 per cent of all Minnesota deaths reported in 1965.

There were 25,757 marriages in 1965, slightly more than there were in 1964 although the marriage rate remained steady. The divorce rate (1.4) per 1,000 population remains steady, but there was a reduction in the state in 1965 in the number of divorces (4,848) under 1964 (5,100).

Most changes in the state's population in the recent years are the result of natural increase, the excess of births over deaths. Since the 1960 census, there have been approximately 260,000 more births in Minnesota than deaths. However, the state's population has increased by only 140,000 (4.1 per cent) since the 1960 census, according to the most recent estimates of the U. S. Bureau of the Census which give the state a population of 3,-754,000 as of July 1, 1965. Approximately 120,000 persons have left the state since 1960.

The 4.1 per cent population increase for Minnesota since 1960 compares to an 8.1 per cent increase for the nation. However, the state's population has grown somewhat faster than that of the other Upper Midwest states (3.3 per cent), and Minnesota is second only to Wisconsin (4.9 per cent).

Record Number Of Deer Killed In 1965 Season

Hunters took about 130,000 deer in Minnesota during the 1965 hunting season, according to James T. Shields, Minnesota game and fish director. The figure is an all-time record, said Shields, and is about 8,000 more deer than were taken in 1964 and 13,000 more than in 1963.

Last fall, about 44 per cent of licensed big game hunters who hunted deer with firearms were successful, the same percentage of success as in the two preceding years.

This is excellent deer hunting, Shields said, and better than that enjoyed by either Wisconsin or Michigan hunters. In Wisconsin the success rate was 26.1 per cent in 1964 and in Michigan 28.6 per cent.

Much of the success of Minnesota deer hunters, said Shields, can be attributed to many years of hunting during which both bucks and does could be taken. Besides increasing the hunter's chances of getting a deer, such any-deer seasons keep the range in better condition by preventing the deer population from building up so high that they destroy their own food supply.

Keeping the size of the herd in balance with the food supply means that the heard will be kept healthier and have a higher reproductive rate, he said. As a result of this type of management, a high percentage of the deer herd can be harvested each year which means good hunting for Minnesota deer hunters.

PUBLIC OPINION

To the Editor:

We are now in the process of cleaning up the snow following one of the worst snow storms in recent years. Many of the highways in this district, which is made up of the counties in the northwestern part of the state, were blocked or in such a condition that travel was not advisable. We are using all of our equipment; we have brought in special equipment from other districts in the state and have hired considerable privately-owned equipment. The storm again brought to our attention the extent to which our population depends on highways in their everyday living and the services we often take for granted.

During this storm the radio stations and newspapers in this district, as well as others, rendered invaluable assistance to the traveling public in furnishing information about road conditions and the extent of the storm. We are certain this service was appreciated by the traveling public, and was of great assistance to us.

We realize that people and businesses have plans and schedules to keep; delays and inconvenience cause irritations and cost them money. In all of our contacts during the storm the traveling public was very tolerant. This tolerance and heeding of the warnings was very gratifying to us and made our operations considerably easier.

Employees who operated the snow removal equipment did a tremendous job. Many times the employees who actually operate the equipment are the only ones who are seen by the public. There is no doubt a great deal of credit due these employees; however, in an operation of this sort all of our employees—mechanics, laborers, foremen, engineers, clerks patrol officers—contribute tirelessly and courteously to the effort, do the suppliers of our operating materials and supplies.

This letter is to express the department's thanks and appreciation for the service, tolerance, and a job well done.

Wardens Arrest 310 Violators During February

During the lat month of the ice fishing season on inland waters of the state, 207 anglers were arrested by game wardens for violations of Minnesota's fishing laws. Fishing with more than one line was the most frequent offense encountered by wardens during February with a total of 157 arrests made during the month for this violation.

Twenty four arrests were made of anglers found fishing without licenses, nine had over the limit catches and nine others were apprehended for fishing with unattended lines. There were also 48 arrests made for violations of the shelter and darkhouse regulations. The most common infraction was lack of identification on the house.

Nineteen persons were apprehended for transporting loaded or uncased firearms in a motor vehicle and two more for transporting illegally taken big game.

There were also 14 big game violations and three small game offenses noted by wardens during February. There was one arrest for littering the ice of public waters.

There were a total of 310 arrests for all types of violations during the month, the state game and fish divison reported.

Special Early Trout Season To Open April 2nd

Trout fishermen are looking forward to Saturday, April 2, when the special early trout season opens on North Shore streams. An exception is the Knife river where posted areas of the streams open June 1.

The fishermen will be ready, but will the streams be ready for the fishermen? The conservation department reported this week that streams are ice blocked at this time but that warm temperatures could open up the lower portions of the streams in time for the Saturday opening.

When the break up does come, streams are expected to run bank full due to heavy snow fall on the Lake Superior watershed this winter.

All streams on the North Shore will be open to fishing from Lake Superior upstream to the posted boundaries. In the past, fishing has been limited to those portions of the stream betwen the lake and the first natural barrier or waterfall within ¼ of a milke

Starting this season, fishermen in some streams will be permitted to fish those waters above the first waterfall, while in others fishing will still be restricted to the part of the stream below the first barrier.

Fishing is restricted to the use of single hooks except in the Pigeon river in Cook county and St. Louis river in St. Louis county. Anglers must unhook and return to the water immediately any fish that is hooked in any part of the body except the mouth.

Fishing is limited to the taking of brook, brown and rainbow or steelhead trout, but these are the only species likely to be encountered in the streams at this time of the year anyway, according to state fisheries specialists.

The limits are 10 daily and 10 in possession of the aggregate of all three species. This means the fishermen may legally take only 10 trout, whether he has all one species or a mixed catch.

Not more than three of the 10 fish may be 16 inches or more in length. Purpose of this regulation is to distribute the catch to larger fish among as many anglers as possible.

Yard 'n Garden

[illegible] ORRIN C. TURNQUIST
UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA
AGRICULTURAL EXTENSION SERVICE

Many gardeners like to start their choice flower seeds indoors in order to have a good supply of particular plants to set out in spring. To grow successful transplants, it is necessary to have proper containers and good light sources and to practice good watering.

To start plants inside, use shallow woden trays or flower pots for the initial seeding. Use a soil mixture of three parts garden soil, two parts organic matter such as peat, well-rotted manure or leaf mold and one part sand. After this is mixed thoroughly, it should be sifted through a quarter-inch mesh screen to remove any debris or bulky material.

The seeds may be sown directly on the surface of the container and then covered lightly with a dusting of either sphagnum moss, commercial peat or the soil mixture. If possible, sterilize the soil by placing it in the oven for 30 minutes at a temperature of 180 degrees F. Be sure that the soil is heated thoroughly so it is completely sterilized.

Seed treatment with a fungicide will often help to further control damping-off problems. Such material as Aresan can be used. Only a pinch of the funcidide is necessary in the average seed packet.

Avoid planting seeds too early. Usually such flowers as petunias and pansies should be started by mid-March. Other summer blooming annual flowers can be started by the first of April.

Place the plants in a well lighted window. If there is heavy shading in the area, use supplementary fluorescent lighting.

Grow the seedlings at a cool temperature of 60 to 65 degrees if possible.

"Most people who have been done a favor consider it an opportunity to show their incorruptibility rather than their gratitude. This is not only considerably cheaper morally, but it sometimes increases their pride so much that pretty soon they look down on their benefactor." —Arthur Schnitzler

Freedom of the Press

The following editorial appeared in the Ortonville Independent and would apply, we are sure, to nearly all communities and newspapers in the state:

'At the 100th anniversary convention of the Minnesota Newspaper Association last weekend in Minneapolis there was considerable stress laid upon the importance to the American people of guarding "Freedom of the Press".

It was pointed out that the Billie Sol Estes scandal was brought to light by a newspaper in the little town of Pecos, Texas. Efforts were made to put the newspaper out of business, by starting another paper or advertising sheet, but the editor kept up his investigation, which, as most readers know, resulted in Billie Sol Estes landing in prison.

Had it not been for one little country editor; the graft and corruption in the Department of Agriculture may never have come to light and the "Preacher" which "Billie" professed to be, for cover-up, might still be piling up millions at the expense of taxpayers.

The Ortonville Independent does not pretend to be as brave as that Texas editor, whom all Americans cannot help but admire for his almost "lone fight," against great odds, which threatened the very survival of his newspaper through advertising loss. Result was that the sheet which was started to "silence" him "folded" and was sold on the block at auction.

We, too, have been threatened, again and again over our 45 years of existence to "Keep quiet or else." On two particular occasions, large advertisers have "withdrawn" their patronage because we have spoken our piece; then, again, issues have come up which we have felt a public interest, and have been advised that "if you know what is best for you, you had better keep quiet." Again, we suffered the loss of advertising.

Every small town newspaper editor's ambition is to give his readers a newsy, friendly, family newspaper, but there are occasions when it takes a lot of courage to remain a "Free Press," when one's bread and butter is at stake.

The publisher of this paper, at present, is a trifle too old to again "hit the road" by going on the "bum" but we would rather, by far, do just that than to run a "kept press," or let any advertiser, or any group, dictate to us the editorial policy of this newspaper.

And most of our subscribers like us for our independent policy. You have the assurance that we shall never become just a sheet nor a stooge for those who have an axe to grind or a grudge to satisfy.

"Freedom of the Press," even in a little town like Ortonville, is highly precious and well worth protecting.

10 Ways to Ruin a Town

The following ideas have been expressed before but need to be repeated every once in awhile so that we are reminded of our responsibilities.

1. Attend no meetings of any kind. Criticize the way "they" are doing things.
2. Remind others at all times of the cold Northern winters and the ruggedness required of those who live here.
3. Complain about the police department, fire department, chamber of commerce, and all other governmental and civic groups.
4. Keep convincing yourself that your attendance at school programs, service clubs, concerts, ballgames, exhibits and benefit programs is not important—you'll never be missed.
5. Knock your city council or commissioners—talk up the "kick backs" the politicians at city hall must be getting.
6. Stay away from church. You might attend on Easter Sunday or during the Christmas season just to reassure yourself that all who attend are hypocrites.
7. Purchase most of your requirements through discount and mail order catalogs. These firms are the first to come forth with donations and service to your community.
8. Remind others that your local newspaper is no good—that it misses more local news than the out-of-town papers get by accident.
9. Remember that all kids are delinquents, all businessmen are crooks, and that uncomplimentary remarks about the town are the order of the day.
10. Above all, always be skeptical, cynical and negative about anything that is designed for the community's progress and betterment—Your motto should be: "If it's good, it can't happen here."

When And Where to Pray

According to the Wall Street Journal, Senator Everett Dirksen of Illinois has announced his intention to make a Congressional issue of a recent Supreme Court decision regarding school prayers. Dirksen had stated he will force a Senate fight on the question of regulations pertaining to when and where public school pupils could and should say their prayers.

Said Dirksen;

"I do not intend to let nine men tell 190 million Americans, including children, where and when they can say their prayers."

We will string along with the Senator in that the time and place for school prayers be determined by school authorities and by the pupils themselves. We already have enough regulation from the top down and not all of the decisions of life should be made for us by our servants in Washington.

Tribute to Grandma

Taken from the Mason City Globe Gazette, the following article is based on the infinite wisdom of the small child:

What is a grandmother? Just ask any child.

A grandmother is a lady who has no children of her own, so she likes other people's little girls. A grandfather is a man grandmother. He goes for walks with the boys, and they talk about fishing and tractors and like that.

Grandmas don't have to do anything except be there. They're old so they shouldn't play hard or run. It is enough if they drive us to the market where the pretend horse is and have lots of dimes ready. Or if they take us for walks, they should slow down past things like pretty leaves or caterpillars. They should never, ever say "Hurry up."

Usually they are fat, but not too fat to tie the kids' shoes. They wear glasses and funny underwear. They can take their teeth and gums off.

It is better if they don't typewrite, or play cards except with us. They don't have to be smart, only answer questions like why dogs hate cats and how come God isn't married. They don't talk baby talk like visitors do, because it is hard to understand. When they read to us they don't skip or mind if it is the same story again.

Everybody should try to have one, especially if you don't have television, because grandmas are the only grownups who have got time.

"Follow That Car!"

We heard that the New Yorker recently commented on an article from the Albert Lea Tribune concerning the interchange at the junction of Interstate 35 and trunk highway 14, 13 miles east of Waseca. Finally we found this copy:

"St. Paul—The interchange of I-35 and TH 14 will be open to traffic today, reports the Minnesota Highway Department.

"Congestion from Owatonna on THs 14 and 65 attempting to join I-35 northbound, and TH 14 westbound is expected to be reduced considerably from the interchange.

"Previously, traffic was forced to utilize the east frontage road from THs 14 and 65 to gain access to I-36 and vehicles continuing west on TH 14 were rerouted and delayed.

"Now, traffic on TH 14 will pass west unimpeded toward Waseca and Mankato and vehicles desiring to proceed north on I-35 from THs 65 and 14 can do so by making a left hand turn off TH 14 and onto a ramp to northbound I-35.

"In addition, southbound traffic on I-35 will have easy access to both west and eastbound TH 14 or southbound TH 65 by means of a right hand loop with a left hand turn at TH 14 westbound and a continuation of the right hand turn for eastbound TH 14 and southbound TH 65 through Owatonna.—Albert Lea (Minn.) Tribune.

"We're going to follow the car ahead of us."

Interesting Opinions . . .

A fellow in our office told us recently of a housoold incident of which he had been an innocent but perplexed spectator. Our friend had called a Venetian blind repairman to come pick up a faulty blind, and the next morning, while the family was seated at the breakfast table, the doorbell rang. Our friend's wife went to the door, and the man outside said, "I'm here for the Venetian blind." Excusing herself in a preoccupied way, the wife went to the kitchen, fished a dollar from her pocketbook, pressed it into the repairman's hand, then gently closed the door and returned to the table. "Somebody collecting," she explained, pouring the coffee. —The Rotarian

The flight instructor gave the bomber crew this problem: "You have an uncontrollable fire and must parachute out. But the cockpit canopy won't release, the entrance door won't open, the navigator's escape hatch is jammed. How would you get out?"

"I would eject righ through the plexiglass canopy," the aircraft commander replied.

"Okay," said the instructor. "You'd get out but you would be killed when your head went through the canopy. Co-pilot, how would you get out,"

The co-pilot eagerly replied, "Through the hole made by the aircraft commander, sir." —English Reader's Digest

Postman and dog stood eyeing each other at the gate when the lady of the house came to the door. "Don't be afraid of the dog," she said. "She's a female, you see, and she likes you."

The man and his wife were having a quarrel about their relatives.

"You never say a single good word about any of my family," the wife cried.

"Oh yes I do!" retorted the husband. "For instance, I like your mother-in-law much better than mine!"

If you take a minute to check our list of winning vehicle identification numbers, you may know how it feels this week.

The contest's in its last week. So hurry. Here's how it works. Look at the first symbols (the prefix) on your vehicle identification slip. Then look at the symbols listed above. If you find yours on the list, you've taken the first step toward being a winner. Now go see your Buick dealer. He has a list of 72 winners posted in his showroom. If you see your entire vehicle identification number on the poster—the symbols plus the rest of the numbers—$2332 cash is yours. (If your prefix isn't listed in this ad, don't give up. Your numbers may have been posted during the past six weeks. Every week 72 winners were posted on the showroom wall.

You may have missed your number before.) No slogan to invent, no puzzles to solve. In fact, you don't even have to own a Buick to have a winning number.

Contest Rules: Residents of Kansas, Missouri and Nebraska may, if they prefer, send in a postcard to R. L. Polk and Co., P.O. Box 1347, Detroit, Michigan 48231 and receive the weekly list of winning numbers by mail for comparison with their own vehicle identification number. An official entry form will be included. Sweepstakes limited to persons over 21 living in the continental U.S. Not valid in Florida or states where prohibited by law.

Hurry. Buick's $1,000,000.00 Sweepstakes is in its last week.

There's an authorized Buick dealer near you. See his Double-Checked used cars, too.

GET A LOAD OF THIS!

And get it with the same acreage and crop rotation you've been using for years! All it takes is one extra ingredient...the Summers "Best on Earth" Fertilizer chemically combined, just right for your soil!

On farm after farm, we're hearing reports of 3 to 1 return on investment using Summers Fertilizers! $3 additional net profits for each $1 invested in Summers! Some farmers claim even better returns . . . but we don't want you to get carried away . . .

Just keep this thought in mind: There are extra dollars to be harvested off your fields. Summers "Best on Earth" Fertilizer puts them there!

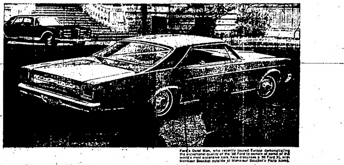
Who says a '66 Ford rides quieter than Jean Bauchet's $12,000 Facel Vega?
Jean Bauchet!
Monsieur Jean Bauchet is an art collector and a connoisseur of fine automobiles. He understands that quiet in a car means quality. After driving a '66 Ford XL, he said, "They would not have to make Paris streets so smooth if all cars rode like this."



Ford's Quiet Man, who recently toured Europe demonstrating the exceptional quality of the '66 Ford to owners of some of the world's most expensive cars, here discusses a '66 Ford XL with Monsieur Bauchet outside of Monsieur Bauchet's Paris home.
"Such smoothness, such silence," says Jean Bauchet. "Your Ford is quieter, M'sieu."
Ford's quiet quality is the result of advanced engineering features like a revolutionary new frame that "tunes out" road vibrations . . . the strongest body ever on a Ford. But the quiet ride is just one of many reasons why you're ahead in a Ford all the way. Only Ford in its class offers Stereo-Sonic Tape Player option that brings you over an hour of uninterrupted music of your choice, on each self-threading, snap-in tape cartridge. Magic Doorgate for wagons (standard equipment) that opens out like a door and down like a tailgate, depending on whether you are loading kids or cargo. Silent-Flo Ventilation (on 4-door hardtops) that brings in fresh air and gets rid of smoke and stale air with the windows closed. Even Ford's keys are special—they're double-edged so they fit in locks either side up. Visit your Ford Dealer and test-drive a '66 from Ford. See how many ways Ford can put you ahead in '66.

Two Larcenies and Auto Crash Noted By City Police

Two larcenies and one auto mishap in the city were reported today by the Thief River Falls police department. An estimate on damage in the auto accident was not available.

The accident happened about 4:50 p.m. on Friday when a car driven by Kenneth H. Swenson, city, had stopped facing west on Third street at the LaBree avenue intersection and, unable to get traction on ice when the light turned green, was struck from the rear by a bulk fuel truck driven by Farrell Harris, city.

One larceny reported on Friday was the theft of a mirror about 18 inches wide and five feet long from the ladies rest room of a local service station. The mirror is valued at $15. Also reported stolen on Saturday from Otto Baker, city, were two right tail light lenses from a 1958 Ford automobile. Both cases are under investigation by the local police department.

21 Crews Under Supervision Work In Feeding Deer

State divisions of parks, forestry and game and fish are using Neighborhood Youth Corps crews and other labor to provide browse for hungry snow-bound deer in northern Minnesota, the conservation department announced today.

There are presently 21 crews working under conservation department supervision selectively cutting browse for deer and using bulldozers and snow machines to make trails for deer caught in poor food or cover areas.

One of the hard hit areas has been in the vicinity of Itasca state park although browse conditions within the park itself have not ben severe. Park managers say that ice and sleet storms earlier this winter bent trees over so that deer could feed on branches which normally would be out of reach.

In the Schoolcraft refuge and other locations however, deer were yarded up and browse conditions were critical. Neighborhood Youth Crops crews from all three division were moved into the area to begin cutting browse and improving food conditions in deer yards.

Also aiding in browse cutting operations are local residents including members of various sportsmen's clubs and NYC crews under the supervision of the Iron Range Resources and Rehabilitation commission.

Although snow depths are greater in northeastern Minnesota (up to 47 inches on the Gunflint Trail) most deer losses are no more severe here than in north central and northwestern Minnesota.

Game officials say the reason is that food and cover conditions in parts of northwestern Minnesota's deer range are not as favorable. This is due to a lack of coniferous (evergreen) cover which provides protection from strong cold winds. There is also a lack of some of the more important deer browse species of trees and shrubs.

Recent unseasonably warm weather and some rains have lowered snow depths considerably in some parts of the state and game managers are hopeful that an early break up may save many deer that otherwise would have difficulty making it through the winter.

Eggs Provide Protein-Packed Food Bargains

Eggs are economical, protein-packed foods that can be made into hearty, appetizing main dishes and glamorous desserts, according to Verna Mikesh, extension nutritionist at the University of Minnesota. They can star as meat substitutes for Lenten meals, add a touch of glamor to an otherwise ordinary dessert and serve as an early morning eye opener, Miss Mikesh said.

The egg is nature's convenience food, containing top quality protein and other nutrients in a handy package. Two eggs will supply a fifth of the daily protein needs of the average woman and a sixth of the recommended daily protein for the avereage man or 10-year-old child. Eggs also contain substantial amounts of iron, vitamin A, riboflavin and thiamine, Miss Mikesh says. Yet with all the nutrients it contains, one egg has only 80 calories.

Since eggs are high in protein, plan your meals around them. Improve a low protein meal such as a vegetable plate by adding a protein-rich dessert like custard pie.

Anyone can master the art of egg cookery, Miss Mikesh declares, by remembering to choose high quality eggs and cook them at low to moderate temperatures.

Here are some additional tips to success with egg cookery;

•Add hot liquid a little at a time to beaten eggs, while stirring constantly. You may have a lumpy mixture if you add the eggs at one time to the hot mixture.

•For biggest volume, have eggs at room temperature before beating.

•For custards and souffles, set the baking dish in a pan of hot water.

•Make hard meringues on a dry day and store in a dry place or package in an airtight container and keep frozen until needed. If made on a very humid day, meringues may be gummy.

•To prevent the white of hard-cooked eggs from turning gray and the yolk from turning green, cook eggs at low to moderate temperatures and cool quickly in cold water.

Sunday, March 27: 10:00 a.m. Sunday School for all ages. 11:00 a.m. Morning worship. The pastor will bring another message in the series, "Words to the Cross". In this message we will find the tender gaze of our Savior directed at another group around the cross. There stood the chief priests, and the scribes and the elders of the people speaking the words in a mocking way which we call the word of malice as they said "He saved others; himself he cannot save. If he be the King of Israel, let him now come down from the Cross, and we God; let him deliver him now, if he will have him: for he said, I am the son of God." Come and be with us as we share this Word. 3:00 p.m. Sunday School teacher's meeting.

"Remember, you are always welcome at Faith Lutheran Brethren church."

We might imagine this is a squirrel assuming a prayerful pose while satisfying his appetite . . . like a man pretending to be religious in order to gain the respect of others.

We are not often fooled by falsity, nor do we let it blind us to truth. We know our religion is our richest treasure. But we rate it worthless unless sincere.

Today millions are talking about the world's spiritual needs. Is talking enough?

Isn't faith more than a word . . . prayer more than a pose?

Attend church every week with your entire family. Support the Church with willing sacrifice. Offer your time and talents to God in your congregation's busy life. And live each day the truths you cherish.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

ADDITIONAL dial switching equipment is being installed in the Thief River Falls telephone building under the auspices of the Western Electric company. Total cost of the project is more than $71,000. Pictured above is new wiring being added to the main frame, to be used in connecting local numbers. Standing on the ladder is Clarence Schmidtz, foreman of the Western Electric crew. Al Bacon, service supervisor at the local telephone building, said the new wiring is long enough to reach from Thief River Falls to Warroad.

Install Equipment In Phone Building

Western Electric company technicians are installing additional electronic dial switching equipment in the Thief River Falls telephone building, T. R. Perrier, Northwestern Bell Telephone company manager, said today. Total cost of the project, designed to provide improved local and long distance service, is more than $71,000.

Additional local dial switching equipment being stalled will make it possible to provide telephone service for new customers and better grades of service for present customer.

Electronic equipment is also being installed which will make it possible to provide more long distance circuits over existing facilities between Thief River Falls and other locations. Additions are also being made to Thief River Falls switchboard to permit the handling of more calls.

Perrier said the improvements in long distance facilities were necessary because of Thief River Falls' growing importance as a long distance center in this area.

In another phase of the project, additions are being made to the necessary electrical power to operate telephone service here.

Perrier explained that the Thief River Falls telephone system is powered by a series of storage batteries. Commercial power is used

Pre-Schoolers at Goodridge Will Attend Roundup

In preparation for kindergarten classes which will start for the first time at Goodridge school on Monday, April 4, a pre-school round up will be held on Friday of this week, according to Tom Millar, elementary principal.

All children who will be in first grade at the Goodridge school next year and their mothers must attend the roundup. Buses will leave th Goodridge school at 9 a.m. for visits to the medical clinics in Thief River Falls, returning to Goodridge at 12:30 p.m.

The noon meal will be served from 12:30 to 1:30 p.m., after which the parents will report to the kindergarten room and the pre-school children will report to the old gymnasium. At 1:50 p.m. the children will report to the kindergarten room and parents will move to the old gymnasium.

From 2:10 to 3 p.m. the parents will complete health records for their children, Millar said. The Goodridge unit of the Parent and Teacher association will serve lunch from 3 to 3:30 p.m.

FFA Banquet Is Slated Wednesday In LHS Cafeteria

Annual FFA Parent and Son banquet will be held Wednesday evening in the Lincoln high school cafeteria, it was announced at the local FFA chapter's monthly meeting Monday. Tickets will be sold at a cost of $1 to members and parents and must be purchased by today (Monday).

Speaker for the banquet will be Dr. Stanley Salstrom, dean of the new Northwest technical institute at Crookston, who will speak on opportunities for technicians in agricultural fields and the courses offered at the institute.

A number of qualified sophomores in FFA were initiated from the rank of Greenhand to Chapter Farmer. Pins were awarded to Donald Rondorf and Bruce Steiger, who placed first and third respectively in judging competition at the Feed and Seed show.

It was announced that a farm mechanics use contest will be held in the Lincoln high school farm shop Saturday, April 23.

Dahlen Appointed To Committee of Federal League

Stanton R. Dahlen, president of First Federal Savings and Loan association, Thief River Falls has been appointed to the United States Savings and Loan league's 1966 committee on federally chartered associations.

The appointment was announced today by C. A. Duncan Jr., of Nevada, Mo, president of the league, which is the nationwide trade organization of the savings and loan business and represents more than 5,100 savings associations and co-operative banks.

The committee was created for the purpose of studying legislative proposals and regulations.

Henry Panek and Mrs. Joringdal Head DFL Party

Believed to be the largest DFL convention in Pennington county history, the first closed convention of the party was held Saturday evening in the Thief River Falls city auditorium. Attendance was estimated between 250 and 300 with Gov. Karl Rolvaag speaking to the convention through a telephone speaker arrangement.

Henry Panek of Goodridge was reelected chairman and Mrs. Clarence Joringdal of Thief River Falls was named to her third term as chairwoman. Mrs. Orlando Chervestad of Oklee was named vice chairwoman to succeed Mrs. Emmett Israelson while Charles Kotaska was named vice chairman to succeed A. B. Stenberg. Both are from Thief River Falls.

Mrs. Roman Radniecki of Oklee was reelected secretary and Mrs. Catherine Jensen of Thief River Falls was reelected treasurer. Carl R. Anderson of Red Lake Falls was named to succeed Roy Wiseth as delegate to the state central committee.

Air Mail Service Is Advanced Here

A new air mail dispatch has been authorized by the regional office of the U. S. postal department, according to R. J. Dryden, Thief River Falls postmaster.

Effective today, all air mail will be sent over North Central Airlines flight 793 to connect with Northwest Airlines flight 3-486 at Grand Forks, N. D., and will arrive in Minneapolis at 10:30 p.m. This is expected to speed air mail from Thief River Falls by about five hours.

Glenn Peterson Elected to Head Local Elks Lodge

Glenn Peterson was elected to succeed Bruce Hall as exalted ruler of Elks Lodge 1308 at its regular meeting Thursday night at which about 45 members were present. Other officers elected were Ralph Foster, esteemed leading knight; Stan Cockrell, esteemed loyal knight; Jack Boyer, esteemed lecturing knight; Ole Engelstad, secretary; R. J. Dryden, treasurer; Olaf Myhrer, tiler; and Bruce Hall, trustee for a five-year term.

Also at the meeting, the Spring Roundup was scheduled for April 16. The ritualistic team from the Detroit Lakes Elks lodge will perform the initiation ceremony. At present, 24 candidates are slated for initiation.

A meeting of the building corporation followed the regular lodge meeting. Stan Cockrell and Laurel "Bud" Schuster were elected to the board of directors. The audit for the 12-month period ending February 28 was read and approved.

FHA Week Noted By Members from Franklin School

Franklin junior high Future Homemakers of America are observing the week of March 27 to April 2, along with 600,000 teenage members, as National FHA Week.

Future Homemakers are home economics students in junior and senior high schools. The organization, founded nearly 21 years ago, has for its motto, "Toward New Horizons." The motto refers to the extensive program of work FHA members and chapters undertake to further their goal of helping individuals improve personal, family and community living.

The nine projects of the current program of work are titled Individuality Counts; Good Health—A Valuable Asset; Jobs, Careers and You; Morals and Manners Matter; Good Family Relations Through Communications; Citizenship Challenges You; Your Neighbors Near and Far; Make Your Money Behave; and Leisure Time-Constructive Time.

Next on the schedule after FHA Week, comes planing for celebration of FHA's 21st, coming-of-age, birthday. Marking this important milestone will be a gala, year-long campaign to be launched at the FHA national meeting in St. Louis, Mo., in July.

Future Homemakers of America is officially sponsored by the U. S. Office of Education and the American Home Economics association. Financial support comes from dues of members. High school home economics techers serve as advisors to FHA's 11,000 local chapters throughout the United States.

Franklin junior high FHA has 68 members and two advisors, Miss Miss Peggy Stahl and Mrs. Jan Breiland. Members are currently selling cookbooks and hope to send a group to FHA camp this summer at Virginia. They are also planning for the Mother's Tea to be held in May.

Police Chase in Accident Report

Five automobile accidents, including a one-car mishap involving a police chase, were reported today by the Thief River Falls police department. At about 1 a.m. Wednesday a car driven by Thomas Ekeren, city, went out of control and came to rest against a tree in the Otis Wold yard at 212 Markley av. N.

Ekeren was noticed driving in a careless manner by Officer Anthony Kozojed, and failed to stop when Kozojed attempted to stop him. The car was going north on Maple with the right door open; it had been left open when two or more passengers jumped out at the corner of Third and Maple. The car rounded the corner onto Taft and hit a snowbank on the right side, and the door was slammed shut and damaged. The vehicle proceeded west on Taft with its lights out, sliding extensively on the street, the police department reported.

In making a turn onto Kendall avenue, the car spun around and came to rest sideways in the street, then started again and turned onto Third street after going through the stop sign. Ekeren lost control of the vehicle and it came to rest against a tree. He was charged with driving while under the influence of intoxicants.

On Thursday at about 4 p.m. a truck owned by Western Oil and Fuel company and driven by Clifford Reierson, rt. 1, Newfolden, was graveling north on Knight avenue. As the vehicle entered the intersection with Sixth street it was struck in the left side by a motorbike driven by Edward Holmstrom, city, which was going east on Sixth street. Damage was estimated at $90 to the motorbike and $10 to the truck. No charges were filed.

At 8 p.m. Thursday a car owned by Loren Thorson, Goodridge, was parked on Fourth street west of Horace avenue and was struck

Highway Dep't. Spends $536,471 During '65

Pennington county highway department expended $536,471 during 1965 for materials, labor and other costs required in the highway program, according to the annual report prepared by Joseph Seidel, county highway engineer. The department completed the year with a balance of $16,655 in the road and bridge fund after starting the year with a balance of $57,149.

During the year the department received $102,711 in tax apportionment, $101,792 in state aid for regular maintenance, $150,677 in state aid for regular contruction, $718 in state aid for municipal maintenance, $9,610 from townships, $195 from municipalities, $3,353 from individuals and others, $1,833 from earnings on investments, $2,858 in transfers and $113,166 in redeemed investments. Combined with the $57,149 balance, all receipts and transfers totaled $553,126.

Disbursements included $16,098 for administration, $189,061 for state aid highway construction, $2,600 for county road construction, $55,604 for state aid highway maintenance, $43,138 for county road maintenance, $23,076 for equipment purchase, $32,260 for operating expense, $20,000 in bond principal and $3,500 in bond interest $113,166 investments purchased, $13,463 for supplies inventory, $10,500 for tax aproriation and lesser amounts for several other items.

Listed among accomplishments of the department were construction of 8.1 miles of base and bituminous surfacing at a cost of $183,661; maintence of 257.14 miles of state aid highways at $95,709; construction of a bridge of $13,725; maintenance of 37 miles of county roads at $85,644; and purchase of a new motor grader for 20,100 and a new sand spreader.

The county spent $42,110 for graveling during the years — higher than normal due to the excessive rains and wet conditions all season.

For 1966 the department estimates revenue and surplus of $433,067, with major revenue including $103,000 in tax apportionment, $113,397 in state aid maintenance and $170,096 in state aid construction.

Estimated expenditures include $105,700 in routine maintenance and $33,000 for regraveling, $240,000 for construction and $43,520 for miscellaneous.

Among the construction expenditures anticipated are $125,000 for base and bituminous surfacing on 5.6 miles of CSAH 3; $74,000 for base and bituminous on 4.0 miles of CSAH 12; $12,000 for county ditch 77 and $29,000 for county ditch 68.

UND Coach To Speak

Athletic Banquet Planned Tuesday

Lincoln high school Prowler athletes, will be guests for four local organizations Tuesday evening at the 16th annual athletic banquet to be held at 6:30 p.m. at Zion Lutheran church in Thief River Falls. Guest speake will be William "Bill" Fitch, head basketball coach at the University of North Dakota in Grand Forks.

Cooperating in sponsorship of the event are the Jaycees, Chamber of Commerce, Lions and Rotary clubs. Robert Carlson will be the master of ceremonies for the evening with Rev. Leland Steen giving the invocation. Rick Contos, president of the Jaycees, will give the welcome. Ralph Skay, athletic director, will call upon the coaches who will introduce their players.

Harold Rasmussen heads the arrangements committe with members of the committee including Wendell Olson, Roger Tunberg, Lewis Helfner, Jon Larson, Jarvis Prichard and Al Baron.

Now in his fourth season at the University of North Dakota Fitch has established a winning tradition at the school. In 1964-65 his team won 26 games and lost only five, and this past season won 24 and lost five. A year ago the Sioux won the North Central conference title with a 12-0 mark and this year repeated as champions with an 11-1 record.

Coach Fitch's teams won the NCAA Midwest regional college division both years, and placed third in 1965 and fourth in 1966 in the NCAA national finals at Evansville, Ind.

Tuesday night's speaker came to UND after four years as head basketball coach at Coe college in Cedar Rapids, Ia., where he produced two Midwest conference championship teams. Since taking the UND post, his teams have won 75 teams while losing 39, and 24 of the losses have been at the hands of larger, major-ranked schools, including Minnesota, Bradley, DePaul, Chicago, Loyola, Iowa and Southern Illinois.

While working on his master's degree at Creighton university in Omaha, Fitch coached his freshmen to 29 victories in 30 games over two seasons.

Banquet tickets are available at the Chamber of Commerce office for $1.75 each.

Returning to their home in Thief River Falls on Monday were Mr. and Mrs. William Prichard who spent the winter months in Phoenix, Ariz.

GUEST speaker for the spring banquet of the Goodridge Education association will be Pat Churchill, field representative for the Minnesota Education association. He is a member of the MEA, NEA and the Esko Teachers association. He has been active in MEA - sponsored activities on the local, division and state levels and currently is chairman of the local and Northeast division salary committees and the 1964 delegate assembly. Holder of a bachelor's degree in social studies from the University of Minnesota, Duluth, he has been a high school teacher for 10 years, counselor five years and has coached football and baseball. Airman Blodgett Gets Air Force Medal in Vietnam

Word has been received here by Mrs. Ned C. Blodgett, the former Dorothy Muzzy of Thief River Falls, that her husband has received an Air Force Commendation medal in Vietnam. A-1c Blodgett gained the award while on a special assignment last summer, with notification received by the family here recently.

A citation accompanying the medal states:

"Airman First Class Ned C. Blodgett distinguished himself by meritorius service as a weapons technician while assined to the 405th Munitions Maintenance squadron detachment in Vietnam from 16 April 1965 to 5 August 1965, at three advance bases in Vietnam he displayed a degree of professional skill and devotion to duty that was completely outstanding.

"He performed with zeal and vigor under the most rigorous conditions that included ground attack at night by the opposing forces. The distinctive accomplishments of Airman First Class Blodgett reflect credit upon himself and the United States Air Force.

Airman Blodgett has been in the air force for 11 years, has completed his tour of duty in Vietnam and is now stationed at Clark AFB in the Philippines.

Driving Errors Cause 90% of Traffic Mishaps

There are about 1,900,000 licensed drivers in Minnesota. They are of all ages, from 15 years old and up, and they include men and women with different degrees of training and experience. About 135,000 of them are involved in some 75,000 traffic accidents annually.

More than 90 per cent of these accidents are caused by errors of the drivers involved, according to the safety promotion section of the Minnesota highway department.

Generally, there can be no excuse for the many driving errors. Driver education in one form or another is readily available. The present generation benefits from driver education in schools and driver education courses are offered by many state, federal and private agencies, industries and civic organizations. The Minnesota Driver Manuel published and distributed by the Minnesota highway department, is free upon request and prepares applicants for driver license examinations.

However, too many drivers have never had to pass an examination to secure a driver license the department notes. Many more have never taken a driver education course and know little about the basic rules involved in safe driving.

The modern motorist cannot afford to take a chance on "feeling stumbles, it may be a final and fatal error, the department concludes.

Touring Theatre To Appear Tues. In LHS Auditorium

University of Minnesota Touring Theatre will present an enactment of Edward Everett Hale's famous story, "The Man Without a Country," Tuesday at 3 p.m. in the Lincoln high school auditorium.

"The Man Without a Country" is the story of Philip Nolan who, during the Reconstruction, period cursed the United States and stated he never wished to see it again. He was later sentenced to travel on shipboard until death without ever touching land.

The Touring Theatre has been traveling throughout the upper midwest under the direction of the University of Minnesota program service, a division of the department of concert and lectures.

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

Features from the Kitchen of

MRS. H. S. WILLIAMS

During the past several weeks we have been fortunate in being able to supply you with prize winning recipes from those who entered the women's division at the annual Seed and Feed Show. We are especially grateful to those who so graciously consented to share their recipes with the readers of Kitchen Karnival. Next week concludes the series.

Today's recipes were received from Mrs. H. S. Williams of rural Thief River Falls who received championship awards on her cake and first prize on her cookies entered in the oats division. She also received first place on her bread in the rye division. Her cake and cookie recipes are as follows:

OATMEAL CAKE

1 cup white sugar
1 cup brown sugar
½ cup shortening
1½ cup boiling water
1 cup oatmeal
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon soda
1½ cups flour
½ teaspoon salt

Method: Pour boiling water over oatmeal and let stand until cool. Cream shortening and sugar and add eggs, vanilla and cinnamon. Add oatmeal mixture. Sift flour, soda and salt and add to mixture. Mix well and bake about 45 minutes in 350 degree oven.

TOPPING

1 cup brown sugar
6 tablespoon butter
6 tablespoon milk

Boil for two minutes. Coconut and nuts may be added. This may be spread on batter before baking or it may be spread on the cake after it is baked and then broiled. Instead of topping, cake may be frosted if preferred.

DATE FILLED OATMEAL COOKIES

½ cup shortening, part butter
½ cup white sugar
½ cup brown sugar
1 cup quick oatmeal
1 cup flour
1 egg
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon vanilla

Method: Cream shortening and sugar together, add egg and sifted dry ingredients. Add oatmeal last. Form into small balls and bake at 350 degrees until light brown.

Filling:
1 package dates
1 cup water
1 teaspoon lemon juice
½ cup sugar

Boil together until thick. Filling may be put between cookies after they are baked or you may wish to experiment by flattening the balls before baking adding some filling and covering with a little dough.

The Williams live on a farm about seven miles northeast of Thief River Falls. They have two daughters, Mrs. Bernard Myers, also of rural Thief River Falls and Mrs. Percy Hagen of Newfolden.

In addition to the duties of a busy farmer's wife, Mrs. Williams enjoys sewing, cooking and baking and has won several ribbons for her baking at previous Feed and Seed shows and at the Pennington County fair. She is a member of the Silver Creek homemakers club and particularly enjoys working in the varius organizations of the Silver Creek Lutheran church where she teaches Sunday school, is one of the advisors for the Luther Leaguers and is a member of the Ladies Aid.

Besides being members of the Silver Creek Lutheran church, the Williams are also members of the Steiner community club and of the Silverleaf Farmers Union local.

Garth Klein, local Army recruiter; Jerry Carlson, who choose the electronics school; Richard Nelson, dental technician; David Austad, Oklee, electronics; Leonard Kasprowicz, Strandquist, engineering; Delray Larson, stenographer; Richard Borgen, surveying and drafting; and Allen Christenson, electronics. Not present for the photo was Bryce Ernst, surveying and drafting. All of the men except Austad and Kasprowicz are from Thief River Falls.

Litter Is Condemned As National Disgrace

Litter and unsightliness have become a national disgrace, blighting both cities and countryside, according to Robert L. Herbst, deputy commissioner of the Minnesota conservation departmen.

In Minnesota alone, cleanup costs run about a million dollars annually, he said. Nationally, litter cleanup costs taxpayers some billion dollars a year.

Herbst, also president of Keep Minnesota Clean and Scenic, Inc., spoke on the University of Minnesota's St. Paul Campus March 23 at one of a series of educational meetings on beautification activities at the local level.

The meetings are being held at various places in the state during Minnesota Conservation and Wildlife Week and National Wildlife Week to provide information to private citizens, civic, business and conservation groups and units of government on principles of beautification and programs which may be activated to protect and enhance natural beauty of the countryside.

Most Minnesotans agree the state needs tourists, industry and pleasant scenery, said Herbst. Yet litter and unsightliness discourage these very things and can be overcome only by action of concerned citizens.

He urged communities and counties to form committees to help solve these problems through education, cleanup and beautification projects, laws and enforcement, planning and zoning.

"Because man depends on soil, and air for livelihood and wellbeing," Herbst said, "conservation of natural resources must be a continuing program."

Herbst noted that favorable public response to last year's anti-litter program saved the Minnesota highway department some $13,466 in costs. He said the money saved can be used for additional road improvements.

Litter causes health and safety problems, Herbst said. It forms breeding grounds for insects and rodents and accounts for one-third of the nation's forest fires. Littered lakes and streams are dangerous for swimmers and boaters. And litter lowers property values and mars the beauty of the landscape.

He traced the growing problem of litter and unsightliness to individuals who are selfish, careless and malicious and cited examples:

*At Yellowstone National park, visitors upset the natural mechanism of geysers by throwing in stones. Park rangers removed the stones, but visitors tore up chunks of blacktop paths. Now one geyser occasionally spews black-colored steam instead of white.

*At Gettysburg National park, vandals rolled so many rocks and logs onto roads that the historic battleground had to be closed until workmen could clear the rubble.

*At Lake Erie last summer, one-fourth of the lake (2,600 square miles) was unable to support underwater life. Algae and plant growths fed by pollution from cities and farms had nearly choked off the oxygen supply.

For a nation where natural resources are destroyed, the penalty can only be poverty, degradation and decay, said Herbst. Citizens, both individually and collectively, must realize they are responsible for their environment and plan wise use of their resource heritage.

Leroy Udstrand Is Crewmember On USS Bexar

Radioman Second Class Leroy W. Udstrand, USN, son of Mr. Arthur J. Udstrand of rt. 4, Thief River Falls, has returned to San Diego, Calif., aboard the attack transport USS Bexar, after completing operations with the Seventh Fleet in support of the Vietnamese effort.

Bexar participated in the first assault at Chu Lai, and amphibious landings at DaNang. Later, the transport was the support ship in that area. The ship has also been called on for several special lift requirements from the continental United States to the Vietnam war zone.

After all crewmembers have had a chance to spend some leave with their families, Bexar will begin refresher training in preparation for a return to duty with the Seventh Fleet.

Advises Against Starting Tomato Plants Too Early

"If you're planning to grow your own tomato transplants this year, don't start them too early, or you'll have spindly plants to set in the garden," warns O. C. Turnquist, extension horticulturist at the University of Minneota.

It takes about six weeks to grow a good plant for the garden. Since the recommended time for transplanting tomatoes into the garden is about Memorial day, it's best to seed tomatoes indoors about the Middle of April, according to the university horticulturist.

An advantage in growing your own tomato plants is that you can be sure to get the varieties you like.

For dependable, continuous production of high quality tomatoes, Turnquist recommends Fireball, if you want early, medium-size fruits; Moreton Hybrid, a mid-season variety which starts producing as Fireball starts tapering off; and Bib Boy, a mid-season to late variety producing large, smooth fruits.

If you've had trouble with tomatoes that crack, you may want to try Glamour and Cardinal Hybrid. If your family prefers mild tomatoes with little acid, plant one of the yellow varieties such as Sunray. Plant Early Salad Hybrid or Tiny Tim if you want some of the small-fruited cocktail or eat-whole tomatoes. One plant many yield as many as 400 fruits.

A good soil mixture for starting tomato seeds is three parts garden soil, two parts organic matter and one part sand. If you broadcast the seed in a flat or a 6 x 6 pan available from greenhouses, avoid getting the plants too thick. After sowing the seed, scatter sand slightly over the top. Planting two or three seeds directly into a four-inch peat pot has been found successful. After the first true leaves appear, thin the seedlings in the peat pot to one plant and at the appropriate time set the pot directly into the garden. Treat the seed with thiram before planting to help prevent damping-off disease.

Plants will grow best if kept in direct light where there is good air circulation. If they are in a window, set a white cardboard facing the window and in the back of the container for better distribution of light.

Pvt. Langevin Completes Army Engineer Course

Pvt. Charles B. Langevig, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis M. Langevin of Thief River Falls, completed a 10-week engineer supply and parts course at the Army Engineer School Ft. Belvoir, Va., March 18.

Langevin was taught to maintain records of the receipt, storage, issue, shipment, classification and salvage of engineer material.

The 20-year-old soldier entered the Army last October and completed basic training at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo. He was graduated from Lincoln high school in 1964.

Jorgensen Is Promoted to Pfc.

Ronald H. Jorgensen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl C. Jorgensen of Thief River Falls, was promoted March 8 to Army private first class in Germany.

Jorgensen, assigned as an aircraft repairman in the 42nd Transportation company near Hanau, entered the Army in June of 1965. He completed basic training at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo., was last stationed at Ft. Eustis, Va., and arrived in December of 1965. The 19-year-old soldier is a 1965 graduate of Lincoln high school,

Jehovah Witness Convention Set At Walker School

Spring convention plans are now being considered by the Thief River Falls congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, according to R. H. Wetenkamp, presiding minister of the local congregation. The Thief River Falls congregation has been invited to attend a three-day convention to be held at the Walker high school auditorium April 29, through May 1.

This semi-annual gathering is expected to draw some 500 ministers from 16 congregations in northern Minnesota.

"Such conventions," Wetenkamp said, "are actually an extension of an intensive world-wide Bible educational program carried on by Jehovah's Witnesses in 197 countries. The weekend program includes a variety of talks on Bible subjects. Groups of ministers will discuss ministerial problems, and demonstrations will teach how Christians should conduct Bible studies. Sessions will be conducted morning, afternoon and evening, with a baptism of new ministers on Saturday afternoon."

Highlight of the assembly will come Sunday, May 1, at 3 p.m., when the district supervisor from Brooklyn, N. Y., will speak on the subject, "Does God Have Influence in this Twentieth Century?" All sessions will be free and open to the public.

Red Cross Flood Director Gives Problem Estimate

After an aerial survey of the Red River Valley Sunday, William Probes, Red Cross flood readiness director, sharply increased his estimate of families who may be affected by flooding as streams come to crest stage.

He now believes more than 3,000 families will be qafected, with 1,500 of these requiring Red Cross shelter or feeding. "The Valley from Fargo to Grand Forks, looks like a badly melted chocolate sundae from 4,000 feet," Probes commented, "but from Oslo northward there's little sign of ice breakup. We're getting ready for any potential if weather brings crests predicted and existing dikes fail to hold.

"Our survey now shows the following number of families in towns and surrounding area who may be affected: Fargo, 50; Grand Forks, 150; East Grand Forks, 350; Crookston, 300; Grafton, 1,500; and Pembina, 400.

"We now have eight workers on duty in the valley assisting chapters and three mor nrout. Two will be assigned to headquarters in Grand Forks. We have alerted six case-work supervisors and 22 case-workers if needed.

"At Fargo-Moorhead, 39 families have been evacuated. Red Cross is sheltering and feeding 10, with the remainder in homes of friends and relative. In Grand Forks and East Grand Forks, 100 families are now in homes of relatives and friends, while Red Cross fed more than 1,400 dike workers Saturday." Cold earlier in the week brought Red Cross peradomes (portable shelters) into play as warming stations for dikers.

At Crookston more than 350 sandbaggers were being fed Sunday from mobile canteens and a fixed unit at Red Cross headquarters in the Presbyterian church. Crookston sources said dikes would be completed by 6 p.m. Sunday.

Republicans Seek Special Workers For New Awards

A new feature at this year's 7th District Republican Convention, April 22-23 in Fergus Falls, will be the presentation of awards to the district's outstanding man and woman party worker.

Detailed plans for selecting winners of the new awards—the Frances Erickson award and the Fred Behling award—were adopted at a district party executive committee meeting recently in Detroit Lakes.

Sought for the awards are the Republican man and woman who have contributed to the party by outstanding leadership, fund raising, inspiration and exemplary citizenship.

Party executive committees in each of the district's 23 counties are to have nominations from their counties submitted to Robert Bigwood, Fergus Falls, district party chairman, by April 10. A screening committee to be appointed by the district executive committee will make the final selections.

Dennis Kiesow Is Enlisted in Navy

Dennis Oliver Kiesow, son of Henry Kiesow of Goodridge, was enlisted in the U. S. Navy March 17 in ceremonies held at the Nvy Recruiting Substation in Fargo. He was sent to the Recruit Training Center in San Diego, Calif., where he will commence nine weeks of intense indoctrination into Navy life and preparation for future assignment to one of the many service schools available to Navymen.

As a high school graduate, Kiesow was guaranteed a Navy service school prior to his enlistment.

Langen Praises ICC for Efforts In Boxcar Needs

Congressman Odin Langen recently praised the Interstate Commerce commission for its latest efforts to speed the delivery of badly-needed boxcars to the railroads serving the Midwest and West.

"It is obvious that the ICC is doing all it can to speed the return of all freight cars to the railroads that own them," he said in commenting on the ICC car service order to return, empty if necessary, all boxcars owned by the car-short Great Northern railway and the Northern Pacific railway within 24 hours of unloading. The orders also reduce the "free time" any boxcar or covered hopper car may be held for unloading at ports and has upped the charges to railroad customers who delay returning such cars.

"The need for boxcars in the Midwest and West has become critical", Langen said. "For instance, additional cars are being directed to the Red River Valley of Minnesota and North Dakota where grains and other commodities must be moved due to the possibility of spring flooding. We have also learned that some paper and lumber mills along the Great Northern and Northern Pacific lines are being forced to close because of inadequate shipping facilities.

"The chairman of the ICC has noted that without the emergency orders it would be July before the rain on hand would be moved and there would be still more closing of plants and unemployment in the pulp and lumber industries."

College Qualification Test Comment Given

Selective service college qualification test is to be administered on 39 Minnesota campuses on May 14, May 21 and June 4. Copies of this bulletin and application cards are available in every selective service local board in the nation, according to Col. Robert P. Knight, state director for Minnesota.

The selective service college qualification test, prepared and administered by Science Research associates for Chicago for the selective service system, is intended to give local draft boards additional information regarding the proper classification of registrants who apply for occupational deferment as college students. While the test is not mandatory, college students including post-graduate students, are encouraged to take it. High school seniors or graduates intending to enter college in the fall of 1966 may also apply to take the test.

Application cards, which must be postmarked no later than April 23, may be obtained from any selective service board office. In addition, arrangements have been made to distribute application cards and bulletins through most colleges and universities in Minnesota. Registrars will soon announce the procedure as pertains to their respective institutions.

Selective service local boards will use the test results as supplementary information in considering registrants for draft deferment as college students at undergraduate or post-graduate level. In order to qualify for such consideration, a registrant must be a fulltime student, pursuing an educational goal (in other words, a candidate for a certain degree with a stated college major), and achieve a satisfactory relative class standing among the men in his class.

Selective service local boards will use the test results as supplementary information in considering registrants for draft deferment as college students at undergraduate or post-graduate level. In order to qualify for such consideration, a registrant must be a fulltime student, pursuing an educational goal (in other words, a candidate for a certain degree with a stated college major), and achieve a satisfactory relative class standing among the men in his class.

The test result alone will not be cause to deny any applicant a student deferment. It will thus not "hurt" a student's chances. If he is confident he will remain in the upper fraction of his class, he may "rest his case" on grades alone. On the other hand, if his grades should slip, a good test score might make the difference with his local board.

The test may be taken only once.

The test will be given to college and university students only. Trade, vocational and other non-college students are not affected by the testing program.

Tests given on the three dates will not be the same, although test scores on each will be fully comparable.

"Since our draft calls have varied from 900 last December to a low of 230 in April, 1966, it is impossible to predict how many, if any college students will be inducted next school year, Col. Knight said. If the call remains low, we may find it possible to continue lenient policies now being used by Minnesota boards. If the call increases greatly, it will be necessary to become more severe in granting deferments in any classification.

"We simply have to be ready to fill large calls. If the large calls don't come, nobody will complain. If they do come, everyone, not just college boys, will be subject to review. The college test is designed to give draft boards full information in case such action becomes necessary," he concluded.

PVT. Ricky W. Lappegard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Lappegard, of Thief River Falls, completed a teletypewriter equipment repair course at the Army Southeastern Signal school at Ft. Gordon, Ga., March 18. During his 19 weeks of training, Lappegard was trained to install, service and repair Army teletype sets. The 18-year-old soldier entered the Army in August of 1965 and completed basic training at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo. He was graduated from Lincoln high school in 1965.

PUBLIC OPINION

Marvin Lundin, Editor
Thief River Falls Times
Thief River Falls, Minn.

Dear Mr. Lundin:

The Heart Fund Drive is over in Pennington county and I wish to thank all volunteers for a job well done, as well as the residents of Pennington County for their generosity. Those who were not at home when the volunteers called may mail their contributions to Heart, c-o Postmaster, Thief River Falls. For those who were not at home and to any business people, to whom no solicitations were made, as this was only a house to house drive, the followin may prove interesting.

Of all the deaths in Pennington County in 1964, 63 per cent were caused by heart disease according to the Minnesota Department of Health. More Americans die each year of heart disease than the total number of deaths recorded due to war in all the American Armed Services from 1776 to the present.

Great advances have been made against the heart and blood vessel diseases in the years since the heart association became a voluntary organization in 1948. Since then there has been a 7½ per cent increase in deaths due to heart disease. The Minnesota Heart association feels that its efforts in furtherin research, education and community services has been in part responsible for this decrease in deaths.

Thoughtful people give consideration to the efficiency of any charity which they support. In other words, what per cent of contributions are needed for expenses. Due to the outstanding reasearch facilities in Minnesota, the American Heart association returns part of every dollar sent to them by us. This means that, in effect, every cent you give to the Minnesota Heart association is used for actual research, education and community services.

Education is an important part of the program. For those who would like to receive information of diet, smoking, high blood pressure and other risk factors, please write to the Minnesota Heart association, 1821 University Ave. St. Paul Minn. 55104.

Dear Editor:

I have long thought to write you in appreciation for your very fine editorials about many subjects and have waited, for someone better writers than I. If they agree with what you say or not, I think it would be a good idea if more people took time to write in their home papers about their thoughts and ideas; not to condemn but to clarify as thoughts brought in the open could be a beginning in better understanding on how government works, etc. Anyway, thank you for your many fine editorials, down to earth, that are written so anyone can understand.

Sincerely,
Mrs. C. H. Swenson
Route 5, TRF

Editor, the Times:

If there is one thing which we the people of Thief River Falls posess in abundance, it is land and what is more, cheap land. Our little town is virtually surrounded by acres and acres of perfectly good flat land, entirely suitable for the construction of factories, homes and junior colleges. This basic fact, however, seems unfortunately to have been totally ignored by the Junior College committee in its arbitrary selection of a site for the pending Junior college.

We seem to have here a little band of willful men who have arbitrarily set their minds on a piece of property which is owned by an individual who does not want to sell. This in spite of the fact that there are untold acres of suitable land which could be acquired at a resonable price from willing sellers.

In invoking the principle of Eminent Domaine, we question here whether this is a right which springs from the personal liking, of a small group of men. The right of the sub-government to condemn, acquire and seize a piece of property stems, we feel, from a public need. Bridges, highways, over-passes, sewers and such serve without question a public need. As such they cannot be blocked by an owner who does not wish to sell. In such cases, the sub-government must necessarily resort to condemnation proceedings in order to acquire the property.

In the case of the Junior college, we question the public need which is involved. Granted that the property in question has some appeal and which is so highly prized by the committee, we could perhaps find some disadvantages. It is bounded on one side by a busy highway and on the other sides by the river. It is true that there would be room for expansion in the general direction of Goodridge but again I say, there must be other choices.

Certainly it should be possible to acquire suitable property for a site which could not involve the bitterness and expense of a prolonged court trial with expensive lawyers and other subsequent expenses to the municipality.

Sincerely,
Olaf Moen.

Bell Telephone Office Installs New Equipment

to charge the batteries and a diesel-powered generator is available in case of a power failure. The new equipment consists of additional storage batteries and equipment to keep the batteries fully charged.

Most of the complicated electronic dial switching equipment being installed here was manufactured at the Western Electric company plant in Chicago, Ill. Perrier said the equipment being installed here would more than fill a semi-trailer and weighs over 9,000 pounds. More than 430,000 feet of additional wire will be installed in the building here. This is more than enough wire to reach from Thief River Falls to Roseau.

Western Electric company, the manufacturing and supply unit of the Bell system, designs, manufactures and installs switchboards, dial switching equipment and associated equipment for Bell system companies such as Northwestern Bell.

Technicians started work on March 8 and expect to finish early in June. After the equipment is in, it will be turned over to Northwestern Bell Telephone company technicians for testing and maintenance.

Joint Services Held For Anna and David Anderson

Joint funeral services for Anna D. Anderson, 76, and J. David Anderson, 74, a sister and brother who died last week, were held Saturday at 2 p.m. at the Evangelical Free church at Newfolden. Miss Anderson died Tuesday at Northwestern hospital in Thief River Falls and her brother died unexpectedly the following morning at their home in Newfolden.

The Rev. Clifford Anderson officiated at the services. Hymns were sung by Jane Anderson and Mrs. Clifford Anderson served as organist. Interment was in the Spruce Valley cemetery with Collins Funeral home of Middle River in charge of arrangements.

Pallbearers were David Toren, Albert Anderson, Gordon Elseth, Claring Lund, Ralph Gaarde and Norman Folden.

Lifetime residents of the Newfolden community, Anna D. Anderson was born Aug. 17, 1889 and John David Anderson was born Sept. 14, 1891 in Spruce Valley township, Marshall county to the late Otto and Lovisa Anderson. They attended school and lived on the farm in Spruce Valley township until last fall when they moved into the village of Newfolden.

J. David Anderson was a veteran having served the U. S. Army during World War I.

Survivors include three sisters, Mrs. Alma McFarlane and Miss Beda Anderson, both of Newfolden and Mrs. Emma C. Bergquist of Higgins, Tex., and several nieces and nephews.

They wre preceded in death by seven brothers.

in the left side by one driven by JoLynn Edmiston, city, which had backed from a parking stall across the street. Damage to the Thorson car totaled about $100; the Edmiston car was not damaged.

Saturday at 3 p.m. a car driven by Leland Knight, city, was going west on Third street and stopped for a red light behind four other vehicles. The vehicle was struck from the rear by one driven by Kay Dorn, city. Damage was estimated at $70 to the Knight car and $75 to the Dorn vehicle. The accident is under investigation.

On Saturday sometime between 6 and 8 p.m. a car owned by Kathleen Ulrich, city, was parked in front of 417 West Third street. The unattended car was struck by an unknown vehicle in the left rear and was damaged to the extent of about $200. The other car left the scene. The accident in under investigation.

Cliff Bredeson of Northern Chevrolet, Inc., reported that sometime after 2 p.m. Thursday an Ingersoll ram-air half-inch impact wrench was lost, stolen or misplaced. The wrench is valued at $125.

Dr. Boyd Named To Hall of Fame

Dr. Willard Lee Boyd today became the 49th member of the Minnesota Livestock Hall of Fame. He is the former director of the University of Minnesota school (now college) of veterinary medicine.

Dr. Boyd was honored at the annual meeting of the Minnesota Livestock Breders' association. His portraite was hung in Peters hall on the St. Paul campus of the university and a citation was read commending Dr. Boyd for his contributions to livestock welfare through veterinary medicine.

The citation paid special tribute to Dr. Boyd's early work in the production of hog cholera anti-serum; his research in bovine brucellosis; pyelonephritis and cattle nutrition.

All Forms Must Be Included with Federal Returns

Many Minnesota taxpayers' returns are being held up because certain required additional forms to complete the 1040 are not submitted, according to George O. Lethert, district director of Internal Revenue.

Form 2440, Statement to Support Exclusion of Sick Pay, is not completed by many taxpayers claiming this deduction. Other special forms required for certain deductions which are omitted include: Form 2106, Statement of Employee Business Expenses, and Form 2948, Medical and Dental Expense Statement.

"When these forms are missing, we must contact the taxpayer and secure additional required information," Lethert said. "This delays the processing of the tax return and the receipt of tax refunds for those who are expecting them."

Special forms for supporting certain deductions, credits and exclusions on a tax return are available at all revenue service offices. Lethert urged taxpayers to check their returns for completeness before they mail them to be sure all required statements are attached. Other items should be reviewed for completeness, such as reporting Social Security numbers, enclosing all Forms W-2, and signatures on the return.

Robins, Blackbird Seen in Area

Annual reports of signs of spring have ben filtering into the Times office from area birdwatchers. Mr. and Mrs. Harold South of Goodridge reported seeing two robins and a blackbird at their farm on St. Patrick's Day, the earliest date they have been seen since Mrs. South began keeping track in 1950. Second earliest date robins were seen at the farm was March 31, 1963.

Mrs. Robert Brown of 404 State av, N. reported seeing a robin in her back yard Tuesday afternoon.

Refinancing of RRV Winter Show Debt Announced

Red River Valley Winter Shows Finance Chairman Marvin Campbell reported Monday that the refinancing of the existing debt has been accomplished and that about 45 days are needed to complete the details and pay off all outstanding capital debt. Campbell reported that the re-financing was accomplished by a joint venture of some 22 banks and a savings and loan association located in the Valley. A total of about $175,000 has been arranged.

Plans were laid for a sustaining membership program to help meet the annual re-financing obligations. This program seeks 1,500 sustaining memberships from citizens of the Valley. Membership cost is $10 a year, is a tax exempt contribution to the Winter Shows building fund and will be used exclusively for capital debt reduction. This membership does not replace over-due pledges to the building fund.

A group of some seventy-five citizen leaders will be soliciting memberships in the immediate weeks ahead.

Jerome Poole Completes Army Ammo Course

Pvt. Jerome E. Poole, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Poole of Thief River Falls, completed an ammunition storage course at the Army Missile and Munitions school, Redstone Arsenal, Ala., March 18.

Confiscated Furs Sold for $5,176 By Department

A sale of confiscated furs by the Minnesota Conservation department recently in St. Paul revealed a change in the market demand for various types of skins. A total of 1,278 furs were sold by sealed bid to his seven buyers present. The sale netted $5,796 which has deposited in the game and fish fund as prescribed by law.

"Time was," said a department official, "that the only furs that brought much money were mink and other short haired furs. But today because of change in fashions, the long haired furs like fox are bringing as much or more money than mink."

As late as one year ago fox trappers and hunters had to be satisfied with three or four dollars they received for bounty fee. But no more.

One lot of four fox skins offered at the sale brought an average price per pelt of $12. For comparison, the best price received for mink was one lot of 25 large skins which brought an average price per pelt of $10.24.

Top prices for other kinds of fur received at the sale were: fisher, $15.08; extra large beaver, $22.22; otter, $27.10; and muskrat, $1.72.

Raccoon, a fur that had a very low price a short time ago, also is in demand as a long haired fur, and one lot of 34 skins brought an average price per pelt of $5.81. Raccoon are unprotected in Minnesota and may be taken year around without limit.

Edina-Morningside Is Basketball Champion

Edina - Morningside of Region Five, marking up their second successive overtime victory in the tournament, tallied 13 points in the three-minute overtime period to break a 69-all deadlock and defeat Duluth East, 82 to 75, in the championship finals of the 54th annual Minnesota state high school basketball tournament that was concluded in Minneapolis on Saturday night.

Edina, winning their 26th consecutive game without a loss, had to make a spectacular fourth period rally to overcome the pressing Duluth East squad. Trailing by eight points, 65 to 57, with four minutes to play, and down by four points, 69 to 65, with 1:15 to play, the Hornets pared the East lead to two points on Bob Zender's layup, and Jeff Wright's field goal with 27 seconds to play, knotted the game at 69-all and forced overtime.

Edina took charge of the overtime period when Wright added three points on a field goal and a free throw. Duluth kept within a point of the Hornets for a minute and half, trailing 74 to 73. Edina, on a field goal by Zender and pair of free throws by Wright, moved into 78 to 73 lead with 1:40 to play. Edina free throws in the final minute snuffed out the hopes of the Greyhounds.

Edina gained the championship by defeating Windom of Region Two, 60 to 59, in a first-round game on Thursday night, and then in a three overtime game, Edina edged out Henning of Region Six, 62 to 56, in a semi-finals game on Friday night.

Duluth East opened the tournament by defeating the Ada Vikings of Region Eight, 68 to 61, on Thursday afternoon, and then romped through the Hutchinson Tigers of Region Three, 76 to 49, in a semi-finals game on Friday night.

Other first-round games in the championship bracket found Hutchinson defeating Mounds View of Region Four, 68 to 56; and Henning defeating Blooming Prairie of Region One, 82 to 69.

In consolation play, the Ada Vikings defeated Mounds View, 66 to 58, and Windon bested Blooming Prairie, 71 to 54. In the consolation finals, Windom defeated Ada, 62 to 60.

In a preliminary game to the championship on Saturday night, Hutchinson gained third place in the tourney ratings by defeating Henning, 70 to 59.

All State Squad Named at State BB Tournament

The state champion Edina-Morningside Hornets and the runner-up Duluth East Greyhounds each placed three players on the 12-member all-tournament basketball squad selected by a committee of basketball coaches and announced at the conclusion of the championship finals game on Saturday night.

Edina, winning the title by scoring an 82 to 75 win over Duluth in overtime, had forward Jay Kledrowski, center Kurt Schellhaus, and guard Jeff Wright on the all-star squad. For coach Joe Mrkonich's Duluth team, center Chuck Baxter, forward Dennis Falk, and guard Jeff Wells were honored.

The Hutchinson Tigers, who gained third place in the standings by defeating Henning, 70 to 59, placed Donald Halva, a forward, and Steve DeKoster, a center, on the all-tournament squad. The Henning Hornets' Peterson twins, center Dick and forward Bob, were chosen to the all-star squad.

From Region Eight, the Ada Vikings's fine guard, Doug Hanson, was named to the all-tournament roster.

1966 Minnesota all-tournament basketball squad.

Bob Neilson, guard, Windom.
Steve DeKoster, center, Hutchinson.
Dick Peterson, center, Henning.
Chuck Baxter, center, Duluth East.
Jay Kledrowski, forward, Edina.
Donald Halva, forward, Hutchinson.
Dennis Falk, forward, Duluth East.
Kurt Schellhaus, center, Edina.
Bob Peterson, forward, Henning.
Jeff Wright, guard, Edina.
Jeff Wells, guard, Duluth East.
Doug Hanson, guard, Ada.

Recent Blizzard Misses Deer and Pheasant Ranges

The blizzard of March 22-23 deposited one to two feet of snow in southeastern and south central Minnesota but fortunately, said the conservation department, missed the main deer range where deep snows have been a problem this winter.

State Game and Fish Director Ted Shields said that deer are now moving around with greater ease. Snow levels have dropped and compacted as a result of the thawing condition which occurred during the middle of March. Bare spots of ground are showing up in openings and on south slopes in many parts of the main deer range.

Shields said that browse cutting operations are continuing where needed. Although scattered dead fawns have been found, the deer herd is generally coming through the long hard winter in fairly good condition.

The only area of above normal losses reported to-date is that part of the state from Koochiching county west and southwest to the edge of the prairie. Losses of fawns here have been limited to areas where there is poorer quality cover and food. No unusual losses have been reported to the east.

Shields said that although heavy snow was deposited by the recent storm in the pheasant range in south central and southeastern Minnesota, it missed that part of the prime pheasant range lying in west central Minnesota.

Since the storm was a short duration and the standing cover was relatively free of snow prior to the storm, game officials were hopeful that pheasants were not greatly affected. Field checks are presently being made to determine the actual effects of the storm on pheasants.

Shields said that there are no food problems for pheasants since there are bare spots in the fields and there is sufficient standing corn for the birds to feed.

Gatzke Meeting To Discuss Duck Damage, Drainage

Discussion of the problems of duck depredation, crop damage and drainage will take place at a public meeting to be held Wednesday, March 30, at 2 p.m. in the Gatzke school gymnasium. Farmers, sportsmen and representatives of state and federal wildlife and conservation organizations are expected to attend and all interested persons are invited.

5 from Area on UND Dean's List

A total of 372 University of North Dakota students have been named to the dean's list in the College of Science, Literature and Arts for the first semester of the 1965-66 academic year. Among these are Judy G. Larson, Thief River Falls; Helen E. Brown, Goodridge; Phyllis Jean Mostrom, Trail; and Richard Johnson and Gary Allal Mckash, both of Greenbush.

Students named to the list must receive a 3.00 (B) average or higher while registered in 12 or more credit hours. Philip A. Rognlie is associate dean of SLA.

WINNERS of the men's curling league playdowns for the 1965-66 season was this veteran Ardell Linden rink. Left to right, Ken Liden, lead; Lyle Liden, second; Duane Liden, third; and Ardell Linden, skip. The Liden rink defeated the Hans Newman foursome, 14 to 5, in the finals on Friday night.

The Week's Top Event

The highlight of the week's athletic program is without a question the annual banquet honoring the Lincoln high school's athletes. For the past fifteen or so years this event has continued to grow and grow, and this year's banquet, which will be held in the Zion Lutheran church parlors on Tuesday evening, should be a "must" for the city's sports fans.

This banquet is perhaps the only event in which all the boys participating in sports in Lincoln high are in attendance. And when you gather together the Prowler football players, basketball players, wrestlers, track and cross-country boys, tennis and golf players, and baseball players, well, you have quite a group. And let us not forget the cheerleaders, for they add charm and vivacity to every gathering and athletic contest.

This year's banquet, which as usual is sponsored by the city's four service organizations—Lions, Rotary, Jaycees and Chamber of Commerce—will feature Bill Fitch, the varsity basketbakk coach at North Dakota U as the main speaker. For the past two seasons, Fitch has coached the North Dakota Sioux cagers into a berth in the small college national tournament at Evansville, Ind. I am sure that the fans, and the players, too, will enjoy and be impressed by Bill Fitch.

End of the Hockey Trail

The Warroad Lakers' quest for Canada's Allan Cup came to an end on Tuesday night when, in a game played in the Selkirk arena, the Lakers dropped a 6 to 4 overtime game, to the Winnipeg Maroons.

The Lakers had won the Manitoba Senior Hockey League title, but in this best-of-seven series against the upsurging Maroons, Warroad, by a four games to three margin, was sidelined.

The Maroons will now engage the Selkirk Fishermen in a best-of-seven series, and the winner of this series will represent the league in the Allan Cup playdowns, meeting the representative for the Thunder Bay area.

There is not much doubt but that the loss of Roger Christian, who was out of action because of a broken leg, handicapped the Lakers. It is probable that the presence of Roger in the Warroad lineup would have provided the Lakers with the scoring punch to have carried coach Dayton Grafstrom's team into the western Canada senior hockey finals. Incidentally, Warroad had big Bill Juzda in the lineup for several games, and bashing Bill was rated as one of the most effective defensemen in the series. It's probable that Bill will be picked up by the Maroons if the Winnipeg team goes on to win the league playdowns.

They Earned the Title

Edina-Morningside, from Region Five and representing the big city, and receiving the favorable publicity of the metropolitan news media, entered the state high school basketball tournament on Thursday as the tourney favorite and the tourney's "villain".

When the noises and cheering had subsided on Saturday night this Edina squad, by reason of three dramatic victories, had won the state basketball championship. All fair-minded fans must agree that coach Duane Baglein's Hornets, showing remarkable poise under tournament pressure, earned their championship.

Said Baglien: "We had three games almost identical—one point over Windom, three overtimes with Henning, and an overtime over Duluth East in the finals." The Edina coach added that it was his strong bench that provided the Hornets with their winning edge: "It's nice to have the horses. Our bench has been the key factor all season long, and it wasn't any different in this tournament."

And that's perhaps a fact. Players on teams with a short bench are apt to become timid in their play when they pick up three or four fouls and in danger of being forced out of the game or benched for a length of time. The Edina boys, knowing that sturdy replacements were on the bench, could play at their full potential. And that's what they did.

For example, in the Edina vs Henning game, Dean Greenwaldt of Henning picked up four fouls in a hurry, spent much time on the bench, and when he returned in action he was cautious. He scored but two points, a field goal, in Henning's three overtime period loss to Edina.

Liden Rink Wins TRF Curling Title

The veteran Ardell Liden rink won the men's city league curling championship for the 1965-66 season by scoring a 14 to 5 win over the Hans Newman foursome in an eight-end match played at the fairgrounds arena on Friday night.

Ten rinks participated in the playdowns. The Liden rink, to reach and win the championship finals, defeated the Len Skaar rink in a first-round match, and then eliminated the Bob Kinsman rink in a semi-finals encounter. The Newman rink—Shorty O'Hara, lead; Ken Ose, second; Harold Nabben, third; and Hans Newman, skip—defeated Curtis Bottem in a first round-match, bested the Cliff Jorde rink in a second-round match, and defeated the Harold Halvorson rink in a semi-finals match.

In the championship match, the Liden rink—Ken Liden, lead; Lyle Liden, second; Dunne Liden, third; and Ardell Liden, skip—put together three big ends, scoring four in the second, fourth, and seventh ends, to gain control of their finals match against the Newman rink. The match was played on the number one sheet of ice in the curling arena, and considering the mild weather that has prevailed, the ice conditions were good.

The line score:

Ardell Liden	040	420	40—14
Hans Newman ..	002	001	02— 5

Forest Division Sells Timber on 20,000 Acres

Minnesota Division of Forestry, through its regulated program of forest management, annually sells timber from more than 20,000 acres of state forest land and supervises its harvest.

The new growth on many of the trees logged are an important source of food for deer during the winter months, conservation officials point out.

In addition, roads made for the logging operation make it possible for the deer to feed in large areas that would not otherwise be accessible when the snow is deep.

Streams on North Shore Ready for Trout Opening

Hjalmar Swenson, state fisheries supervisor, reported today that North Shore streams are virtually ice-free and will be ready for fishing when the early trout season opens Saturday, April 2.

All North Shore streams including the Knife river will be open for fishing on that date, but there will be a posted stretch of the Knife which will be closed until June 1.

Heavy snows during the winter kept streams from building up thick coverings of ice. This factor, together with unseasonably warm weather and a heavy run-off, have already created open water in the streams.

There is also open water in Lake Superior near shore which means trout will be able to move into the streams from the lake. All indications are that fishermen should be able to get off to a successful start when the season opens, said Swenson.

The early break-up this year also raises the possibility of an unusually early smelt run, he said. The run normally starts about the third week in April.

The Library Corner

By Flora Allison

Junior readers will get top billing in today's column: we have something sparkling new and (we think) special for their reading bill of fare. "Denekl, an Alaskan Moose", by William D. Berry, is a choice bit of nature lore in which a baby moose learns the way of survival in the brutal but lovely wilderness of our 49th state, one of the few sanctuaries where big game still pits its cunning against the savagery of the elements and their natural enemies in the animal kingdom.

The stage upon which is played out this drama of the baby and his mother is the setting for their struggle against hunger, deep snow, and grizzlies, as experience is gained for survival in the changing seasons. The pictures are outstanding, sketched on location and rich with a feeling for authenticity.

In quite a different vein is the shocking and provocative novel, "Nineteen Eighty-four" by George Orwell. Not new, but worthy of reading and re-reading, is this dismal view of the future as we could find it if totalitarianism gripped our lives and freedom should become a forgotten word. James Hilton, in the N. Y. Herald Tribune Book Review, terms this book "As timely as the label on a poison bottle." It should alert us all to the possibilities of a world in slavery. Worth an evening, it should be a must on every reading list if the freedom we enjoy is to be a lasting blessing.

Have you read the story of the unshackling of a member of a minority race, the Negro, (the expose, if you will be honest enough to call it by its right name) of the emerging awareness of the race that its freedoms have too long been denied it? Sammy Davis pulls the wraps off the blight that denies the brotherhood of man, in his book "Yes, I Can." Readers have been known to comment about this one, "It makes one ashamed of being white."

Smoldering hatred and an obsession for avenging himself for terrible wrongs done him are the themes of "The Taste of Infamy" by Charles O. Locke. The brilliance of Mexico provides the setting of the story of a feud based on one of the many border incidents erupting between Texas and Mexico in the late 1800's. When vindictiveness sears the innocent as well as the guilty and turns to bitter inner torment for the hero, he seeks for a way out of his malcontent and finds love transcending hatred, and ultimate triumph for his nobler instincts. It is a Western with an added flavor, told by a master of suspense and a recognized genius in the lore of the west!

The library specializes in variety, as the book on Spring Holidays, bearing that title and written in simple language for the youngster, will attest. Sam and Beryl Epstein explain the whys and wherefores of special days and their observances. Spring holidays explained are such as Groundhog Day, April Fool's, May day (in America and in other countries) and Arbor Day. This book will bring meaning of national observances into sharp focus for the young reader.

For the slightly older reader, there is a colleton of short stories "Stories of Hawaii," by a name author familiar to all us the creator of "Call of the Wild," the famous Jack London. His 13 years of exploration, and of pioneering in the sport of surfboarding which is coming into its own on our national playgrounds, cradled his fondness for the Islands and their people. Here he is at his best, in a setting completely different from the locale of his famous all-time best seller of the North country. The style is the same, and all Jack London readers will delight in his faithful portrayal of the dusky natives of our 50th state and of their langorous homeland.

A totally new approach to the problems of retirement is taken by R. L. Duffus, in his "Adventures in Retirement", a far cry from the time-honored picture of the rocking-chair-and-slippers, existance of the age group with time on its weary hands. Sleeping all day if one wishes soon becomes boredom; nothing to do is the curse of the after-working years.

Travel is the answer for many oldsters, but they do not always realize their limitations. Duffus tells, in a book peppered with wit and abounding in common sense, the way around the difficulties these folks may encounter, even to savoring them, on occasion. Getting lost half way around the world, and making a lark of it, is one of the off-beat possibilities treated in this book. You needn't be of retirement age to enjoy it, though. Slip it under your arm and take it to bed with you for a fun evening. It would make good reading for an afternoon at the lake, too, or wherever you happen to like your light reading.

Travel books abound, and are pored over avidly by many would-be travelers, and by those who have been there and want to perpetuate and refresh the memory. But there aren't too many books around on the simple mechanics of planning a trip, the itinerary, the best ways to get there and where to look for the activities you most enjoy while vacationing.

"Camping Families, a Guide to Campsites," tells all, with its 130 or more maps showing the points of interest in each state, the location of the best camping each one has to offer, its state and national park areas, the rates charged by each, supply sources, and facilities available and the kind of recreation each specializes in. A gem of a travel guide and a good place to start those vacation plans. (It isn't too early.) Dreams can be fashioned even in the midst of the cold and bluster of a late Minnesota spring.

If your imagination ventures to faraway places, Ian Fleming's "Thrilling Cities" is your guidebook. Its easy conversational style reads like a diary of a knowledgeable traveler in exotic spots, Vienna, Berlin, Naples, Geneva and others. Explore them through the eyes that miss littl, if anything and a typewriter that flows with ease and perception from one enchanting location to another across the book's pages.

All of these books are at the library. Come early, stay late, sample the wares of a storehouse of diversity of reading pleasure. And take away some of these books, or others that strike your fancy. Become a reader. Don't miss the fun.

Price Increases Scheduled in U.S. Postal Services

Increases in money orders, insurance, registry, certified mail and C.O.D. rates will become effective March 26, according to R. J. Dryden, Thief River Falls postmaster.

Cost of operating these five special services now exceeds revenues by $60 million annually. The fee increases will narrow the cost-revenue gap by $36 million, based on business handled in 1965.

Fees for money orders, registry and C.O.D. were last changed in 1961; insurance and certified mail in 1957. The fee changes are put into effect under the existing administration authority of the Postmaster General.

The increases include the following:

Money Order Fees: Domestic and international money order fees will be increased by five cents.

Insurance Fees: The minimum fee bracket will be increased from $10 to $15 and the minimum fee will be 20 cents instead of 10 cents. The revised insurance fees will be as follows:

$0.01 to $15	20	cents
15.01 to 50	30	cents
50.01 to 100	40	cents
100.01 to 150	50	cents
150.01 to 200	60	cents

Registry Fees: The present 60 cents and 75 cents fees will be combined into a single fee at 75 cents for values up to 100. Registry fees for articles valued in excess of 100 will remain unchanged.

C.O.D. Fees: The present 40 cents and 50 cents fee brackets will be combined into one fee bracket at 60 cents for amounts up to $10. There will be no change in the fees covering items valued above $10.

Certified Mail: The fee will be increased 10 cents from the present 20 cents per item to 30 cents.

Losses incurred in the operation of special services are paid from funds drawn from the Federal Treasury. The fee increases will shift a substantial portion of the special service cost borne by the public to the users of these services.

Tegtmeier Again Top Sportscaster In North Dakota

Doug Tegtmeier, sports director of KNOX radio in Grand Forks, N. D., has been named North Dakota's Sportscaster of the year for the third straight year.

Tegtmeier joined the station in April of 1960 and prior to that had held sports and staff announcing positions in Thief River Falls for several years. Tegtmeier and sportwriter Del Johnson of the Fargo Forum were elected in a vote by their state colleagues.

The annual award in each state is sponsored by the National Sportscasters and Sports Writers association, headquartered at Salisbury, N. C.

Tegtmeier and his wife the former, Marjorie Wangenstein, will attend the 1966 awards ceremony at Salisbury April 6.

All Categories In Bank District Show Increase

Most of the Ninth Federal Reserve district's major economic indicators registered pluses for the first weeks of 1966, the Federal Reserve bank of Minneapolis reported today in its monthly review of economic conditions.

In the district—Minnesota, Montana, North and South Dakota, upper Michigan, and northwestern Wisconsin—all categories of employment showed increases from the year earlier. The manufacturing, mining and construction segments each showed gains of five per cent and better.

District unemployment in January registered 3.3 per cent, down one per cent from the same period the year earlier.

Other indicators of continuing economic strength, the bank said, were pointed up by available data on industrial use of electric power and on the numbers of hours worked in manufacturing production. The power index in January was up 14 per cent from the same month in 1965; manhours worked continued at high levels.

January banking developments in the Federal Reserve system member banks, and by a pause in demand deposit growth and total loans. That time deposits expanded was no particular surprise, the Bank said, in view of the higher rates offered for savings by most commercial banks.

The pulse generally is that the demand for loans, particularly business loans, is vigorous. The ratio of net loans to deposits at member banks in January was about the same as in December, but considerably above year-earlier levels.

Daily average federal funds purchased by all member banks during January were up from month- and year-earlier levels even though the raise was partially offset by a decline in borrowings at the Federal Reserve bank.

Over-all the bank indicated, financial data suggests a slightly declining trend in bank liquidity or credit availability; but this is looked upon as acceptable by those concerned with inflationary trends in the U. S. Economy.

Four from County Attend Farm Bureau Meeting

Chris Anton, Mons Engelstad and Fred and Marvin Koop, Pennington county Farm Bureau leaders, attended a meeting at Erskine March 14 to discuss the Farm Bureau's complementary Blue Cross-MII policies which have been designed to complement medicare. They were informed that all Farm Bureau members 65 years of age and over will be affected by this program.

Anyone eligible for medicare will no longer be eligible for Farm Bureau's standard Blue Cross contract, and will be offered a new complementary package to help cover those hospital and health care costs not covered by Part A of medicare. Farm Bureau members may retain their current MII contracts or apply for a new MII plan designed to complement Part B of medicare.

The Pennington county group reported that all Blue Cross-MII subscribers in this county 65 years of age and over will be contacted in the near future.

Editorials . . .

The Chinese have a story based on three or four thousand years of civilization. Two Chinese coolies were arguing heatedly in the midst of a crowd. A stranger expressed surprise that no blows were being struck. His Chinese friend replied, "The man who strikes first admits that his ideas have given out."

—Franklin D. Roosevelt

Why Higher Prices?

Livestock prices considerably higher than expectations have caused the public in general to ask the natural question, "Why?" In reply, there are a number of answers from which to choose, and you can take your choice among them.

An editorial in the Marshall Messenger late last November presents one of the possible thoughts in regard to the higher livestock prices. The editorial states:

"Why did the prices of hogs and cattle go up so unexpectedly?

"A nationally-known and respected farm reporting service (Kiplinger) said recently that meat packers 'privately' give credit to the marketing arrangements of the National Farmers Organization (NFO) for at least $4 of the increase in hog prices and $2 of the increase in cattle prices.

"There is no reason to disbelieve the rise, and it certainly WAS NOT the fabled Law of Supply and Demand which hasn't applied to agriculture for a long, long time . . . This year's higher livestock prices speak for the ability of collective bargaining to produce results."

We would take issue with the Marshall editorial writer in regard to the law of supply and demand. This economic law has prevailed for a long time, and it applies to agriculture as well as to any other segment of the economy. If the NFO would like to believe the law of supply and demand does not apply, then it is breaking the backbone of its omn collective bargaining program.

It is the stated purpose of the NFO to control sufficient volume of farm products so that it can bargain with processors for a price. In effect, this is an attempt to withhold the supply to create a demand—with increased prices as a result. In other words, the farmer members of NFO would like to be in a position where they could say, "If you want (demand) the produce of our farms, we will sell (supply) it to you at our (higher) price."

Although no one has explained to our satisfaction how the NFO can claim credit for livestock price increases at the present time, we will accept the theory that NFO collective bargaining attempts have had some influence on the market. But we see other contributing factors to this rise in livestock prices—an increase which the farmer certainly deserves and is entitled to receive.

(1) Hogs slaughtered during the first half of this year will come principally from last year's June through November pig crop—and farrowings were down five per cent from 1964. With prices rising, and feed grain available, many farmers are holding back gilts for breeding purposes which they would normally market. This cuts the number of hogs available for slaughter by an estimated 14 per cent, according to Doane's Agricultural Report (Jan. 16, 1966).

(2) A rising standard of living in the nation helps create a greater demand, since meat consumption by a family increases in proportion to its greater income.

(3) The war in Vietnam, and resulting increased military activity, must be considered a factor. We spoke with a farmer the other day who commented on the prices he received in the early 1940's. It should be remembered that all prices in that period were spurred by war-time economic standards.

(4) At the beginning of December, total cold storage supplies of pork were only about half as large as a year earlier, and stocks of the four major cuts were down 74 per cent. While cold storage stocks are normally built up from fall through spring, slaughter trended downward after September, making it difficult to accumulate stocks. Efforts to do so contributed to rising prices. ward price spiral.

(5) Faced with union work rules which require pay for a full week whether the employee works the full week or not, packers sent out buyers to get hogs and placed emphasis on volume rather than price. Competition for the hogs again added to the up-

All of these points mentioned indicate the law of supply and demand at work. We do not understand how anyone believes agriculture can be exempt from the simple economic rule. How would he explain the government's dumping of surplus grains on the market to keep prices low?

Your Last Chance

If you did not avail yourselves of the opportunity to witness the Lincoln senior high school production of "South Pacific" on Friday or Saturday nights, tonight is your last chance. It's well worth the effort—and the admission fee—to watch our local youngsters in action.

It is our pleasure—and perhaps our obligation—to once again pay tribute to Bryant Ulseth and James Solsten for jobs exceedingly well done. Perhaps it is due to the shortness of memory, but it seems that these operettas get better each year—particularly in the staging and production. And the musical talent—if not always polished—is often surprising if a spectator has only a casual acquaintance with the performers.

We doff our collective hats to Bryant and Jim for their efforts, for it must take real courage to attempt post-school hour control over such a large number of students for such a lengthy period and with so much to be done. There is tribute due to the youngsters for their serious approach to the situation and dedication to success, both of which are necessary on productions of the caliber and scope of "South Pacific".

Countless hours of preparation have gone into the production of the operetta—not to mention a fair-sized amount of expense. The group does not expect to realize a profit from the venture, but it naturally hopes to cover its expenses. We do not know the situation after two nights of staging the show, but we imagine a few more dollars would be welcome.

So if you haven't seen the show, be sure to be on hand tonight at 7:30 p.m. in the Lincoln high school auditorium. It's your last chance, and we know you'll be sorry if you miss it.

More Legislation

We understand that there is a bill pending in Congress which would limit the number of flavored aspirin in a bottle so that children, mistaking it for candy and eating the entire amount, would not be seriously affected. Sen. George McGovern claims that his bill would save more than 150 lives a year.

On the surface, this might seem to be a good idea. We are not particularly impressed by it, however, for we see in the thought an over-simplification of the problem.

But let's ask several questions: What are the ages of the children we are talking about? Don't different children have different resistance to the affects of aspirin? Should we assume that we would have to consider the youngest child capable of mistaking the aspirin for candy, and thereby make the quantity quite small?

Furthermore, would the bill require that a family not have more than one of these containers in the home, or that they should be kept in separate locations? If this can be legislated, wouldn't it be just as easy to legislate the proper use and storage of such items without limiting the quantity?

If the bill would save 150 lives a year, as the Senator claims, there may be merit for the plan.

But we don't believe the Congress can legislate family behavior patterns, nor do we think our statesmen should be as concerned about the number of aspirins in a bottle as the number of dollars in the national debt, or number of communists in the state department, or number of people in government employment or number of countries who can be counted as true allies.

Should Congress want to play the numbers game, there are plenty of opportunities without resorting to playing political ping-pong with an aspirin tablet.

The Joys Of Forgetting

(The Imperial Magazine)

In his book The Joys of Forgetting, Odell Shepard says that the man who easily forgets a far happier and more complaisant life than the man who remembers.

The man who remembers every detail of his past must be heartsick as he recalls the sad facts of existence which vastly outnumbered the good. He would know the names and faces of hundreds of dull people and he would have on the tip of his tongue thousands of worse - than - dull stories.

The forgetter, as Shepard says, sees his past through a sort of lens that cuts out the ugliness. Of songs, poetry, books, plays, speculations, women, vistas, holidays, and dinner he remembers only those that vleased and rewarded him most.

IN SEED WE LEAD
SEED BARLEY
"Larker" "Conquest"
All of our Larker Barley will be pre-tested for Smut, and we will try to have our seed below 3% of Smut, all of our Seed will be bright with high plump and test weight
We will also have a new Blue Barley "Conquest" a Canadian release. We feel that this is the finest Barley which we have had in a long time. It has straw strength comparable to our Wheats. We feel that this will replace Parkland as a Blue Barley, with better yielding and more disease resistance. This Barley is absolutly resistant to Smut.

You Wouldn't Marry A Woman You've Known For Five Minutes. . . . WOULD YOU?
Yet, the bogus seed and fertilizer salesman are now starting to make the rounds of the countryside, hardly take that long to sell some farmers "Bonafide pure" seed that usually turns out to be something much less!
One way to beat this bogus salesman is to buy from honest people you know and can trust. When the itinerant calls at your farm, turn him back to the road. Tell him you plan to buy all your seed from us. It's the best insurance against poor seed!

REMEMBER "THE GOOD OLD DAYS"
A lot of sawdust covered the ground before dependable rural electricity came along to lighten the load. Your grandfathers and probably your fathers can remember sawing wood for fireplaces, kitchen ranges and furnaces. Scenes like the one above were familiar sights, and the slivers and callouses that accompanied them. The smell of the freshly cut wood may bring back pleasant memories, but very few of us would exchange the old woodpile for the modern conveniences of today's electrical living. Making a hobby of woodcraft in the good old days was a time-consuming endeavor.
TODAY: Woodworking today is one of the most popular hobbies in the area. The tremendous development of power tools has made it possible to build almost anything. Many people in this area, both men and women, enjoy working with wood, and spend many happy hours creating home furnishings, shelves, cupboards, picture frames, even boats! Dependable rural electricity has brought about many changes in living habits in this area . . . . electricity has lightened the load in many rural areas and increased leisure time for hobbies such as woodworking.

Number 26

KEYNOTE speaker at the 16th annual Lincoln high school athletic banquet held Tuesday night at Zion Lutheran church was Bill Fitch, right, varsity basketball coach of the University of North Dakota Sioux. He was introduced by Bob Carlson, master of ceremonies for the evening. Also pictured are presidents of the four sponsoring organizations: Donald Olson, Rotary; Donovan Narverud, Chamber of Commerce; Philip Kays, Lions; and Richard F. Contos, Jaycees. Fitch opened his talk with some humorous anecdotes of his coaching career and later cited four vital factors in the success of the Sioux basketball squad. He stated that sacrifice, honesty, faith and respect for authority were four essentials he demands of his charges. A total of 87 lettermen in football, basketball, wrestling, hockey, 1965 spring sports and cheerleading were honored at the banquet.

87 Lettermen Honored At Athletic Banquet

Eighty-seven Prowler lettermen (exclusive of the 1966 spring sports of track, baseball, tennis and golf) were honored at the 16th annual Lincoln high school athletic banquet held in the Zion Lutheran church parlors on Tuesday evening.

Bob Carlson presided over the gathering as master of ceremonies. Following the invocation by Rev. Leland Steen of Zion church, a short welcoming address was given by Rick Contos of the Jaycees and in behalf of the four sponsoring organizations—Lions, Rotary, Jaycees and Chamber of Commerce.

Carlson introduced the coaches of the many athletic teams, varsity as well as grade school and junior high school squads, and the cheerleader directors. The varsity coaches—Bill Herzog in football and tennis, Roger Solheim in cross-country and track, Ed Krystosek in wrestling, Whitey Olson in Basketball, George Schlieff in hockey, Jack Boyer in golf and Ralph Skay in baseball—were called upon to present their lettermen to the near-capacity crowd.

Miss Kathy Ulrich introduced the football and hockey cheerleaders; and Mrs. Pat Johnson introduced the basketball and wrestling cheerleaders. Al Adams, as coach of the newly-organized junior college basketball squad, also responded to Carlson's introduction and presented the members of this season's junior college basketball squad.

As the feature of the evening's program, Carlson presented Bill Fetch, the varsity basketball coach of the University of North Dakota Sioux. Fieth regaled the crowd with anecdotes of his coaching career, but he also proceeded to deliver a serious message to the athletes in attendance.

The Sioux basketball mentor stressed four vital factors in the success of the North Dakota basketball squad during the past seasons, and enlarged on these factors as they pertain to athletics and life. Fitch stated that sacrifice, honesty, faith and respect for authority were the four essentials that he demands of the boys who

Extend Deadline On Federal Crop Insurance Plan

Deadline for signing up for the U. S. Departure of Agriculture's all-risk crop insurance protection plan has been extended 15 days until April 15.

The deadline was changed from March 31 until April 15 because of the severe snow storm and resulting flood conditions in northwest Minnesota, according to David Drotts, Pennington and Red Lake agent of USDA's Federal Crop Insurance corporation.

The extended deadline applies to Pennington and Red Lake counties and 14 other northwest Minnesota counties in this district, he said. New voluntary insurance coverage gives the wheat grower 20 per cent more protection for coverage.

"Increased protection under our new policy for wheat farmers this year comes as a result of FCIC's long-standing policy of keeping up with the times by recognizing the changing needs of growers and their ever-increasing production costs," Drotts said.

The county FCIC office is located in the Drotts Insurance agency, Thief River Falls. In addition to wheat, crops covered under the FCIC insurance program in these counties include oats, barley and flax.

FILING OPENS FOR PLUMMER BOARD

Filing for the Plummer board of education will open Saturday, April 2, and close on April 26, according to Supt. George Glum. The election will be held May 17. Anyone interested in seeking election may file during the open period with Supt. Glum or with Ed Heupel, clerk. Terms of Earl Arnold and Heupel expire this year.

Bond Sales Total $14,019 in Feb.

Savings bond sales in Pennington county in February amounted to $14,019 according to J. M. Roche, county chairman. This figure brings the two-month total for the year to $31,214 or 20.4 per cent of the county's goal for 1966 of $153,000.

In the entire state of Minnesota, savings bond sales in February amounted to $5,135,514, bringing the two-month total to $11,002,564 or 15.4 per cent of the 1966 goal of $71,300,000.

Nationally savings bond holdings gained $51 milion in February. The cash value of E and H bonds outstanding was $49,314,000,000 at the end of February, it was announced by the treasury department.

Highway Patrol To Assign New Captain in TRF

Effective today, the assignments of three Minnesota highway patrol captains will be rotated and the duties and responsibilities of two majors will be broadened, according to Patrol Chief Leo M. Smith.

The officers being transferred include Captain Ralph Potvin from Brainerd area to Thief River Falls area, with headquarters in this city, and Captain Harlan Fredeen from Thief River Falls to St. Paul metropolitan area district.

The transfers, says Smith, are administrative in character, and are effected to increase the overall efficiency of the highway patrol. It is also desirable in order to broaden their experience, to rotate the captains from one area to another, where duties vary considerably because of population and traffic densities, he said.

Red Lake Co-op Annual Meeting In City April 6

Red Lake Electric cooperative will hold its annual meeting of members Wednesday, April 6, in the Thief River Falls city auditorium, according to Leonard Melin, board chairman. Melin will preside over the meeting.

In addition to the regular business consisting of election of three directors for three-year terms, there will be reports of the officers, entertainment, distribution of capital credit checks and a free lunch after the meeting.

Member registration will begin early in order that the capital credit checks may be distributed at the registration desk. The registration desk will open at 10 a.m. and will remain open until 1 p.m. It is recommended that all members register as early as possible in order to avoid congestion at the desk.

Approximately $56,000 in capital credit payments will be available for distribution to the members at the meeting. This represents the balance of credits earned for the year 1960.

A concert will open the afternoon session at 12:30 and the official meeting will be called to order at 1 p.m. Entertainment on the afternoon program will be the "Harmony Twins" of Ada. The "Harmony Twins" are Conrad Kvamme and Howard Neumann, dairy farmers from Norman county, who have entertained at meetings and gatherings of rural people.

The board of directors and officers of the cooperative are Leonard Melin, president; Helmer Lind, vice president; Millard Dailey, secretary - treasurer; Lars Larson, Raymond Parnow, Joseph Brutella, Manvel Moe, Stanley Radniecki and Richard Weiss, directors. Charles E. Boughton is the cooperative attorney and C. M. Kleven is the cooperative manager.

Hobby Show to Be Sponsored with Scout Exposition

In conjunction with and as part of the annual Boy Scout exposition the Thief River Falls Jaycees are sponsoring an adult hobby show, to be held in the city auditorium Saturday, April 23, from 2 to 8 p.m. All local and area hobbyists are invited and urged to participate in the show.

Purpose of the hobby show is to recognize hobbyists as well as to give them an opportunity to display their talents to the public and thereby develop more interest and enthusiasm in hobbying, according to Art Heinze, hobby show chairman. The hobby show would also be a drawing card for the Scout exposition and vice-versa. If enough interest is shown in the hobby show, perhaps a separate hobby show could be held in future years, einze said.

No prizes will be awarded for hobby exhibits, but participation ribbons will be given to hobbyists. Anyone wishing to participate may send his name, address, telephone number and type of hobby to Art Heinze, 940 Main av. N. or phone 681-1624 after 6:30 p.m.

Social Security

Chuck Fahlberg, field representative of the Social Security district office in Grand Forks, N. D., will be in Thief River Falls at the city auditorium on Tuesday from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Charlson Elected Rotary President For '66 - '67 Term

C. L. Charlson, Pennington county attorney, was elected president of the Thief River Falls Rotary club for the 1966-1967 term at the annual meeting held Monday noon at the Elks club rooms. He succeeds Donald L. Olson as head of the organization.

Other officers elected were Kenneth Onken, vice president; Morris Goddard, secretary - treasurer; James Winjum and Vernon Erickson, directors.

Presenting the program for the meeting was Ronald Mooers, director of the Pennington county welfare department, who outlined provisions of the federal medicare program. He noted that resgistration for the program ends March 31 and related to some extent the program's effect in Pennington county.

Mooers noted that the program is divided into two portions—one covering hospital and nursing home care and the second covering medical services. Both divisions of the program for persons over 65 years of age will affect a number of Pennington county residents, the welfare director noted.

He said that the county had more than 12,000 residents in the 1960 census and that 12.6 per cent of the total population at that time were 65 years of age or older. He also estimated that 95 per cent of the people eligible to recieve medicare assistance in the county would have registered for participation by the March 31 deadline.

Mooers said he believed the program would result in greater demand for medical services. During February the welfare department had 621 people eligible to receive medical assistance in Pennington county, he noted, and 424 of these were paid a total of $31,896. Of this total, $24,960 was paid for people age 65 and older.

Lutheran Student Organization To Meet at Trinity

—Meeting for the first time in the spring quarter, the Lutheran Student organization of the Thief River Falls junior college and area vocational school will meet Thursday at 7 p.m. in the fireside room of Trinity Lutheran church.

Rev. Kenneth Kramer, formerly campus pastor at Superior State college and now of Holt, will speak to the group on some of the activities involving the LSO. In addition, officers will be elected and plans made for the spring quarter. Lunch will be served. All interested students are invited to attend.

The LSO is sponsored by the Redeemer, St. John's, Trinity and Zion congregations of Thief River Falls.

ARTISTIC talent exists in large measure among Thief River Falls high school students, as is shown by the fact that the three oil paintings pictured above, all created by Lincoln Senior art students, swept the three top places at the 1966 state art talent contest for high school students held Monday in Warren. First place winner was the painting at left, entitled "And the Light Grew Dim," entered by Susan Isaacson. Winning second place was the entry by Sue Bugge, right, entitled "Tranquility." The painting in the middle entitled "Women in Waiting" won third place and was entered by Judy Hanson, who was not persent for the photo. Miss Isaacson's painting will be judged on the national level at Kansas City, Mo., April 16. The contest is held by the General Federation of Women's Clubs in cooperation with Hallmark Cards, Inc.

Adjourn Sullivan Trial Pending Testimony

After two days of trial before Judge H. O. Chommie in Pennington county district court, the case of the state vs. Robert Sullivan on a charge of criminal negligence was adjourned Tuesday afternoon. Additional testimony will be taken by deposition from at least one other witness later this week with final disposition of the case expected in the near future, possibly next week.

Sullivan was charged with criminal negligence in the death of Jerome Ramstad in an auto crash on July 22 in Thief River Falls. The Sullivan car and a car driven by Miss Alverna Tigges collided at the intersection of First street and Main avenue with the Ramstad youth a passenger in the Tigges car, killed instantly. Miss Tigges died later at Northwestern hospital of injuries received in the accident.

Arraigned at the fall term of district court in Thief River Falls, Sullivan pleaded not guilty to the charge and waived a jury trial. Disposition of the case will be decided by the judge presiding at the trial.

Witnesses called for the state—represented by C. L. Charlson, Pennington county attorney—included John Donald Olson, who had seen the car just prior to the accident; Gerald Vernon Erickson, who witnessed the mishap while waiting in a car at the signal light; Capt. Alan Noreen of the city police department, investigating officer; Dr. Arnold Berg, physician; Bernice Erickson, driver of a third car involved in the mishap; Marie VeVea, passenger in the Erickson car; Clarence Herrick, Alexandria, motorist who met the Sullivan car and then double parked, witnessing the mishap through his car's rear window; Darrel Sande, who witnessed the accident while his pickup was stopped at the signal light; and Raynold Ulrich, service station attendant, who had seen the Sullivan car prior to the accident.

Witnesses called for the defense—represented by Robert Wurst—were Isabelle Patten; Mrs. Violet Sullivan, mother of the defendant; Peter Sullivan, father of the defendant; Robert Gall, John Krankkala, Joel Winters, Robert Swedenburg and Richard Ryan, all of whom had witnessed the defendant having epileptic seizures, either before or following the accident; and Audrey Rinde, employee in the clerk of court's office who testified in regard to the defendant's application for driver's license.

GOODRIDGE ADULT AG CLASS WILL MEET ON MONDAY

Soil test interpretation, fertilizer use and recommended varieties of common farm crops will be the topic for the Goodridge adult evening agriculture class Monday at 8 p.m. in the Goodridge high school, according to Wallace Shodean; vocational agriculture instructor.

Charles Will, Pennington county agricultural agent, will be the guest speaker at the session. All interested persons are invited to attend.

LHS Seniors Win State Art Event

Thief River Falls entries swept the three top places at the 1966 art talent contest for high school seniors at the state event held Monday in Warren. The contest is sponsored by the General Federation of Women's club in cooperation with Hallmark Cards, Inc.

The three oil paintings entered by Thief River Falls art students instructed by Donald LeRud were selected from 23 final entries in oil, water color, pastel and mix media from all parts of Minnesota. Directing the contest was Mrs. Luther Johnson of Stephen, fine arts chairman for the state federation.

First place in the contest was awarded to Susan Isaacson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Isaacson, for her painting entitled "And the Light Grew Dim". Second place went to Sue Bugge, daughter of Mrs. Wilhelm Bugge, for her painting entitled "Tranquility". Winning third place was Judy Hanson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arvin C. Hanson, for the painting "Women in Waiting."

Prizes of $15, $10, and $5 were provided by the Minnesota Federation of Women's clubs for the first, second and third place winners. Miss Isaacson's painting will be submitted for national competition with judging to be held April 16 at Kansas City, Mo.

National prizes of $1,000 for first place, $750 for second and $600 for third will be awarded in the form of scholarships to any approved art school or college. Four alternates will be chosen in the event winners can not accept the scholarships.

Judging for the event was based on 50 points for conception, 40 points for technique and execution and 10 points for theme. Mrs. James Disse, chairman of the Zeblian art group of Thief River Falls, was one of the five judges making state selections.

Mrs. Arthur Forsberg Jr., Mrs. H. P. McHarr and Mrs. William Holmes selected the entries for state competition from among local entries. Last year there were nearly 500,000 entries nationally. In 12 years the program has presented 39 scholarships to students from 24 states.

Stated goals of the contest are to encourage youth to find its place in the rewarding world of art, to give appropriate recognition and assistance to talented young people and to stimulate greater public interest in their creative endeavors.

The winning paintings will be displayed for one week at the Union State bank in Thief River Falls.

Minnesota Farm Numbers Decline by 3,000 for 1966

Number of farms in Minnesota for 1966 is estimated at 140,000, according to the crop and livestock reporting service of the Minnesota and U. S. Deparmments of was 143,000—making a decline of 3,000 farms. Acres in farms at 32,400,000 remains unchanged from 1965.

Number of farms in Minnesota has declined steadily from 1961, while average size has increased. Comparative statistics are as follows:

Year	Number of Farms	Average Size
1961	154,000	210
1962	152,000	213
1963	149,000	217
1966	140,000	231

Similar trends were noted in Iowa, Wisconsin and North Dakota as listed in the statistical service report. Average farm size for 1966 as 214 acres in Iowa, 175 acres in Wisconsin and 875 acres in North Dakota.

The number of farms in operation in the United States during 1965 declined from a year earlier in 47 states and remained unchanged in three states, bringing the national total to 3,380,000—three per cent under 1964. Total land in farms at about 1,155 million acres, decreased less than one per cent from 1964, yielding slowly to enroachments of urban and suburban extensions, widening highways and other non-farm uses.

Total of 3,286,000 farms in prospect for 1966 operation continues the downard trend from earlier years with little change in the rate or reduction. The reduction in total land in farms also continues at practically the same rate with a preliminary estimate of about 1,151 million acres for 1966.

Changes in estimated national totals have been much greater for the number of farms than for land in farms. Farm numbers during the period 1959 to 1966 declined 20 per cent, while land in farms decreased only three per cent. The "average farm operator" in 1966 manages a farm unit of 350 acres—a fifth larger than seven years earlier. Average farm sizes are derived by dividing estimated total acreage in farms by the number of farms. Discontinuance of small farming enterprises and merging of larger units with existing farms continue as important influences in the change in farm numbers.

Estimates of the number of farms by years published by the crop reporting board are benchmarked on the quinquennial Census of Agriculture with adjustments for completeness. The annual estimates between census years are based upon expansions and projections from the statistical reporting service enumerative and mailed surveys, data from state farm censuses in a limited number of states, indications derived from other various inquiries, and extension of trends.

Annual state farm censuses supply data on numbers of farms in 12 states, 10 of which are in the North Central region. Changes shown by these surveys are the principal basis for the annual estimates in these states. Some of these censuses may be less inclusive than the U. S. census with respect to farms that are marginal either in size or in sales of farm products, annual appraisals of the data are made for each state.

Annual enumerative surveys provide indications of the number of farms in operation at the time the survey are conducted. Beginning with small samples in 1957 these surveys are being expanded with resulting gains in dependability of indications. In 1963 the number of area segments enumerated in 28 states was about 10,500.

Enumeration also was expanded to represent 48 states with some area segments in each state and national total of 12,350 segments. In 1965 the sample represented 48 states with a total of 15,765 segments, 14,485 in 39 states. Variability in the enumerative data is of course greater for individual states, than for all states combined, and date is necessarily interpreted with regard to sample size, consistency, prodecdural changes and trends in indivudual states, as well as geographic regions.

ALC Pastors To Hold Conference April 12 and 13

Pastors of the Northern Minnesota district of the American Lutheran church will conduct their annual pastoral conference April 12 and 13 in East Grand Forks. Sessions will be held in the new Our Savior's Lutheran church with Rev. Clayton C. Engan, Fisher, association president, to preside at the meeting.

In addition to a number of noted theologians who will address the conference, parish pastors participating will include Rev. Herbert Groettum, Proctor; Rev. C. M. Johnson, Pelican Rapids; Rev. Robert Krueger, Fosston; Rev. C. J. Tellekson, Duluth; Rev. R. L. Telleisen, Crookston; and Rev. A. B. Stenberg, East Grand Forks.

Officers in addition to Rev. Engan include Rev. James Peterson, Blackduck, vice president; Rev. Paul Knutson, Barnesville, secretary; and Rev. Ronald Seedorff, Nashwauk, treasurer.

Central Exchange District Meeting Held Here Today

Managers and directors of the Farmers Union Central exchange from the northern half of Minnesota are meeting today in Thief River Falls for one of four sessions scheduled in the state for 1966. Six major speakers are on the program which began at 8:30 a.m. in the American Legion club rooms.

Speakers include Ed Bieber, regional marketing manager; Rodger Greengo, credit manager; Hugo Christiansen Jr., petroleum division; Ed Christiansen, president of the Minnesota Farmers union; Jerry Tvedt, director of feed, seed, fertilizer and agricultural chemicals division; and T. H. Steichen, general manager.

In addition to the speakers, a panel discussion will be held with a question and answer period scheduled. A special dinner will be served in the evening.

Discussion at the meeting will center around ". . the changing picture in agriculture and the changes necessary in our cooperatives to meet the needs of the farmer of today and tomorrow," according to John C. McKay, director of the central exchange marketing division.

Police Report Three Larcenies

Three larcenies were reported today by the Thief River Falls police department. On Monday a juvenile shoplifter was apprehended and turned over to local police for investigation and was later released to his parents.

Tuesday it was reported from a local store that a man's Elgin 17-jewel watch valued at $50 was taken from a display case.

Russell Moen, city, reported the larceny of an Artison three-quarter-inch electric drill valued at $30 from his garage.

Chief Elton Cummings gave a correction and an addition to the report in Monday's Times regarding the pursuit and apprehension of Thomas Ekeren. Ekeren was first noticed driving in a reckless manner by Officer Bennie Miramontes, who then gave chase. Miramontes was joined by officer Anthony Kozojed in his attempt to stop the Ekeren car. In addition to the original charge of driving while under the influence of liquor, Ekeren has been charged with possession of liquor by a minor.

Medicare Alert To Be Evaluated

20 Cases Tried In Busy Court Session Monday

Thief River Falls municipal court held a busy session Monday as 20 cases were brought for trial before Judge Stanley N. Mortenson. Driving with no 1966 registration displayed continues to be the most common violation. Charged with this offense and forfeiting $10 bond were James Hillyer, rt. 2, and Alfred Walter, city. Fined $10 of which $5 was suspended were Michael Severson, Twin Valley; Paul Omlid, city; Elaine Bruse, St. Hilaire; and Lela Lofton, Roseau.

Michael Fox, city, was charged by the highway patrol with driving over the center line and was fined $30 of which $10 was suspended.

Charged by the sheriff's office were David Slstad, Grygla, open bottle in motor vehicle, $25 fine; also littering highway, $25 fine; Kenneth Noreen, rt. 3, leaving scene of accident, $50 fine; also driving after revocation of license, $75 fine and license plates and title card impounded; and Robert Alby, city, issuing worthless checks, 15 days in jail suspended and placed on probation for six months.

City police cases included Lowell Johnson, rt. 1, speed, $19 fine; Lance Peterson, rt. 4, driving while under the influence of liquor, $100 fine, driver's license revoked; Robert Manning, city, open keg in motor vehicle, 20 days in jail suspended and placed on probation for six months; also drinking by a minor, $25 fine; Bruce Sandahl, city, drinking by a minor, $15 bond forfeited; Andrew Hovrud, city, failure to yield right-of-way, accident involved, found guilty after trial, $25 fine or five days in jail, sentence stayed 10 days; and one drunk and one case dismissed on a motion by the city attorney.

Annual Meeting Planned by Boy Scout Council

Plans for the 47th annual meeting of the Lake Agassiz Boy Scout council were announced Monday night at a meeting of that group's executive board in Grand Forks. Judge Kirk Smith, chairman of the annual meeting committee, reported that the annual event will be held on Sunday, April 24, at the university center on the campus of the University of North Dakota.

Features of the meeting will include workshops for all Cub Scout, Boy Scout and Explorer leaders in the afternoon, a ladies tea, a budget building conference, the annual business meeting and the fellowship banquet in the evening.

Highlights of the banquet will include the presentation of Silver Beaver awards for distinguished service to boyhood, and will feature Kenneth Pringle, Minot attorney and former scout executive, as the main speaker.

All scout leaders and friends of scouting in the 15-county area of the Lake Agassiz council are invited to attend the affair. Tickets will be available from institutional representatives in each community as well as members of the executive board.

In other business, the board heard reports of participation by scouts and scout leaders in the current flood preparations in the valley. For the past 10 days the scouting organization has been officially in charge of operating on of the Red Cross mobile canteens on a 24 hour a day basis.

Spring Weather Melts Snow; High Water Ahead

Spring-like temperatures reaching the mid-40's have obliterated all but the biggest snowbanks in Thief River Falls, and warmer temperatures predicted for the area are expected to cause flood problems in the near future. Towns and cities along the Red River are already feeling the pressure of the rising river, but the Red Lake has so far retained its ice cover and stayed within its banks.

Forecast calls for mostly fair with occasional periods of cloudiness today, tonight and tomorrow with no important temperature changes. Highs today will range from 40 to 60; lows tonight in the 30's.

Temperatures recorded at the airport are as follows: 44 and 21 on Monday, 45 and 27 on Tuesday and a low this morning of 34.

Health Service Supports Use of Auto Seat Belts

Use of safety belts in all automobiles was endorsed by the U. S. public health service in a report called "Belt America," published by the U. S. department of health, education and welfare.

More than three million people in the United States are injured in automobile collisions each year, the report stated. Traffic accidents rank only behind heart disease, cancer and stroke as a cause of death in this country and are actually the number one killer among younger men and women.

The massive evidence available indicates that safety belts are the most important economical and feasible device available to control injury associated with automobile accidents. They have proved themselves time after time to be an important aspect of preventive medicine and therefore a vital need to the health of the nation.

Safety belts are effective in five different ways.

(1) They prevent ejection from the car in case of crash (there is much greater risk of death if one is thrown from the car).

(2) They lessen injury inside the car, by preventing collision of the body with hard surfaces and protruding objects.

(3) They restrain and decelerate the body with the vehicle, thus minimizing injury.

(4) They hold the body in the seat at sudden stops and turns, giving the driver better control over his car and he and his passengers better control over injurious movements.

(5) Finally, they prevent fatigue by preventing slouch and muscular activity needed to keep the body in the seat as the car bounces around.

An intensive campaign for the use of safety belts has been announced by Governor Karl F. Rolvaag for April and May. With the theme "Buckle Up and Live" the program is aimed to double the use of safety belts by Minnesota drivers and passengers.

Dickson Barley Not Tested for Malting Quality

On March 7 the United States Department of Agriculture announced that the new North Dakota variety Dickson would be eligible for privileges of the malting barley exemption in the 1966 feed grain program. In this announcement U.S.D.A. indicated that this action was taken on the recommendation of the National Barley and Malt Laboratory, Madison, Wis., and Malting Barley Improvement association.

Malting Barley Improvement association indicated tht it is not opposed to having the variety Dickson eligible for the privilege of malting barley exemption in connection with the seed increase program underway in 1966. However, the association strongly emphasized that at no time has it indicated that Dickson was classed by industry as an acceptable malting and brewing variety.

The association is not in a position at this time to predict the eventual status of Dickson or to make a final classification of this variety with regard to it acceptability for malting and brewing purposes. The reason is that industry has not completed necessary commercial plant scale evaluation tests to permit final classification.

The natural beauty of lakes and streams, fields and forests, and grasslands and wetlands enriches our lives, the National Wildlife Federation reminds. However, these assets are in real danger of being damaged or lost in the growing competition from other uses of lands and waters. This problem will continue to grow as the nation's human population mounts.

Mr. Editor:

Another sign that bureaucracy has finally and completely taken over every part of our existence is the deplorable ruling of the Motor Vehicle Registrations department which permits the removal of "late" penalties for licensing of unused vehicles on (but not one minute before) April 1.

Having been assured that an unused vehicle, such as a snow bound farm truck, would not require a license so long as it remained unused, and that a license could be obtained at such time it was needed, I now find that "late" penalties are in effect even on unused vehicles until the first of April; which, significantly, is also April Fools day.

I am now faced with a dilemma of three choices: 1. Pay an additional charge amounting to 16⅔ per cent of the normal license fee for this vehicle for the privilege of moving it a distance of 20 miles (one trip only). 2. Wait for April 1 and allow my livestock to go short on rations, risking loss by starvation, financial ruin, etc. 3. Take my chances with the highway patrol, the judge and courts, and whatever other law enforcement agency might be waiting to relieve me of hard-earned farm income.

In keeping with the spirit of making our country a better place in which to live, I believe the Motor Vehicle Registration department should concern itself with the licensing of motor vehicles, spending less time setting up useless, inflexible regulations to harass those who wish to remain law abiding citizens.

4-H CLUB NEWS

Kratka 4-H

Monthly meeting of the club was held March 8. Roll call was answered by giving a sign of spring. The Kratka radio program will be held April 9. "Paul Wrecks the Car" is the play which will be given by the Kratka club at the 4-H contest. The cast was chosen at the meeting.

Burnell Anenson gave a talk on posture and Larry Evenson demonstrated how to build birdhouses. Mrs. Julian Lendobeja gave a talk on horticulture. She also displayed charts showing the various phases of the project and the new varieties of vegetables for Minnesota. Otto Saugen showed slides and gave report of his people-to-people trip.

Curtis Lindblom, reporter

Smiley 4-H

Smiley 4-H club met Tuesday, March 15 at the courthouse meeting room, with Arlo Rude, president, presiding. Roll call was taken with members giving the color of their eyes.

Mrs. Maurice Newton reported on all new business. Our play and share-the-fun acts were discussed. A safety project meeting was set for Saturday, March 26, at the Don Knutson home at 1:30 p.m. This was followed by community singing.

A demonstration was given by Barry Newton on shop and another by Mrs. Maurice Newton on sewing. Games were played and lunch was served by the Carlson family.

Next meeting will be held Wednesday, April 13, at the Smiley hall. Demonstrations will be given by Charlotte Rude and Donald Dean Knutson. Project talks will be given by Lona Carlson and Troy Torkelson. Lunch will be served by the Belswenger family.

Donald Dean Knutson, reporter

Steiner 4-H

Steiner 4-H members answered roll call at their March 15 meeting by giving a sign of spring. Don Rondorf called the meeting to order.

The favorite food show was held March 19. Those participating from Steiner were Lennae Yonke, Kathy Muzzy and Karen Muzzy.

A demonstration was given by Timmy Brosseau, and community singing was led by Shirley Hillyer. Lunch was served by Lynn Brosseau and Ed Anderson families.

Brenda Muzzy, reporter.

Star 4-H

Star 4-H met March 21 at the hall with president Bobby Parnow presiding. Dale Hanson and Alan Swanson gave their radio speeches.

Dale Hanson gave a demonstration on how to make a bird feeder and Marie Parnow gave a demonstration on salad. Cheryl Race gave a project report and the program was presented by the parents.

The evening was spent making book markers. Lunch was served by the Parnow family.

David Race, reporter

Mrs. Daryl Lewis, Rt. 1, City 681-4703

Mr. and Mrs. Donovan Dyrdal, Greg, Kathy and John left Friday morning via Duluth and the north shore drive for Colfax, Wis., to visit her mother, Mrs. Knutson and with other members of Mrs. Dyrdal's family. They also plan to visit with the David Dyrdals and other relatives in St. Paul before returning home Tuesday. Julius Sletten of Thief River Falls is handling chores during their absence.

Mrs. Daryl Lewis, Timmy and Todd, were Sunday afternoon luncheon guests at the Dake Ayers home. They also visited later at the George Joyce home.

Mr. and Mrs. Dake Ayers, Randy and Robbie and Mrs. Duane Olson, Susan and Danny were Wednesday dinner guests at the Frank Armstrong home.

Mr. and Mrs. George Joyce entertained Saturday evening with a turkey supper in honor of their nephew, Allen Gjerde, who has been spending a three week furlough from his station at Amarillo, Texas with the Joyce's and his grandmother, Mrs. Vario Joyce, in Thief River Falls. Allen left Sunday and will be stationed next at Hawaii. Present at the supper were the honored guest, Mr. and Mrs. Joyce, Mrs. Emma Hanson, Mrs. Marie Joyce, Charles, Chester and Clifford and Mr. and ~~Mrs.~~ Frank Armstrong and Ronnie.

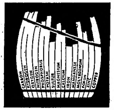
Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Olson and Steven were Sunday evening visitors at the Marion Hoglo home. Mrs. Hoglo and Bill were also Sunday dinner guests at the Bob Hoglo home in Thief River Falls that day.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Puppe, Mrs. Duane Olson, Danny, Susan and Jeffrey, Mr. and Mrs. Laverne Filpula and Ricky, Mrs. Harold Langaas and Mrs. Clardina Terrian were Friday afternoon visitors of Mrs. Lydia Olson in Thief River Falls.

Sunday afternoon visitors at the Duane Olson home were Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Olson, Keith, Becky, Debbie and Kristi and Mrs. Lydia Olson.

PHONE IN YOUR LOCAL NEWS:

You can't fill a barrel beyond its shortest stave. Likewise, you can't reap from your farm a yield greater than can be produced by the one plant food in shortest supply.



The 16 staves in this barrel represent 16 essential elements scientists know are necessary for plant growth. A deficiency of any one plant food will limit yields long before the deficiency is severe enough to be observed in your field. Could a deficiency of any one of the 16 plant foods be limiting your yields?

Give your crops all the plant food they need for abundant growth. Use PELLEFORM with TREL. Clean, green pellets of uniform size have maximum water solubility. TREL, Smith-Douglass' exclusive formula of trace elements, is added.

There's a grade of PELLEFORM with TREL for every crop and soil.

Public Notices

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks for the many acts of kindness shown us in the great loss of our beloved husband, father, grandfather, and brother. Special thanks to Rev. T. J. Weltzin, and Rev. Delano Lind for their comforting words, to Mrs. Ronald Engen for the lovely singing; to Mrs. T. J. Weltzin, organist; to the active and honorary pallbearers. Thanks also for the many memorials, flowers and the food brought to us.

Special thanks to the Green Funeral home and to the circle who served lunch. Thanks also for all the prayers and visits, and to the staff at the Northwestern hospital, and Doctors Pollman, Herber and Dagg for their services during the lingering illness and many hospital stays of our beloved husband, father, and grandfather and brother. May God richly bless each and everyone of you. The family of Morris Halvorson. 1t26c

Card of Thanks

We desire to extend our heartfelt thanks for all the kindness and sympathy shown us by neighbors, relatives and friends in the death of our beloved wife and mother. A special word of appreciation for the floral tributes and the memorial gifts, to Rev. Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

We Want Bemidji

The results of a preliminary poll, taken by the State Board of Control and with the state's high schools participating, and with the district committees also submitting a vote, indicates that a realignment of athletic districts and regions will be on the agenda.

The margin in favor of making some changes in the district and regional setups was considerable. And it's a certainty that some changes are due, and will be made.

But I hope that when these changes come about that the Bemidji Lumberjacks will remain in the same region as the Prowlers. Sure the Lumberjacks are tough competition in hockey, wrestling and track—and they will become tough competition in hockey in three or four years, too—but that's what this region needs.

The Ada Vikins received dividends from their decision to drop out of the pine-to-Prairie basketball conference and play an independent schedule. Coach Denny Anderson's Vikings won the Region Eight title, and one of the factors in this victory was that Ada had been playing against top-notch competition. The Vikings will continue as independents next season. Fact is, Ada, with its basketball, football, wrestling, baseball and track programs, could just about qualify for membership in the Northwest conference. But we will have to wait and see what district and regional changes will be offered by the State Board of Control.

Not All Were Critical

There were a number of curling enthusiasts who were critical of the outspoken tendencies of Dr. Joe Zbacnik of Moorhead, the skip of the United States rink in the Scotch Cup bonspiel held in Vancouver, B. C., last week.

The Zbacnik rink, playing out of Fargo, N. Dak, won the North Dakota title, and then went on to win the United States title. And Dr. Zbacnik, prior to the world's 'spiel, made the comment that his rink would win the title by winning all eight matches. Well, the rink didn't do that, losing three matches and winning five, and Doc Zbacnik was charged with being a loud-mouth, etc.

But he has gotten some support from a Canadian commentator who said: "Call him a popoff if you like, I still think that curling can use more Joe Zbacniks. Joe is the U. S. skip who said that his team wouldn't lose a game in the Scotch Cup matches. Later, it was explained that Joe added a rider: 'if anybody gives us trouble, it will be Scotland'. So Scotland whipped poor old Joe twice. Joe and his rink run three miles every morning before work, and the sound system at his dental clinic in Fargo doesn't carry music, it carries speeches on positive thinking. I kid you not." End of quote.

I'd like to see Wally Tunberg or Skippy Knutson get their rinks to run three miles every morning!

A Change of Pace

Now that the basketball season for 1965-66 has been entered into the record books—and the recent state tournament must be rated as one of the most evenly-contested and exciting in recent years—spring athletics, track and baseball and golf and tennis, will take over the high school spotlight.

And speaking of track, I note that Jerry Forsberg, a member of the Prowler track, football and hockey squads last year, is a hurdler on the UND freshman squad at Grand Forks. In a trangular meet held Saturday in the UND fieldhouse, Jerry, participating in the freshman division against North Dakota and South Dakota State freshman, won the hurdler events. And Jerry sped over the 60-yard low hurdles in 7.2, bettering the mark set by the varsity hurdlers. I have watched Jerry in several workouts at the fieldhouse, and in conversation with Sioux track coach Frank Zazula, I learned that he thinks highly of the former Prowler athlete.

Track in this area should be given quite a boost this summer as the Pan-Am games are scheduled for Winnipeg in August. At these games which can be rated as a preliminary to the Olympic games, the finest track and field athletes on the continent will be in competition. It will certainly be worth the while for sports fans to make the 150-mile trip to Winnipeg to witness a session or two of the games. And the Pan-Am games are not limited to track and field, for there will be team contests, swimming events, etc. It should be quite a treat.

All men and women curlers are invited to attend. Tickets for the meal will be available at the door for $1.50 each.

Election of directors will take place at the business session and other business relative to the association will be discussed.

Current officers of the club include Swanson, president; Wallace Jordet, vice president; Morris Roadfeldt, secretary-treasurer; Dr. Earl Dagg, Dave Sorvig and Richard Jorde, directors.

Officers of the women's organization include Mrs. Dennis (Naomi) Monroe, president; Mrs. Harold (Edith) Nabben, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Ardell (Betty) Liden, past president; Mrs. Leslie (Marlene) Snetting and Mrs. Richard (Sharon) Jorde, directors.

Nancy DeBriyn Completes USAF Finance Course

Airman Third Class Nancy K. DeBriyn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester A. DeBriyn of Thief River Falls, has been graduated at Sheppard AFB, Tex., from the training course for U. S. Air Force finance specialists.

Airman DeBriyn is being assigned to Barksdale AFB, La., for duty. A graduate of Lincoln high school, she attended St. Cloud state college.

East Polk County Farmers Meetings Set Next Week

Two meetings for East Polk county farmers hav been scheduled next week by Harley Shurson, East Polk county agricultural agent. Extension personnel from the University of Minnesota will speak at both sessions.

On Tuesday a grass and legume seed production meeting will be held at 1:30 p.m. in the Gully community auditorium. Speakers will be Harley Otto, extension agronomist; John Lofgren, extension entomologist; and Laddie Elling, member of the university extension staff. Weed and insect control in grass seed production will be the main theme of the meeting.

Beef production will be studied —particularly in nutrition and management practices of a beef cow-calf program—on April 6 in the Fertile city hall. Bob Jacobs, extension livestock specialist, will be the speaker at the session scheduled from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

U.S. Peace Corps Placement Test Slated April 9

Thief River Falls area residents interested in joining the Peace Corps are invited to take the Peace Corps placement test at 9 a.m. Saturday, April 9, in the post office. The test requires no preparation and is non-competitive. It is used to determine how an applicant can best be utilized overseas. The test measures general aptitude and the ability to learn a language.

The application form, not the placement test, is the most important factor in the selection of volunteers. Persons interested in serving in the Peace Corps must fill out an application, if they have not already done so, and present it to the tester before taking the test. Applications may be obtained from the post office or from the Peace Corps, Washington, D. C. 20525.

The placement test takes about an hour and a half. An optional achievement test for applicants who have studied French or Spanish requires an additional hour.

Gjerde Graduates From Airframe Repair Course

Airman Second Class Allan R. Gjerde, nephew of George Joyce of rt. 1, Thief River Falls, has been graduated at Amarillo AFB, Tex., from the training course for U. S. Air Force airframe repairmen.

Airman Gjerde, a graduate of Minnetonka senior high school, is being assigned to Hickam AFB, Hawaii, for duty with the Military Airlift Command. He attended Oak Hills Bible Institute, Bemidji.

School vegetable gardens, grown next to schools overseas, help CARE's food relief program. The youngsters raise the fresh vegetables needed for balanced diets.

Name Workers in Marshall County Cancer Crusade

Marshall county's 1966 Cancer Crusade organization is now nearly complete and during the month of April an intensive campaign will be underway when volunteer workers will canvass the county distributing and collecting funds.

The campaign is under the direction of Clinton E. Lundgren, Warren. Funds collected are turned over to the Minnesota division of the American Cancer society for continued research and education.

Township chairmen for the 1966 Crusade in the Times area as reported by Lundgren include: Agder, Mrs. Edwin J. Anderson; Comstock, Ellsworth Zutz; and Eckvoll, Thorfin Osthy;

Also Foldahl, Ervin Strandquist; Grand Plain, Milford Hanson; Huntly, Norman Johnson; Lincoln, Mrs. Isaac Thompson; Marsh Grove, Helmer O. Lind; McCrea, Robert Jones; Moylan, Calmer Paulson; Moose River, Mrs. Leo Orpen; Rollis, Ingvold Anderson;

Also Spruce Valley, John Sandberg; Valley, Mrs. Vernon Wickstrom; Vega, Laverne Boman; Viking, Mr. and Mrs. Egbert Malberg and West Valley, Oscar Amundson.

Definite chairmen have not yet been announced for the other townships in the county but will be selected this week, Lundgren said.

Chairmen for the villages in the eastern part of the county include the following: Grygla, Amos Thompson; Holt, Inga Berget; Middle River, Mrs. Henry Walson; Newfolden, Mrs. Raymond Elseth; Strandquist, Mrs. Fern Kranz; and Viking, Henry Anderson.

Tunberg Salesmen Will Be Honored

Two members of the sales staff of Tunberg Motor company, Thief River Falls, will be presented Ford Division's 300-500 Club award at a banquet to be held at the Oak Manor Hotel in Fargo on Monday, April 4. The men are Frank M. Blazek and Lawrence Luhitz.

O. G. Lundstrom, Fargo Ford district sales manager, said 300-500 Club membership awards are presented for excellent retail sales performance.

CORRECTION

Due to incorrect information supplied the Times, Stanley Radniecki of Oklee was listed in the county DFL convention story as an alternate delegate to the district and state conventions. The correct name is Mrs. Roman Radniecki. Hyrom (Jack) Sorenson served as convention chairman.

State Employment Service Filled 131,000 Jobs

Minnesota Employment service placed people in 131,000 jobs in 1965, according to Robert J. Brown, state employment security commissioner. Over 111,000 of the placements last year were on nonagricultural jobs, about 85 per cent of the total. This number climbed almost 24,000 or 27½ per cent over the 1964 figure.

In every month of 1965, Brown said, more jobs were found for applicants than in the corresponding month of 1964.

Almost 45,000 of the job placements were of workers under 22 years of age, an increase of well over 50 per cent of the number of such placements in this group in 1964. Establishment of Youth Opportunity centers offices in Minneapolis and St. Paul was an important contributing factor in this placement increase, according to the commissioner.

The greatest number of placements, however, occurred in the 22-44 age group, which accounted for almost 42 per cent of the total nonfarm placements. Over 20,000 placements were made in the over-45 age bracket, a gain of about 11 per cent over 1964.

Placement of handicapped persons in 1965 rose to 6,088 which was 1,063 or 21 per cent over the 1964 level.

Brown said that acute shortages of applicants now exist in several occupational fields, including professional, technical, clerical, sales and skilled groups. Normal seasonal cutbacks experienced by many of Minnesota's employing establishments have not eased shortages as much as anticipated.

Brown said that placement gains exceeded 1964 levels by considerably more than the numbers from these programs, or from the emergency placements made during last spring's record floods.

New applications taken by the Minnesota Employment service in 1965 reached 200,000 — an increase of nearly 18,000 over 1964.

Motorists Should Inspect Tires to Prevent Mishaps

Most blowouts and flat tires could be prevented if motorists would make perodic inspections of their tires, according to the Minnesota AAA.

Emphasizing that the majority of tire failures occur during the last 10 per cent of the tire's life, the AAA club said that the average motorist does not become concerned about tires until one becomes noticeably soft or goes flat. An inspection each time the car is on the grease rack or when the tires are rotated, will frequently reveal small nails before they have a chance to damage the tire.

The Minnesota AAA offers the following tire tips to motorists:

1. Tire pressures should be frequently checked. A tire with a slow leak can be quickly detected if its pressure is below that of the other tires.

2. Watch for uneven or excessive wear. This may be due to a front end out of adjustment or to the use of incorrect tire pressures. The recommendations of the car manufacturer should be followed as to tire pressures. Check prssure when the tires are cold.

3. When driving on long trips, increase the tire pressure about 4 pounds above that normally recommended. Do not lower pressures for driving on snow and ice. Traction is not improved and steering control is reduced.

4. Excessive wear at the center of the tread indicates pressures are too high. Low pressures increase wear on the sides of the tread.

Feeder Cattle Demand Justifies Beef Cow Herd

Longrun demand for feeder cattle is likely to remain strong and could justify consideration of a beef breedin herd. However, some caution is needed, say S. A. Engene and P. R. Hasbargen, University of Minnesota agricultural economists.

Recent cost data for Minnesota sows profits from beef cows won't be high if they are fed feed that has a good market outlet or could be used by fed cattle, hogs or dairy cattle. Beef cow herds will fit best on farms that have: (1) a sizeable acreage that can be used only for hay or pasture, (2) some low quality roughage, (3) little need for new shelter, and (4) a short labor supply.

Cattlemen in the market for replacement feeders will find them quite expensive during 1966. But next fall could be a high point for feeder prices this year, according to Hasbargen and Egertson.

If fed cattle prices reach the expected fall high of $29 to $30 per hundredweight, feeder prices might well be "out of line" at that time. So, if you can find good buys and have the facilities, you could consider buying lightweight feeder cattle sometime this spring.

Total demand for fed beef during the first half of 1966 is expected to be six to eight per cent above demand for the first half of last year. Hasbargen and Egertson say marketings of fed beef will probably increase less than demand. This means 1966 prices should remain above those of 1965, though prices could be weaker about late May if heavier cattle hit the market.

Ice Follies Has Many Champions In 1966 Revenue

Shipstads & Johnson's Ice Follies has featured champion skaters for 30 years. The 1966 edition, which opens March 30 for a 23-performance run through April 17, at the Minneapolis arena, is no exception. Champions abound in the 30th anniversary production.

Heading the list is world's amateur and professional king, Donald Jackson of Oshawa, Ont. Jackson captured the amateur title with the highest score ever recorded at Prague, Czechoslovakia, in 1962. His record remains intact today. His pro title was won a year ago in upstate New York.

The distaff side is represented by the only American woman ever to win three gold medals—the ultimate award in figure skating—Dorothyann Nelson.

The Chicago lass, who pairs with another champion, Richard Dwyer, in two of the Follies' most popular numbers, also was a member of the '62 U. S. world figure skating team and is a former U. S. pair champion. Dwyer, who's in his 17th season with the Follies, was U. S. novice king in 1948 and National junior champ in 1949.

From Europe come two champions, Ina Bauer and Istvan Szenes. Miss Bauer won two West German titles, while Szenes captured three Hungarian championships.

Editorials . . .

I like human beings. I'm very glad I'm one of them. But I think we're crazy. We're irrational. Look at our race prejudice, look at our inability to get out of war, look at the crazy things we do in our personal lives. If only we used our brains more, we might just come out very well.

—Norman Thomas

How Far, Washington?

Just how does the public go about demanding that Washington bureaucrats hold down nonessential expenses, balance the budget and start to reduce the national debt? How far will the people let Uncle Sam lead them down the thorn-lined primrose path to economic slavery before the revolt comes?

Just how bad the situation is can be understood from the following article by Henry J. Taylor in the Washington News:

On the same day that our gold reserve hit another new 27-year low, President Johnson outlined his spending plans for 1966. These mean another deficit of between $7 billion and $8 billion.

In the past 20 years there have been six budget surpluses and 14 deficits; five balance-of-payments surpluses and 15 deficits. These deficits, one piled on the other, have now brought us to the brink. Our gold reserve has fallen to a point so low that recovery is not assured.

The political advantages in further overspending are obvious. But today the dangers are so clear that patriotism alone should be enough to stop the political expediency.

The world's central bankers know the American people haven't been told the whole truth about the time bomb ticking under the American dollar. Domestically, the continued deficit financing—borrowing to spend more than our income—means debts, inflation and unsound money.

As the Government keeps spending beyond its income and borrows more and more to pay its bills the dangers increase. For the Government's borrowings from banks create more and more credit, increase the money supply and help increase inflation.

This cannot be stopped until the deficit financing is stopped. And if it is not stopped the U. S. dollar goes down the drain.

The over-all effect is simply to borrow, tax and dollar-depreciate the economy. Dollars seem more plentiful.

In fact, for the first time in history, there are now more $100 bills ($7.6 billion) than $10 bills in circulation. But, as every saver, pensioner, annuity holder or other security accumulator knows, the dollars are merely dollarettes.

Take housing. In dollars the volume of housing starts is up. In physical volume the starts are far down since 1955.

School construction at $1.4 billion this year looks big. Mr. Johnson says it has more than doubled since 1955. The construction then was $2.9 billion. But, in truth, we're building no more school space than 10 years ago.

Mr. Johnson forecasts the total value of goods and services this year at $671.4 billion. He forecasts a 7.5 per cent growth rate over 1964. But price increases for 1965 alone reduce the real growth rate to about 4 per cent.

No wonder millions feel that no matter what they try to do for themselves their future is somehow being thrown away.

Mr. Johnson should remember, while our Government goes on spreading its bureaucracy across the land in the name of the Great Society, that he needs to put priorities on his spending—and at once.

A Moose Season?

The following article by Don Ledin, assistant supervisor in the section of game, Minnesota Conservation department, appeared in a recent issue of the "Conservation Volunteer":

For the past seven years, Minnesota game officials have been advocating a limited moose hunting season. Aerial censuses, show-me trips, news articles, browse surveys and explaining to the public the need of better management practices as far as moose are concerned have emphasized the need for holding a limited Minnesota moose season.

After seven years of aerial census, which indicate a moose population of better than 7,000 animals, the Conservation Department is hopeful of winning support for carefully controlled 1967 moose season—a management factor considered a "must" for the well-being of these animals.

Results of the recently completed moose count in the Superior National Forest and the Red Lake area by Division of Game and Fish personnel are in agreement with six previous winter counts in that the moose herd in the census areas remains at a high point in parts of Lake, Cook, Marshall, Beltrami and Kittson counties. It is in this so-called "high density" area that the Conservation Department proposes to hold a controlled moose hunt to remove a limited number of moose by a limited number of hunters selected in a statewide "draw" system.

Counts in this area have shown populations as high as 60 moose on 15 square miles, or four moose per mile. It should be noted the counts include only those animals that are actually seen. The true population is even higher, and is equal to 40 deer per section, since moose eat abut 40-50 pounds of browse per day, or ten times more than deer. Food conditions for moose are deteriorating as a result of this heavy pressure. Mountain ash, a favorite food, is being eliminated from some areas.

The Division of Game and Fish and the U. S. Forest Service contend that it is good—and necessary—big game management to remove a limited number of these animals. Our white-tailed deer herd has prospered because of sound game management. We must apply these same management policies to our moose population before nature applies her own ruthless laws of population control—starvation, disease and lower reproduction which could seriously jeopardize the future of our moose population.

Who Is Great?

The following thought-provoking editorial comes from the Washington Evening Star:

Up in Queens, N. Y., before they had their mid-morning milk and cookies, the kindergarten tots used to recite one of the most familiar of childhood rhymes. It went:

God is great, God is good
And we thank Him for our food.

In time, however, in his horror at the flagrant violation of the principle of church-state separation, the school principal banned this and the afternoon recitation of a similar verse. So his order was appealed by parents and in due course has been upheld by the U. S. Supreme Court.

At first, back in 1962, the court had ruled out only state-composed prayers in school, in what many had said was a limited decision. Many of the rest of us, however, wondered where it all would lead. Well, now we know. In banning this innocuous recitation, the court has surely traveled to the ultimate, absurd extreme.

Kindergarten kids ought to have a rhyme to go with their milk and cookies, and they ought to have something, too, to explain to them the mysteries of the adult world. Maybe the courts, to serve both purposes, would allow this to stand:

In this country of the free,
God is gone from 9 to 3

Who Are The Offenders?

In the past we have often heard it said that wars are fought in the interest of business—big business. We haven't heard that view expressed in reference to the war in Viet Nam.

It is interesting to note that the Wall Street Journal, often referred to as the mouthpiece of big business, is not in favor of the war our country is now conducting in Viet Nam. The following clippings from a recent issue of the Wall Street Journal are interesting in this respect:

"The Asian tour Vice President Humphrey is presently taking may have some public-relations purpose, but it is so hastily contrived in such an atmosphere of confusion that it is hard to believe it will advance either the war effort or the cause of peace. The same goes for the spur-of-the-moment Honolulu conference and the scurrying about of the envoys during the peace offensive earlier this year.

"The U. S. performance in the U.N. Security Council must also appear an oddity to many eyes. After long ignoring the Council as a forum on Vietnam, the Administration suddenly took the issue to it, and just as suddenly seems to have lost interest in seriously pressing for action there.

"The whole thing adds up to an impression of impulsiveness and amateurishness in international relations. While the activity may be telling the world we want peace, it could be announcing as well that we don't know quite what we are doing in Vietnam, in view of the evident eagerness to get out of it by almost any avenue.

"Where in all the thrashing about, is the opportunity for the deep reflection the war urgently demands! It might be argued that the length of America's involvement in Vietnam has provided ample time for every conceivable analysis of strategies, objectives and probabilities. If so, there is little evidence the time has been effectively employed.

"On the contrary; according to their own statements, the nation's leaders have more than once misjudged the war, particularly the amount of men and years that would be required to terminate it. They practically promised not to expand it and then proceeded to expand it greatly. Now they act as though they are at a loss for a way to bring it to an end by military or diplomatic means.

"This background makes the prospect of a major new expansion an especially disquieting one. Whether or not you agree with retired General Gavin and former Ambassador Kennan, they have a point in contending that the U. S. should hold where it is until it can decide what it wants to do.

"Since the Communists have thus far matched or over-matched each American force build-up, they are presumably capable of continuing to do so. In that event, it becomes more difficult than ever to see how this war can be won, either in the sense of clear-cut victory or in the limited sense of causing the Communists to cease fire and come to the conference table."

As the war progresses it becomes increasingly obvious that the struggle is not advocated by those who have special interests in the production of war machines built for the purpose of destruction. If the responsibility for our leadership in the building of a war machine in the present struggle must be laid on the doorstep of any one particular group, the real offenders would have to be the politicians with the help of a few militarists and seekers of glory.

Borrowed Nonsense . . .

The anxious young father-to-be was a vision of agony, as he paced the hospital corridor awaiting the birth of his first offspring. At last the nurse appeared.

"It's a girl", she said.

"Thank heaven," sighed the young man with evident relief, "I wouldn't want any boy of mine to ever go through the torture that I've just experienced."

Looking Backward

1896—SEVENTY YEARS AGO

According to the Red Lake Falls paper, there is no such place as Thief River Falls. Their knowledge of geography does not extend any farther north than St. Hilaire.—The Kickapoo Indian Medical company will present a show here Saturday night.—The Bemidji Pioneer is one of the latest ventures in journalism, being published in a new town.

1906—SIXTY YEARS AGO

Martin Larson of Pencer was shot in the wrist by a young neighbor who mistook him for a wolf.—Sunday was the 20th anniversary of the date when Frank H. Kratka and his family settled here. At that time the only houses here were Kratka's and John B. LaBree's claim shanty. Kratka and Carl Kretzchmar started the new city by purchasing the LaBree claim, platting it into city lots, naming it Thief River Falls and, after a hard fight with the government, securing a post office.—Local high school students defeated townspeople two to one in a spelling match.

Water pollution damages the natural beauty of lakes, streams and bays, the National Wildlife Federation reminds. During National Wildlife Week, March 20-26, all conscientious citizens are invited to join in efforts to preserve natural beauty. Controlling water pollution would be a real contribution to conservation—and to the preservation of natural beauty.

Balanced Diet Needed For Proper Nutrition

Experts say everyone should eat a "balanced diet". Why is a balanced diet so important? What does a person have to eat to balance the diet? How can a homemaker plan balanced family meals?

Scientific studies have established that the body needs about 50 different food factors—called nutrients—to function in best vigor and health," according to the Nutrition foundation. The foundation, whose board of trustees is made up of leading university, food company and allied industry representatives, is a non-profit organization supporting research and education in nutrition.

The nutrients include vitamins, minerals and common foods such as proteins, carbohydrates and fats. About 50 essential nutrients are known now and scientists predict that it is probable new ones will be discovered in the future.

Only a trace of some of these nutrients are needed, while others are required in large amounts. Some nutrients must be eaten each day and others can be stored by the body for short periods. Many foods consist of a mixture of nutrients, but no single food provides all the nutrients in the amounts needed. The trick in balancing a diet is to select the mixture of foods which will provide all the needed nutrients.

A balanced diet is assured simply by eating every day foods from four groups which have been set up by scientists to simplify food planning and provide insurance that the body gets the nutrients it needs.

The meat group includes beef, veal, lamb, pork, organ meats (liver, kidney heart), poultry, eggs, fish and shellfish. Alternates are dry beans, dry peas, nuts or peanut butter. Two or more servings are needed every day. A serving consists of three ounces of lean cooked meat, poultry or fish without bones, or two eggs, or a cup of cooked dry beans or peas, or four tablespoons of peanut butter. This group contributes protein needed for growth and repair of body tissue as well as vitamins and minerals.

The milk group includes milk in every form: fluid, dry, whole, skim and canned, as well as cheese, cream and ice cream. Children and teenagers need three or four or more glasses a day, and adults should have the equivalent of two glasses of milk for calcium, high quality protein and many other food factors.

The vegetable-fruit group contributes essential vitamins and minerals not found in the meat group. At least four servings a day should be eaten by everyone. Vitamin C is especially required each day since the body does not store this essential need. Citrus fruits, cantaloupe, strawberries, broccoli and green pepper are high in vitamin C; melons, cabbage, tomatoes, green leafy vegetables, potatoes and sweet potatoes cooked in the jacket have some of this vitamin. A dark-green or deep-yellow vegetable should be selected at least every other day for vitamin A.

The bread-cereal group includes rice and macaroni products. We should select foods that are whole grain, enriched or restored to get worth-while amounts of protein, iron and several of the B vitamins and food energy. At least four servings should be eaten each day. A slice of bread is a serving, as is ½ to of a cup of cooked cereal, macaroni, noodles, rice or spaghetti.

Other foods, including butter, salad oils and sugars, round out the diet and contribute flavor, appetite and energy.

Revised Guide On Tax Tables Issued by IRS

A revised employer's tax guide with the new graduated income tax withholding tables that go into effect May 1 is being mailed to all employers from Kansas City service center, according to George O. Lethert, district director of Internal Revenue.

"The law provides for graduated withholding based on marital status (single or married) and number of exemptions. The graduated rates at which tax will be deducted will more closely approximate the rates upon which annual tax liability is based," Lethert said.

There are separate tables for single and married taxpayers. All taxpayers will be required to file a new Form W-4 to obtain the correct tax withholding. If a new withholding exemption certificate is not filed, employers must treat taxpayers as single persons using the single marital status rates, Lethert indicated.

The tax guide provides six graduated rate tables instead of the present flat rate of 14 per cent under both the percentage method and the age-bracket table method.

The new withholding tax applies to all wages paid on and after May 1, 1966, Lethert declared.

Safety Belt Use Urged for 1966 Safety Crusade

"Double the use of safety belts" was adopted by the traffic safety steering committee as the opening emphasis in the "1966 Crusade for Safety" program announced recently by Governor Karl F. Rolvaag.

The citizens' steering committee composed of representatives of industry, transportation, news media, insurance companies, labor and safety councils is being coordinated by Paul Staffeld, assistant commissioner for safety in the Minnesota highway department.

The committee set April 15 as the kick-off date for the special program emphasizing the use of safety belts in order to allow time for the production of many communication devices, including bumper strips, bridge and truck signs, special radio and television programs, and special newspaper series and illustrations.

The safety belt program will continue through the Memorial Day weekend in advance of the summer vacation season when the volumes of traffic increase. It will then be followed by another special emphasis program to be selected later.

"By doubling the use of safety belts in Minnesota," Staffeld said, "we could appreciably reduce the number of fatalities and serious injuries resulting from motor vehicle collisions.

"The use of safety belts in themselves does not reduce accidents; only good drivers can do that, but their use will prevent serious injuries in the event of an accident."

Sunday, April 3: 10:00 a.m. Sunday School for all ages. 11:00 a.m. Morning worship. The Pastor will bring another message in the series of "Words to the Cross". In these messages we have been attempting to let each person see himself, even as Jesus saw each person on that day of crucifixion. Then again we are also attempting to let you see how you have acted and reacted as you look toward the Central Cross of Calvary. Jesus said, "Father, forgive them for they know not what they do." The purpose of these messages has been that we might understand what Jesus meant when He uttered that word. The message theme for this Sunday is "Too Hateful to Heed" or "The Word of Selfish Challenge" as spoken by the unrepentant criminal to Jesus. Welcome to this service.

there is no death

The message of Holy Week is not a sad one. Rather, it is the most joyous news we will ever hear! The glory of the resurrection could not have happened without the stark tragedy of Good Friday . . . and because Christ overcame death, we are assured of eternal life. It is certain that we will live again and forever, in a new way that God has planned for us.

Jesus strove constantly to make this blessed truth plain. Time and time again we are told of God's great love, and of His constant concern for the world and people He created.

The highest point of Christ's ministry was the cross. Because of its tremendous power we, as Christians, have been given a ceaseless source of comfort. Come to the church of your choice.

'Mantrap' Program Offered To Businessmen from Area

Termed a new concept in management education, "Mantrap" is the title of a new program being introduced in Thief River Falls by the local Chamber of Commerce. Cooperating in the program are the local junior college, vocational-technical school, Inter - County Community council and Small Business administration.

"Although the name implies that "Mantrap" is a child's game which you might see advertised during cartoon commercials on television, the program is far more advanced and beneficial," states Richard Hamilton, executive secretary of the Chamber of Commerce. "Only owners, managers and key executives of Thief River Falls area business establishments may enroll and registration is limited to the first 25 persons."

A registration fee of $25 is charged for the course and covers materials, coffee and snacks, certificates of completion and administrative costs. Sessions will be held each Tuesday from 7:30 to 10 p.m. from April 12 through May 31 (eight meetings) at the junior college room in the Lincoln high school building.

"Mantrap is a business simulation game that does not require a computer," Hamilton said. "It was prepared especially for owners, managers and key employees of small businesses. Emphasizing nonquantitative aspects of decision-making, Mantrap treats the small business decision - maker's problem of obtaining and evaluating information under restrictions of time and money.

"Players are faced with situations requiring solutions but are not given all the information needed to develop decisions. They must decide the information needed, secure the information and analyze it.

"The game is fascinating to those in business because the practical problems considered are those encountered in everyday life," Hamilton added. "It is a chance for the businessman to try out personal theories of management without risking a dime, because the losses as well as the profits are all on paper but only on paper."

How to Play Mantrap

Each participant in the game becomes an "executive" in a given company. Participants are grouped into teams and given the varied problems of the company, its industry and its competitions. The "competitors" are other teams of players, and all teams work on the same problems at the same time.

Teams are given a problem situation requiring action to keep the company in operation, the final result of the "executive" decisions being the success or failure of the business. Typical problem situations include decreasing sales, expired lease, new product being marketed by competitor, financing, plant relocation and personnel.

Results and decisions are compared and discussed by all participants.

U of M Alumni Board Meets With Asst. Director

Officers and directors of the Thief River Falls chapter of the University of Minnesota Alumni association met Wednesday noon at the Rex cafe with C. S. Tomczyk, assistant director of the Minnesota Alumni association.

At the group's past annual meeting, Fred A. Sorenson was elected president of the local chapter to succeed Peter Probasco who continues to serve on the board in ex-officio capacity.

In addition to the annual meeting, plans were discussed for the university committee. Its objective is to become knowledgeable of the top high school scholars and acquaint them with the honors program at the state university.

A scholarship fund has been established by the local group and a scholarship will be made available to a graduate of the Thief River Falls junior college to continue his or her education at the University of Minnesota.

In addition to Sorensen and Probasco, other officers of the association include Dr. Donald Goodrich, vice president; Mrs. Wendell Olson, secretary-treasurer; Dr. Edward T. Nelson, Curtis L. Charlson, William Herzog and Dr. Arnold Berg, directors.

All alumni, parents of students now attending the university and friends of the university are invited to participate in local chapter activities.

St. John Youth Sponsor Rally

Youth of St. John Lutheran church sponsored a rally of the Crookston Zone Walther League Sunday, March 27. The rally drew more than 80 youth from Thief River Falls, Red Lake Falls, Crookston, East Grand Forks and Fisher. St. John's Leaguers who served as the rally committee were Joel and Peggy Fuller, Kaye Krenz, Lynette Langlie, Steve Onken, Cliff Olson and Scott Preum.

Highlight of the rally was the Bible topic study, "The Ballad of Holy History", which was introduced and concluded by the singing of a lengthy folk song by that name. The singing was accompanied by four guitars. Rev. Edward Bentrup led the Bible study and seven buzz groups were led by leaguers.

The supper was prepared and served by the Deborah circle of St. John Ladies' Aid. Rev. Paul R. Biegner, pastor of the church, led the opening devotion. The closing devotion was in the form of a chancel drama for Lent, entitled "Behold . . . Now".

WATER is a major topic of discussion throughout the area, although most of the serious water problems have taken place to the west of the Times area. There have been instances of flooding in this area and the country to the north, but in general these cases are not much worse than normal for the spring break-up. The above photos were taken Friday afternoon several miles northesat of Thief River Falls where blocked ditches forced water over farmland. It was reported to the Times this morning by the Pennington county highway department that all three bridges built over the Lost river in 1964 were washed out either on Saturday or Saturday night. The Red Lake river is reported open above the Kratka bridge but by this morning was only partly open above the dam in Thief River Falls. Ice jams will likely cause flooding of some areas this week, but the flooding is expected to be of short duration. Flooding occurred at Warren late last week as the Snake river spilled over its banks and inundated much of the eastern section of the town. Alvarado also experienced flooding to quite a depth and highway travel in the area was halted due to water flowing over the roads. Oslo remained mostly dry due to a large-scale dike project and sandbagging by a number of workers, including personnel of the Thief River Falls National Guard unit which was activated for the emergency. Flooding at Crookston and Grand Forks was extensive with crests not expected until middle of this week. Gov. Karl Rolvaag's office informed the Times this morning that the governor will fly over the valley area today, make on-the-spot observations by car caravan and hold news conferences at East Grand Forks and Crookston. He will leave from Grand Forks Air Force base this evening after spending all day in the area.

Many Stores in City to be Open On Friday Night

Majority of Thief River Falls retail stores will be open both Thursday and Friday evenings until 9 p.m. this week, according to an announcement by James Frey, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce retail trade committee. Stores will close from noon to 3 p.m. Friday to permit personnel to attend Good Friday services.

Reading Program Begins Today at Goodridge School

Beginning today a new reading program is being offered in grades one through 12 in Goodridge public schools, according to Dr. John M. Luke, high school principal. Title of the program is "Basic Reading Program for Educationally Deprived".

Funds for the program were made available by Title II, Public Law 89-10, under the department of health and welfare education office in Washington, D.C. Application was made through a request for federal assistance for the education of children of low-income families.

"The program has been designed to meet special eductional needs of economically and educationally deprived children in the specific academic area of reading," Dr. Luke said. "It is based on the theory that successful Americans of tomorrow must read. Today's children live in a fast-moving, rapidly-changing society of immense technological advances.

"A curriculum for economically and educationally deprived children must be planned and executed to enable them to master skills and to keep them abreast of the vast knowledge available," Dr. Luke said.

Filings Open on Goodridge Board

Annual meeting of Independent School District 561 at Goodridge has been set for May 17 from 7 to 9 p.m. in the agricultural classroom of the Goodridge school. Elected at the meeting will be two members of the school board for three-year terms, with the terms of Orlin Hanson and Oldrich Hoffman expiring.

Applications of filing for the board must be received by the clerk by or in behalf of the candidate on or before April 26. Rev. A. B. Heline is clerk of the Goodridge district.

Lincoln School Is Selected for Guidance Study

Lincoln senior high school has been selected as one of 85 Minnesota schools to participate in the first known study of its kind in the nation of high schoolguidances the nation of high school guidance programs. The projects being conducted by Dr. A. W. Tamminen of the University of Minnesota, Duluth, director, and G. Dean Miller, state department of education guidance consultant.

Field workers associated with the project visited Lincoln on Wednesday and Thursday to collect data on the guidance program of the school. Cooperating in the study were Richard Edlund, senior high principal; Robert Reeve, director of guidance; and Winfield Olson, sophomore Counselor, as well as a randomly selected group of teachers and students.

Purpose of the state department of education study, according to Dr. Tamminen, is to find out how the varius aspects of guidance programs in the state are related to outcomes that such programs are intended to produce. "The results," Dr. Tamminen said, "will, we hope help shape future policy decisions regarding guidance, and will point the way to further research."

"The high school student wants to live in such a way that he can follow his interests utilize his skills and talents, and achieve satisfaction and reward in so doing. Guidance programs are designed to assist him in reaching these goals; it is therefore important to find out these goals. Unless we carry out this type of research, we are forced to rely pretty much on faith that the money expended on guidance is actually producing the hoped-for results."

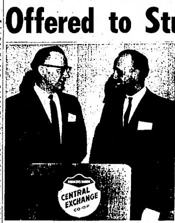
The research is being sponsored under a grant from the U. S. Office of Education and is scheduled to be completed by August of 1967.

Brooks Mfg. Co. Moves to Oklee

Brooks Manufacturing company, formerly located on the Wally Gryberg farm, moved its operation into the former Hartz building in Oklee last week. The company employs 12 people.

The firm makes hassocks, shopping bags, sewing stools and other items from vinyl and plastic foam materials. Its newest product is called a "Reclino-Lounge" and the firm already has two contracts for their production. The wood-working department of the company will remain at its former location.

Summer School Again Offered to Students



DIRECTORS of the regional Farmers Union Central exchange discussed matters of mutual interest at the northern Minnesota conference held in Thief River Falls Wednesday. At left is Joe Larson, Climax, and at right is Kenneth Ellingson, Cottonwood. Among questions discussed at the meeting was whether or not the Central exchange management should consider possible discussion of merger with Midland Cooperatives, wholesale division.

Information on the 1966 summer school program in the Thief River Falls school district was released this week by the school administration. Daily sessions will be held Monday through Friday from June 20 to August 5. High school classes will be four hours in length and elementary classes are two hours in length.

In keeping with the trend established in the past two years, courses will again be offered on remedial, make-up and enrichment levels. All classes will be held at Franklin junior high school or Washington elementary school in this city.

High school classes will run from 8 a.m. to noon with the exception of typing which will be offered in two-hour sessions from 8 to 10 a.m. or 10 a.m. to noon. Elementary classes will run from 8 to 10 a.m. or 10 a.m. to noon.

Registration will be open for high school classes until June 10 while elementary registration will take place from May 16 to June 3. Tuition is free for resident students with non-resident tuition to be based on cost. All students will pay a one dollar matriculation fee. Courses which have insufficient registration will be canceled and tuition and fees refunded.

Students attending summer school for credit are expected and required to maintain regular attendance.

Courses offered for one full credit include English and American history in grades 10, 11 and 12; social studies, 12; first year algebra; English composition; junior high English; remedial mathematics; field biology; earth science; machine metals; electronics; woodwerking, first year art; and probabilities.

Typing will be offered for one-half credit while band, orchestra, chorus, personal typing and driver training are offered for no credit.

Elementary courses offered include art, grades 1-4; enriched reading, grades 2-6; developmental reading, grades 2-6; remedial readings, grades 2-6; remedial and enriched (modern) mathematics, grades 3 - 6; enriched science, grades 3-6; reading for special education students, mobility for visually handicapped students and adapted physical education.

Three objectives have been listed for the program: To provide additional educational training for those interested in an enrichment program; to provide remedial training on an individual basis for those believed to have a need; and to provide make-up opportunities for those who have failed a course during the normal academic year.

Summer school principals will be Richard Edlund, senior high school; John LaBonte, junior high school; and William Desrocher, elementary. M. R. Hankerson is superintendent of schools. Registration forms for summer school are now available in a brochure listing summer school provisions. Further information may be received from the principals listed above or from Robert Reeve, guidance director at Lincoln senior high school.

Public Affairs Conference Set For County Women

Financing government will be the subject of an all-day Town and Country Public Affairs conference for women at Thief River Falls on April 14. The conference will be sponsored by the agricultural extension service, according to Beverly Tvelto, Pennington county, home agent.

Among those appearing on the program will be Mrs. Carole Yoho specialist in public affairs, and Dr. Arley Waldo, extension economist in public affairs, both from the agricultural extension service, University of Minnesota.

One of the purposes of the program will be to explore the topic of government expenditures and taxes. The roles played by the federal, state and local governments and the services provided by each level will be among the topics discussed during the morning portion of the conference. The afternoon session will be devoted to an examination of the process by which tax and spending policies are formulated.

Women interested should contact Miss Tvelto by Monday, April 11.

Milsten-Fiedler Vows Excanged In St. Paul

Miss Marie Rose Milsten of St. Paul, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin S. Milsten of Middle River, and Orville Willard Fiedler, also of St. Paul and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Fiedler of Annandale, exchanged marriage vows Saturday, March 19, at the St. Anthony Park Lutheran church in St. Paul.

The Rev. Robert L. Anderson officiated at the double ring ceremony with 125 guests in attendance. Miss Mary Ann Dentz, a friend of the bride, was organist and played "The Wedding March" from "A Midsummer's Night Dream" by Mendelssohn. She also accompanied Joseph Erickson as he sang "The Greatest of These Is Love" and "One Hand, One Heart, One Love". Raychel Hauglend sang "The Wedding Prayer" by Dunlap.

Baskets of yellow gladioli and white carnations graced the altars for the 7:30 p.m. candlelight ceremony and the pews were marked with yellow bows and white candles.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white satin floor-length gown featuring a natural waistline and chapel length train. The gown, styled with a fitted bodice, rounded neckline and long tapering sleeves, was designed and fashioned by the mother of the bride, who also fashioned the tall pillbox headpiece of lace that secured the flowing chapel length veil of matching lace. Her bouquet was a cascade of white roses accented with talisman roses, the bride's sorority flower.

Mrs. Alan Burke of St. Paul attended the bride as matron of honor. She wore a floor-length gown of light blue satin designed with a rounded neckline that dipped in the back. The bow that emphasized the Empire waistline and flowing back panel were of a medium shade of turquoise. Her headpiece was a large fabric bow of matching turquoise satin and she carried a single large yellow mum.

Bridesmaids were Karen Milsten of Middle River, sister of the bride, and Nona Fiedler of Annandale and Nancy Fiedler of Minneapolis, sisters of the groom. Their dresses, styled like the one worn by the matron of honor were of turquoise satin with light blue bows and flowing back panels. Their headpieces were matching light blue bows and each carried a single yellow mum.

The groom chose his brother, Gary Fiedler of Fort Gordon, Ga., as best man. Groomsmen were Maurice Milsten of Middle River, brother of the bride, Gary Luchmann of Lewiston, cousin of the bride and Richard Carlson, friend of the groom. Ushers were Mel Schifers and Al Burke, both of St. Paul. The men of the wedding party wore black tuxedos with yellow mum boutonnieres. The groom's boutonniere was a talisman rose.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Milsten wore a delicate pink dress with a pink mohair jacket. To complete her attire she wore beige and chocolate brown accessories and a yellow and white corsage. The mother of the groom was attired in a pink suit with white accessories and a pink and white corsage. Honor guests at the wedding were Mrs. Maybell Milsten, paternal grandmother of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. August Luchmann, maternal grandparents of the bride and Mr. and Mrs. Emil Fiedler, paternal grandparents of the groom.

A reception in the church parlors followed the ceremony with Peggy Bryan as hostess. Centering the serving table were individual pieces of cake arranged on a tiered form. Topping the tiers was a two tiered cake baked and decorated by the mother of the bride in white and accented with three talisman roses.

Serving the cake were Ginny Turnbull and Kathy Hanen. Mrs. Lester Baceb, aunt of the bride, poured while Mary Jane Priby and Mae Schmidt served the punch. Liz Turning and Teri Lusler arranged the gifts and cousins of the bride, Julie Matt, served the groom's cake and Sandra Luchmann registered the guests.

Out-of-town guests were from Tacoma, Wash., Lewiston, Sauk Rapids, Mahnomen, Pelican Rapids, Maple Lake, Annandale, Winona, Alexandria and Middle River.

For travel on their wedding trip, the bride wore a basic Navy blue dress with large white collar and plunging neckline styled with a Navy blue dickey.

The bride is a graduate of the Mahnomen high school and is attending the University of Minnesota. The groom, a graduate of the Annandale high school, is employed by Northern Mncine and Supply in St. Paul. The newly-weds are at home at 958 Manvel Street, St. Paul.

He is currently stationed at Ellsworth Air Force base in South Dakota and will soon leave for duty in Guam.

VFW Auxiliary Initiates Four New Members

Accepting new members and draping the charter were included in the agenda at a recent meeting of the VFW auxiliary to Post 2793 held at the local VFW club rooms. New members accepted and initiated into the auxiliary were Ruth Onkka, Shirley Ehrenstrom, Romona Groven and Mae Bretland. The solemn ritual of draping the charter was held in memory of Past District President, Emma Stroschein, who died March 16. President Mary Lou Johnson presided at the meeting attended by 31 members.

During the session, Anna Nelson reported that two afghans, a box of buttons, nine decks of playing cards and 30 hankies had been sent to the veterans hospital and members voted to purchase two rocking chairs to be donated to the Children's home in Roseau. Agnes Brennan won the door prize and the attendance prize was forfeited by Arda Hanson.

The next meeting will be held Monday, April 25, with Loretta Helle, Ruth Dicken and Doris Seefeldt in charge of the lunch committee.

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

Features from the Kitchen of

LINNAE HANSON

Today's recipe from Linnae Hanson comes from the youngest champion in the Women's division at the Pennington county Seed and Feed show. Among the 11 entries in the sunflower division, her sunflower cookies won over the bread, cake and candy in that class.

In regards to the recipe, Miss Hanson writes: "Thank you for inviting me into your column. I am enclosing the recipe for Swedish Sunflower Cookies which won me a champion ribbon at the Seed and Feed Show.

I am just 12 years old and am in the sixth grade at Washington school. I like to bake cookies, bars and cakes and I enjoy the Foods project in 4-H. I belong to the Silverton 4-H club. I am in my third year in the foods project and I have learned to know the nutrients of foods and that whole wheat flour has much food value as well as adding a rich nutty flavor in baking. In my cookies I substituted 1 cup of whole wheat flour and 2 cups of white flour, where the original recipe calls for three cups of flour. Maybe this is why the judge liked my cookies best."

SWEDISH SUNFLOWER COOKIES

1 cup butter
1 cup shortening
2 cups sugar
3 cups flour
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup shredded coconut
1 cup sunflower meats

Method: Sift dry ingredients, cut in shortening and butter. Add vanilla, coconut and sunflower meats. Shape in 2-inch rolls, refrigerate two hours, slice and bake about 10 minutes in a 350 degree oven.

Her letter continues, "I live on a farm with my parents and my brother, Ross. My father (Silas Hanson) sells bulls and insurance but is mostly a farmer. My mother (Marjorie Hanson) is deputy registrar of motor vehicles and has an office uptown but when she is home she really works taking care of the house and things. I like to play the piano and clarinet and am a cheerleader for the Washington Wildcats. In the summer I like to play with our ponies and go swimming. My brother, Ross, is 16 and he really likes the cookies I make and malted milks. He likes to play football and is president of our 4-H club. This is all I can think of."

And all I can think of is—a champion in baking at 12! Congratulations!

Agriculture Secretary Speaks on Feed Grain

Excerpts from a speech by Orville Freeman, secretary of agriculture, at the National Farm conference in St. Louis, provided information for farmers before the April 15 deadline date for sign-up in the diversion program.

"Feed grains constitute a dominant -- although indirect — part of American diets. They are processed through livestock and poultry into meats, milk and eggs our families like and can afford. If feed grains get out of balance, most of the rest of American agriculture suffers at the same time," Secretary Freeman said.

"But it is the feed grains — primarily wheat and rice — that dominate the diets of those we seek to help through the war on hunger. Tradition, and necessity, make them cereal eaters. Very little corn moves into the less developed countries. They find the conversion of grain into meat too expensive for both farmers and consumers. This means that even if our shipments of feed grains increase rapidly as a part of the war on hunger, the oversupply of feed grains will not be much relieved.

"Farmers have heard and read recommendations ranging from the immediate addition of 60 million acres to the crop production plant to abandonment of price-support programs in favor of quick, big sales of every type of food to people who have no place to put it . . . no transportation systems to carry it . . . . and no dollars to pay for it.

"These are the basic facts of the current food and agriculture situation:

1. There are not food shortages. There are no empty shelves, bins or cases in our own retail food markets. The pipelines leading from farms to those markets are full. We have no export commitments, either for dollars or in implementation of food aid programs, that cannot be filled.

2. We are equipped to maintain food abundance, and we have acted accordingly. The continuance of abundance requires an increased 1966 production of wheat, rice, soybeans and milk. Action has been taken under the food and agriculture act to encourage boosts in the outputs of wheat, rice and soybeans.

a. A 10 per cent increase has been made in the national 1966 rice acreage allotment.

b. Wheat growers — particularly spring wheat growers — are being encouraged to plant their full allotments rather than taking some of that acreage out of production.

c. Farmers cooperating in the feed grains program may plant soybeans on feed grain acres and remain eligible for the feed grains prices support payment.

3. There is no need for greater production of any of the livestock feeds other than soybeans this year.

4. Federal policies related to 1966 production and price support programs for wheat, rice, feed grains and cotton are firm as they stand right now. There will be no further changes in program provisions related to those commodities. Those now in effect have been carefully tailored to respond to food and fiber needs".

Sheriff's Office Reports Several Auto Accidents

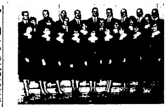
Several accidents resulting in property damage during the past two weeks have been reported by the Pennington county sheriff's department. Two of the crashes involved more than one vehicle and the other was a one-car mishap.

On Friday at 4 p.m. a car driven by Clifford Lindquist was traveling south on a county road eight miles west and one-half mile north of St. Hilaire when his car struck a wash-out on the road. The car bounced over the wash-out but sustained damage underneath the vehicle. There was no personal injury.

On Thursday about 1 p.m. a pickup truck driven by Paul Troska, Goodridge, was traveling west on SAR 3 about one-fourth mile west of the Kratka bridge road and attempting to make a left turn on to a township road. A car driven by Olaf Stolaas, Oklee, was also traveling west and pulled out with intent to pass when the pickup began its turn. The car struck the rear of the pickup, causing an estimated $250 damage to the Stolaas car but none of the Troska vehicle. There were no injuries.

Early Saturday morning March 26 a car owned by Bradley Motor company and driven by Dale Seefeldt was parked on a county road facing west about one and one-half miles southeast of Thief River Falls. It was struck by another car which was going east, careened off to the right and continued east on the road without stopping.

The driver of the second car was later identified as Kenneth Noreen, rural Thief River Falls. He was charged with driving after revocation of his driver's license and leaving the scene of an accident and appeared in municipal court last Monday. Damage was estimated at $150 to the Noreen car and $300 to the car driven by Seefeldt. Neither Noreen, Seefeldt or Beverly Bredeson, a passenger in the Seefeldt car, were reported injured.



SIX Thief River Falls churches are sponsoring the chapel choir of Winnipeg Bible college in concert Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the Evangelical Free church. The choir will present an hour of music entitled, "My Glory—The Cross," under the direction of Neal Snider. Sponsoring churches include Faith Lutheran Brethren, First Baptist, Mission Convenant, Methodist, Our Savior's Lutheran and the Evangelical Free. The public is welcome and urged to attend.

PUBLIC OPINION

Dear Fellow-Citizens:

Although it is against my policy, I can not help but admire President Johnson and Our First Lady for being proud enough of our country to want to beautify roadsides in our great land. I, too, have always been very proud of our country, to the extent that I've encouraged my son to stay and make his livelihood here in Pennington county, which no doubt was a mistake.

I was one of the proudest young men in the county when highway 32 was paved into Thief River Falls. But I can not help but criticize the governing body of Thief River Falls for allowing highway 32 to be one of the most unscenic roads in the state at the approach of the city by continuing year after year to keep the dump grounds on it's present site. When I approach the city, I will find boxes, branches, boards with nails in them, plaster cans, bottles, paper and what have you. If I'm lucky I may not run onto a half dozen lie rats, running to and fro.

We, who live out that way, are fortunate when we get up in the morning and do not find our place over-run by rats, which happens quite often this time of the year. When I go into town, it makes me so disgusted that I feel like turning around and doing my business in Red Lake Falls. I can't see how those of us that take great pride in our community can condone a thing of this kind. If the city council does not take enough pride in this community to correct a thing of this kind, then I would suggest they move to some community where they don't care about beautification.

Highway 32 could be made into one of the most beautiful approaches to your fair city, if you so wish to have it that way, and why should it not be?

Sincerely,
Maynard U. Mehrkens

Personnel for U of M Recruits Many Positions

University of Minnesota is beginning a program to recruit employees on a statewide basis. Particularly needed are persons with clerical skills and those interested in serving in the university hospitals as food service workers, custodians, maids, nurse's aides and orderlies, according to Leo Hart, associate personnel director.

The university staff of more than 6,000 non-teaching employees assists the faculty and students in carrying out their teaching, research and public service functions. University employees include people in every kind of work: mechanical and engineering, custodial and food service, clerical and administrative, scientific and technical.

University salaries and fringe benefits are comparable to others offered in the Twin Cities area, Hart said. The university, however, offers its employees the chance to continue their education through university classes and in-service training programs, he added.

Further information may be obtained now by visiting the local office of the State Employment service, Thief River Falls.

Stanley Anderson, Native of TRF, Dies In Michigan

Stanley R. Andersen, a native of Thief River Falls, died Thursday, March 24, at Royal Oak, Mich., after a brief illness. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Andersen of Ulen, who were former residents of this community.

Services for Stanley Andersen were held at Kirk in The Hills church, Bloomfield Hills, Mich.

Mr. Andersen was born in Thief River Falls, graduated from Concordia College, Moorhead and was a former teacher and band instructor at Gary High school.

He was co-founder of Scanna Associated, Inc. of Livonia, Mich., Mich., manufacturers of testing equipment. At the time of his death he was serving as treasurer and director of that firm.

Survivors include his wife, Marion; one son, Thomas, and a daughter, Robyn, both at home; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Andersen of Ulen; one brother, Arthur Andersen of Ulen and four sisters, Mrs. H. E. Altman, Silver Springs, Md.; Mrs. Frank Thompson, LaCrescenta, Calif.; Mrs. Sam Rikhus, Ulen and Mrs. A. B. Peterson of Sioux Falls, S. D.

Alf Anderson, 76, Retired Railroad Employee, Dies

Alf O. Anderson, 76, a retired railroad employee who resided in Thief River Falls for many years, died unexpectedly Wednesday at his home in St. Paul.

Funeral services for Alf Anderson were held Saturday at 3 p.m. in the Green Funeral chapel. The Rev. Leland Steen officiated and interment was in the Greenwood cemetery.

A complete obituary will be given in the Times on Wednesday.

Husband of Once Area Woman Dies In Woodburn, Ore.

Guy L. Stricklin, 65, of Woodburn, Ore., husband of the former Minnie Axelson of Rosewood, died unexpectedly Thursday at Woodburn, Ore., according to word received here by Mrs. Stricklin's sister, Mrs. Oscar Baker.

Funeral services for Guy Stricklin will be held in Oregon.

His only survivors are his wife and several aunts and uncles.

THIEF RIVER FALLS POLICE

ADDITIONS to the Thief River Falls police department are shown in the above photo. Charles Jones of Blackduck, who recently joined the force as a patrolman, is pictured with the portable radio set recently acquired by the department. The unit is used by patrolmen on foot in the business district and enables them to be in constant radio contact with the station and the city's two patrol cars. Several traffic violators have already been apprehended through the use of the unit. The battery-operated radio unit has power equal to that of the squad car units and can be used effectively for a distance over 10 miles. Jones served as a policeman at Blackduck for two years, is married and has five children.

Emil Person, 73, Dies at His Home In Black River

Emil Person, 73, a resident of Black River township, Pennington county, for the past 54 years, died Thursday at his farm home.

Funeral services for Emil Person will be held today (Monday) at 2 p.m. at the Black River church with the Rev. Dennis Rodin officiating. Hymns will be sung by Mrs. Elmer Nordlund and the congregation with Mrs. Carl Mosbeck as organist.

Pallbearers will be Veral Mosbeck, Donald Mosbeck, Warren Mosbeck, Wilbur Hallstrom, Irwin Johnson and Clifton Johnson. Funeral arrangements are by Sinding's Funeral chapel and interment will be in the church cemetery.

Emil Person, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. August Person, was born Nov. 12, 1892 at Blekinge, Sweden where he received his elementary education. At the age of 16 years, he immigrated to the United States, staying for a short time in Minneapolis before settling in Black River township where he was engaged in farming and had since resided.

He married Lilly Johnson in Black River township on June 18, 1919. She survives together with 4 daughters, Mrs. Leonard (Myrtle) Wick, Maddock, N. D.; Mrs. Donald (Arlene) Scurlock, Denver, Colo.; Mrs. David (Delores) Gunthorpe, Moorhead and Mrs. Robert (Evelyn) Tetheron of Santa Anna, Calif., and eight grandchildren.

He was preceded in death by one brother.

Prowler Basketball Season Statistics Show Scoring

During the past basketball season the Prowlers in winning 14 games and losing eight, and winning the District 31 title and reaching the finals of the Region Eight tourney, scored a total of 1,213 points. Defensively the Prowlers gave up 1,146 points.

That 1,213-point total tallied in 22 games is considerably below the school record of 1,547 points set by the Prowlers of 1962-63, set in a 23-game season. That 1962-63 squad had a game over the 100-point mark, defeating Warren 102 to 53; and had three games in which they tallied 80 points or more. Tom Lindberg was the high scorer for the season for that squad, having a total of 334 points.

In this season's individual scoring, senior guard Tommy Cummings gained top honors with an aggregate of 384 points. Cummings averaged 17.4 points per game, and in only one game, that being the district tourney game with Warren, was he held below double figures. Warren's Lee Honas limited Cummings to eight points.

The individual scoring record for the school is held by Dave Hanson, who in his junior year compiled a total of 577 points, scoring 233 field goals and 111 free throws for an average of 24.04 per game.

The individual scoring summaries:

O.E.O. Approves Pre-College Plan

Congressman Odin Langen was informed late last week by the Office of Economic Opportunity that $106,610 has been awarded the Beltrami County Development association at Bemidji state college for an Upward Bound pre-college program this summer for 100 impoverished youth from 14 northwestern Minnesota counties.

The students, mostly 10th and 11th graders, will be exposed to a full-time summer schedule of academic work, cultural and recreational activities, field trips, visits to historical sites, study and discussion periods and personal counseling. The purpose of the program is to encourage these students to eventually seek higher education.

The students for this summer's Bemidji project will be selected from Beltrami, Cass, Clearwater, East Polk, Red Lake, Pennington, Becker, Hubbard, Mahnomen, Itasca, Koochiching, Kittson, Roseau, and Lake of the Woods counties.

U. S. savings stamps now outstanding are valued at more than $5 million. Filled stamp albums are exchangeable at banks for savings bonds.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

In Spring Training

The baseball Prowlers, under the direction of coach Ralph Skay and assistant Lee Swanson, opened "spring training" at the armory on Thursday afternoon.

The early-season sessions, and they will be held indoors for a considerable time as the playing conditions at the fairgrounds diamond are water-logged, will be limited to calisthenics and limbering-up exercises. Batting practice, with the boys swinging at the plastic baseballs tossed by up "Iron Mike", the pitching machine, is also being conducted.

Last season the Prowlers compiled a record of 12 wins and four losses, and reached the District 31 semi-finals, which they lost to Red Lake Falls, 9 to 2. Coach Mike Hajostek's Red Lake Falls team, incidentally, went on edging out the Warren Ponies, 1 to 0, in 11 innings.

From that 1965 squad the Prowlers have lost, through graduation, such players as second baseman Buzz Olson, left fielder Mike Benke and southpaw pitcher Pat Fischer. The 1966 Prowlers, therefore, appeal to be well-stocked with returnees. For the pitching staff coach Skay will have Tommy Cummings, Billy Poole, Billy Dicken, Steve Lehr, Bob Brodin and Nicky Drees on hand, all righthanders. Contending for infield positions will be veterans Keith Hendrickson, Karl Poppenhagen, Terry Olson, and several of the members of the pitching staff. Wayne Smith and Merle Sampson will give the Prowlers a solid catching staff. And in the outfield there will be Rocky Wilson, Danny Brouse and a number of candidates who are making their first bid for varsity positions.

It is evident, with the veterans available, and the strength of the pitching staff, that the Prowlers will be able to make a strong bid for their eleventh District 31 title. But the defending champion Red Lake Falls Eagles are also well-supplied with lettermen, and they have fine pitching in righthander Brent Mead and southpaw Marc Petterson.

Yes, it won't be long before the cry "play Ball" will be heard throughout the land.

Field and Stream

The big question, on the outdoors scene, is whether or not Lloyd Samuelson, Don Harbott and Ray Thyren will be able to get their cabin cruiser "The Bull of the Prairies" up to Lake of the Woods. This is worth a modest wager.

Then there is the question whether or not they will be able to get it in the water. Worth another modest wager. And, finally, whether or not the "boat" will stay afloat once it is in the water. Another wager. A fellow can parlay these wagers into a considerable sum.

The boat is at present in drydock on Albert Harbott's farm south of the Black River church, and being made shipshape for a season on Lake of the Woods. The boys bought the boat from a farmer in the Park River area in North Dakota, and according to valid rumors in recent years it had been used for grain storage! It had held sunflower seeds, corn, peas and such large grains—flax and the smaller grains it wouldn't hold!

This is to give fair warning to the fishermen who will be in the waters around Springsteel Island, Buffalo Bay and Poplar Point this spring and summer to give clearance to Sam and Don and Ray. Their boat, using the term "boat" loosely, will be the only craft on the Lake of the Woods which, in a brisk cross-wind, will move faster sideways than it will straight ahed. And it's the only boat, too, that will not need an anchor—the problem facing the boys will be to get it to move!

They Will Have Artificial Ice

Don't make any wagers that the local curling club won't have an artificial ice plant in their fairgrounds arena before the ice skating and hockey enthusiasts get artificial ice set up in the city arena, or in a separate arena.

At the annual banquet held on Saturday night by the local curling club, the topic of artificial ice was top-most on the agenda. With late-season freeze-up and the early-season thaws, it was deemed essential that if the local club was to expand and prosper, artificial ice is a necessity.

The local club is debt-free at present, having paid up the bonds that were issued when the present building was erected. The fairgrounds building was erected with the cooperation of the Pennington County Fair board. There was some discussion as to the feasibility of investing in an artificial plant for the present building, putting in a cement floor, etc. A finance committee will explore the possibilities of securing funds and make recommendations.

But don't bet that there won't be artificial ice for curling in a year or two!

New Approach to 4-H Outlined in Pilot Program

Minnesota has been selected as one of six states in the nation to take part in 4-H Operation Expansion—an experimental new, broader and more adventurous approach to 4-H work.

Three counties—Beltrami, Dakota and Redwood—are taking part in the pilot program of extending participation to more of their young people nine to 19 years of age. Special emphasis will be placed on adapting programs to meet the needs and interests of surburban, urban and rural non-farm youth.

Operation Expansion is an effort to involve more young people and adults in an expanded 4-H education program, according to Leonard Harkness, state 4-H club leader at the University of Minnesota. The project will be concerned with four phases: (1) increasing membership in already existing clubs; (2) organizing new 4-H clubs; (3) offering a variety of short-term programs appealing to youth who have not previously participated in 4-H activities; and (4) expanding adult participation in a greater variety of leadership roles.

At the present time about two-thirds of the 54,401 young people enrolled in 4-H clubs in Minnesota are from the farm. Non-farm rural members number 10,674; urban members 4,920 and suburban, 1,750. The emphasis on appealing to more rural non-farm and urban youth is in line with population changes. Census figures for 1960 show that the number of nine to 19-year-olds on the farm is decreasing, while the number of urban and rural non-farm youth is steadily increasing.

This past year nearly 14,000 adults were active in the 4-H program in Minnesota as leaders, giving guidance to members in their programs, activities and projects. According to Harkness, this is the largest number of adults which has ever worked with young people in the 4-H program. An important objective of Operation Expansion is to involve still more adults in working with youth.

450 Sharptails Banded in Study Near Warroad

Two Minnesota game biologists assisted by two youths from a Neighborhood Youth Corps crew have banded 450 sharptailed grouse since last February in the Warroad and Red Lake area.

Purpose of the study is to determine the habitat requirements of sharptails, possible effects of pesticides and changes in the sharptail population brought about by changes in land use.

A total of 1,000 grouse have been live-trapped in the course of the study and 78 square miles of game habitat have been examined to date. A 36-square-mile area was checked during last fall's five day hunting season on sharptails to determine the number of persons hunting grouse in the area and hunter success.

Sharptail grouse populations are presently at a low level and game researchers are studying reasons for the decline and possible ways of increasing grouse numbers.

Archery Club Has Meet Wednesday; Films Are Shown

Thief River Falls archery club held its monthly meeting Wednesday evening in the meeting room of the city auditorium with William Desrocher presiding at the business meeting.

Shown to the 45 people in attendance were two movies, "Hunting with the Long Bow", starring Howard Hill, and "Shooting Techniques". Lunch was served following the meeting.

Anyone interested in joining the organization or obtaining further information may contact Desrocher Tony Noel or Mrs. Mary Dunham for details.

ciples used in decision-making," Hamilton emphasized. "It provides experience in utilizing business information and affords opportunities for teamwork in order that better business decisions may be made. It also gives each participant an appreciation of the abilities and efforts of fellow workers with specialties and interests different from his own."

Applications for enrollment in the course are now being received at the Chamber of Commerce, Box 514, Thief River Falls, Minn. 56701. Businessmen and executives in neighboring towns are invited to participate but enrollment will be limited to the first 25 people to register.

Jackpot Thursday Elects New Board

At a meeting held last week, a new board of directors for Jackpot Thursday was elected to take office April 1 and serve for the coming year. Officers will be elected at a later date.

Elected to the board were Walt Larson, Vic Kalinoski, Phil Hess, Robert Ekeren and James Dale. They succeed Justus Larson, Bud Kelly, Arnold Narverud, Richard Bjorkman and Gene Gaer.

Curling Club Has Annual Banquet

Annual meeting and awards banquet of the local curling association was held in the American Legion club rooms on Saturday night. The election of officers; or board members, of the men's division of the club resulted in Richard Jorde and Morris Rondfelt being elected to one-year terms, and Si Hanson, Bob Ekeren and Oral Johnson being selected for two-year terms. Dr. Earl Dagg is a carryover board member.

This group will meet in the near future to select the executive officers. Curtis Swanson, as president of the association, presided over the meeting.

In the women's division of the association, with president Naomi Monroe presiding, the following members were chosen to the board of directors—Mrs. Leo (Vernice) Nelson, Mrs. Oral (Joann) Johnson and Mrs. Don (Grace) Jorde—for two year terms. Mrs. Monroe and Mrs. Richard (Sharon) Jorde are one-year term members.

Leonard Furuseth, on behalf of the club, presented league championship awards to the Harold Nabben rink, the Hans Newman rink, the Wally Tunberg rink and the Ardell Liden rink. The Ardell Liden rink, the winner of the city bonspiel, was presented with memorial patches received in memory of the late James H. Muzzy, an active member of the local club who died during this past season.

The family of Mr. Muzzy made this memorial award in behalf of James.

Mrs. Dennis (Naomi) Monroe presented the city women's championship award to the Alice Liden rink—Alice Liden, Gladys Liden, Ethel Adams and Grace Toomey—and the league championship award was made to the Mrs. Everett (Lois) Amundgaard rink. Members of the Amundgaard rink were Miss Nancy Cermak, Mrs. Carl (Melva) Lee, Mrs. R. J. (Helen) Ulferts and Mrs. Amundgaard.

And Everett Amundgard, in behalf of the curling association and in appreciation of the promotional efforts of the Thief River Falls Times, presented a suitably incribed plaque, a curling club patch and a curling club button to the Times' Huck Olson.

Income Tax Questions Are Answered by IRS

These questions most frequently asked by taxpayers on federal income tax matters with authoritative answers are provided by the office of the district director of Internal Revenue, St. Paul.

Q - If you drive your car to a doctor's office or a hospital, can you deduct the travel costs as medical expenses?

A - Transportation costs to obtain medical care or treatment are deductible. You may, if you desire, deduct this expense at the rate of $.05 per mile. Record of the milage to and from the doctor's office or hospital will be necessary. This transportation expense deduction is allowed only if the trip was made to obtain medical care or treatment. The deduction is not allowable for visiting someone in the hospital.

Q - I'm confused concerning what taxes may and may not be deducted on my return.

A - You may deduct state and local income taxes, real and personal property taxes, state or local income taxes, or general sales taxes paid outside of Minnesota. You cannot deduct automobile license fees in Minnesota, cigarette, tobacco and alcoholic beverage taxes, social security or railroad retirement taxes withheld from wages, and fees such as drivers' licenses.

Q - What interest items can be deducted?

A - Any interest paid on your personal debts, such as bank loans or home mortgages. If interest charges are not stated separately on installment purchases you may deduct an amount equal to 6 per cent of the average unpaid monthly balance.

A - How long will it be before I receive my tax refund?

A - Generally, refunds are made within six to eight weeks after the return is received. This presumes that the return is complete and correct, and can be processed without sending it back for your signature, or writing to you for missing social security numbers, Forms W-2, or to determine your tax status and the exemptions you are entitled to claim.

Q - If a child is born during December, can the full $600 exemption be claimed for it?

A - Yes. You furnished all the support for the child for the time it was alive in 1965, so you may claim the full $600 exemption for the year.

Q - I had considerable dental work done in 1965. Can I deduct what this cost?

A - Dental costs are deductible as medical expenses, if you itemize your deductions on page 2, Form 1040. Unless you or your spouse is over 65 years of age, only those medical expenses in excess of 3 per cent of your gross income are deductible. They must be paid during the year, also.

Q - What is the maximum for computing the retirement income tax credit?

A - When both husband and wife are over 65 and file a joint return, the maximum income subject to the tax credit is $2,286. Benefits for senior citizens are explained in IRS Document No. 5569, "Tax Benefits for Older Americans," which may be obtained free from any revenue service office.

Q - I was ill and absent from work quite a few days in 1965. Do I have any sick pay exclusion?

A - If you were paid during your absence from work due to illness, and the amount you received was 75 per cent or less of your regular pay, you can deduct up to $75 a week after a seven-day waiting period. After 30 calendar days, the exclusion is increased to $100 per week. Being hospitalized during your illness would permit you to begin the deduction on the first day of absence, with-out the waiting period. If your sick pay is more than 75 per cent of your wage, there is a 30-day waiting period, after which you may exclude up to $100 per week.

At the start of 1966, more than 486 million individual savings bond were being held by Americans, 93 per cent of which were in denominations ranging from $25 to $200.

Monthly Income Raised for Food Stamp Program

Effective immediately there is a change in eligibility standards for the food stamp program, according to Glen Melberg, Beltrami county welfare director. Net monthly income figures to permit people to qualify for the program have been raised considerably, allowing many more families to participate.

New net monthly limitations include the following:

Number in Household	Monthly Net Incomes of:
1	$135
2	$205
3	$250
4	$290
5	$335
6	$370
7	$390
8	$425
10	$495

Persons who qualify and wish to participate in the program may make application at the Beltrami county welfare department, Melberg said. Applicants should bring with them evidence of all household income and their social security numbers. To participate in the program in Beltrami county, a person must be a resident of the county.

State Parks Are Open to Public

Minnesota Conservation department reported today that all state parks are open for use, but visitors will have to bring their own water until running water facilities can be connected.

U. W. Hella, state parks director, said his division has received several inquiries during the last few days from persons who are anxious to visit the state parks now for camping or sight-seeing.

"Our policy is to keep the parks open at all times unless road or weather conditions make it impossible," he said.

"Campers and others who wish to visit the parks now are welcome to do so, provided they understand that until the frost laves the ground the and danger of freezing is past we cannot supply water at camping or picnic grounds".

Dormant Sprays Control Pests On Trees, Shrubs

Were your trees or ornamental shrubs infested with insects last year? To prevent a return of such pests, a University of Minnesota horticulturist recommends applying a dormant spray.

Dormant sprays, applied now, will control aphids, leaf rollers, mites and scale insects on fruit trees, evergreens, shade tres and shrubs, according to Neil Miles, extension horticulturist. Eggs of these insects which overwinter on the bark and bud scales will be killed by these sprays.

Dormant oils and dinitro sprays are the best materials to use, Miles says. They should be applied as soon as weather conditions are favorable—in early spring when freezing temperatures are not expected for at least a 24-hour period. However, if the spraying is delayed until buds have opened, foliage will be injured.

Miles urges caution in applying the sprays, since dinitro sprays will leave a yellow residue that can discolor the siding on the house.

Pheasants Came Through Blizzard Without Losses

Minnesota's pheasants came through the blizzard of March 22-23 in satisfactory condition, according to Ted Shields, director of game and fish.

Field checks by game and fish fieldmen in south central and southeastern Minnesota, where heavy snow fell during the recent storm, showed that pheasants survived well because the storm was of relatively short duration and the standing cover was mostly free of snow prior to the storm. Seaches made by department fieldmen uncovered no dead birds as a result of the blizzad. The storm missed that part of the main pheasant range lying in west central Minnesota.

Pheasants had no food problems this winter since there were bare spots in the fields and sufficient standing corn for the birds to feed on. Department fieldmen will make roadside counts in May to determine the size of the pheasant breeding population.

Shields said that it was demonstrated again this past winter that wetlands, such as those being acquired under the "Save Minnesota's Wetlands" program, provide good winter storm cover for pheasants as well as habitat for breeding waterfowl and other wildlife species.

Series Set at McIntosh Church

Nursery Stock Must be Adapted to Minnesota

Check carefully before you buy nursery stock this spring to be sure you're getting varieties adapted to Minnesota and to conditions in your own home yard, advises Leon C. Snyder, head of the University of Minnesota's department of horticultural science.

Frequently shrubs ordered from southern or eastern nurseries are unsuitable for planting in Minnesota; in cold winters they either die back or flower buds are damaged. Many broadleaved rhododendrons and flowinerg shrubs such as the flowering quince, rose of Sharon and some forsythias would fall into this category, Snyder said. It is much safer to order ornamentals from local nurseries acquainted with Minnesota conditions, he pointed out.

Many shrubs and trees formerly grown only in more temperate climates are now showing some promise for Minnesota, as indicated by results in the University of Minnesota landscape arboretum where more than 2,500 species and cultivars are under test. Among these are the Mollis azalea, the Beatrix Farrand forsythia and the Umbrella and Star magnolias. These have shown sufficient hardiness to recommend them for trial plantings in protected sites.

Among varieties of woody shrubs tested and found to be hardy in Shubert chokecherry, a small tree or large shrub with purple leaves; Toba hawthorn, a small tree with double pink flowers similar to Paul's Scarlet hawthorn; Enchantment mockorange, which does not become leggy like many mockoranges; hybrid lilacs; Clavegs Dwarf honeysuckle, a compact shrub growing to a height of five feet, useful in hedges or for foundation plantings; and flowering crabapples.

Few ornamentals combine as many desirable qualities in a single variety as flowring crabapples, Snyder believes. Three varieties developed and introduced by the University of Minnesota are Flame, Radiant and Vanguard crabapples. All three are fully hardy, with foliage of a reddish cast, white and rosy blossoms in spring and bright red fruits in autumn.

Many trees, plants and shrubs useful in screening junkyards, in curtailing maintenance costs along utility rights-of-way, or in beautifying highways also can be of value to wildlife. Learn what you can do to preserve natural beauty, and to help wildlife, during National Wildlife Week, March 20-26, 1966.

"For a small reward a man will hurry away on a long journey, while for eternal life many will hardly take a single step."

Liberty Needs Law

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover writes: "The American college student today is being subjected to a bewildering and dangerous conspiracy perhaps unlike any social challenge ever before encountered by our youth. On many campuses he faces a turbulence built on unrestrained individualism, repulsive dres and speech, outright obscenity, disdain for moral and spiritual values, and disrespect for law and order."

Hoover goes on to say what is obviously true—that the majority of college students are of a different stamp. But the minority he describes are extremely vocal; they have a gift for making the headlines, and they present to other peoples and nations a malevolently distorted view of the American character and the American attitude. Moreover, our communist enemies—who we are fighting on the military, political and economic fronts—are making the most of this and intend to make more.

The failure lies in homes, where old virtues are disregarded and discipline is a forgotten word. It lies, too, in the colleges where, in many instances, there has been a declining stress on those principles which are the rocks on which American freedom, strength and responsibility are built. This country and all its citizens need to remember that, in Hoover's words, ". . liberty and justice are not possible without law and order."

Sportsmen, Arise

Writing in the Carlton County News Graphic, Norman Nelson Jr. has claimed that Minnesota sportsmen are being robbed by the state legislature. While his approach is obviously one-sided, he does make a few pertinent points about which sportsmen have a very real right to express concern.

For instance, according to Nelson's article, 75 per cent of all administrative costs for the conservation department will come out of game and fish funds. Administrative money to oversee state lands management, mineral resources, water pollution and other non-game and fish matters will be largely financed from hunting and fishing license revenues. . .even though these other matters benefit the entire state and should be financed from general revenue taxation, he states.

"Despite increases in hunting and fishing license fees in recent years," he writes, "programs in these sportsmen-supported areas have been cut back regularly for lack of funds. Yet there are 30 less employees in state game and fish work now than there were 12 years ago.

"In the coming biennium there is no money allocated for game and fish development work in the state of Minnesota, even though there is a $2.5 million surplus in the game and fish funds. The reason, we strongly suspect, is that lawmakers want the surplus kept intact to be later raided for other purposes despite the fact that this $2.5 million came out of the jeans pockets of Minnesota's 800,000 hunters and anglers."

Nelson also notes that game and fish is getting only $850,000 out of $7.5 million appropriated for the natural resources program last year. In the last session, the natural resources program budget was increased by 11 per cent, but the game and fish share of this was cut 18 per cent, he contends.

It would seem that somewhere along the line Minnesota's sportsmen are making a bad deal. They expect to exchange their license fees for work done in game and fish programs. It may come as a surprise to many that their money isn't being permitted to be used as they would expect. We believe that a good explanation is in order from the legislative leadership.

Social Security Wolf

Called to our attention recently was an article noting that a number of salaried employees are blaming their companies for the increased deductions caused by this year's increase in social security taxes. The increase from three and five-eights per cent to four and one-fifth per cent doesn't mean much in decimal points but it means a lot in dollars.

The article notes the following:

"Big deal! Expressed in terms of a fraction of one percentage point, what meaning has this for the average worker in an era of funny money? He visualizes it as a few pennies. He's glad to shell out those extra cents for old Aunt Agatha. Why should the company squawk on its piddling share?

"But now he has his first 1966 pay. This bit of social progress in general and Aunt Agatha in particular, he finds, run into real dollars during the course of a year. If making an even $100 per week, the bite on his annual income will be $44.40 deeper than last year. If he grosses as much as $6,600 in 1966, he is going to wind up paying more than $100 over the tax tab for the previous year.

"He's taking a second look at Aunt Agatha.

"What he also should look at (and it should be repeated to him forcefully until it sinks in) is that his company is not responsible and in no way benefits by the increased deduction. On the contrary, it is bleeding from the same bigger bite, multiplied by the number of employes on its payroll. If it has a thousand in that income bracket, there goes an extra $103,200 down the unproductive drain of what is fondly called social welfare.

"So be it. In the long view, maybe this should not be called unproductive expense, not if it eventually accomplishes its ostensible purpose. There is Aunt Agatha to consider, after all.

"But an expense it certainly is; a six-figure squeeze on the year's profit if any, money that won't be available to buy modern tools, repave the parking lot or provide better fringe benefits for the people working there. It may necessitate higher prices for the company product and the time is coming when customers just won't pay more. Is this the primrose path to perpetual prosperity?

"The teeth are there. They hurt. They bite the little fellow in a relatively small way but, when clipping the corporate posterior, the little fellow's job security also is a casualty.

"This is a TAX. It should be called just that. Why be reticent? Spell it out—in dollars, not decimal points, and not just in terms of last week's pay check but of the impact on ability to survive, industrially and individually, in future years."

Nothing Like Law

If a person intends to use alcoholic beverages, he should do it to the extent that he becomes totally addicted. He then becomes some type of privileged character in the eyes of the law.

The U. S. Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals, sitting at Richmond, Va., recently ruled that a chronic victim of alcoholism cannot be arrested for the criminal offense of being drunk. He can be civilly detained for hospitilization, according to a report in the U. S. Trial Lawyers magazine.

The court's decision came in the case of a Joe B. Driver, 59, of Durham, N. C., who had been arrested for public intoxication 200 times.

Emphasizing that it was speaking of criminal prosecution of confirmed alcoholics only, the court stated: "Alcoholism today is almost universally accepted medically as a 'disease' and the two-year sentence which faced Driver would amount to cruel and unusual punishment forbidden by the U. S. Constitution."

A person considered usually sober but who goes on a "toot" is a different mater, the court stated.

Moral for drinkers: Spread out your "toot" budget by establishing a regular drinking pattern. Then, when you drive over a little child or beat up the wife you can always explain to the court that you are sick. The court wouldn't subject you to any cruel or unusual punishment—like spending time in jail. Everyone knows that the courts strictly obey the intent of the Constitution—unless of course, it is more expedient to "interpret" its provisions.

Medicare Myth

In its determination to make medicare the political tool which many people saw it to be, the federal government has conducted a full-scale campaign to bring all eligible people under its provisions. This includes not only the poor—who possibly could use it—but the independent and the wealthy—who most certainly don't need it.

There are those in government who take great pride in their promotion of the medicare program. There are others who can see gaping holes in the plan and are realistic enough to believe that the costs will be far higher than expected and the benefits smaller than anticipated. Our nation is moving toward socialized medicine or compulsory health insurance and this trend, pardon the pun, isn't a healthy situation.

The Herald-Press in Huntington, Ind., made a couple of pertinent comments in a recent editorial. It stated:

"In Sweden, where compulsory health insurance has been in effect 10 years, largely paid for by state subsidy, the system in its present state of development is less than a conspicuous success. . .Doctors, practically all of them overworked, are compelled to turn away thousands of patients a year. Many of the uncared-for patients are old people in need of service. . .The shortage exists in spite of the fact that the number of doctors has doubled and nurses nearly doubled since 1950. Number of hospital beds has increased 25 per cent while population has gone up less than 10 per cent. . .

"A Swedish insurance official says 'Before medicare, people used to call the doctor only in an emergency. Today everybody can afford to pay the doctor and go to the hospital.' It does not necessairly mean that medicare in the United States will follow that in Sweden, but in view of this country's beginning venture the experience in countries that have tried it is pertinent."

Just One Second

The following safety thought from the Minnesota highway department is worthy of mention:

It takes one minute to write a safety rule;
It takes one hour to hold a safety meeting
It takes one week to plan a safety program;
It takes one month to put it in operation;
It takes one year to win a safety award;
It takes one second to destroy it all with one accident.

Grain & Seed Headquarters for the Great Northwest
IN SEED WE LEAD
SEED BARLEY
"Larker" "Conquest"
All of our Larker Barley will be pro-tested for Smut, and we will try to have our seed below 3% of Smut, all of our Seed will be bright with high plump and test weight
We will also have a new Blue Barley "Conquest" a Canadian release. We feel that this is the finest Barley, which we have had in a long time. It has straw strength comparable to our Wheats. We feel that this will replace Parkland as a Blue Barley, with better yielding and more disease resistance. This Barley is absolutly resistant to Smut.

The Library Corner

By Flora Allison

Books you might have overlooked: Going over the borrowers' cards in many books on the shelves, we find some that haven't gotten the use they probably merit, and therefore we thought of calling them, or some of them, to your attention. Let's start the list of the "neglecteds" with a thrilling history of parachuting, a book called "Silken Angels," from the pen of Martin Cardin.

Dramatically recounted are harrowing tales of some of the most heart-in-the-mouth rescues ever written on the subject. A startling fact brought to the fore is that 100,000 men have "hit the silk", for one reason or another, utterly dependent on the wind-filled wings of the silken angels, those fragile silken contrivances upon which hang a man's life.

Lindberg's, Doolittle's, Tommy Walker's and others' stories are told, with the author's flair for narration. And who has not heard of the Thunderbirds, America's proud aerobatic team? Seeing their flawless precision maneuvers high in the blue yonder, one is apt to forget that sometimes all is not perfection, even here. The hair-raising experiences and miraculous escape of one of their earlier members, Maultsky, leads one to the conclusion what even tough men believe in miracles.

Covered also are the stories of those who jumped for thrills, both men and women, and those who had no choice other than to jump, to save their lives. Not forgotten are the paratroopers of our national defense forces who make routine out of parachuting in defense of our country's freedom.

"To My Son, the Teen-age Driver", ought to be must reading for every teenager who has arrived at the age where he is considering himself qualified to take his instrument of destruction, his monster, out ontothe public highways. The adolescent who take their responsibilities seriously and are groping for answers are not let down. The firm, wise direction of a man "in the know" will minimize tragedy in these years of decision.

Pulling no punches, he tells young people what they really want to know. Chapter headings such as, "Comander-in-Chief of Your Car", and "Living in the World You Made," give a clue to the contents. Facts include the disclosure that insurance rates are made by the way young men and boys drive today.

The author makes a pitch about never making a bet you can't afford to lose, which is self-explanatory. 'Those who laugh with you when you escape wrong doing will laugh AT you when you're caught' he cautions. He also discusses the financial drain a car may prove to be, especially for a young man, and helps debunk the picture of the status symbol which so many think to be a car. A world of common sense comes wrapped in this little package, a father's counsel to his teenage son on the responsibilities and privilege of growing up thrust upon him.

"The Oscar People", by George Likeness, is a new addition on the non-fiction shelf. In this timely book, the author recap the film, the actors and actresses who have, in the years since the little golden giant of filmdom has been THE thing to strive for, won the industry's highest awards. Best-actor winners are pictured, together with a synopsis of their other film or stage appearances. Much other factual material is included. With the annual interest of moviegoers, and those who make the movies, again rising to fever pitch as Academy Award time draws near, this is a timely book, one that is sure to enjoy mucy popularity.

A delightful handbook for babysitters, "When Teenagers Take Care of Children", by Iver Kroft, is one of the attractions on the teenage shelf. All the right things to do, plus the emergencies the sitter may be forced to cope with, as well as getting along with parents and the charges left on their care, are treated. Instructions are given for the best methods of feeding, caring for and otherwise supervising children; getting them to bed and keeping them there, and whether or not to look in on them, are among the things discussed. It's a book to be pondered by both parents and sitters, a reminder that after all, the sitter is the person to whom parents entrust children; it lends stature to the "job" wich is so highly important. It gives parents something to think about in this vital area.

"Victory Over Myself," by Floyd Patterson, is the frank search for identity by a man who reached the heights in pugilistic circles against great odds. From a bewildered, unkempt "poor boy" who wanted to X himself out of the family photo once taken of him, to the man who hobnobbed with a President. It is the courageous whacking away at the chip on his shoulder, until he had annihilated it and risen to the place in history which his fistic prowess earned for him.

"The Travels of Jamie McPheeters" a novel of the shared father and son adventures during the days of '49 when the lure of gold caused men to brave Indians, pestilence, disease and bandits, is interesting reading for many ages; many tastes. There's a study in character, as motley and assorted members of the wagon train live out their adventurous lives. And there's a tragic ending, in a sense, and this is in keeping with the lustiness of the times when the raw and the rugged, and violent death, where all a part of existence.

Lee Cooper's "Fun with Spanish" might prove of interest to adults just adventuring ito the uncertain realm of a foreign language. Although it's on the junior shelf, and will serve admirably for them, it's for beginners of any age. Before you complete the instructions given, you could conceivably travel in Mexico or any country where Spanish is spoken, and acquite yourself quite well. Not like a native, to be sure, but you could make your wishes known where it counted. And it might save you the embarrassment of making glaring boners, such as asking the waiter for the menu (a lista de platos) instead of the fried potatoes (Las papas fritas.)

"The Penetrators", by Anthony Gray, is just what the name implies: a searching look, and this time it's a probe of the adequacy of America's defenses. "We are prepard for a war we will never fight and unprepared for one that we will," is the theme of the book. If we have no other means of defense in our planning than that of nuclear rockets, the author contends, we are fooming the world of the future. In a story that is not pretty, he stirs America's awareness and puts complacent minds in the shadow of doubt. ARE we ready? Perhaps you can decide a little better after reading this book, on which you may not be able to put down until you've finished reading it.

Mothers and dads, remember the story hour that is being held here at the library each Saturday afternoon at 2 p.m., until the end of April. Last week's attendance was good, for a beginning, but we are able to accommodate many more children, and earnestly urge parents to make this adventure in learning a part of every little one's weekly things-to-look-forward-to. Remember, all children, three, four and five years of age are invited to be here. We hope to see YOUR children.

QUESTIONS Answered for VETERANS

Q—Since I purchased my home on a GI loan, I have been transferred to a job in another city. What can I do?

A—On all VA home loans, the veteran remains liable on the note until the loan is paid in full or he is released from liability by the VA. When you receive orders to transfer, you should immediately attempt to arrange a sale of your property and when a purchaser is found, if loan not paid off, obtain a release from liability from the VA.

S—A dear friend of mine, a veteran of World War II, died without friends or relatives. Due to our long association, I arranged a funeral and paid the bills. Will the VA reimburse me for my expenses?

A—Yes, at least in part. The VA pays a statutory allowance up to $250 towards the burial of a veteran who was honorably discharged from a period of wartime service. This must be filed within two years from date of death.

Q—Does a "General Discharge under Honorable Conditions" have any bearing on the eligibility for veterans' benefits as related to an "Honorable Discharge?"

A—Either a "General Discharge under Honorable Conditions" or an "Honorable Discharge" are acceptable for Veterans administration benefits.

Q—How much time remains to obtain the reopened GI insurance?

A—Eligible veterans (those with service-connected disabilities even though they receive no compensation payments and those with non-service-connected disabilities who are too disabled to obtain commercial insurance) have until midnight, Monday, May 2, to obtain the reopened insurance. By that time, however, they must have sent not only their application but also sufficient funds to cover the initial premium payment.

Q—Congress has just passed a new GI Bill. When does it go into effect?

A—It became effective immediately upon signing by the President, in all provisions except those applying to educational benefits. These will become available on June 1.

Q—I hear my child, age 21, is now entitled to educational assistance even though my peacetime service terminated before 1940. My service-connected condition is rated as permanently, totally disabling. What would his monthly allowance be if he enters college?

A—Yes, your child became eligible under a recent change in the law extending War Orphans' Educational Assistance to children, generally between ages 18 and 23, of both wartime and peacetime veterans from the beginning of the Spanish-American War period provided their permanent and total disability or death is service-connected. Allowances for institutional type training are: $130 monthly for full-time study, $95 monthly for three-quarter-time study, and $60 monthly for half-time study.

Board Awards Contract for Road Surface

Mahnomen Company Awarded Contract for Low Bid of $149,441

Contract for bituminous surfacing on two sections of road, in Pennington county was 'let' by the Pennington county Board of commissioners on Tuesday. The contract covers the Wylie road for a distance of four miles from Wylie north to the St. Hilaire road, and 5.6 miles east from the south end of the airport road to highway 59.

Mahnomen Construction Company was low bidder on the combined contract with a bid of $149,441 and was awarded the contract by the board. Second low bid was for $169,000 while the highest of the eight bids received was for $202,169 according to C. W. Rodekuhr, county auditor.

Although there was only one bidder in another letting, the board awarded a contract to Mervin Prestebak, Thief River Falls, for improving five and one-half miles of CAR 15 and six miles of adjacent county ditch 68 at a total cost of $27,475.

The board also voted to call for bids on construction of new county ditch 77 at the May meeting of the commissioners, providing that legal technicalities involving an appeal by the Minnesota highway department are cleared.

In other action the board renewed its agreement with the St. Louis county work farm for care of county prisoners, programmed

School Boards Will Meet With Langen April 16

Congressman Odin Langen will met with the school board members and superintendents of schools in the Seventh Congressional District Saturday, April 16, at 2:30 p.m., in the Detroit Lakes junior high school, according to W. A. Wettergren, executive secretary.

The meeting is being sponsored by the Minnesota School Boards association to give the opportunity to school board members and superintendents of schools in discussing with Congressman Langen legislation pending in the United States Congress affecting the public schools in Minnesota. It is expected that the Thief River Falls board of education will be represented at the meeting.

Items expected to be discussed will be revisions in Public Law 89-10 as passed by the last session of the United Staes Congress; cutback in the milk program ordered by the federal budget director and included in President Johnson's budget message; national assessment of the educational programs of the public schools; programs relating to the public schools sponsored by the Office of Economic Opportunity and other federal agencies; and what the United States Congress expects of the nation's schools in preparing its graduating students.

It is expected that 500 school board members and superintennts of schools will be in attendance for the meeting.

ATTENDING Girls State as representatives from the junior class at Plummer high school this year will be Judy Pederson, left, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Pederson of Plummer. Alternate is Jane Ann Linder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Linder. Sponsoring the Girls State representative at the event to be held in St. Paul in June is the Plummer unit of the American Legion auxiliary.

Land Acquisition For Schools Is Common Problem

To review action taken in recent weeks and coordinate planning for future developments, officials of the city of Thief River Falls and local board of education met with representatives of other interested organizations Tuesday evening in the council chambers. The meeting was called and presided over by Dr. O. D. Belch, chairman of the education committee of the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce.

Of prime concern at the meeting were locations for the permanent junior college to be located in this city and a proposed vocational-technical school on its own site. Officials present reaffirmed their views that the two units of higher education should be located in close geographic proximity and on sites of suitable size for expansion, building location, comprehensive planning and inclusion of aesthetic qualities desired by both schools.

In opening the meeting, Dr. Belch reviewed previous actions, noting that the state junior college board had given prior approval to either of two sites for location of the permanent junior college. The city of Thief River Falls, through its city council, had agreed to provide the college with a permanent site and sought approval of the junior college board for the two sites considered.

Considered as possible sites were property on the northeast corner of the city, north of highway 1 and east of the Thief river, and on the south edge of the city west of the airport road and adjoining Greenwood cemetery. By prior agreement of the combined group, the north site was considered most desirable, Dr. Belch noted. He called on Arthur B. Christianson, chairman of the city council, to summarize council action since the previous meeting.

Christianson noted that the city had initiated condemnation proceedings to secure approximately 37 acres owned by Miss Myrtle Myrin, although negotiating for the property outside of court. Commissioners have been appointed by the court to appraise the property and their report is expected in the near future.

The council has also secured an option for the purchase of up to 70 acres from Alfred Langren immediately east of the Myrin property along highway 1 for a price of $425 per acre.

Last Thursday evening the council voted in special session to purchase the south side of approximately 27 acres from the Mickelson estate for $15,000, and this purchase has been completed. The city presently owns approximately

To Present Awards At Boss-Employee Event Wednesday

Arrangements are being completed for the annual Jaycee Boss-Employee banquet to be held Wednesday, April 13, in the American Legion club rooms. Social hour for the stag event will begin at 6 p.m. with the meal to be served promptly at 7 p.m.

Speaker for the awards banquet will be Rep. Richard Fitzsimons of Argyle, chairman of the House appropriations committee, who will discuss a number of legislative problems of concern to northwestern Minnesota residents. Tickets are now on sale from local Jaycees.

Special awards to be presented at the banquet will be made to the Boss of the Year, Outstanding Young Farmer, Outstanding Young Educator and Outstanding Young Man. The latter is one of the highest awards with a local Jaycee chapter can present and is known in the Jaycee organization as the Distinguished Service award.

Nominations for the Distinguished Service award may be submitted for consideration if postmarked no later than Friday of this week, according to Marvin Lundin, committee chairman for the phase of the program. These nominations should contain a brief background of the nominee and reasons for his being nominated. Final selection will be made by a selection committee.

Persons wishing to nominate a young man from the community for this award should address the nominations to DSA, c-o TRF Jaycees, Thief River Falls. The nominee must be between the ages of 21 and 35 years of age, inclusive and should have shown service to his community, demonstrated leadership ability and made progress in his chosen work. He need not be a member of the Jaycees.

Selections of the other award winners are being made by special committees studying qualifications of the candidates. A program, information on the speaker and further information regarding the banquets will be published in the Monday edition of the Times.

TRF Wins Dist. 31 Speech Title

Thief River Falls speech students won the District 31 speech contest held Saturday at Red Lake Falls over 11 schools participating. Crookston placed second in the competition. Miss Thora Skomedal is coach of the local students.

Winning "A" ratings and advancing to regional competition at Fosston were Richard Stenberg and Rosemary Dahlen, discussion; David Swenson, original oratory; Emily Hoel, memorized oratory; and Greg Larson, humorous interpretive. Receiving "A" ratings and named alternates were Linda Reeve, memorized oratory, and Steve Furuseth, story-telling.

Other local participants were Kermit Solem, humorous interpretive; Sharon Wold, serious interpretive Don Hanson and Alyce Weckwerth extemporaneous reading.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Nelson of Ada visited at the home of Lena and Oliver Gullingsrud on Saturday and attended the funeral services for Alf O. Anderson.

School Filings Open at Grygla

Filings for the Grygla board of education opened Saturday and will remain open until April 26, according to Arne Nelson, clerk of the board. Members of the board whose terms expire this year include Martin Holte and Oscar Hagen. Filing may be made with the clerk.

The district's annual election will be held May 17 at which time two members of the board will be elected for three-year terms.

Parents Invited To Preview Film Of "Boy to Man"

All parents, especially those with boys in the 10 to 14 year age group, are invited to preview the film, "Boy to Man." The film will be shown at 8 p.m. on Wednesday, April 13, in the Lincoln high school auditorium. There is no admission.

The school would like to have the parents see this film before showing it to the boys.

According to school officials, the film, "Boy to Man" deals candidly with the secondary and primary sexual changes of adolescence in the male. "This is a scientific and authoritative treatment of a difficult subject, produced under medical and psychiatric supervision", officials said.

"Purpose of this film is to explain some of the common physiological manifestations of maturation. It is designed primarily for showing to boys just entering adolescence. Because many boys experience considerable anxiety about what happens to them during this process, it seems useful to provide information and simultaneously an opportunity to ask questions of a responsible adult. There will be a panel on hand to answer questions on the film.

"This film does not deal with the more complicated emotional aspects of growing up. Rather it limits itself to the physical changes in the hope that improved understanding may lessen tension and fears," school officials report.

John Kotaska Is Regional Entrant At Science Fair

John Kotaska, 10th grade student at Lincoln senior high school, received an honorable mention at the Northern Region Science fair held last Saturday in Bemidji. His project was entitled, "How Do Mice React to Different Brands of Aspirin."

While Kotaska's display was the only local entry in the event, 16 students from the junior and senior high scools attended the science fair. Tom Haney, a senior, received a recognition certificate for his essay entitled, "What Is Computer Language?"

Junior high school students attending were Dennis Johnson, George Martin, Don Adamson, Greg Kauppila, Lee Edmiston, Calvin Wicklander, Richard Habedank, Arlin Larson and Lynn Stromberg.

Senior high school students in attendance were Tom Haney, Danny Dowers, John Kotaska, Richard Bischel, Richard Olson, Brent Storhaug and Emery Wicklander. The group was accompanyed by Selmer Perter, senior high school biology instructor.

Lenten Services, Hours Announced

As the community moves into the final days of Lent and heralds the approach to Easter Sunday, a number of special services and special business hours are being noted in Thief River Falls. Residents of the area are encouraged to read the church notices in today's issue of the Times for special services not called to the attention of this paper.

Thief River Falls business places will close from noon to 3 p.m. Friday to permit employees to attend Good Friday services. They will reopen at 3 p.m. and many will remain open until 9 p.m.

Both local banks will close at noon Friday and be closed for the remainder of the day but drive-in windows at both banks will be open from 3 to 7:30 p.m. First Federal Savings and Loan association will be closed from noon to 3 p.m. and open from 3 to 4:30 p.m.

City and county offices will be closed all day Friday. Patrick Culkins, office manager of the Pennington County ASCS committee, noted that the office would be open Friday forenoon, closed from noon to 3 p.m. and would reopen at 3 p.m.

Special Services

Trinity Lutheran church has noted that joint Good Friday services will be held with the "Seven Last Words" as the basis for meditations from noon to 3 p.m. Worshippers are invited for all or any part of the three-hour service but are asked to enter or leave during designated intermissions.

Seven individual services, including a message, hymn and special musical number will comprise the three hours of Good Friday observance.

Times of service and pastors participating include the following: Noon, Rev. Harvey Jacobson, Strandquist; 12:25 p.m., Rev. Duane Nelson, Middle River; 12:50 p.m., Lay Pastor Neil Hendrickson, Zion; 1:15 p.m., Rev. Leland Steen, Zion; 1:40 p.m., Rev. Harold R. Peterson, Trinity; 2:05 p.m., Rev. R. A. Wangberg, Trinity; and 2:30 p.m., Rev. Dennis Rodin, Redeemer. An invitation is extended by the churches to all members of the community.

Sunday evening at 8 p.m. the film "The Lord Is Risen" will be shown at Faith Lutheran Brethren church in Thief River Falls. The film portrays the procession to Golgotha, crucifixion, burial of Jesus and the resurrection, as well as events following the resurrection.

The public is invited to attend and a lunch will be served following the service.

Mantrap Course Will Start Here Tues., April 12

Something new in the way of management training programs has been scheduled for small businessmen by the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce and the Small Business administration, according to Dean Charles White of the local junior college and Wayne Meisner of the vocational-technical school staff, coordinators.

"Mantrap is a business game designed to bring out the best of the businessmen and offers a pleasant opportunity of running a company through various business crises without risking real dollars in a real business," the coordinators said.

Businessmen in and around Thief River Falls who wish to enroll in this eight-week management program should contact Richard Hamilton at the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce. Mantrap will be conducted on April 12, 19, 26 and May 3, 10, 17, 24 and 31.

Businessmen will be placed on teams of five members. Each team will represent a company and will be involved in deciding the course of action to be taken in nine different business situations. If the team makes the right decision, the stock market of the company will go up and if they make a wrong decision, the stock market value will go down.

"One of the most significant benefits gained from Mantrap is a more fundamental appreciation of how the decision-making process works and the role of information in decisions. Businessmen who have already played Mantrap praise it as a most effective method of learning new management techniques and an exciting experience," White and Meisner noted.

Enrollment will be limited and businessmen are urged to register early.

Concert Ass'n. Arranges 1966-67 Concert Program

Encouraged by the attendance of more than 600 people at an initial concert by the Minneapolis Console Piano quartet, Thief River Falls Concert association is in the process of arranging concerts for the 1966-67 season. Arrangements for a variety of concerts to suit many musical tastes are being made through Allied Concert services of Minneapolis, according to Justus Larson, president of the local association.

Contracts have been signed for an appearance here of the Texas Boys choir, a 26-voice choir which has traveled throughout the nation for several years. Other concerts will be announced as contacts are completed, Larson said.

A campaign for membership in the association will take place in September with the concert series to start in October. Plans are to sell membership on the basis of individual adults, couples, families and students. All concerts being held in the Lincoln senior high school auditorium.

Information on the Texas Boys choir states:

"Unique among the great boy choirs of history, it is a non-denominational civic organization founded in 1946. Today the city of Forth Worth follows its boy choir activities with the same pride and interest as another city might express in a championship athletic team. It is not unusual for the local paper to carry wire reports from Europe, or where ever the choir may be, of the choir's previous day's concert.

"The 26 boys traveling with conductor Luis Berber of the present tour are the first choir of the three choirs in the 150 audition selected voices that attend the year around school in Fort Worth that provides a well-rounded educat along with an intensive special course in all branches of music. tour, the choir is not only recognized as the best in America but the equal of anything in Europe, according to European critics. Acclaimed in more than 1,000 concerts, numerous television shows, orchestral appearances and several recordings, the choir is conducted on this tour by Berber, former conductor of the Singing Boys of Mexico.

The choir's program ranges from religious music to classical compositions and concludes with several folks ballads.

TRF Designated As Center for Reading Course

Thief River Falls was been designated by the Minnesota department of education as one of the 30 centers for a short course on "Reading for the Disadvantaged" under Title I, Public Law 89-10, according to Francis Hamerlinck, administrative assistant at the local school.

The classes will be held in the Franklin junior high school one night each week for six weeks. The first class will be held from 6:30 to 9 p.m. on Wednesday, April 13.

"Although the course was planned for assisting supplemental reading teachers, enrollment will be open to other elementary and secondary teachers who may wish to participate. This will be a non-credit, tuition free course."

Social Security Man Here Tuesday

Chuck Fahlberg, field representative of the Social Security district office in Grand Forks, N. D. will be in Thief River Falls at the city auditorium on Tuesday from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Schedule Roundup For Pre-School Children Here

Parents are reminded of the pre-school roundup which will be held Saturday, April 16, at the Washington elementary school from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. under the sponsorship of the local PTA units.

All children who are five years old on or before Sept. 1, 1966, and who will be entering kindergarten in the fall, are invited to attend. All rural kindergarteners and children who will begin school for the first time this fall must attend the roundup.

Invitations have been mailed. New residents together with rural residents and others in the community who may not have received an invitation are also urged to attend the roundup.

Children unable to attend or those not receiving invitations are asked to call Mrs. Merle Lindberg at 681-1536 or Mrs. Margaret Race at 681-1236.

The child's birth certificate must be presented at the roundup, if possible. This can be obtained at the Clerk of Court's office in the county where the child was born. A hospital birth certificate will not be accepted.

Heart Ass'n. Has Awards Program For Research

Minnesota Heart association today announced that applications for research fellowships and grants in-aid to support scientific research projects are now available.

According to Reuben Berman, M. D., president of the Minnesota Heart association, over $100,000 in search in the cardiovascular fields and related problems in the basic sciences.

"The Heart association is the largest non-governmental source of support to individual scientists engaged in research aimed at halting diseases of the heart and blood vessels," Dr. Berman said.

Individuals who have had two years of research are eligible to apply. Except under unusual circumstances, investigators are limited to a total of three years' support. The three years need not be consecutive.

The Minnesota Heart association research allocations committee, composed of eight outstanding medical scientists, will review the applications. Deadline for the applications is May 2, 1966. J. J. Garamella, M. D., is the chairman of the committee.

Funds for the research program came entirely from public contributions to the annual independent Heart Fund campaign each February.

Those interested in applying should contact the Minnesota Heart association, 1821 University Avenue, St. Paul 4, for further information.

Rep. Fitzsimons Attends Several Interim Meetings

Rep. Richard W. Fitzsimons of Argyle attended the regular quarterly meeting of the legislative advisory committee in the office of Governor Karl Rolvaag on Monday of last week.

The committee completed a heavy agenda of requests for funds at the Monday meeting. Among the numerous allocations for funds at the meeting was a greatly speeded up program of vocational rehabilitation for the handicapped and the blind. "With the added staff this program should go a long way in reducing the number of people in these categories waiting for training Rep. Fitzsimons said.

"A project of great interest to dairy farmers in Minnesota is the approval by the committee of the research program in new dairy products that has been going on for the past two years at the University of Minnesota. This quarter of a million dollar research project promises to come up with some wonderful new products and uses for milk and dairy products in the next few years.

"Numerous smaller requests from various departments of state government were given approval by the committee, the legislator added.

Rep. Fitzsimons has attended several budget hearings being held by the appropriations committee of which he is chairman during the past two weeks. Latest in a series of hearings extending throughout the entire interim period were requests by the state extension service for proposed changes in the extension law as well as requests for funds for new services and expanded programs to meet the demands of the public by the extension service. On Friday of last week the committee heard the request for new programs and services as well as regular budget requests from the department of agriculture at a meeting held at Willmar.

The department of welfare appeared before the committee on Monday of this week to seek approval for a pilot project at the school for the blind and gave some preliminery requests for budget for the next biennum.

Librarian Hears New Author at Library Meeting

Miss Bertha Hustad, head librarian at Carnegie Public library in Thief River Falls, attended a oneday meeting Monday at the University of Minnesota campus in Minneapolis. "Books for Young and Old" was the theme of the meeting.

Mrs. Willard Donahue, Owatonna discussed books for homemakers and Gil Johnson discussed books on travel. Main speaker was Mrs. Dorothy Reid of Ft. William, Ontario, author of "Tales of Nanabozho", whose topic was "Where the Legends Live". She recounted tales told to her children by Indians of that area.

Since they were placed on sale in 1941 nearly 10 billion individual U. S. savings stamps have been sold. They are available at post offices and through weekly "stamp days" in schools.

improvement of three and one-half miles of CSAH 20 from highway 1 north of the Marshall county line and 10½ miles of road from the Kratka bridge north to the Marshall county line, and renewed support of the Northwestern Mental Health Center at Crookston at a cost of $3,675.18.

The board also implemented procedure to attempt recovery under a federal program of part of the funds expended for damage caused by flooding last year. Delegations were also heard from Reiner township requesting a protective dike on the Red Lake reservation line and the Northwest Pellet association requesting the county to assume responsibility for a section of road near the plant being built north of the city.

River Ice Out; New Cold Blast Hits Area Monday

Mild weather has given way to abnormally cold and snowy weather as a low-pressure area to the east has drawn arctic air from the north. The snow has not yet been measurable, but variable cloudiness with light snow is predicted today, tonight and tomorrow. Highs today will range from 34 to 44; lows tonight from 22 to 32.

Temperature and precipitation readings recorded at the airport are as follows: 35, 23 and a trace on Monday; 37 and 28 on Tuesday; and a low this morning of 25 with a trace of snow recorded.

Warm weather last week spelled doom for the ice in the Red Lake River. The ice broke up between 8 and 9 p.m. Monday night.

PHONE IN YOUR LOCAL NEWS:

Public Opinion

To the Editor:

After reading the news reports given in the Grand Forks-Herald and the Minneapolis Morning Tribune in regard to our recent Farmer - Labor convention here in Pennington county, it seems that a few corrections are in order so as to set the record straight. In this connection see also the letter of Merle Kruschke in the Minneapolis Morning Tribune for Monday, April 4.

The resolution recommending the endorsement of Senator Mondale, Governor Rolvaag, and the other state Farmer - Labor officials was not defeated "overwhelmingly", nor was it defeated nearly "unanimously" as stated in the two papers. The undersigned was not a delegate to the convention, but I was present, and know, that the resolution was defeated by only a few votes.

This resolution to recommend and endorse Mondale, Rolvaag, and our other Farmer-Labor officials was offered by two farmers, and was seconded by two of the old Farmer-Labor leaders of the county.

I have talked with a lot of people in this county and in eastern Marshall county and as near as I can find out the people of this county and this part of the state are very much in favor of Mondale, Rolvaag and our other Farmer - Labor officials. Karl Rolvaag has a splendid progressive record as Governor. He is without doubt the strongest and best candidate we can offer the people for Governor, and he deserves re-election to another term.

However it seems that a few Republicans must have gotten themselves elected delegates to our convention so as to come in and back up the followers of Sandy Keith. Even so the resolution was only defeated by a few votes.

Just why a county convention in a strong Farmer-Labor county like Pennington should fail to recommend and endorse Mondale, Rolvaag and other state state officials is certainly a great mystery. Governor Rolvaag has made several trips up here into northern Minnesota to help out in various matters. Our State Railroad and Warehouse commission has had two hearings up here and helped us in the fight to keep the Soo Line passenger trains. The attorney-general's office has kept one or two attorney's working on the Soo Line case for several months. Clearly this city, and this county and this part of the state owe something to Governor Rolvaag, the Railroad and Warehouse commission and the Attoreny General.

The convention should have been willing to take a stand, and adopt this resolution so as to give a few words of commendation to those who have helped us in this Soo Line matter. I am satisfied that even Mr. Kruschke, who led the fight against the resolution, will admit that this locality owes something to the Governor, the Attorney-General, and the Railroad and Warehouse commission. Mr. Kruschke, a a delegate, should have recognized this instead of helping to defeat the resolution, and creating friction and discord.

In conclusion I want to urge all Farmer-Laborites of this part of the state to close ranks and get out and fight. Let us adopt the slogan of the days of Floyd B. Olson and "stick together." With Rolvaag at the head we can have a strong ticket. Let us not be misled by strangers that come into our community, but let us have harmony and co-operation in the party so that we can march on to victory on election day.

Yours very Truly

World Hunger Theme Outlined at Seminar

There could come a time within the next 20 years when, even with our full agricultural capacity engaged, there would not be enough food for the developing nations.

Nathan M. Koffsky, director of agricultural economics in the office of the U. S. secretary of agriculture, outlined the world food problem and some steps to correct it at the last of four seminars on world food problems sponsored by the University of Minnesota St. Paul campus committee on international programs.

Speaking Monday evening on the St. Paul campus of the university, Koffsky said that the developing nations must increase their agricultural capacity by producing greater yields on existing acreage.

Unless the developing nations improve their ability to feed themselves, the next generation could well be worse off than this one, Koffsky commented.

The developing nations have a birthrate twice that of the already developed nations and a food-population problem is two-bladed. Population control would help these countries over the long run, Koffsky said.

He proposed seven points which would aid the developing nations achieve agricultural production consistent with their food needs.

1. The cultivators of the land must be given the incentive to raise their production. This means that prices and incomes to cultivators needs to be high enough to encourage them to increase food production. In some areas this may call for land reforms so that the fruits of increased production are passed on to the cultivator.

2. Fertilizer, pesticides and improved seed should be made available on reasonable terms.

3. Economic and political stability are necessary to the progress and change in those countries.

4. Educaton should not only include improved literacy and communication, but should be vitally concerned with improved agricultural practices.

5. Credit not only should be extended to the countries, but also should be made available at reasonable rates to the agricultural producers so they can purchase the supplies and equipment necessary to increase production.

6. Marketing and transportation systems need to be improved to permit the flow of farm produce to the cities and the flow of consumer goods and supplies back to the countryside.

7. Agricultural research is vital to developing countries. These countries must sustain an agricultural development rate of four per cent per year if they are to adequately feed their people. Their present rate of two and one-half per cent per year is not sufficient to feed their populations at an adequate diet level.

"It will not be easy to achieve a four per cent rate," Koffsky said. "This is higher than the developed nations as a group have had, but it has been accomplished in recent imes by some less developed nations."

Dentists Attend State Convention

Drs. E. E. Snyder, J. W. Ewing, Ervin L. Kiesz, Donald R. Goodrich and H. R. Achenbach of Thief River Falls were among some 2,500 dentists from 15 states who attended the 83rd annual meeting of the Minnesota State Dental association in St. Paul municipal auditorium last week.

The three-day session stressed ways by which tooth decay and gum diseases can be prevented rather than treated after they occur.

Newfolden F.H.A. Will Hold Style Revue April 16

"Hawaiian Holiday" is the theme of the event. Tickets are on sale at the H & E Cafe in Newfolden or can b purchased from any F. H.A. member at 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for students.

Powers Condemns Langen Voting In U.S. Congress

"Minnesota's 7th District Republican Congressman Odin Langen is a good example of how the state's four GOP Congressmen speak like moderates at home but vote as extreme conservatives in Congress states Greg Powers, DFL 7th District chairman.

"In a newsletter to voters in his district after the first session of the 89th Congress, Langen took credit for congressional actions which in reality he did little to support.

"On crucial votes he was in favor of re-committal of almost every bill. This vote, had it been successful, would in effect have killed the President's 'Great Society' legislation. Then, when this tactic failed he turned around, an in most cases, voted with the majority, giving the false impression that he favored passage. This same tactic continues now too.

"He voted against many of the bills that were of special interest to the rural areas such as H. R. 9811—flood and agriculture act—a bill to maintain farm income, to stabilize prices and assure adequate supplies of agricultural commodities, to reduce surpluses, lower government costs and promote foreign trade, to afford greater economic opportunity in rural areas and for other purposes.

"Congressman Langen also voted against extension of the Area Redevelopment act; the act to provide scenic development and road beautification of the federal aid highway systems; the bill to expand the war on poverty; the bill to strengthen and improve quality and opportunity in the nation's elementary and secondary schools; medicare; the act to provide grants for public works and financial assistance and planning and coordination needed to help economically distressed areas and regions; and he voted against adoption of the conference report for an act authorizing construction of flood control projects.

"In view of the flooding that is hitting the 7th District this year, the voters should keep this in mind when they go to the polls next November," Powers concluded.

School Board and Council Discuss School Problems

35 acres adjoining this property which had been reserved for cemetery expansion.

Asked to review the progress of the school board on vocational-technical school planning, Supt. M. R. Hankerson reviewed action on that educational phase and emphasized the importance of time on the project. He noted that $100,000 had been included in the $1,495,000 bond issue passed several years ago for vocational school improvement, and added that since that time the federal government has entered into participation in vocational school construction.

According to Hankerson's remarks, the federal government would participate through the state department of education in up to one-half the cost of such construction. The architectural firm of Jyring and Whiteman of Hibbing was retained by the board to assist in vocational planning, and, after review of the local situation, has made a preliminary estimate of 40,000 square feet of building needed at a projected cost of approximately $760,000.

With federal participation in up to one-half of that amount, and $100,000 currently on hand and available for construction, the project could be completed for a bond issue of about $300,000, he said. Thief River Falls now holds a high priority in qualifying for federal funds, but must act soon to make formal application for funds. Supt. Hankerson expressed the opinion that available site should be decided soon so that application can be made for funds appropriated for the next fiscal year, beginning July 1.

The state department of education has stipulated that construction should be on a site no less than 20 acres in size with 30 acres preferred. He also noted that 80 per cent of the current enrollment of the vocational school is from outside the district and has tuition paid by the state. Tuition is based on cost, he said, and cost includes buildings. Should the percentage of enrollment from outside the district remain about the same, the bond issue required for construction would be about 80 per cent paid through tuition fees.

Dean Charles White of the junior college noted that Thief River Falls is the only community designated as a permanent junior college location which does not yet have a site selected. All other colleges have secured their sites and most are beginning master planning.

In discussion following the reports, it was agreed that further contacts would be made with various units of government, organizations and individuals involved with the intent to move rapidly toward final action on site attainment. Several possibilities unknown to the group would be explored in these actions.

Gordon Mattinson, Once of Plummer-Brooks Area, Dies

Gordon C. Mattison, 35, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Mattison of the Brooks and Plummer area, died Friday, April 1, at Kelso, Wash., where he had resided for the past two and one-half years.

A complete obituary will be in the Times on Monday.

S. Floyd Daniels Former Local Businessman, Dies

S. Floyd Daniels, 74, of St. Cloud and a former operator of a lumber company in Thief River Falls, died Thursday, March 31, at a St. Cloud hospital. Funeral services for Mr. Daniels were held Saturday in St. Cloud.

S. Floyd Daniels, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Saneca Daniels, was born in Langford, S. D. on Feb. 12, 1892. Later the family moved to Argyle where he attended school and graduated from the Argyle high school. In 1921 he was married to Margaret Sinclair. He was a veteran of World War I and was a member of the American Legion Post of St. Cloud and of the Masonic Lodge of Thief River Falls.

Engaged in the lumber business, Mr. Daniels managed Central Lumber company yards in Drayton, N. D., Argyle, Sauk Rapids and St. Cloud. He also operated a lumber company in Thief River Falls with Al Skarstad from 1937 to 1944. Until retirement a few years ago, he operated a real estate and appraisal business in St. Cloud.

He is survived by his wife and one sister. A son, Cameron, preceded him in death in February 1963.

Mrs. H. Haugen 48, of Newfolden Dies April 3

Mrs. Harvey (Esther) Haugen, 48, of rural Newfolden, died Sunday, April 3, at Northwestern hospital.

Funeral services for Mrs. Harvey Haugen will be held Thursday at 2 p.m. at the Rindal Lutheran church with the Rev. Marius Hankestad officiating. Mrs. Myrin Carlson will serve as soloist and Mary Carlson as organist.

Pallbearers will be Donald Anderson, Wallace Anderson, Helmer Kalbakdalen, Emil Hellquist, Edwin Quam and Olaus Matson. Funeral arrangements are by the Sindling's Funeral chapel and interment will be in the church cemetery.

Mrs. Haugen was born Esther Fieman on April 3, 1918 at Crookston to Jack Fieman and Emma Tiedemann Fieman. She received her elementary education at Euclid and attended high school at Crookston. On July 27, 1946 she was united in marriage to Harvey Haugen at Thief River Falls. The Haugens farmed near Euclid and Angus until 1961 and since that time have farmed in New Solum township, Marshall county.

She was a member of the Rindal Lutheran church.

Survivors include her husband, Harvey Haugen; three sons and two daughters, Roger Haugen, with the U. S. Army, stationed at Fort Eustis, Va.; Alvin, Richard, Karen and Janna, all at home; three brothers, William Fieman, Lloyd Wallace and Glen Wallace, all of Euclid; and four sisters, Mrs. Orin (Thelma) Dalve, Ogema; Mrs. Ben (Lois) Goosen, Euclid; Mrs. Lee (Marian) Watkins, Gunnison, Colo., and Mrs. Donna Burdick of Janesville, Wis.

She was preceded in death by her parents and one brother.

Rites Held Here Saturday For Alf Anderson, 76

Alf O. Anderson, 76, a retired railroad employee who was born and lived for many years in this city, died unexpectedly Wednesday, March 30, at his home at 710 Selby Avenue, St. Paul.

Funeral services for Alf Anderson were held here Saturday at 2 p.m. in the Green Funeral chapel. The Rev. Leland Steen officiated and interment was in the Greenwood cemetery. Music at the funeral was provided by Mrs. Sherman Idslo who played the organ and served as soloist.

Pallbearers were Millard Nelson, Helmer Halland, R. A. Werner, Olaf Solheim, Clifford Overum and Jorgen Austad.

Alf O. Anderson, a son of the late Charley and Olivia Anderson, was born Aug. 14, 1889 in Thief River Falls. He attended school and grew to manhood in this community. At the age of 21 years, he became an employee of the Soo Line Railroad. Following 26 years of employment, he moved to St. Paul, transferred to the Great Northern railroad and after 12 years of service, retired at the age of 65 years.

On Aug. 5, 1925, Mr. Anderson was united in marriage to Clara Gullingsrud of this city.

He was a member of the Young Pine Lodge IOOF 221 of Thief River Falls for over 45 years.

He is survived by his wife, Clara.

Walter Lietzow Services Held Today At Zion

Funeral services for Walter E. Lietzow, 52, a resident of Numedal township, Pennington county, who died Sunday, were held today (Wednesday) at 2 p.m. at the Zion Lutheran church. The Rev. Leland Sten officiated. Mrs. James Dalager served as organist and hymns were sung by Bryant Ulseth.

Pallbearers were Norval Johnson, Raymond Olson, Clifford Vigness, Leo Ellingson, Kenneth Wendel and Andrew Grendahl. Interment was in the Greenwood cemetery and funeral arrangements were by the Green Funeral home.

Walter Edward Lietzow was born June 15, 1913 at Dundurn, Sask., Canada to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lietzow. He received his education and grew to manhood in Canada. On Nov. 5, 1940 he was united in marriage to Clara Pfiefer at Haultain, Sask. Canada. Mr. and Mrs. Lietzow farmed in Canada until 1952 when the family moved to Thief River Falls; settling on a farm in Numedal township where he had since made his home.

He was a member of the Zion Lutheran church.

Survivors include his wife, Clara; two sons, Edward Lietzow of Minneapolis and Ronald, at home; three daughters, Mrs. Larry (Marian) Ellingson of Minneapolis, Mrs. Erling (Clare) Thompson of Sweeney, Texas and Lorraine Lietzow of Minneapolis;

Also his mother, Mrs. Bertha Lietzow and one brother, Alvin Lietzow, both of rural Thief River Falls; two sisters, Mrs. Florence Bransell and Mrs. Elsie Pfiefer, both of Saskatoon, Sask., Canada, and two grandchildren, James and Lorri Thompson.

He was preceded in death by his father.

Tax Questions Asked Of Internal Revenue

Taxpayers ask the Internal Revenue service thousands of questions while trying to prepare their 1965 federal income tax returns. Questions about income tax forms were by far the most frequent. These ranged from what forms were needed to when and where they could be obtained.

The two basic individual income tax forms are the 1040 and must be used if a taxpayer itemizes deductions or income is over certain levels, according to IRS.

Many taxpayers will also have to file additional schedules or forms with their 1040's. For example, Schedule B must be included if a person has income from pensions, annuities, rents, royalties, partnerships estates or trusts or if he claims the retirement income credit; Schedule D must be filed if he has gains or losses from the sale of property such as stock or real estate; Schedule F must be filed to report farm income.

For any form, check with the local IRS office.

Who can use the short form 1040A?

Generally speaking, you can't use 1040A if (1) you itemize deductions; (2) income was $10,000 or over; (3) more than $1,200 of income was not subject to withholding tax; (4) special tax status or tax credits are claimed; (5) a fiscal year or actual accounting method is used; (6) you are delinquent in filing.

What are the tax benefits for those 65 and over?

Tax benefits for those 65 years of age include:

(1) extra personal exemption; (2) all medical and drug expenses fully deductible without being subject to either three per cent or one per cent limitation; (3) retirement income credit; (4) tax free sale of home under certain conditions.

Are social security benefits taxable?

Social security benefits are not security benefits whether received monthly or in a lump sum and whether or not they are received from the federal government or from a state under a federal program.

What can be deducted for medical expenses?

You may deduct medical expenses paid for the prevention, cure or treatment of a physical or mental illness or defect. This includes expenses paid for spouse and dependents.

Out-of-pocket transportation expenses for a trip to the doctor or the hospital may be included when figuring medical expenses. Hospitalization and medical insurance premiums may also be deducted but reimbursements from any health plans for accident or illness must be subtracted from your expenses. Medical expenses that exceed three per cent of adjusted drug expenses to the extent they exceed one per cent of adjusted gross income are deductible. These one per cent and three per cent floors do not apply for those 65 years of age and over.

Who can be claimed as a dependent?

There are five tests that must be met before exemption may be claimed for a dependent for tax purposes. These tests are (1) gross income, (2) support, (3) joint return, (4) citizenship, and (5) relationship.

How do I compute my tax?

For incomes under $5,000 the tax tables in the instructions may be used. Table A is for single persons, Table B for married persons filing joint returns or unmarried head of household, and Table C for married persons filing separate returns.

For incomes over $5,000 the tax rate schedules must be used.

Looking Backward

1906—SIXTY YEARS AGO

Petitions are being circulated in Marshall county calling for a vote at the state election in November on the question of dividing the county. If the vote carried, the new county would be called Hiawatha, and Middle River would be its seat.—O. A. Peterson, clothing manager of the Golden Rule Department store, left for Brainerd to marry Miss Hermine Alger.—Surveyors made the startling discovery that Bridge st. on the east side was 75 feet wide. Residents along the street had thought it 65 feet wide.—Representative Steenerson's drainage bill is running into opposition in Congress. One of its supporters is the not-yet-infamous Representative Volstend.

1916—FIFTY YEARS AGO

A committee including Dr. G. A. Benney, C. L. Hanson and others was named to organize a high-powered baseball club in his city.—Daniel Shaw was elected president of the Jefferson Highway assn. at its origizational meeting in Be- from Benson, where he bought several carloads of horses.—Mrs. W. H. Bon Durant returned frm a visit with her parents in New Richland, Wis.

1926—FORTY YEARS AGO

Harold C. Hand of Lakota, N. D. was named Lincoln high school principal.—Albert S. Lieberman, local clothier for 13 years, died in Los Angeles, Calif.—Twenty golfers were playing on the local golf course April 11.—Ward Mathewson returned from a visit with friends in Chicago.—Mrs. R. Arnold and daughter Lillian left for an extended visit in Greeley, Colo.

1936—THIRTY YEARS AGO

Theodore Quale was reelected Pennington county Republican chairman.—Arthur Nelson was named valedictorian and Victor Jung salutatorian of the Lincoln high school graduating class of 1936.—Fred F. Protz succeeded J. E. Bloomquist as exalted ruler of the local Elks lodge.—Following a blizzard, the mercury dropped April 7 to 13 below zero. This was the last blow of the coldest winter on record.

1946—TWENTY YEARS AGO

Mrs. Melvin Larson was elected president of the Knox PTA unit, succeeding Mrs. Gordon Lucas.—Paul Cyr, age 5, of Red Lake Falls was fatally injured when struck by a Great Northern train while playing on a track near his home.—Mrs. Victor Kvikstad was named President of the Washington PTA.—J. M. Rocha was named to head the newly organized TRF Toastmasters' club.—The city council granted permits calling for the construction of 23 new residences in the city.—Elmer A. Andersen, district appraiser for the state division of lands and minerals, formerly of Bemidji, established his headquarters in this city.

1956—TEN YEARS AGO

Life in this city was made interesting early last week by a late-season, 12-inch snowstorm and a three-hour blackout on the west side.—Frank Railey, manager of the local Montgomery Wards store the past 3½ years, moved to Sioux Falls, S. D.—Clair Bartosh of Buffalo, Minn. was appointed to succeed Kalmer Ostby as Lincoln high school principal.—Ole Peterson of Hazel, Pennington county's oldest living pioneer, celebrated his 95th birthday.

REVIEWING activities of the past several days in assisting with flood relief work in the Roseau area are several Salvation Army representatives who assisted in the area. All of the automotive units in the photo were involved in the relief operation, according to Lt. Harold Shelby, right, officer of the Thief River Falls Salvation Army unit, whose territory includes the Roseau community. Salvation Army assistance included providing coffee, doughnuts and sandwiches to flood workers, aiding in evacuation of property and physical help on sandbagging and other work. Another crest at Roseau was expected in a couple of days when this picture was taken Tuesday near the Salvation Army citadel in Thief River Falls. Lt. Shelby and other Salvation Army workers have been working long hours on flood assistance in a number of area communities.

How's Your Health?

(Prepared in the public interest by the Minnesota Medical Ass'n)

It is very difficult for an adult to adjust to a physical handicap, and it is natural to want to help this person as much as possible. The Minnesota State Medical association points out, however, that it may be more helpful to allow the disabled person to do things for himself.

Certain diseases, such as some arthritis, and even the aging process, restrict activity. As yet there is no cure for some of these diseases. The patient must learn to accomodate his way of living to his more limited physical capabilities.

Doctors say it is sometimes possible that the patient is not interested in minimizing his pysyical problems. A physical handicap may accenturate natural dependency. The lack of intellectual or educational background or plain laziness may prevent the patient from developing his capabilities to the fullest extent. A person who is concerned about his appearance may object to equipment or techniques which are not cosmetic or graceful in use. People who have cared for others all their lives may feel that it is their turn to receive care.

The association makes several suggestions which might prove useful in helping a handicapped person. It is wise to first check with the patient's physician. With the help of the doctor, it can be determined what an individual can realistically expect the patient to do and what he is not able to do. Offer help, but don't force it on someone. Find out what activity is most important to the patient, and start with that, even if it is only eating or playing cards. By combining personal ideas with the patient's, both will be more satisfied. A physician or therapist may be able to teach techniques which will be particularly helpful to the handicapped person in the family, the association concludes.

A recent report from the Minnesota department of health indicates an increased incidence of German measles, or rubella, during the first two months of this year. In light of evidence of the association of measles infection in early pregnancy with birth defects, the outbreak of this disease may be cause for concern, according to a bulletin released today by the Minnesota medical association.

If a woman contracts the rubella virus during the first trimester of her pregnancy, the virus may pass through the placenta of the mother and infect the child. Rubella in the fetus may cause serious and incurable abnormalities of the eye or heart. The virus may also cause miscarriage or stillbirth.

According to the association, the recently discovered measles vaccine is ineffectual against rubella. Gamma globulin is often administered when a pregnant woman is exposed to rubella in her own home, but many doctors consider the use of any kind of preventatives highly questionable. Research is now being conducted in many laboratories to develop a vaccine against German measles.

While rubella is potentially dangerous to the fetus during the first 14 weeks of pregnancy, the MSMA reports that new figures for the incidence of fetal deformity are encouragingly low. A recent study involving a group of women who had rubella early in pregnancy indicates that only three per cent of the liveborn offspring had congenital malformations. Only a small percentage of the babies were stillborn or died shortly after birth. Another study showed defects in only four per cent of the fetuses obtained by abortion of mothers who had had rubella.

Although these figures are more encouraging than earlier reports on the relation of German measles to birth defects, rubella still presents a risk to the pregnant woman, the doctors advise that girls be exposed to rubella before they reach child bearing age to be reasonably certain of immunity later when infection could be tragic.

Minnesota Medical association has reported that the cancer mortality rate is growing more rapidly than the population. The statistics of the American Cancer society are more encouraging, however, for the female than the male. In the last 30 years, the mortality rate from cancer has risen 35 per cent for males, as compared to a 13 per cent decrease for females.

The decline in mortality among females can be accounted for largely by reduced mortality from cancer of the uterus. The genitalia is one of the most frequent sites of cancer in women.

In most cases, cervical cancer can be cured if it is detected in its earliest stages. Studies in various parts of the country have shown that the incidence of the more advanced form of this cancer, invasive carcinoma of the cervix, declined as much as 51 per cent when repeated screening was done with a relatively stable population.

Doctors use a simple test to detect cervical cancer. During a pelvic examination, a cervical smear, the "Pap smear," is taken. By examining the smear under a microscope, the doctor can determine if any abnormal cells are present. So far in Minnesota, only 19 per cent of the female population has been screened using the Pap smear.

Most of the women have been 30 years of age or older. Doctors recommend that younger women also be tested. While most cases of cervical cancer occur in women over 30, many cases have been found in younger women. Researchers have also found that cervical cancer is more prevalent among women who were married and-or had children before they were 20 years old.

The medical associaton urges all women to have a cancer smear taken annually. It might save a life.

Public Notices

Card of Thanks

The family of Even Hansen wish to thank all who helped make his stay at Northwestern hospital more pleasant; also to thank those who extended their sympathy during our bereavement. Special thanks to Pastor Nelson for his comforting words; Lester and Shiela Elseth for their music; the pallbearers, Otto Knutson Legion post 427 and Green Funeral Home for their services. Your kindness will long be remembered. 1t28p

Card of Thanks

I wish to extend my heartfelt thanks to our relatives, friends, and neighbors for their many acts of kindness during my recent bereavement. Especially do I thank Rev. Leland Steen for his comforting words, the Green Funeral home, the pallbearers, and Mrs. Idso for her songs. Also the Zion Ladies aid for serving lunch after the services and for the beautiful flowers and memorials. Mrs. Alf O. Anderson. 1t28p

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our thanks to relatives and friends for their expressions of sympathy after the sudden death of our father. A special thanks to Pastor Neilsen, pastor Kramer, Marvin Sandberg, soloist and Mrs. Orville Larson, organist, the pallbearers, circle 1 of Nazareth and to Charlie Collins for their kindness and help. Memorials and flowers. Sagstuen family. 1t28p

Card of Thanks

I would like to thank the Northwestern hospital staff, Dr. Wendt, and to all who remembered me in anyway during my recent stays at the hospital. Mrs. Elgin Loeffler. 1t28c

Ducks, Drainage Aired at Meeting

Approximately 100 persons gathered recently at a meeting in the Gatzke school to discuss crop depredation from wildlife and drainage problems. Represented at the meeting were farmers, sportsmen, fish and wildlife service and state legislators.

Reporting on crop damage from wildlife and offering suggestions to control these losses were Carol Curtiss, Nilo Rantanen, Raymond Taus, Clarence Linn, Betty Rantenen and Adolph Steinhauer. Some indicated they had less crop damage from ducks last year due to the feeding programs conducted on the Agassiz National Wildlife refuge and Thief Lake wildlife management area.

Claude Alexander, manager of the Agassiz refuge, explained efforts by his personnel to help control crop losses from water fowl. He also noted that long range plans call for better water control through the refuge, including channel improvement on the Thief river and Ditch 11 within refuge boundaries.

Julian Rodahl, area farmer, reviewed recurring flood conditions below the Agassiz refuge and urged that an overall flood control plan be considered on the Thief river.

Vern Gunvalson of Bemidji, regional game manager for the department of conservation, and Robert Farmes, Thief River Falls, area game manager, represented the Minnesota division of game and fish. They noted that the department is considering purchase of very little private land in the area for expansion of wildlife production and management. Ole Prestebak and Robert Wiseth spoke against further acquisition of private land.

Attending the session as representatives of governing bodies were Sen. Donald Sinclair of Stephen, Rep. Richard Fitzsimons of Argyle and Rep. Everett Battles of Warroad, as well as James Glenn, Roseau county commissioner.

Rep. Fitzsimons stated that working through the outdoor recreation resources commission he was hopeful that a study might be made of the area problems arising from damage of crops by waterfowl. He suggested that a pilot project be established in that area to appraise and pay for crop damage from waterfowl on an experimental basis.

Sen. Sinclair indicated that during the year a public hearing would be held in northwestern Minnesota by a legislative committee in regard to drainage laws and changes that will be considered in the 1967 session of the legislature.

Delmar Hagen of Gatzke served as chairman for the meeting with Orlin Dahl acting as secretary.

Since no Times reporter was able to cover the meeting, Hagen provided the preceding report.

Many Tax Returns Incomplete Due To Carelessness

More than 100 federal tax returns are being returned daily to taxpayers who fail to enclose their withholding statements, forms W-2 and who forget to sign their returns.

"The 1965 tax return is incomplete if it is not signed, and if proof of wages earned and tax withheld is disclosed by forms W-2 is not submitted," according to George O. Lethert, district director of Internal Revenue.

Most of these returns which cannot be processed show refunds due the taxpayers, Lethert indicated.

"We are as anxious to speed tax refunds to taxpayers as they are to receive these checks," Lethert stated. "I urge all taxpayers to check their returns before mailing them. Be sure the W-2's are attached, that the return is signed, and that the social security number is reported. This will eliminate delays in getting a tax refund."

Hybrid Carrot Among Varieties For Home Garden

If you wait impatiently each year for the carrots in your garden, you can solve your problem by planting a new hybrid carrot this year.

O. C. Turnquist, extension horticulturist at the University of Minnesota, reports that Pioneer Hybrid, one of the first hybrid carrots available for the home garden, reaches edible size more quickly than most carrots because of its hybrid vigor. In shape and quality it resembles the popular variety Nantes.

Pioneer Hybrid was rated high in both yield and quality in variety trials conducted in Minnesota last year by the University of Minnesota agricultural extension service in cooperation with some and commercial gardeners.

Vegetable varieties tested in 1965 and found suitable for planting in Minnesota are listed and described in a newly revised university agricultural extension service publication, extension folder 154, "1966 Vegetable Varieties."

Turnquist, who is author of the publication, recommends that gardeners plant some of the newer tested varieties that are adapted to Minnesota. Many of these are better producers, more disease resistant and of higher quality than older varieties.

Among some of the newer varieties the University horticulturist suggests for Minnesota home gardens are: Spartan Arrow snap bean, a good freezing variety with attractive green round pods averaging six inches long; Fulton lettuce, a newly early Iceberg-type producing compact, uniform heat-resistant heads; Sweetpod Sugar pea, with edible pods four to four and one-half inches long; Anoka potato, a smooth, uniform white potato of good cooking quality; Spring Gold sweet corn, an early hybrid with seven-inch long ears maturing in 67 days; Illinichief Super Sweet corn, a new hybrid twice as sweet as normal sweet corn; Early Fireball tomato, a variety developed by the University of Minnesota, similar to fireball but larger and earlier.

"1966 Vegetable Varieties," extension folder 154, is available free of charge from county extension offices or from Bulletin Room, Institute of Agriculture, University of Minnesota, St. Paul, Minn. 55101.

Police Report Thefts, Vandalism

Two larcenies and a case of vandalism were reported today by the Thief River Falls police department. On Saturday two juvenile shoplifters were apprehended in a local store, turned over to police for investigation and released to their parents.

Monday the theft of some auto parts from a local wrecking yard was reported. It was reported on Tuesday that a car aerial had been broken. Police are investigating both incidents.

A-2c Loeffler In TV Interview

A-2c Wayne Loeffler, who is stationed near Saigon in South Viet Nam, was interviewed recently by Norm Schroeder of WDAY-TV who is currently in that country on a news assignment. It is expected that the interview will be carried on the station's current series of servicemen profiles in the near future. The program is aired at 5:30 p.m. on Channel 6.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

He Should Be a Good One

Bill Fitch and the North Dakota Sioux basketball prospects received a boost last week when it was announced that Jim Hoffert had signed a tender to attend North Dakota U. Hoffert is the fine all-round athlete that coach Curly Gasperlin has had over at Sacred Heart high school in East Grand Forks.

The Prowlers have played the Sacred Heart Eagles in basketball the past two years in a home-and-home series, and Hoffert, a six-foot five-inch forward, has been a standout in both games. Playing here last year, in a game which the Prowlers won by a 69 to 59 score, Hoffert turned in a fine exhibition of outside shooting, dropping in 10 field goals and adding a pair of free throws for a 22-point effort.

This season, in a game played at East Grand Forks, Hoffert, hitting from out around the circle, notched nine field goals and added two free throws as the Eagles defeated the Prowlers, 60 to 36. The Prowlers rate Hoffert as one of the best basketball players they have faced in the past couple of seasons.

On a pound-for-pound and inch-for-inch basis, Hoffert may have to yield to Halstad's Duane Ramstad (do you recall the three three-point plays that he scored against the Prowlers a season ago?), or to Ada's Bruce Johnson, or to Karlstad's flashy sophomore Brian Sjodin. But Hoffert is six-foot five-inches, and the colleges and universities want that height.

But with the continued stress for height in the forward lines, and the boys are getting taller and taller, it is probable that Hoffert, with his ability to hit from the outside, and with the Sioux losing both of their guards by graduation, will be given a shot at the backcourt spot. Jim should be a good one.

A Complaint about the Officiating

Thumbing through the Ada and Henning papers following the completion of the state high school basketball tournament I note some criticism about the officiating. This occurs every season as the losing teams search for reasons of why they were beaten, and these criticisms will continue as long as mere mortals are selected to officiate the tournament games.

Says the Ada paper: "It was generally felt by the fans that the officiating at these tournament games left something to be desired. They were impartial, but they certainly weren't the top six referees in the state. In the crucial Henning vs. Edina game, the officials couldn't even toss up the ball for jump ball situations."

And adds the Henning paper: "As for the officiating, we still think the Minnesota High School League could afford to go all out and hire outsiders. We are not saying that these guys they get are dishonest, but they would be influenced by where they live.

"There were some calls that did affect our winning the second game—we saw Dick Peterson getting clobbered near the bucket, and at least twice Edina 'snuck' on jump balls, and no one will forget the fast count on the out-of-bounds play which could have meant the game for us."

These criticisms may be valid. But that item about "jumping" the ball on jump-ball situations, well, that is a sign of expert coaching. How many times have local fans seen the Bemidji Lumberjacks "time" their jumps in order to control the tip? The best of the Lumberjacks to perform this feat was Jack Whiting. He was just a bit over six-feet in height, but he was uncanny in his ability to adjust his jump to the rhythm of the toss up of the ball.

And the Bemidji fans will never be satisfied with the last-second call of a jump ball in the championship finals game between Bemidji and Duluth Central. Bemidji's Lee Fawbush had the ball with two seconds of play remaining and Duluth leading by a point. Fawbush maneuvered for a shot just off the free throw lane, but an official whistled a held ball and Central won the game. Bemidji claimed that the proper call would have been blocking on Central, or charging on Bemidji. A jump ball, never.

Miscellany

Lowell Bolger, who has been assisting Joe Mikonich in coaching the Duluth East basketball squad the past several seasons, has resigned his position there. Lowell, who is a native of Moorhead, having graduated from Moorhead State college, will return to his home town and join the local school faculty. He will be in the elementary school system as a physical education instructor. Prior to joining the Duluth east coaching staff three years ago, Bolger was head coach at Hawley high school for several seasons and one year brought the Hawley Nuggets to the state high school basketball tournament. . .What's this we hear about Larry (Shorty) Perkins giving up the basketball coaching job at Plummer? According to the info received, Shorty doesn't believe that he has the temperament for coaching basketball, especially during a losing season. Fact is, Shorty did real well with the material that was available for the Plummer Cardinals cage squad this past season. . .The 1966 Minnesota Vikings football schedule arrived the other day. The Vikings will open their home league schedule by playing the Baltimore Colts on September 18. Other home games will find the Chicago Bears at Met Stadium on October 2; the Los Angeles Rams on October 16; the San Francisco 49ers on October 30; the Detroit Lions on November 13; the Green Bay Packers on November 27; and Atlanta on December 4. And a pre-season game, against Los Angeles, will be played at Met Stadium on August 20. . .Bill Quenette, who some years ago pitched for the St. Hilaire Saints and had charge of the St. Hilaire summer recreation program, will be assistant basketball coach at Moorhead high school next season. Bill is a graduate of Concordia.

ODDITY in the animal world was this miniature Guernsey calf born March 22 on the Leonard Yonke farm northeast of Thief River Falls. The calf is shown with a Holstein calf of normal size which was born at about the same time. The little Guernsey weighed only 22 pounds at birth but appears to be normal and healthy in all other respects. It had a full coat of hair, eats eagerly from a bottle and is able to stand and move about like a normal calf, although it was only slightly larger than a lamb when born. Six-year-old Marvin Yonke is shown with the calf which has become a family pet and object of neighborhood interest. On Friday when this picture was taken the calf weighed 28½ pounds.

Mastitis Worst Single Cattle Disorder in U.S.

A troublesome, hard-to-control disease is stealing $500 million from U. S. dairy farmers every year. The culprit is mastitis—an inflammation of tissues in a cow's udder or teats. It is caused by any one or more of 20 different kinds of organisms such as Streptococci, Staphylococci, Pseudomonas, Proteus and a wide range of other organisms, some of which have developed resistance to penicillin and streptomycin. Mastitis can also be triggered by injury and chilling.

Despite intensive research efforts on the problem, today's average dairy farmer loses $500 to $1,500 a year to mastitis through treatment costs and lower milk production. (Some 12 billion pounds of milk were lost in 1965).

Its dollar drain on the dairy industry can cause serious economic repercussions especially in Minnesota, the third-ranked dairy state. Milk is one of the leading farm commodities in Minnesota with receipts of $39 million last year. In 1965, the state's dairymen produced more than 10 billion pounds of milk, a total that could be boosted 1.5 billion pounds if mastitis were eliminated.

Mastitis has been ranked by scientists as the worst single cattle disorder in the U. S. Scientific warfare has resulted in new drugs and milking techniques which so far have kept mastitis-caused dollar losses from becoming calamitous.

Following are some facts that scientists have discovered so far about mastitis:

Mastitis lowers milk production by an average of 15 per cent and the milk is significantly lower in non-fat solids.

A strip cup, though not foolproof, should be used routinely to detect signs of abnormal milk.

Mastitis is somewhat seasonal and there is less resistance to it in the spring or at the start of the pasture season.

Control of mastitis begins with identification of the cause. Strip cup and other recently developed techniques are available from county agents or veterinarians.

Vaccination has limitations. It has been tried, but works only with certain organisms and under certain conditions. Cows remain susceptible to infection by other organisms.

Improper vacuum, leaving the milker on too long and other similar mistakes can lead to a serious mastitis problem.

Following is a checklist to help prevent mastitis:

Keep barns and gutters clean.

Spread lime or superphosphate on floor and gutters daily.

Supply ample and clean bedding.

Keep barns fly-free because flies can spread mastitis-causing organisms.

Before milking wash the udder with a disinfectant solution and dry with disposable paper towels.

Keep milking machines clean.

After milking each cow, dip teat cups into water, then into a disinfectant solution.

Milk infected cows last, and disinfect hands after milking each cow.

Milk out completely and fast; remove milkers as soon as milk flow stops.

'66 Flood Damage Is Deductible on 1965 Tax Returns

Flood losses suffered by taxpayers, where major flooding began on or about March 1, may deduct these losses on the 1965 federal income tax returns, according to George O. Lethert, district director of Internal Revenue.

President Johnson has determined that 22 counties qualify to receive assistance from the federal government as disaster area. This list includes the counties of Aitkin, Becker, Cass, Clay, Crow Wing, Kittson, Lake of the Woods, Mahnomen, Marshall, Morrison, Norman, Ottertail, Pennington, Polk, Stearns Todd, Wadena, Wilkin and Wright.

Taxpayers who sustain flood losses from floods this spring may elect to claim the deduction on their 1965 federal income tax returns, Lethert said. If they have filed their returns already, the election may be made by filing an amended return for 1965 not later than July 15, he indicated. If this election is not made, the loss will be deductible on the 1966 tax return.

In computing the amount of flood loss sustained, it is necessary to prove the fair market value of the property before the flood, and the fair market value of the property after the disaster. The difference represents the casualty loss deduction, Lethert stated. Non-business casualty losses are limited to the amount sustained which exceeds $100, less any insurance reimbursement received, or to be received.

"It is not easy to tell taxpayers who have suffered so seriously how to prove the extent of their losses," Lethert said. "Photographs are always helpful if they show the condition of the property before and after the flooding. Any appraisals, newspapers photographs, articles or other evidence that substantiates the extent of the damage are also helpful."

Information on disaster losses and Document 5174 with casualty loss explanations are available to taxpayers at any Internal Revenue service office.

Back to School

On Monday the Thief River Falls school administration announced that another session of summer school would be offered in the local district. It is with a great deal of satisfaction that we note courses are being offered again this summer on all three levels—elementary, junior high school and senior high school.

Summer school attendance has multiplied more than 10 times in Minnesota during the last three years, and students have changed in quality as well as quantity. This observation is made by W. E. Hanson, director of summer school programs for the state department of education, who emphasizes that summer schools aren't merely for the slow.

Last summer 42,012 students attended public summer schools, compared with 3,890 in 1962, and the number of districts offering summer school courses quadrupled in the same period. In addition to remedial classes, students may now choose summer school to repeat a class to learn more and improve a grade, pick up a class they couldn't fit into their schedules, take a required course to make room for an elective or take a vocational course for personal enjoyment.

Enrichment programs on the elementary level in reading, science, foreign languages, social studies, mathematics and art help prepare students for future studies. Not all of these are offered in the local district, perhaps, but many of them are available here.

It is good that some of the district's buildings are used to a greater extent rather than standing idle during the summer (and we do recognize that a certain amount of cleaning and maintenance is required on the buildings and that summer affords that opportunity.)

We would like to commend the administration and board of education of the local district for making summer school available to the district's children. It is a program which adds much to the educational atmosphere of our community.

Not an Explosive

Use of ammonium nitrate as a component in economical blasting operations—such as ditching or building artificial potholes for wildlife—has caused concern recently in the agricultural chemical industry. Producers and retailers of ammonium nitrate are worried because many potential users of the product apparently believe it is explosive.

The National Plant Food Institute in Washington, D. C., has issued several informational brochures to emphasize the point that ammonium nitrate in itself is not a blasting agent or an explosive. It is simply a nitrogenous material, important to the economic production of food and feed crops.

When combined with some form of carbonaceous material, ammonium nitrate becomes nitro-carbo-nitrate and ceases to be ammonium nitrate. Commercially prepared blasting agents containing the chemical are actually intimate mixtures of ammonium nitrate and some form a carbonaceous material.

"Fertilizer grade ammonium nitrate is an oxidizing material and can support combustion if involved in a fire with combustible materials," according to Louis H. Wilson, vice president for information of the National Plant Food Institute. "With simple precautions fertilizer grade ammonium nitrate is stored safely at the plant, in distributors' warehouses or on the farm.

'Of course, we are not unmindful that there is confusion with regard to ammonium nitrate, undoubtedly stemming from the fact that it is being used as an ingredient in blasting agents. However, it must be remembered that this use involves mixing ammonium nitrate with some carbonaceous materials, such as fuel oil, adding a booster (usually dynamite) and finally an initiator," Wilson noted.

In summary, ammonium nitrate in fertilizer form is safe to store and handle with normal precautions. When mixed with other materials it can become nitro-carbo-nitrate, ceasing to be ammonium nitrate, and is capable of producing explosions valuable in economical blasting procedure.

Federal Equality

Ever since the civil rights act became the law of the land, the nation's high officials have been patting themselves on the back for their roles in producing equality, integration, harmony between races and helping to stamp out bigotry, prejudice, preferential treatment and suppression. In so doing these so-called "leaders" of the country have qualified for immediate entry into the hall of fame for hypocrites.

Government efforts in this direction have been aimed directly at the Negro population of the nation with little concern shown on the federal level for the American Indian, Chinese, Japanese or other minority groups. While it is recognized that Negroes have, in general, carried a heavy burden of oppression over the years and are often deserving of better acceptance in the United States, it is also likely that recent efforts in their behalf have been made for expected political gain rather than out of any real compassion for the Negroes' situation.

This is why efforts on behalf of the Negro have been concentrated in the South where the heaviest concentration of Negroes is, and why the other minority race groups in the nation have been virtually ignored in the "great society."

So anxious are the government agencies to achieve "equality" that they are practicing inverted prejudice. An example is contained in a recent news release from the U. S. Department of Labor which notes, "Students at predominately Negro colleges will get special employment assistance from the local offices of the federal - state employment services."

Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz said, "An intensified and expanded employment program for students in predominately Negro colleges has been launched in 19 states and the District of Columbia. A similar pilot program last year provided nearly 800 jobs for Negro students."

He said the applicants would be placed according to their training, skills and interests ". . .without regard to the area's traditional employment practices concerning race, sex, creed, color or national origin. Employment service representatives will contact employers in their areas, especially those who have not hired minority group workers previously, in an all-out job development effort."

This is what the government refers to as equality; we see it rather as preferential treatment. While we do not begrudge the Negro the opportunity afforded by these efforts, we do object to the government's erroneous terms in describing what it is attempting to do.

Bottomless Pit

Henry J. Taylor, writing in the Washington News, gives an explanation of how the government causes inflation itself although shouting from the rooftops that the people of the nation must guard against this economic scourge. Taylor writes as follows:

It is impossible to understand how the Washington Robin Hoods of the red ink can make us believe we are getting something for nothing.

The Government's mishandling of our own money at home and abroad is the largest inflationary pressure affecting the cost of living.

At first wages are better than prices. Then prices pass wages (and liquidate savings) and we have to run faster and faster just to stay where we are.

Thru all the borrowing the politicians make themselves look good, like a man who gives his wife a fur coat. But she doesn't know he charged it to her.

The Kennedy - Johnson Administrations inherited a Federal debt of $288 billion. It is officially expected to be $322 billion by July 1. And the political joker in this "public" debt is that we private citizens must pay it.

The Robin Hoods have financed their deficits by constant new borrowings while we're paying nearly a billion dollars a month on the money already borrowed.

The vast debt's due dates are staggered and the Robin Hoods use several ways to refinance as each part comes due. But time has now caught up with them.

Today the average time of maturity is five years. Only a year ago this average was substantially longer. Of the total $322 billion, more than $96 billion matures this year. And about $20 billion is dated for refinancing or payment by this month.

Thus the Robin Hoods have driven themselves more and more toward the need for "quick money" by adding to the mountain of short-term debt as they went merrily along at our expense.

A variety of complications result, chiefly from the increased New Frontier outpourings and the cost of the Viet Nam war.

The law permits a 4¼ per cent ceiling on Federal bonds that mature in more than five years. But bonds sold previously at this yield have fallen—to yield much more than that under the pressure of the overspending, general borrowings, the inflation and of interest rates.

For while the public's attention is on the stock market the Government bond market has been sliding relentlessly down, down down. The declines have put several treasury yields to levels not seen since the 1920's.

This even required an increase, recently announced, in the 3¼ per cent rate on savings bonds because these are being cashed in faster than they're being bought. Here alone the Robin Hoods are dealing with $49 billion outstanding.

As the Robin Hoods continue to spend beyond the income and borrow more and more to pay the bills the dangers to us multiply.

The effect is constantly to dollar-depreciate the economy because the borrowings from banks create more and more credit, increase the money supply and whirl inflation thruout the economic system like a centrifugal pump.

It cannot be stopped until the deficit financing is stopped.

Easter Cantata

Once again we were permitted to have our faith renewed as we listened to the Easter message in the Cantata, "The Prophecy Fulfilled" by William Stickles in the noon by the choirs of the Bethesda and Salem churches which were well rendered considering difficulties encountered by snow and bad weather. A cantata is a musical work founded on scriptures which tells a story with a chorus, recitatives and arias. A recitative is a narrative song in a spoken style. An aria is a beautiful melody sung solo. The offering will be used for cantata expenses and the music library funds in the churches. Mrs. Casmer Troska was accompanist and Mr. Merle Cunningham director that also made it so successful. Refreshments were served by the ladies of both congregations.

We have a problem with our Catalina we just can't fix.
It looks expensive.
It looks so expensive that a lot of people don't realize it's priced right down there within reach of most low price buyers. Which sort of makes you wonder why you should buy a low-priced car when you can buy a high-priced car for the same money. A Pontiac Catalina.

Expect New GI Bill to Aid 10,700 in State

There are 85,000 post-Korean conflict veterans in Minneota and 10,700 are expected to take advantage of the educational provisions of the new GI Bill in its first year, according to John R. Murphy, manager of the Veterans Administration center, St. Paul.

The program will not begin until June 1, and application blanks and information will be ready at the VA regional offices and at most colleges and educational centers in Minnesota by mid-April Murphy said.

Estimate of the firsty-year cost of direct benefits in Minnesota will total $6,800,000.

In general, Murphy said, the education program will be open to all veterans with more than 180 days active duty service, any part of which occurred on or after February 1, 1955. The veteran must have a discharge that is other than dishonorable or must have been discharged [illegible] released for a service-connected disability.

Veterans will be eligible for one month [illegible] each month or fraction of a month that they were on active duty.

Murphy said service men with at least two years of duty may participate in the educational program even though they remain in the service. Their assistance payments will cover the institutional charges for tuitions and fees or $100 per month for full-time courses, whichever is the lesser.

Courses may be taken at approved colleges and universities, vocational schools, correspondence schools and at high school level. Approval of the educational institution will be made wherever possible by the Minnesota approving agencies.

Murphy said the VA will pay $100 a month to those veterans with no dependents who take full-time courses. Veterans with one dependent will receive $125 a month while those with more than one dependent will receive $150 a monpaid for those taking part-time courses. Whether or not the veteran has an income will not affect his monthly payment from VA, the manager said.

The maximum period allowed will be 36 months (equivalent to four regular nine-month school years) but veterans who have previously received educational assistance under a VA educational program will have to deduct that amount of training from their present eligibility.

"There are no retroactive payments," Murphy said. "Veterans who would have been eligible under the new GI Bill but who have already taken courses at their own expense may not collect now for the time they were in school since the new program does not start until June 1, 1966. However, they have the right to pursue further education along the line of their vocational or professional goals."

Murphy said there is no deadline fixed as to the date a veteran must start his education. Completion or termination dates for each veteran will be the eighth annual anniversary of their last discharge from active duty. However, to protect those veterans who may have left the service several years ago, all eligible veterans will be able to prticipate in the program until May 31, 1974, he said.

Airport Reports Snow Cover Has Now Disappeared

High temperatures generally in the 40's and reaching up into the 50's on one day have reduced snow in this area to only shrunken drifts and filled ditches, North Central Airlines personnel at the Thief River Falls municipal airport are now officially recording no snow on the ground.

Snow flurries occurred late last night and early this morning and are expected to continue through today and into tonight. Skies will be partly cloudy to occasionally cloudy today and tomorrow with temperatures remaining cool. High today will range from 35 to 45 degrees with lows tonight of 18 to 28 degrees.

High and low temperatures for the past several days include 52 and 3 on Wednesday, 48 and 35 with .20 inch of precipitation on Thursday, 46 and 34 Friday, 46 and 28 Saturday, 44 and 27 Sunday and a low this morning of 27 degrees.

Note Deadline to File Reports on Social Security

April 15 is the final deadline for social security beneficiaries to file annual reports of 1965 earnings, according to Clifford Kittelson, district manager for social security.

Every beneficiary who was under 72 in any month last year and who earned over $1200 in 1965 must file a report. This report to the Social Security administration is in addition to the federal income tax return.

A beneficiary who received a bonus should report it together with other gross wages that he received. A self-employed person reports net earnings from his enterprise.

Any beneficiary who needs to make a report and did not receive a reporting form in the mail should contact his social security office for it.

Fruit Trees in Home Yard Should Be Pruned Now

There's still time to prune apple, plum and other fruit trees in the home yard or orchard—but prune them as soon as possible. Delaying pruning until after buds have opened may reduce the vigor of the tree, according to Neil Miles, extension horticulturist at the University of Minnesota.

A good pruning job is the first step toward an abundant crop of good fruit, free of insect or disease blemishes. That is why fruit trees should be pruned on a regular basis, once a year or every other year, the University horticulturist says.

Purposes of pruning are to develop well-shaped trees with strong scaffold branches, well-spaced along the central leader; to remove dead, broken and weak branches; and to open the crown of the tree, making it possible to apply sprays effectively.

Unpruned trees have small, poorly-colored, poor-quality fruits. Moreover, the crown becomes so thick with leaves it does not allow sprays to penetrate into the inner portion of the tree where many of the fruits are borne. The result may be wormy fruit, even though a spray program was carried out.

A pair of good pruning shears and a purning saw are the basic tools needed for pruning. Keep these tools sharp so you can make clean cuts that will heal over quickly.

In pruning, never leave stubs protruding from the trunk, cautions Miles. Make the pruning cut flush with the trunk of the trees. Such wounds will be covered by new bark, often within the current growing season.

Paint large wounds more than two inches in diameter with a suitable would dressing: Asphalt emulsion paints and orange shellac are good materials. Avoid using household paints or similar products, as many paints injure the tree or impair the natural healing process.

Information on how to prune is given in a University of Minnesota publication, Pruning Fruit Trees, Extension Folder 161. Free copies are available from Bulletin Room, Institute of Agriculture, University of Minnesota, St. Paul, Minn. 55101 or from county extension offices.

Easter AND CHICKS

THE CHURCH FOR ALL • ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Naturally, you're wonderin'! Easter is a Christian festival, and chicks are barnyard fowl. How did they get together?

And eggs, for that matter—how do they fit in?

And the lively bunny ... what made him part of it all?

These are symbols of LIFE. And life is the theme of Easter.

Christ was dead! Christ lived! His resurrection promises life to men.

We would not expect a fact of such import to be remembered only in history. It has touched farm and home, community, nation, family...

It affects our lives—the humble and the mighty. Easter is God's call to worship and faith. A time to re-dedicate your life!

"Viet Nam Profile" to be Presented Here

"Viet Nam Profile", just completed film production by Dr. Bob Pierce of World Vision, Inc. will be presented in a special premier showing at the Viking School gym on Saturday, April 9 beginning at 7:30 p.m. Eighty minutes in length, this sound-color film takes the viewer throughout war-torn Viet Nam, portraying "the drama of God at work in the midst of war." Viet Nam profile, which was two years in the making, takes you into scenes of actual combat, follows missionaries and Vietnamese christians in their faithful and often heroic labors for Christ and depicts the ministries of a typical U. S. Chaplain, among the colorful aboriginal mountain tribespeople as well as the Vietnamese. It is a dynamic, heart - rending portrayal of pain, a profile of courage and faith that you will not soon forget. Sponsoring this presentation is the Young People's group of the Viking Covenant church. A free will offering will be received for the work of world vision, an interdenominational Christian service organization, which cares for over 20,600 orphans in 20 countries. Remember the date, Saturday, April 9, 7:30 p.m. at the Viking school gym.

We the representatives of the Thief River Falls Public Schools and the private school of School District 564 agree to the following procedures for servicing the children and teachers of the Thief River Falls private school in accordance with the regulations of title II, P. L. 89-10.

1. Library resource material will be ordered from bibliographies and other sources approved by the State Department of Education.

2. Private schools will request loan of library resources not in excess of $2.25 per pupil enrolled in 1964-65, minus 12 per cent of this amount for processing.

3. Private schools will maintain a shelf list or inventory card on each item loaned by public school.

4. Private schools will conduct an annual inventory of Title II Materials loaned, which shall be reported to the public school.

5. The public school will process all materials requested for loan by the private schools.

6. It is agreed that books requested by the private school are on loan for a definite period and such loans are renewable.

7. No materials may be requested for purpose of religious instruction or worship.

8. Private schools will agree to continue local support for purchase of library resource materials at a per pupil level equal to, or exceeding the established level for 1964 or the average of 1963, 1964 or 1965 whichever is the most advantageous.

9. Private schools will repair materials loaned and will furnish materials for such repairs.

10. Recall of the loan of materials is part of this agreement and may be exercised only by lack of compliance with terms of this agreement of Title II regulations.

1 Since the board of education of Thief River Falls wants to encourage and reward the ambitious and since they believe that professional growth should be the desire of all teachers, the following items are oficially adopted as part of the schedule:

a. Each teacher with less than a Master's degree shall be required to attend school every four years and receive a minimum of six semester or nine quarter hours of work in order to advance in salary. All such class work should be part of a planned program for an advanced degree. Work done beyond the Bachelor's degree shall be on the graduate level and shall be in the teaching field of the individual. Any exceptions to this rule will be made by the board of education upon recommendation of the administration. (ie. a teacher who does not meet this requirement and is on the fourth step ($5800) the salary will remain frozen at $5800, regardless if the schedule changes in the future or not).

b. The same ruling applies to people over and byeond the M. A. degree excepting that the period of time for the additional credits shall be every five years.

c. There shall be no equivalent of an actual degree. For example, a person with enough credit hours work for M. A. degree but not having the degree will remain at the B. A. plus 36 level until the degree is obtained.

d. Persons who do not meet the requirements listed above will remain at the same salary excepting that a cost of living increase may be granted at the board's discretion. For 1966-67 the increase will be two per cent to the nearest five dollars of their present (1965-66) scheduled salary.

2. It is the intention of the board to phase out the dependency allowance. It is generally agreed that a good schedule would permit no discriminations as to grade or subject taught, creed, sex, race, marital status or number of dependents. For this reason the dependency allotment for all persons now receiving them will be $150 for 1966-67, $100 for 1967-68, $50 for 1968-69 and nothing thereafter. Any future contracts will not receive any dependency allowance.

3. Experience in school systems other than Thief River Falls may be allowed up to a maximum of six years. This would place experienced teachers new to the system on step number seven if they had six or more years of experience.

4. Vocational instructors without degrees will be granted 1 credit for each 10 clock hours for the training operated by the State Department in lieu of actual college credits.

5. An allowance of 10 days annually shall be permitted for illness of the teacher. Five of the 10 days may be used for illness or death in the immediate family. Sick leave not used may accumulate to 120 days.

6. Annual physical examinations may be required at the discretion of the board.

7. Annual increments shall be contingent upon satisfactory service. The board maintains the right to withhold increments.

8. Retirement age shall be 65. If an employee's birth date comes during the school year he may finish the term. The school year for this purpose is defined as the 180 days that the regular term of school is in session. Teachers may be rehired on a one-year basis after age 65 at the discretion of the school board and upon written application of the teacher and a physician's statement of competency. Mandatory retirement shall be age 68. Sick leave after age 65 will revert to 10 days per year non-accumulative.

9. Maximum raise for 1966-67 will be $500 excepting for the tree-year person going to a Bachelor's degree. It is anticipated that the board will attempt to place all teachers on schedule in 1967-68.

Shade Trees May Need Fertilizer For Good Growth

Worried about that shade tree because the foliage was sparse and light green last year, and new growth seemed weak?

Leon C. Snyder, head of the University of Minnesota department of horticultural science, says these are all signs that point to a need for fertilizer. On the other hand, if leaves were dark green and there was vigorous new growth each year, fertilizer is usually not needed.

In nature, tree leaves drop to the ground and decompose, renewing soil fertility. But landscaped areas do not get this soil fertility because fallen leaves are raked up and removed, dead branches are pruned and hauled away, Snyder explains. In addition, trees must compete with lawn grasses for moisture and minerals. Often the root zone area is covered with paved driveways and sidewalks, limiting the soil area in which tree roots can develop. To compensate, addition of fertilizer is necessary.

Early spring—up to early May—or late fall is the best time to apply fertilizer to the trees. Except in unusual cases, fertilizing the trees only once in every three or four years should be sufficient.

A complete fertilizer comparatively high in nitrogen such as 10-8-6 is recommended for evergreens and a 10-10-10 analysis for deciduous trees. The amount of fertilizer to add will vary with the size of the tree and the nature and fertility of the soil, Snyder says. A general guide is to use from two to four pounds of a complete fertilizer for each inch in diameter of the trunk, measuring the tree at breast height. Thus a 12-inch tree might require 24 to 48 pounds of fertilizer, depending on the soil and the rate of desirable growth.

The punch-bar method will place the fertilizer in close proximity to the feeding roots. Dig holes about 18 inches deep at intervals of 2 feet in a band just under the outermost branches. Then place about ¼ cup of fertilizer in each of these holes and fill with a suitable compost.

To Add Employees At VA Center

As a result of Public Law 89-358, commonly referred to as the "Gold War GI Bill," VA employment will increase to care for the expanded work load. Previously eligibility for certain benefits was not provided veterans whose service was after Feb. 1, 1955. The VA estimates that the new law, which will now include this group, will add approximately four million veterans who may now be eligible for benefits.

The veteran population of North Dakota and northwestern Minnesota, the area served the Fargo VA center was previously approximately 79,000. The new law will add an estimated 34,000 veterans to this figure. John R. Parrish, director of the center, indicated that this expansion is expected to provide five job opportunities locally, in the immediate future, and up to 11 positions when the new bill is fully implemented.

The Fargo VA office is recruiting for adjudicators or adjudicator trainees as well as a contact representative. Nationally vacancies are anticipated for adjudicators, contact representatives, appraisers, construction analysts, loan specialists and realty specialists.

Vets Insurance Program Signup Deadline Nears

Less than one month remains for eligible veterans to take advantage of the new GI insurance that will remain on sale until midnight May 2, according to John R. Parrish, director of the VA center, Fargo, N. D. said

He said the insurance is open to those veterans originally eligible for GI insurance between Oct. 8, 1940, and Jan. 1, 1957, and who failed to take it out or, having purchased it, let all or part of it lapse.

To secure this new GI insurance the veteran must have a service-connected disability, or a disability which is not service-connected that prevents the purchase of commercial life insurance.

VA insurance officials point out that while a full $10,000 policy may be taken out the veteran may take out as little as $1,000 or $2,000 in coverage and thus provide protection for his family for only a few cents a week.

The VA center in Fargo can furnish full information about this insurance program.

Boss-Employee Event Scheduled Wednesday

Rep. Fitzsimons Will Be Speaker At Annual Event

Awards to four outstanding community residents will be presented at the annual Jaycee Boss-Employee banquet to be held Wednesday beginning at 6 p.m. in the American Legion club rooms. A social hour will precede the banquet which is scheduled for 7 p.m.

Main speaker for the banquet will be Rep. Richard Fitzsimons, Argyle, veteran Minnesota legislator who serves as chairman of the powerful appropriations committee of the Minnesota House of Representatives. Rep. Fitzsimons will discuss several items of legislation of particular area interest, including legislative reapportionment, education with emphasis on the new junior college here and tax reform.

Awards will be presented to the community and area outstanding boss young man, young farmer and young educator. Recipients of the awards in 1965 will make the presentations and include Sig Quam, boss; Bryant Ulseth, young man; and Arnold Stanley, Grygla, young farmer. The outstanding young educator award is being incorporated into the local program for the first time this year, and award presentation will be made by a member of the board of education.

Lt. Harold Shelby, chaplain of the sponsoring Jaycee chapter, will give the invocation at the banquet and Marvin Lindin will serve as master of ceremonies. Rick Contos, president of the Thief River Falls Jaycees, will give the welcome at the banquet program.

Rep. Fitzsimons is curently serving his seventh term in the legislature in addition to operating his family's home farm near Argyle. He is active in a number of civic and farm organizations in the area, and has given much of his time to work with 4-H club activities and rural youth. He also serves as a member of the Marshall County Agricultural society which operates the Marshall county fair at Warren and is active in the Marshall county historical society.

In addition to appropriations, Fitzsimons has served on a number of legislative committees and commissions. Committee assignments for the last session include reapportionment, rules, agriculture and cooperatives and forestry and public domain.

Rep. Richard Fitzsimons

Evangelical Free Church Schedules Evening Services

Evangelical Free church of Thief River Falls will hold post Easter services each evening from Tuesday through Sunday. Guest speaker for the services will be Rev. Darryl Pearson, managing director of the Free Church Press in Minneapolis. He has also started the new Edina Evangelical Free church, where he will begin a full time ministry May 1.

The services will start each night at 8 p.m. with singing of hymns and gospel songs. There will also be special musical talent present each night.

A Fathers and Sons banquet will be held at 7 p.m. Saturday. Theme for the banquet will be "Long, Long Ago". Setting will be the turn of the century and the emphasis will be passing along spiritual heritage from father to son. Also included on the program pointing up the father-son relationship will be a sporting film. Rev. Parson will speak on the topic "Faith of Our Fathers." All fathers and sons are invited and a free will offering will be taken.

The Evangelical Free church is located on the corner of Third street and Kendall av. N. Everyone is invited to attend any or all of the services announced.

Lamb With Two Heads Born Here

Another oddity of the animal world was called to the attention of the Times last week when Leonard Pietron, who farms southeast of St. Hilaire, noted the birth of a two-headed lamb to a Columbia ewe on his farm.

The lamb was a large one, perfectly formed except for two heads which joined the body at the shoulders in an apparently natural manner. Pietron said he was not present to assist with the lambing in time with the result being loss of the lamb.

Rabies Clinic Slated Friday

Area residents interested in having their pets vaccinated against rabies are invited to note a rabies clinic to be conducted by Dr. F. W. Hazard at his office located on Oakland Park road near the Dine-A-Mite cafe on Friday, April 15 from 7 to 9 p.m.

Two Goodridge high school students have been named recipients of scholarships from Augsburg college in Minneapolis, according to word received from Glen W. Johnson, dean of students. Karen E. Jensen has received a chemistry scholarship and Linda E. Swanson has received an honor scholarship.

The chemistry scholarship of $2,000 includes an honor scholarship of $1,400 and a research opportunity stipend of $600. The $1,400 award is divided into $350 per year for four years and is based on a minimum of 2.75 (B-) average for the last three years. The research grant is based on a 3.0 (B) average.

"You have been honored as a recipient of a chemistry scholarship on the basis of your outstanding high school record, your performance on scholastic aptitude tests and your performance on the special chemistry test which you took in connection with this scholarship program," Dean Johnson wrote in a letter to Miss Jensen.

Miss Swanson's honor scholarship is in the amount of $1,400 on the basis of $350 per year and a 2.75 scholastic average. In addition a National Defense Student loan in the amount of $400 has been reserved for her for the 1966-67 year and may be reapplied for each year.

Two Building Permits Issued Here in February

Two permits having a valuation of $6,500 were issued in Thief River Falls during February 1966 for new buildings and repairs and alterations. According to the Federal Reserve Bank of Minneapolis, no building permits were issued during the same month last year. The cumulative total for the first two months of 1966 shows that three permits valued at $16,500 were issued compared with no permits issued last year.

For Minnesota the February valuation decreased from $24,655,212 in 1965 to $19,912,485 in 1966. The cumulative total for the second month of this year was $39,506,879 compared with $38,468,496 recorded during 1965.

Throughout the Ninth district, the total valuation of building permits issued during February 1966 in 296 permit issuing centers was $28,328,304 for 1,728 permits. In February 1965 there were 1,398 permits issued with a valuation of $30,267,795. The report also stated that the cumulative total for the year showed an increase from $48,984,828 for 2,766 permits in 1965 to $51,396,935 for 3,104 permits in 1966.

Covenant Church Begins Mission Conference Wed.

Mission Covenant church of Thief River Falls will hold its fourth annual missionary conference beginning Wednesday at 7:45 p.m. with Rev. Walter S. Olsen, representative-at-large of the Evangelical Alliance Mission, as the speaker.

Other missionaries participating in the five-day conference will be Miss Ruth Cignoni, missionary to Ecuador, and Robert Verme, missionary to Japan, both with the Evangelical Covenant Church of America. Rev. Olsen is a former missionary of the Evangelical Alliance Mission.

Miss Cignoni is a missionary teacher in the Theodore W. Anderson school in Quito, Ecuador. This school has primary, secondary and high school sections. Miss Cignoni has taught in the high school section during her term just completed.

Robert Verme has served in Sibukawa, Japan, in his last two terms, developing the church there, teaching English Bible classes and doing area-wide evangelistic work.

A men's breakfast at the Rex cafe Thursday at 6:30 a.m. will feature Rev. Olsen as the speaker. All men are welcome to attend. At 2:30 p.m. Thursday there will be a missionary panel discussion at the church with all missionaries participating. Coffee hour is at 3:15 p.m. each day. Miss Cignoni will speak at 3:30 p.m. Thursday and will show slides at 7 p.m. Robert Verme will be the speaker at the 7:45 service on Thursday and will also speak at 2:30 p.m. on Friday. This will be followed, after the coffee hour, by a missionary panel discussion at 3:30 p.m.

At 7 p.m. on Friday Rev. Olsen will show slides of the work of the Evangelical Alliance Mission and at 7:45 p.m. Miss Cignoni will be the speaker. On Saturday at 2:30 p.m. there will be group meetings. The children's group will be addressed by Miss Cignoni and Robert Verme, and the youth and adult group will have Rev. Olsen as its speaker. A supper, featuring foods from other lands, will be served at 6:30 p.m. on Saturday with all three missionaries participating informally. Church youth will serve and furnish the music at the supper hour.

Next Sunday's services will be as follows: Sunday school at 9:45 with Miss Ruth Cignoni speaking to the primary department and Robert Verme speaking to the youth and adult department. Rev. Olsen will bring the message at the 11 a.m. worship sevice. The conference will close with a service at 7:45 p.m. Sunday when all three missionaries will participate. At this conference the church's annual missionary budget is raised. The goal set for the coming fiscal year is $8,000. A cordial welcome is extended to all to attend this conference.

Mothers of Halfpints Marchers Meet Today

Mothers of members of the Bridgeman Halfpints marching unit will meet tonight at 7 p.m. in the Thief River Falls city auditorium to discuss plans for the summer season. All mothers of members of the unit are encouraged to attend.

Farmer-Merchant Mixer Set; All Area Farmers Are Invited

To provide an opportunity for farmers and businessmen to participate in an evening of social activity, the agriculture committee of the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce will conduct a farmer-merchant mixer Monday evening, April 25. Plans for the event were made at a meeting of the agriculture committee Thursday in the Chamber of Commerce office.

All farmers in the Thief River Falls area are invited to attend the stag event to be held in the American Legion club rooms. A social hour will be held from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. and an evening meal will be served promptly at 7:30 p.m. Entertainment will be provided but there will be no business on the program. Farmers and businessmen will have an opportunity to discuss informally any items of mutural concern or interest.

In order to make adquate arrangements for their guests, the agriculture committee has requested that farmers who would like to attend the mixer call the Chamber of Commerce office and indicate their intention to attend. Complimentary tickets will be available at the door to those who have thus registered for the event. Telephone number of the Chamber of Commerce office is 681-3720. An invitation is included elsewhere in this issue of the Times.

"We want a large turnout of area farmers as our guests at this mixer," stated Vernon Nelson, chairman of the agriculture committee. "There will be no charge to our farm friends and all costs will be paid by the Thief River Falls business fraternity. Avance registration is being requested only so that we will have an indication as to number of peope for whom preparations will be required."

Arrangements are now being made for entertainment for the event, according to Fred Sorensen, chairman of the entertainment subcommittee. The meal to be served will be a smorgasbord type. Opportunity will be provided for business and their farmer guests to play cards, visit and socialize during the evening.

PENNINGTON NFO TO MEET THURSDAY

Pennington county chapter of the National Farmers organization will elect dairy board members to serve for the coming year at a meeting to be held Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Highlanding hall. A "ladies night" program will be held with Mrs. Lloyd Michals of Roseau to speak. Reports will be given by chairmen of the dairy and meat boards of the Pennington NFO.

Request Special Alfalfa Practice

Patrick W. Culkins, office manager of the Pennington County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation service committee, announced today that the county ASC committee chairmen, area fieldmen and ASCS office managers from Kittson, Roseau, Red Lake, Marshall and Pennington counties met in the meeting room of the Pennington county courthouse Friday afternoon for the purpose of formulating or devising a new alfalfa seeding project for the area.

The project is deemed to be necessary in this five-county area if the new alfalfa pelletizing plant (now being erected north of Thief River Falls) can be supplied with an ample tonnage of good alfalfa and keep the plant in continuous operation.

Provisions of the project will not be released at this time because the project specifications will require the approval of the Minnesota State Development group, Culkins said. If considered by them to be a justifiable project, it will be forwarded to the Department of Agriculture in Washington, D. C., for a final determination.

In the event that the project meets with the approval of the state group and the U. S. Department of Agricultural at the Washington level, all provisions of the project will be immediately released to the public.

Blizzard of '66 Rates High in March Report

by Jim Wills
Times Reporter

March of 1966, with its historic "Blizzard of "66"" followed by flooding, was probably the most memorable month ever added to the weather annals of northwestern Minnesota and eastern North Dakota.

Certainly there has never been as heavy an accumulation of snow in a single month in this area, or at least not in recorded history. At the Thief River Falls municipal airport, a total of 32 inches of snow was measured during the month, with a total water content of 3.35 inches. The latter figure is 2.3 inches above the March average of 1.02 inches, and puts March of this year right up there with average precipitation totals of May (3.28) and June (3.76).

Surprisingly, March of 1966 was not unusually cold; its mean temperature of 27.0 was 4.1 degrees above the average March mean of 22.9. Highs were in the 40's on 11 days, and the mercury reached its peak on March 30 when a high of 52 was recorded. Lowest temperature recorded was -21 on the 7th. The warm weather caused the deep snow to melt quickly and cause flooding in Red River Valley communities. It was never warm enough, however, so that anyone believed that the condition that usually accompanies high water was present.

March came in like like a lamb with a high of 33 and an inch of snow on March 1. It began to "feel like snow" the following evening as a damp, chill wind blew from the east. It began to snow, and by the next morning 10 inches of snow had accumulated.

Snow continued that night and the following day, reaching a total of 28 inches for the first five days of the month. The powerful northeast wind piled the snow into drifts as high as 14 feet. Total snowfall on the level March 8 was 38 inches.

Conditions became balmy shortly after the blizzard, and by March 13 the snow depth had decreased to 12 inches. This area was spared a severe late-season storm which struck the southern half of the state March 23, but a north wind drove the mercury down to an unseasonal low of -1 on the 24th.

The Red Lake River lay undisturbed beneath its thick cover of ice throughout the month of March and Thief River Falls was spared the flood problems that plagued communities to the west. The Red River's crest in Grand Forks was 45.63 feet, reached Monday, April 4. This topped the 1950 flood level, but the city was much more prepared this year, so the flood was not nearly as destructive as in that historic year.

Father Fahnlander

Director of Home On the Range to Speak at Eagles

Father Fahnlander, director of Home on the Range at Sentinel Butte, N. D., will be guest speaker at a banquet to be held Saturday from 6 to 8 p.m. at the Eagles hall in Thief River Falls. Tickets are on sale at the hall at $1.50 per person and will include the dinner and a dance.

"The first 300 ticket holders will be seated and have the privilege of hearing Father Fahnlander speak on the operations of Home on the Range," states Harry Hendrickson of Thief River Falls, state president of the Minnesota Aerie of the Fraternal Order of Eagles.

"He will have many interesting stories to tell about the more than 300 boys that have graduated from the home and have become good citizens in their respective communities. It will be a great opportunity for the public to hear about the experiences of boys during a very trying time in their lives."

The speaker will also address the Eagles annual athletic banquet for the hockey and baseball teams on Friday evening.

At the present time there are 15 Minnesota boys at Home on the Range, and the Minnesota Eagles donate approximately $2,400 annually in tuition fees for boys attending school at Beach, N. D., while living at the boys ranch. All boys at the home are required to attend school and go to the church of their faith.

Each boy has a specific duty to perform at the ranch. These include such chores as caring for the laying hens, milking and feeding the cattle, caring for the horses, haying, grain farming and other tasks. One boy from Thief River Falls is currently residing at the ranch.

The Eagles auxiliary unit in Thief River Falls adopts a boy at the home and provides school supplies and clothing as well as remembrances on his birthday and at Christmas. Home on the Range is in itself operated by money received from Eagles Aeries and auxiliaries throughout the nation.

A purse of money from the local aerie and auxiliary will be presented to Father Fahnlander at the Saturday evening banquet.

Land O'Lakes Has Director School Here Wednesday

Approximately 25 directors and managers from 10 cooperative associations throughout northwestern Minnesota participated in an educational director's school held Wednesday at the Rex cafe in Thief River Falls.

Purpose of the school, which is one of a series being held throughout the area served by Land O'Lakes Creameries, Inc., Minneapolis, is to inform and educate directors of local cooperative association concerning proper and better methods of running the affairs of their cooperatives.

Participating in the school as discussion laders were Carl Mattson, membership supervisor; Harold Stone, manager of dealer services; Martin Ellingson, Fosston, district fieldman; and Owen Hallberg, director of education, all of Land O'Lakes Creameries, Inc. Also participating was Edwin Hill, assistant treasurer of the St. Paul Bank for Cooperatives, farm credit administration.

Subjects covered at the school included "Responsibilities of Directors", "The Management Function", "Understanding and Interpreting Financial Statements", and "The Importance of Inter-cooperation or Working Together."

Sunflower and Millet Contracts Will Be Offered

Explanation of procedures and offering of contracts for sunflower and millet production in the surrounding area will take place at a meeting to be held Thursday at 2 p.m. in the basement meeting room of the Thief River Falls city auditorium.

All farmers interested in producing either or both of the contract crops are invited to attend, according to Harland Knutson, manager of the Farmers Grain and Milling company in Thief River Falls. Contracts will be offered and coffee will be served following the meeting.

Diane Sjulestad Weds C. Crombie in Arizona

Bethel Lutheran church at Phoenix, Ariz., was the scene of the recent wedding of Miss Diane Sjulestad and Craig Crombie, both of Phoenix.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Swen Sjulestad of Phoenix and formerly of the Goodridge area, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Harstine, also of Phoenix.

The Rev. L. O. Tolo officiated at the double ring ceremony attended by 125 guests. Mrs. Tolo, as organist, played the traditional nuptial music and accompanied Ronnie Tuckett as he sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "O Promise Me". A floral arrangement graced the altar that was flanked by candelabra and baskets of blue and white gladioli and irises.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of white lace over satin. Fashioned with a fitted bodice the gown was styled with long tapered sleeves and a scalloped neckline enhanced with sequins and seed pearls. The full skirt extended into a chapel length train. A delicate crown of seed pearls and crystals held the shoulder length veil of silk illusion and her bridal bouquet was a double-ring of pink baby roses and white hyacinths.

Mrs. Sandra Prigge of Babbitt attended her sister as matron of honor. A cousin of the bride, Charlotte Tackett of Phoenix, Ariz., was bridesmaid. They wore blue floor-length sheath gowns fashioned with lace empire bodices with long sleeves and featuring chiffon-over-satin skirts. To complement their attire they wore matching veiled headpieces, white shoes and gloves and carried cascade bouquets of white carnations accented with blue irises.

Richard Griffiths of Phoenix was best man. Groomsman was Richard Metille while Robert Kenyon was usher. They wore dark business suits with carnation boutonnieres. The groom's boutonniere was a white carnation centered with a pink baby rose bud.

The mother of the bride was attired in a blue suit with white accessories and a pink, feathered, double carnation corsage. The groom's mother wore a brown dress with matching accessories and a corsage of white feathered carnations.

A reception in the church parlors followed the ceremony. Dainty wedding bells and slippers surrounded the pillared, four-tiered wedding cake trimmed in blue and topped with a miniature bride and groom.

Mrs. Robert Sjulestad, aunt of the bride, cut and served the cake and Mrs. Irven McLuty, aunt of the groom, poured. Suzanne Johnson served the punch and Renae Sjulestad and Heather Crombie sisters of the bride and groom, respectively, registered the guests. Mrs. Evelyn Prigge of Thief River Falls assisted with the serving while Jeanelle Johnson, Dale Guitard and Sue Johnson arranged the gifts.

Out-of-town guests were from California, Colorado, Babbitt, Thief River Falls and Goodridge.

For traveling on the wedding trip, the bride wore a coral suit of mohair and lamb's wool. The bride is a graduate of the Cortex high school of Phoenix and is employed by the Industrial Commission of Arizona. The groom, a graduate of West high school and the Phoenix Barber college, is employed by Demy's hair stylist at Phoenix where the newly-weds are at home at 4446 North 36th Street, Apartment 21. Doran And Svendsen Vows Spoken at Detroit Lakes

Miss JoAnn Estelle Doran of Brainerd and William Allan Svendson of Nisswa exchanged marriage vows in a double ring ceremony Saturday, April 2, at 7 p.m., at the First Lutheran church in Detroit Lakes. The Rev. Kermit Graves officiated at the ceremony attended by 200 guests.

The organist, Carolyn Skarpol, played Lohengrin's "Wedding March" as the processional and accompanied Peter Perreton and Alice Labrantan as they sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "The Greatest of These is Love". Miss Labranten also sang a solo, "Entreat Me Not to Leave Thee". Baskets of white roses, accented with daffodils, graced the altar.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Doran of Detroit Lakes who were former residents of the Newfolden community and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Enr Svendsen of Nisswa.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white embroidered crystal charm styled in empire fashion with long tapering sleeves. The gown was fashioned by the mother of the bride. A satin pillbox headpiece held the shoulder length veil and she carried a cascade bouquet of white roses, sweet Williams and trailing ivy.

Myran Doran of New Brighton attended her sister as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Virginia Freer and Arlynn Sandberg, both of Brainerd. Mrs. Wendell Nelson of Osseo was bridesmatron. They wore identical floor-length gowns of sea-green embroidered crystal charm designed in the empire fashion. Each wore a cabbage rose headpiece of matching fabric and carried two long-stemmed daffodils.

Serving as acolytes were Bea Oline and Gladys Voeller, both of Brainerd.

Charles Ragan of Nisswa was best man. Groomsmen were Bob Svendzen, Biwabik, cousin of the groom, Norbert Schneider of St. Paul and Rodney Doran of Ithaca, N. Y., brother of the bride. Ushers were Harold Herboldt of Nisswa and Thomas Hickerson of Brainerd. The men of the wedding party were attired in strollers with carnation boutonnieres. The groom's boutonniere was a white rose.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Doran chose a pink silk sheath dress with lace jacket and dark blue accessories. The mother of the groom wore a sheath dress of beige lace with pale blue accessories. Their corsages were of roses and carnations. Attending the wedding as honor guest was the grandmother of the groom.

A reception in the church parlors followed the ceremony with Mr. and Mrs. Tom Doran of Brainerd uncle and aunt of the bride, as host and hostess. Mrs. George Sholey of Nekoma, N. D., great-aunt of the bride and Mrs. Olaf Odland, cut and served the three-tiered all-white wedding cake topped with a golden cross. Mrs. Vernon Holmstrom of Hudson, Wis., aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Adolf Bonderon, friend of the groom, poured. Mrs. Charles Ragan, Mrs. Dagne Ralph, Carolyn Hole and Judy Atkinson presided at the punch table while Mrs. Andy Anderson registered the guests.

Gift bearers were Laurie Eskierka and Janell Ness of Thief River Falls, a cousin of the bride. Ice cream was served by Sara Kitterling and Barbara Johnson of Newfolden and the waitresses were Dorothy Donley, Sharon Boyum, Marian Wold, Barbara Jahnke, Joyce Nokken and Joyce Sonnenberg.

For the wedding trip to Colorado, the bride wore a yellow coat and dress ensemble. The bride attended school at Newfolden and is a graduate of the Moorhead State college. She is currently teaching in the Brainerd Independent school district 181. Mr. Svendsen attended the University of North Dakota and is in partnership at Earl's Furniture at Nisswa.

Mr. and Mrs. Svendsen will make their home in Nisswa. Photo—Sother's studio, Brainerd.

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

Features from the Kitchen of

MRS. JERRY HENDRICKSON

How very fortunate are the new homemakers of today compared to when Grandma was a bride. Even if one were to exclude all the modern conveniences and just consider one phase of their lives, that of baking, the changes have been terrific. No one had heard of drop cookies or bars "back in the good old days" when baking was done without the aid of measuring spoons and measuring cups and granulated sugar was obtained by crushing cakes of loaf sugar with a rolling pin.

Today one is able to buy a product in many various phases to suit ones own fancy — from mixes to brown-and-serve, frozen or ready-for-the-table.

Today's recipe for bars comes from Mrs. Jerry Henrickson of this city. They are quick and easy to make and may be made with variations.

OATMEAL NUT SQUARES

1 cup shortening
½ cup white sugar
½ cup brown sugar
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla or almond flavoring
1 cup flour
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup quick oats
1 cup nuts or coconut

Method: Mix in order given and bake in a 9 x 13-inch greased pan for 20 to 25 minutes in a 350 degree oven. Frost with favorite lemon or almond flavored powdered sugar icing.

The Hendricksons, who live one mile south of Thief River Falls along the airport road, have three children. They are Kristinine; Jeffrey, eight and Nancy, almost three. As a family they attend the Evangelical Free church in this city and are active in its various organizations.

Mrs. Hendrickson is also serving as secretary of the Northrop PTA. She lists sewing as her main hobby and makes most of her own clothing as well as those worn by the girls.

Red River Water Pollution Hearing Set in Moorhead

To receive and consider testimony and evidence in regard to water quality and purity for the Red River of the North, a hearing will be held by the Minnesota Water Pollution Control commission at 10 a.m. May 4 at the American Legion club rooms in Moorhead.

Area of the river in question will be from its source at Breckenridge to the United States-Canada border. Also included in the hearing will be the Otter Tail and Red Lake rivers from Fergus Falls and Crookston, respectively, to their mouths.

Purpose of the hearing, the commission states, is to adopt regulations, revoke or modify existing sewage and waste disposal permits and issue orders for the abatement and control of existing and future sources of pollution of the indicated waters of the state.

Proposed stream classifications and standards, and recommendations relating to modification of permits and abatement of pollution, are on file in the office of the secretary of the commission at the state board of health building at the University of Minnesota in Minneapolis. Copies will also be mailed on request.

Oral or written testimony will be received at the hearing, and written testimony may also be submitted to the commission no later than May 2.

LHS Musicians Rate in District

Thief River Falls vocal and instrumental soloists and ensembles gained a number of "A" ratings at the District 31 music festival held recently in Crookston. Large groups such as bands, orchestras and choruses will compete this Saturday at the district event in Crookston.

Instrumental soloists gaining top ratings at Crookston were David Swenson, violin; Richard Stenberg and Sharon Wold, clarinet; and Linda Reeve, flute. A flute and clarinet duet by Linda Reeve and Richard Stenberg also gained an "A" ratings, as did a violin and flute duet by David Swenson and Linda Reeve.

Vocal soloists receiving "A" ratings were Jodi Martin, alto; Bruce Parnham and Rod Collver, baritone. The only vocal ensemble to gain an "A" was the girls sextette comprised of Bonnie VeVea, Emily Hoel, Elaine Mortenson, Janet Flom, Tami Steen and Mary Kraemer with Becky Berg as accompanist.

The state-area contest will be held April 29 and 30 in Thief River Falls.

Recent week-end guests at the Wallace Vagle home were Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Vagle and family of Biwabik and Mrs. Edna Engquist of Grand Forks, N. D. Diane Sjulestad Weds C. Crombie in Arizona

Bethel Lutheran church at Phoenix, Ariz., was the scene of the recent wedding of Miss Diane Sjulestad and Craig Crombie, both of Phoenix.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Swen Sjulestad of Phoenix and formerly of the Goodridge area, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Harstine, also of Phoenix.

The Rev. L. O. Tolo officiated at the double ring ceremony attended by 125 guests. Mrs. Tolo, as organist, played the traditional nuptial music and accompanied Ronnie Tuckett as he sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "O Promise Me". A floral arrangement graced the altar that was flanked by candelabra and baskets of blue and white gladioli and irises.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of white lace over satin. Fashioned with a fitted bodice the gown was styled with long tapered sleeves and a scalloped neckline enhanced with sequins and seed pearls. The full skirt extended into a chapel-length train. A delicate crown of seed pearls and crystals held the shoulder length veil of silk illusion and her bridal bouquet was a double-ring of pink baby roses and white hyacinths.

Mrs. Sandra Prigge of Babbitt attended her sister as matron of honor. A cousin of the bride, Charlotte Tackett of Phoenix, Ariz., was bridesmaid. They wore blue floor-length sheath gowns fashioned with lace empire bodices with long sleeves and featuring chiffon-over-satin skirts. To complement their attire they wore matching veiled headpieces, white shoes and gloves and carried cascade bouquets of white carnations accented with blue irises.

Richard Griffiths of Phoenix was best man. Groomsman was Richard Metille while Robert Kenyon was usher. They wore dark business suits with carnation boutonnieres. The groom's boutonniere was a white carnation centered with a pink baby rose bud.

The mother of the bride was attired in a blue suit with white accessories and a pink, feathered, double carnation corsage. The groom's mother wore a brown dress with matching accessories and a corsage of white feathered carnations.

A reception in the church parlors followed the ceremony. Dainty wedding bells and slippers surrounded the pillared, four-tiered wedding cake trimmed in blue and toppd with a miniature bride and groom.

Mrs. Robert Sjulestad, aunt of the bride, cut and served the cake and Mrs. Irven McLaity, aunt of the groom, poured. Suzanne Johnson served the punch and Renae Sjulestad and Heather Crombie sisters of the bride and groom, respectively, registered the guests. Mrs. Evelyn Prigge of Thief River Falls assisted with the serving while Jeanelle Johnson, Dale Guitard and Sue Johnson arranged the gifts.

Out-of-town guests were from California, Colorado, Babbitt, Thief River Falls and Goodridge.

For traveling on the wedding trip, the bride wore a coral suit of mohair and lamb's wool. The bride is a graduate of the Cortex high school of Phoenix and is employed by the Industrial Commission of Arizona. The groom, a graduate of West high school and the Pheonix Barber college, is employed by Demy's hair stylist at Phoenix where the newly-weds are at home at 4446 North 36th Street, Apartment 21. Doran And Svendsen Vows Spoken at Detroit Lakes

Miss JoAnn Estelle Doran of Brainerd and William Allan Svendson of Nisswa exchanged marriage vows in a double ring ceremony Saturday, April 2, at 7 p.m., at the First Lutheran church in Detroit Lakes. The Rev. Kermit Graves officiated at the ceremony attended by 200 guests.

The organist, Carolyn Skarpol, played Lohengrin's "Wedding March" as the processional and accompanied Peter Perreton and Alice Labraaten as they sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "The Greatest of These is Love". Miss Labraaten also sang a solo, "Entreat Me Not to Leave Thee" Baskets of white roses, accented with daffodils, graced the altar.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Doran of Detroit Lakes who were former residents of the Newfolden community and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ear Svendsen of Nisswa.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white embroidered crystal charm styled in empire fashion with long tapering sleeves. The gown was fashioned by the mother of the bride. A satin pillbox headpiece held the shoulder length veil and she carried a cascade bouquet of white roses, swweet Williams and trailing ivy.

Myran Doran of New Brighton attended her sister as maid of honor. Brideamaids were Virginia Freer and Arlynn Sandberg, both of Brainerd. Mrs. Wendell Nelson of Osseo was bridesmatron. They wore identical floor-length gowns of sea-green embroidered crystal charm designed in the empire fashion. Each wore a cabbage rose headpiece of matching fabric and carried two long-stemmed daffodils.

Serving as acolytes were Bea Oline and Gladys Voeller, both of Brainerd.

Charles Ragan of Nisswa was best man. Groomsmen were Bob Svendzen, Biwabik, cousin of the groom, Norbert Schneider of St. Paul and Rodney Doran of Ithaca, N. Y., brother of the bride. Ushers were Harold Herboldt of Nisswa and Thomas Hickerson of Brainerd. The men of the wedding party were attired in strollers with carnation boutonnieres. The groom's boutonniere was a white rose.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Doran chose a pink silk sheath dress with lace jacket and dark blue accessories. The mother of the groom wore a sheath dress of beige lace with pale blue accessories. Their corsags were of roses and carnations. Attending the wedding as honor guest was the grandmother of the groom.

A reception in the church parlors followed the ceremony with Mr. and Mrs. Tom Doran of Brainerd uncle and aunt of the bride, as host and hostess. Mrs. George Sholey of Nekoma, N. D., great-aunt of the bride and Mrs. Olaf Odland, cut and served the three-tiered all-white wedding cake topped with a golden cross. Mrs. Vernon Holmstrom of Hudson, Wis., aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Adolf Bonderon, friend of the groom, poured. Mrs. Charles Ragan, Mrs. Dagne Ralph, Carolyn Hole and Judy Atkinson presided at the punch table while Mrs. Andy Anderson registered the guests.

Gift bearers were Laurie Eskierka and Janell Ness of Thief River Falls, a cousin of the bride. Ice cream was served by Sara Kitterling and Barbara Johnson of Newfolden and the waitresses were Dorothy Donley, Sharon Boyum, Marian Wold, Barbara Jahnke, Joyce Nokken and Joyce Sonnenberg.

For the wedding trip to Colorado, the bride wore a yellow coat and dress ensemble. The bride attended school at Newfolden and is a graduate of the Moorhead State college. She is currently teaching in the Brainerd Independent school district 181. Mr. Svendsen attended the University of North Dakota and is in partnership at Earl's Furniture at Nisswa.

Mr. and Mrs. Svendsen will make their home in Nisswa. Photo—Sother's studio, Brainerd.

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

Features from the Kitchen of

MRS. JERRY HENDRICKSON

How very fortunate are the new homemakers of today compared to when Grandma was a bride. Even if one were to exclude all the modern conveniences and just consider one phase of their lives, that of baking, the changes have been terrific. No one had heard of drop cookies or bars "back in the good old days" when baking was done without the aid of measuring spoons and measuring cups and granulated sugar was obtained by crushing cakes of loaf sugar with a rolling pin.

Today one is able to buy a product in many various phases to suit ones own fancy — from mixes to brown-and-serve, frozen or ready-for-the-table.

Today's recipe for bars comes from Mrs. Jerry Henrickson of this city. They are quick and easy to make and may be made with variations.

OATMEAL NUT SQUARES

1 cup shortening
½ cup white sugar
½ cup brown sugar
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla or almond flavoring
1 cup flour
⅓ teaspoon salt
1 cup quick oats
1 cup nuts or coconut

Method: Mix in order given and bake in a 9 x 13-inch greased pan for 20 to 25 minutes in a 350 degree oven. Frost with favorite lemon or almond flavored pewdered sugar icing.

The Hendricksons, who live one mile south of Thief River Falls along the airport road, have three children. They are Kristinine; Jeffrey, eight and Nancy, almost three. As a family they attend the Evangelical Free church in this city and are active in its various organizations.

Mrs. Hendrickson is also serving as secretary of the Northrop PTA. She lists sewing as her main hobby and makes most of her own clothing as well as those worn by the girls.

Red River Water Pollution Hearing Set in Moorhead

To receive and consider testimony and evidence in regard to water quality and purity for the Red River of the North, a hearing will be held by the Minnesota Water Pollution Control commission at 10 a.m. May 4 at the American Legion club rooms in Moorhead.

Area of the river in question will be from its source at Breckenridge to the United States-Canada border. Also included in the hearing will be the Otter Tail and Red Lake rivers from Fergus Falls and Crookston, respectively, to their mouths.

Purpose of the hearing, the commission states, is to adopt regulations, revoke or modify existing sewage and waste disposal permits and issue orders for the abatement and control of existing and future sources of pollution of the indicated waters of the state.

Proposed stream classifications and standards, and recommendations relating to modification of permits and abatement of pollution, are on file in the office of the secretary of the commission at the state board of health building at the University of Minnesota in Minneapolis. Copies will also be mailed on request.

Oral or written testimony will be received at the hearing, and written testimony may also be submitted to the commission no later than May 2.

LHS Musicians Rate in District

Thief River Falls vocal and instrumental soloists and ensembles gained a number of "A" ratings at the District 31 music festival held recently in Crookston. Large groups such as bands, orchestras and choruses will compete this Saturday at the district event in Crookston.

Instrumental soloists gaining top ratings at Crookston were David Swenson, violin; Richard Stenberg and Sharon Wold, clarinet; and Linda Reeve, flute. A flute and clarinet duet by Linda Reeve and Richard Stenberg also gained an "A" ratings, as did a violin and flute duet by David Swenson and Linda Reeve.

Vocal soloists receiving "A" ratings were Jodi Martin, alto; Bruce Parnham and Rod Collver, baritone. The only vocal ensemble to gain an "A" was the girls sextette comprised of Bonnie VeVea, Emily Hoel, Elaine Mortenson, Janet Flom, Tami Steen and Mary Kraemer with Becky Berg as accompanist.

The state-area contest will be held April 29 and 30 in Thief River Falls.

Recent week-end guests at the Wallace Vagle home were Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Vagle and family of Biwabik and Mrs. Edna Engquist of Grand Forks, N. D. They attended funeral services of Earl Vagle at Lake Bronson on Saturday, April 2. Mrs. Engquist, mother of Mrs. Wallace Vagle, remained to spend Easter at the Vagle home.

More thinking along the lines of that longed-for vacation is being done in families these days when the first signs of the winter's end appear. We would advise all vacationers to get a look at "Fun on Wheels" by that household byword, Dave Garroway, before starting out with the kids. It couldn't be Garroway without the whimsy, naturally; but the practical side of the man is also demonstrated forcibly in this work.

That he is knowledgeable in ways of achieving bumper - to - bumper tranquility under family circumstances, is evident throughout. Many worthwhile, tried and true methods are given in detail and include games, contests and busy-type projects that will amuse and also educate and divert those restless small minds and bodies. As might be expected, Garroway leads into his bright little happiness-recipe with the familiar, "Peace"!

"The Portofino PTA" by Gerald Green is rollicking good fun also, by an author whose work with NBC takes him on world-wide junkets. It's a travel-log, a slight deviation from the travelogue, the recording of the impressions of an eye askance for the witty and amusing. Sure to rejuvenate the jaded spirits of the tired, the bored and the wishful-thinkers. It offers a change of pace, something droll, a pick - me - up when in need of something light. Reading Green affords a view of Italy not likely to be publicized by the travel folders.

Stories of international intrigue seldom lack for want of blood-letting, and "A Few Days in Madrid" by Audrey and William Ross has its share of gore and suspense that is as breathless as the deadly game of cloak-and-dagger suggests. A Russian plot is underway to cast evil suspicion on America through an "incident" which is to have world - wide repercussions. A deathless tale of romance adds warm emotion to the sinister tone of the novel which is in the usual pattern of pursuit and flight, terror, despair and escape.

"Living Free" by Joy Adamson will have readers still doing a double-take as in her other books, "Born Free" and the last of the trio, "Forever Free." by no means a new book, it deserves wide readership, and those of you who haven't as het read it, or the others, are missing something startling wonderful. The pictures are proof of what might seem an incredible tale of the affinity of a game warden and his wife for a lioness in the wilds of Africa; a lioness mated to a wild lion and mother of three cubs. She was liason, as it were, between the world of civilization and that of savagry.

Elsa, the lion, found herself as much at home on the Adamsons' Land Rover, on their camp cot and even on their kitchen table, as on jungle paths. And through this mutuality of trust, the couple and the lion mother and her young lived side by side and the author learned the life cycle and the habits of the young family, and adapted to their wishes. At one point they had to forego the use of their radio because Elsa showed them that it desturbed the cubs. Delightful reading, so unusual as to seem sheer fantasy, if it weren't authenticated with the sensational pictures with which the books are replete. Show them to the small fry too; they'll be enthralled.

What is your assessment of the average biography? Reading many of those which have come off the presses recently has revised my notion of the category as a whole. Perhaps you may want to take a long, new, look at the excellent books on the famous which have recently been added to our shelves. They are listed under the initial of the surname of the subject of the biography, and are easily found.

Some of the more notable of these are "The Eleanor Roosevelt Story" by Archibald MacLeish, and "Citizen Hearst," by W. A. Swanberg, the remarkable career story of the head of a publishing empire. Careful research is evident here also, in a story enriched with a multitude of anecdotes and little - known facets and quirks of the character of this man, who never wanted death mentioned in his presence, and had a fancy for picnics. A modern-day safari, his picnic was totally unlike our notions of that popular pastime, including as it would, a pack train of mules laded to their capacity with such items as Japanese lanterns, champagne, and caviar. Revealed also is the man Hearst as a connoisseur of fine art, and a man accustomed to moving in a world to which his fortune entitled him.

Quite different is the biography of one of the world's disciples of compassion, the late Albert Schweitzer, who lived and sacrificed himself in a world of appalling poverty. A peasant, farmer, builder, doctor and scholar, he spent a lifetime in dedicaton to the needs of mankind, a man who wished to be remembered more for his spiritual contributions than for his service as a doctor.

The story of Pope John XXIII is told by Alden Hatch. He was one of the most revered leaders of modern times. The book is highly readable, and illustrated with fine photography.

An autobiography by Pearl S. Buck, "A Bridge of Passing", tells of the author's transition from a full, happy life with a beloved husband to the state of lonely existence without him, and of her search for, and arriving at, a solution to her problem. Returning to her cherished Orient after an absence of many years, she recaptures happiness and fulfillment in a new assignment.

Another story of his own life is that told by Luther Burbank in his "Partner of Nature", appealing to all who cherish the love of growing things and of the feel of good earth between their fingers.

Yet another, "One Hundred Dollars and a Horse", is a well-told story of the life of a country doctor who, if his writings indicate his thinking, added dashes of humor to every prescription and all his dealings with those needing his ministrations. The last chapter, in which he calls himself an "ex-everything," is alone a recommendation for reading every word of this fine book.

The week of April 17th is National Library Week. There will be a special article on libraries, everyone's library, and especially our own, in the next Library Corner. And as usual on Saturday, at 2 p.m. the story hour for your kiddies, from 3 to 5 years of age, inclusive. Be sure to bring them. They'll hear a story of their interest level, learn a nursery rhyme and in general get accustomed to being one of the crowd.

Let's see more of them for the remainder of April. And let's see more of you good people. Perhaps the idea of reading books hasn't caught on with you yet. But give it a try. It's quite an experience, and it's satisfying to be well-informed.

Andrew Langevin, 51, Once of TRF, Dies at Moorhead

Andrew Langevin, 51, formerly of Thief River Falls and the brother of Mrs. Harold H. Anderson and Mrs. Victor Kalinoski, both of Thief River Falls and Mrs. Merle Rolland of St. Hilaire, died unexpectedly Friday afternoon following a heart attack suffered at noon at his home in Moorhead.

Funeral services for Andrew Langevin were held this morning (Monday) at Moorhead. A complete obituary will be published later.

A. G. Johnson Rites Held Sat., At Middle River

A. G. (Sander) Johnson, 86, of Middle River, the father of Alfred J. Johnson of Thief River Falls, died Wednesday at Northwestern hospital.

Funeral services for A. G. Johnson were held Saturday, at 2 p.m. at the First Lutheran church in Middle River with the Rev. Dunne Nelson officiating. Linda Larson served as organist and the vocal selections were sung by Mrs. Richard Luoto, Mrs. Melvin Griffin and Mrs. Floyd Peterson.

Pallbearers were Barney Reis; Melvin Graff, Elmer Everson, Oscar Larson, Elmer Majer and Richard Nordlund. Interment was in Poplar Grove cemetery near Strathcona with Collins Funeral home of Middle River in charge of funeral arrangements.

A. C. (Sander) Johnson, the son of the late James and Carrie Johnson, was born July 22, 1879 in Sweden. At the age of one year, he immigrated to the United States with his parents living in Rose City for a short time before moving to Santiago where he attended school. He married Betsy Christoferson at Santiago on Sept. 20, 1906. The Johnsons lived at Santiago until 1925 when they moved to Roseau county, settling on a farm near Strathcona. They retired from farming in 1958 and have since lived in the village of Middle River.

He is survived by his wife, Betsy; three sons, Alfred J. Johnson, Thief River Falls; Newman, Hoople, N. D., and Clifford of Strathcona; two daughters, Mrs. Mabel Stromlund and Mrs. Arlo (Hazel) Anderson, both of Peoria, Ill., 13 grandchildren, 19 great-grandchildren and one brother, Otto Johnson of Roseau.

He was preceded in death by two sons and one sister.

John Noyes Services To Be Held At Brooks

John Noyes, 83, of Brooks, died Friday morning at St. John's hospital at Red Lake Falls where an hour earlier he had been admitted as a patient. He had been in failing health for some time.

Requiem High Mass for John Noyes will be offered Tuesday at 10 a.m. at St. Joseph's Catholic church at Brooks with the Rev. Henry Carriere officiating. Interment will be in the church cemetery. Friends and relatives may call at the Petterson Funeral home at Red Lake Falls, Monday afternoon and evening, beginning at three o'clock. Recitation of the rosary will be at 8 o'clock tonight (Monday).

John Noyes was born Nov. 6, 1882 at Merrimac, Wis., and came to Minnesota in 1910 with his parents, the late Fred and Frances Barrow Noyes. He worked for a railroad in Wisconsin prior to homesteading near Brooks. He was engaged in farming near Brooks until retiring in 1943. Since that time he had made his home in the Village of Brooks.

He was united in marriage to Laura Lussier on Aug. 25, 1912 at Old Lambert, near Oklee. She survives, together with four sons, Harold Noyes, San Bernadino, Calif. Guy, South Milwaukee, Wis.; Russell, Brooks and Vernon of San Diego, Calif.;

Also three daughters, Mrs. Ray (Hazel) Perras, Red Lake Falls; Mrs. Armond (Eunice) Champagne, So. Milwaukee, Wis., and Mrs. H. L. (Lorraine) Barber of Encino, Calif.; 13 grandchildren, 15 great-grandchildren and one brother, Curtis Noyes of Erskine.

Three brothers and one sister preceded him in death.

E. Stauffenecker, Retired Greenbush Farmer, Dies

Funeral services for Ernest Stauffenecker, 76, a retired Greenbush farmer who died Wednesday at the Greenbush hospital, were held Saturday at 2 p.m. at the Bethel Lutheran church at Greenbush with the Rev. James Query officiating. Interment was in the Blessed Sacrament cemetery with the Lorbiecki - Collins Funeral home of Greenbush in charge of funeral arrangements.

Ernest Stauffenecker was born Jan. 12, 1890 at Oberlin, Ohio to the late C. Christian and Ann Stauffenecker. He married Rose Kipke at St. Cloud in 1912. The family moved to Roseau county in 1921 settling on a farm near Greenbush where Mr. Stauffenecker was engaged in farming for 41 years. Following retirement in 1962, he had since made his home in the village of Greenbush.

He is survived by his wife, Rose; six sons, Christian, Clarence, Leroy, Floyd, Hubert and Geart Stauffenecker, all of Greenbush; one daughter, Mrs. Roman (Evelyn) Witzman of Biwabik, one brother, Peter Stauffenecker of Greenbush and seven brothers and five sisters not of this area.

He was preceded in death by one son and two brothers.

Obesity Problems Aired by Teacher At Goodridge HS

In recent years, newspapers, magazines, television and radio programs have stressed the problem of overweight. Through extensive research, doctors have found that the heart is damaged by use of foods high in fat. Other organs are similarly weakened. Today the greatest problem of preventive medicine is obesity, according to Mrs. Glenn Peters, home economics instructor at Goodridge high school.

Extreme overweight is generally the result of eating too much. Lack of activity is both a case and a result of overweight. Very rarely is overweight due to a disturbance of the function of glands. Children and youth become overweight for a number of reasons, perhaps a too starchy diet is provided or possibly ice cream and candy are eaten too frequently, Mrs. Peters said.

With some people, overeating is a symptom of some emotional probmem—boredom, loneliness, discontent or insecurity. Children who feel unwanted may find eating a consolation.

Many overweight men and women claim that although they eat very little they do not lose weight. To illustrate this, one test made of a hundred such cases proved that these people lost weight readily when they ate proper foods and in the proper amounts.

Even though they honestly believed they had been eating very little, they were actually eating more foods rich in fats and sugars than they realized, and they were eating too often during the day.

Mrs. Peter's comments were presented as a part of a series of the Adult Home Economics Education Non-class program in Home Economics on "Weight Watcher's Meals."

Panel Members Announced for Film Showing

Panel members for a discussion period following showing of the film "Boy to Man" Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Lincoln high school auditorium have been announced by school officials sponsoring the film showing. Parents of boys 10 to 14 years of age are especially invited to ttend.

Panel members include Patrick Klemisch, sixth grade teacher at Knox; Mrs. Margaret Race, school nurse; Rev. R. A. Wangberg; Mrs. Donald L. Olson; Dr. H. P. Wendt, and Kenneth Swenson principal at Knox and Mark Twain schools, moderator. Letters of invitation are being sent from the school to parents this week.

School officials state that the film "deals candidly with the secondary and primary sexual changes of adolescence in the male," and that it is being shown to the parents before being shown to boys in the city's schools.

Police Report Several Traffic Mishaps in City

Three traffic accidents were noted by the Thief River Falls police department during the past several days. One juvenile shoplifter was also apprehended and the case turned over to the police department for investigation.

On Tuesday a car owned by Allen Torkelson, city, was parked in the Knight avenue parking lot when struck on the left rear fender by a farm tractor which had been parked nearby. The tractor and operator left the scene of the accident. Damage to the Torkelson car was estimated at $60.

On Wednesday at 2:20 p.m. a car driven west on Third street by Judith Spray, city, was attempting a left turn on to Main avenue and stopped to yield to a pedestrain when struck on the right rear fender by a car driven east on Third street by Omer Parent, Argyle. Damage was estimated at $80 to the Spray car and $25 to the Parent vehicle.

A car driven east on First street by Donna Casey at about 4:10 p. m. Saturday was struck on the left front fender by a Jeep owned by Wiener Motors and driven by Orvis Sletten at the Main avenue intersection. Damage was estimated at $180 to the Casey car with no damage estimate on the Jeep. Charges are pending in the mishap.

Area Educators Will Attend MEA Confab in Cities

More than 200 leading Minnesota educators will participate in the 43rd annual delegate assembly of the Minnesota Education association (MEA) Thursday through Saturday at the Capp Towers hotel in Minneapolis. Among those attending will be Lawrence J. Brown, Lincoln high school chemistry teacher and MEA director from the Northern division; Francis P. Hamerlinck, assistant to superintendnt; Peter Probasco, area vocational school teacher; and David M. Brown, Goodridge superintendent.

The delegate assembly is MEA's governing body and is charged with the responsibility of determining overall policy and with guiding the actions of its elected officers, its 14 appointed commissions and committees, and professional staff.

"We are proud", said MEA President Nicholas E. Duff, Minnetonka high school social studies teacher, "of the democratic makeup of our legislative body. The vast proportion of our membership is comprised of classroom teachers, which fact is reflected by the statistic that of the 203 delegates, elected directly to represent our nearly 38,000 members, 150 are classroom teachers."

Duff predicted that delegates will pay close attention to proposed legislation, with particular emphasis on a professional negotiations act and a professional practices act, and to organizational matters of professional concern.

Public Affairs Conference Set For Area Women

On April 14, the agricultural extension service will sponsor a Town and Country Public Affairs conference for women at Thief River Falls. Among the speakers will be Mrs. Carole B. Yoho, agricultural extension public affairs specialist, who will discuss government revenues and expenditures.

Citizens have grown to expect and demand a high level of public service in such areas as national security, highways, education and welfare. How and why government at the national, state and local levels has responded to citizen pressures for more and better public services will form part of the subject under discussion. Special attention will be directored to Minnesota state and local government spending and income patterns.

Any women who are interested in attending this conference should contact Beverly Tvelto, Pennington county home agent, today.

LHS Choir Will Participate in Combined Concert

Lincoln high school choir, directed by Bryant Ulseth, will join 12 other high school choirs at Concordia college in Moorhead Saturday for the annual spring music festival. The 1,000 young vocalists, under the direction of Paul J. Christiansen, will give a concert at 3:30 p.m. in the Memorial auditorium. They will sing "Honor and Glory" by J. S. Bach and "Psalm 92" by Paul J. Christiansen, with brass accompaniment. Each choir will also perform a solo number.

The Concordia college band, directed by Leif Christianson, will give a half-hour concert at 1 p.m. and the Concordia choir will give a short concert at 3:30 p.m. The combined choirs will rehearse for their afternoon concert at 10:30 a. m. and 1:30 p.m. All activities will be held in Memorial auditorium.

Mercury Rises in Times Area; Storm Hits Dakotas Sun.

Temperatures have risen to more seasonal levels after a week of maximum readings in the 30's and three days of continuous light melting snow. The high-pressure area that brought the chilly weather has moved eastward, and southerly winds have brought warmer air into the area. The mercury reached a high Sunday of 43.

A Pacific low-pressure area moved into the Great Plains Sunday, bringing rain and wet snow. Some communities in central North Dakota received up to four inches of snow, and by evening stockmen's warnings were out in the Dakotas, Nebraska, Iowa and southern Minnesota. The storm center will apparently pass to the south of Thief River Falls, however, and only occasional cloudiness and occasional periods of showers are predicted for this area. Little temperature change is forecast. Highs today will be in the 40's; lows tonight will range from 25 to 35.

Temperature and precipitation readings recorded at the airport are as follows: 36, 25 and a trace on Wednesday; 34, 27 and a trace on Thursday; 31, 25 and a trace on Friday; 37 and 25 on Saturday; 43 and 24 on Sunday; and a low this morning of 30.

CCD Officers Elected Tuesday At St. Bernard's

On Tuesday the adult Confraternity of Christian Doctrine executive board met for its regular monthly meeting at St. Bernard's Catholic church. Art Heinze was elected president and Mrs. James Fisher was named secretary - treasurer.

Other members of the executive board include Raymond Rausch, Mrs. William Ness, Mrs. William Grundhaus, Miss Joan Kraemer, Patrick Klemisch, and Donald Kamrowski. Rev. James Ditzlof is the spiritual advisor.

The CCD is the church's official parish society devoted to the religious education of its members, both children and adults. Purpose of the executive board is to act as an over-all committee for advising, planning and executing the Confraternity work of the parish.

Some of the functions that the board has promoted during the past year were children and adult religious instructions, adult discussion clubs, retreats, special speakers, teenage religion classes and operation of the parish library.

"The style of a man's play, plus the normal range of his vices, divided by the square of his work, and multiplied by the coefficient of his nationality, gives, not only his potential resistance under breaking-strain, but indicates, within a few points, how far he may be trusted to pull off a losing game."

—Rudyard Kipling

Didn't Last Long

To paraphrase a Biblical passage, "What the government giveth, the government taketh away." This is the case of the federal excise tax on local and long distance telephone and teletypewriter services.

To finance costs during World War II, the 10 per cent tax on telephone service was instituted. This temporary tax had remained in effect until January 1 of this year when it was reduced to three per cent with the intent to eliminate it entirely.

Then along came the Viet Nam war and the tax was boosted back to 10 per cent. It was with much fanfare that the administration heralded the tax reduction, but with considerably less publicity that it was reinstated.

The law reinstates the telephone tax at 10 per cent until April 1, 1968, when it is to be reduced to one per cent, and then completely eliminates it at the close of that year. If past governmental practice is an indication, don't be too optimistic about seeing the tax eliminated at the end of 1968. These temporary things have a way of becoming permanent.

An Irksome Action

Every now and then some little situation comes along which perhaps does not mean a great deal but irks a person a little. For instance, the bite of a mosquito is not serious to most people, but the attendant itch or the whining of one of the pesky insects in a person's ear is certainly irksome.

This is the way we view the announcement that the U. S. Senate, with neither debate nor dissent and with few senators on hand, agreed to extend for two months the deadline for America's elderly citizens to sign up for the $3-per-month insurance under the nation's medicare program.

For the past several months this newspaper has complied with requests from agencies concerned to let the old folks know that they must register for the program by March 31. After that date the "privilege" of registration would be withdrawn until next year.

To this end the federal government itself—through the Office of Economic Opportunity—hired people to contact senior citizens on a full-scale basis so that they might register before the deadline. The stops were pulled out and the crash program was launched. Long hours were devoted and real money was spent.

Now the deadline has been extended two months.

Here we go again.

There Is a Difference

Many people do not believe there is much difference between government operation of business and private industry. There are a number of differences, however, and many of these are major ones.

For instance, private industry operates to make a profit and pays taxes on its operation to support government at various levels. Government operates its business without concern for profit and uses public taxes to pay its losses. Often private industry and government business are competitive in nature, and government naturally has several economic advantages.

When private industry is in competition with other private industry, the patron of these industries benefits. Prices are kept as low as possible and quality is constantly improved to maintain customer satisfaction. In general, increased volume for private industry effects economies which can be passed on to the consumer.

We noted recently the following item in the Wall Street Journal:

"A post office budget rise, primarily to hire 15,200 more postmen, was approved by a House committee. The bill calls for a $5.8 billion appropriation for the year beginning July 1, up $494 million from this fiscal year. The panel cut only $21.7 million from the administration's request. The department must hire new employees to take care of an 'unprecedented increase in mail volume', the committee said, but is also urged more rapid mechanization."

Therefore we see this difference: Larger volume in private business usually means lower costs while larger volume in at least one government business—the postal department—means higher costs.

A Good Meeting

Last Tuesday evening it was our pleasant experience to attend a meeting which, we believe, had some real value. We refer to a session called by the education committee of the Chamber of Commerce at which members of the city council, board of education and a number of related groups ~~discussed their progress,~~ plans and difficulties.

The several groups in attendance are all vitally concerned with a permanent site for a junior college in this community. In addition, with a view toward comprehensive planning and long-range educational benefits for the area, the group is agreed that the junior college and a proposed building for vocational-technical education be located in close proximity.

Complications have arisen from several factors. First, the city council has agreed to provide the state junior college board with a site for the permanent college. Second, the junior college board has given approval to either of two sites proposed. Third, the owner of the preferred site does not want to sell and condemnation proceedings have been initiated. Fourth, the school board has been assured that federal funds for vocational school building are available through the state department of education. Fifth, these funds won't be available forever and the board feels it must move quickly. Sixth, application for funds for vocational building must include a site, and the board prefers a site near the junior college.

In brief, the council does not have the preferred permanent junior college site secured; the school board is anxious to take advantage of available funds while they are available; and application for the latter likely can not be made until the former problem has been solved.

Tuesday night's session permitted each of the groups involved to be informed of the actions of the others. It will help result in a coordinated effort which will be mutually beneficial to the several groups and the entire community. We were happy to see the session held.

Not So Fast

Unless the Minnesota Legislature decides to take action if and when a special session is called, Minnesota's time this summer will not be so fast. A federal daylight saving time bill provides that any state using fast time would have to mark it from 2 a.m. on the last sunday in April until 2 a.m. on the last Sunday in October.

Since the Minnesota legislature is not scheduled to meet until 1967, and since a special session would be supposedly limited to reapportionment, the state would mark nature's own sweet time this summer. Previously, Minnesota has had daylight saving time from Memorial day to Labor day. Under the federal law, the state's previous procedure would not be permitted.

Minnesota has been quite divided on the merits and disadvantages of fast time in the past, and the new edict from Washington is adding to the confusion. In grabbing the reins to steady the horse, the government has succeeded in its own miraculous inefficiency to also place burrs under the saddle.

We believe the legislature may take a different view on fast time at the next session because of the April through October provision. It would certainly foul up the schedule in families with children in school, whereas the state's Memorial day to Labor day period avoided this problem quite well.

Most farmers and some homemakers objected to fast time for various reasons. Many businessmen and business employees preferred it, for it gave them an extra hour of daylight at the end of the day to enjoy the outdoors with their families, work in the yard or engage in recreational pursuits.

To add to the confusion, Minnesota and all other states would automatically go on the national daylight saving time next year unless the legislature acts to remain on standard time. Barring unforeseen incident, however, Minnesota time, will not be so fast this year.

Who Can Explain?

We couldn't help but snort with enjoyment at the following article by Edward S. Rader, M. D., which appeared in the April edition of "Medicine at Work", published by the Pharmaceutical Manufacturers association, and was taken from "St. Louis Medicine".

A FUNNY THING HAPPENED ON THE WAY TO THE MAILBOX

My six-year-old daughter regularly accompanies me to the mailbox as part of our family togetherness program. The following conversation was abstracted from a recent dialogue that occurred during one such trip:

Daughter: "Daddy, what is in that big envelope?"

Father: "My income tax forms and a check to pay the income tax. Do you remember what taxes are?"

Daughter (hesitates): "Taxes are money that you pay the government to pay people who work for us."

Father: "That's right, like postmen and firemen."

Daughter: "What else does the government do with the money?"

Father: "Well, they give it to people in other countries to help them."

Daughter: "Like what other countries?"

Father: "Like Indonesia."

Daughter: "I never heard of that country. Who lives there?"

Father: "Mr. Sukarno and some other people."

Daughter: "Well, if we give him money he must like us, doesn't he?"

Father: "I don't know about that."

Daughter: "What else does the government do with the taxes?"

Father: "They give money to sick people to help them."

Daughter: "Will they give money to Uncle———when he gets sick?"

Father: "Yes, because he is over 65."

Daughter: "Well I heard you tell Mommy that he is very rich. If he is, why does the government have to give him money?"

Father (deposits envelope and slams lid): "Beats hell out of me, Sugar, but don't tell Mother I said so."

Borrowed Nonsense . . .

Shortly after the wedding the bridegroom made it known to his bride that every Wednesday night was to be his night out with the "boys." One Wednesday night he went out and didn't come back until 11 years later, when he very casually strolled in the front door. His wife was absolutely overjoyed and, after smothering her wandering husband with hugs and kisses, she ran to the telephone and began to call all her friends.

"What are you doing?" asked the husband.

"I'm asking everybody to come over for a 'welcome home' party to celebrate your return home," she replied.

"Oh, no," he instructed sternly. "This is Wednesday, remember? My night out with the boys!"

Grain & Seed Headquarters for the Great Northwest

IN SEED WE LEAD

SEED BARLEY

"Larker" "Conquest"

All of our Larker Barley will be pre-tested for Smut, and we will try to have our seed below 3% of Smut, all of our Seed will be bright with high plump and test weight

We will also have a new Blue Barley "Conquest" a Canadian release. We feel that this is the finest Barley, which we have had in a long time. It has straw strength comparable to our Wheats. We feel that this will replace Parkland as a Blue Barley, with better yielding and more disease resistance. This Barley is absolutly resistant to Smut:

Baseball Season Scheduled To Open For LHS April 20

Coach Ralph Skay's 1966 Prowler baseball squad is slated to begin play on its 16-game schedule on Wednesday evening, April 20, with the Fosston Greyhounds of District 30 meeting the locals on the fairgrounds diamond.

The playing field has dried out pretty well, but 10 days of warm and windy weather will be needed before the fairgrounds diamond will be ready for play. Huge snowdrifts from last month's heavy storm, are piled behind the grandstand and behind the outfield fence. As this snow melts there may be pools of casual water that will prevent the playing of the opener. But the Prowlers are hoping for warm weather.

Of the 16 games on the schedule, 11 will be "home" games. And such teams as Bemidji, Roseau, Crookston, Warren, Red Lake Falls, Ada, Goodridge and Erskine will be in action here.

The Prowlers have been doing their pre-season drilling in the confines of the local armory, but while the armory is spacious it does have its limitations and coach Skay and his assistant Lee Swanson are anxious to get the boys outdoors.

The 1966 Prowler baseball schedule:

April 20, Fosston, here, 7:30 p.m.
April 22, Red Lake Falls, here, 7:30 p.m.
April 27, Goodridge, here 7:30 p.m.
April 29, Fertile, there, 7:30 p.m.
May 2, Ada, here, 7:30 p.m.
May 4, Karlstad, here, 7:30 p.m.
May 6, Bemidji, there, 4:30 p.m.
May 11, Roseau, here, 7:30 p.m.
May 13, Bemidji, here, 7:30 p.m.

Record Number of Deer Killed on State Highways

A record number of 3,381 deer were killed by cars on Minnesota highways in 1965, according to Ted Shields, state game and fish director. This is an increase of about 10 per cent over the number killed in 1964. Nine moose were also killed by motor vehicles last year, Shields said.

Highway accidents involving deer in 1965 resulted in about 125 human injuries, three deaths and considerable property damage to automobiles.

Shields urged motorists to be especially alert for deer in areas marked by "Deer Crossing" and "Deer Crossing Area" signs, and pointed out that auto-deer accidents are most apt to occur in spring and fall.

He explained that in the spring deer often feed on new grass and clover on highway shoulders while in the fall mating season, deer move about more than they usually do and frequently stray out on roads.

Motorists should be extremely watchful at night, he said, because deer are often blinded by lights of an oncoming car and may not move off the road.

The feeding of deer near highways in the winter also increases car-deer accidents by attracting deer to the highways.

Minnesota ranked sixth in 1964, in the number of deer killed in highway accidents, Shields said. Ahead of Minnesota were New York, 24,000; Pensylvania, 14,394; Wisconsin, 8,017; California, 7,614; and Michigan, 5,979. Last fall Minnesota hunters took about 130,000 deer during the season.

Flood Damage Is Deductible from Federal Taxes

"Flood damage is deductible as a casualty loss on federal income tax returns, but misunderstandings exist concerning the determination of what loss is sustained," according to George O. Lethert, district director of Internal revenue.

Two factors are important in computing the amount of flood loss: the adjusted basis of the property, and, the decrease in the fair market value of the property as a result of the casualty.

"The general misunderstanding concerns the determination of fair market value immediately after the casualty," Lethert said. "A loss is allowed only for the actual physical damage to property resulting from the flooding. A decrease in the fair market value represents a fluctuation occasioned by the temporary adverse reaction of prospective purchasers immediately after the disaster. Subsequently, these values will rise to their former levels or higher. The temporary fluctuation constitutes a speculative 'loss' which most taxpayers do not actually sustain."

Lethert pointed out also that the amount of the loss which can be deducted cannot exceed the cost, or the adjusted basis of the property — that is, the purchase price plus any capital improvements and less any recoveries, such as depreciation.

"The Internal Revnue service does not argue the fact that taxpayers have suffered flood losses," Lethert declared. "However, we are permitted by law to allow deductions for amounts which are determined according to these rules".

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

Kermit's Idea

Kermit Anderson, assistant executive secretary of the Minnesota State High School league, has proposed a change in basketball's personal foul rule.

As expressed in a national sports magazine, Anderson proposes that the player who commits the foul must take the foul shot. If the fouling player sinks the shot, the opposing team gets one point; if he misses, they get two. Sink or miss, his team then gets the ball out of bounds.

"This shifts the pressure to where it belongs," says Anderson of his proposal. "Under the current rules it is the innocent player who has been fouled who is on the spot. This new plan puts the pressure on the player who committed the foul and would certainly cut down indiscriminate fouling."

So says Kermit Anderson. But as the magazine added: "Now all someone has to do is figure out how to work all these points-in-reverse into the box score."

It is a fact, though, that personal fouls have too great a bearing on the outcome of basketball games. And the foul that is too costly is the fifth personal, the infraction that sends a high school player to the bench. This foul, which could be a minor infraction of the rules, is a penalty that is out of proportion to the preceding four fouls.

At the accelerated pace of present day basketball with its high scoring and stress placed on recovering rebounds, personal contact and fouls are a certainty. But to handicap a squad that does not have a strong bench by forcing a player out of the game on five fouls appears too severe.

There has been some talk about adding another official, but this would only increase the whistle-blowing. This is not the answer because, as the game is now, with two officials, there are games that sound as if a symphony orchestra is tuning up. Better perhaps to use the "no harm, no foul" philosphy.

It's Next Year

I realize that the years are passing too swiftly and it is not necessary for me to give them a boost. The Pan-American Games, which will be held in Winnipeg, will be held next year, in August of 1967. Noting the reservations that had already been made, and that such countries as Cuba was asking for accomodations for 335 athletes, I presumed that the Pan-Am games were due this summer. Not so.

It is estimated that more than 3,500 athletes will be engaged in the various activities in Winnipeg, with track and field events being emphasized.

Winnipeg will engage in a vast building program this year, constructing an Olympic-sized swimming pool, modernizing the running track in the stadium, and so on.

And speaking of track, coach Roger Solheim will take several of his Prowler trackmen to Grand Forks on Saturday for the Sioux Indoor Relays. This event attracts vast numbers of track and field athletes from high schools in North Dakota and Minnesota. For most of the schools in this area, it is the season's lid-lifter.

He Was Heroic

The Masters Golf Tournament at Augusta, Georgia, which was to have been concluded yesterday, will require a three-player playoff to determine the winner. Jack Nicklaus, Gay Brewer and Tommy Jacobs are playing an 18-hole medal play match today. The three players, with even-par golf, finished the regular 72 holes in a deadlock.

But the most heroic figure in the tournament, and particularly on his play on Saturday, was the 53-year-old Ben Hogan. Hogan, who has twice won the Masters, in 1951 and 1953, made a strong bid on Saturday. But it was evident that he was fighting a losing battle against age and the handicaps of injury. But Hogan drew the plaudits of the huge gallery that followed the Hogan and Arnie Palmer twosome on Saturday, and in the match the limping Hogan gained a one-stroke lead over his younger rival.

Hogan's play on Sunday, which found him paired with defending champion Nicklaus, was anti-climatic. He was a tired golfer.

Lake Sounding Maps Available From State Dept.

A by-product of the conservation department's fish management program is a lake sounding map. Originally drawn by conservation engineers as an aid in stocking and withdrawing fish, the lake maps are a bonus to fishermen, skindivers, boaters, lake property owners and vacationers in the state.

A total of 2,900 lakes have been surveyed by conservation crews using a combination of sonar readings, hand soundings and aerial photos. A depth-sounding map for each of the lakes has been then drawn to scale. All of the maps do not contain identical information, having been drawn at different periods under different programs. However, they all show plainly the water depth and bottom contours and many give access points and surrounding area as well.

In an effort to make the maps even more useable, the Documents of the section department of administration has compiled 75 of the better known and easily accessible lakes into three books: NORTH, SOUTH and CENTRAL regions of the state. Each book sells for $2 and contains 25 lake maps, identical to the original map but reduced slightly for publication purposes.

The buyer should note that if he wants one of the maps contained in any one of the books, he will get an additional 24 maps buying his maps in book form. They are available from the Documents Section, Department of Administration, 140 Centennial Building, St. Paul 55101.

Otter Tail Group To Process and Sell Maple Syrup

A new cooperative has been formed in Otter Tail county to process and market maple syrup following a survey by the state forestry division which revealed over 65,000 maple trees that can be tapped in the county.

The maple industry is a relatively "untapped" resource in Minnesota, according to conservation and agriculture officials. Studies have shown that maple syrup produces can expect to earn between $3 and $5 per hour.

The market for maple syrup is reported to be very good and large quantities are imported into the state each year. Probably only ten per cent of the trees that can produce are tapped in Minnesota.

Producers of maple syrup can obtain technical assistance from the state forestry division, Minnesota Conservation Department.

Smelt Fishermen Reminded To Note State Regulations

With prospects for an earlier than unusual smelt run this year, the Conservation Department has reminded smelt fishermen of some of the regulations. Hjalmar Swenson, state fisheries supervisor, said the smelt run usually begins between April 15-20 and reaches its peak between the 25th and 28th.

This year, however, smelt fishermen can expect a little earlier start since the ice is already out of Lake Superior and most of the tributary streams. Last year's smelt run was later than usual due to a late break up.

Smelt fishing regulations remain the same as last year. Smelt may be taken with dip nets or with seines not more than 25 feet in length or more than four feet in width.

Seines may be used only in the lake, however, and not in the streams, nor within 100 feet of the mouth of any stream. The only exception to this rule is the St. Louis river where seines may be used both in the stream and at its mouth.

It is unlawful to transport live smelt anywhere in the state. Smelt have been discovered in a few inland lakes recently, apparently as a result of illegal stocking by smelt fishermen. Swenson said that in some of these lakes smelt could have an adverse effect on sport fishing.

Smelt fishermen must have an angling license, but there is no limit on the number of smelt which may be taken and they can be bought or sold at any time. A peddler's license is required of anyone who uses a motor vehicle in his fish sales business.

The department of agriculture also insists that persons who sell smelt comply with the Minnesota pure food laws. Violations will lead to seizure of the fish and prosecution.

Over one million pounds of smelt were taken in commercial nets from Minnesota waters of Lake Superior last year. Swenson said it was difficult to estimate the amount of smelt taken by sport fishermen, but the figure probably exceeds several hundred thousand pounds.

Offer FHA Loans For Flood Damage

Farmers Home administration emergency loans are available to qualified farmers and rural town residents of flood-plagued northwestern Minnesota residents, State FHA Director Arthur Hansen announced today.

Under the lending programs of the Farmers Home administration, financial assistance can be granted for cropping needs, restoration of essential farm buildings and dwellings damaged by floodwaters.

Offices of the FHA located in Crookston, Warren, Thief River Falls, Hallock and Roseau should be contacted by area residents requesting financial assistance, State Director Hansen concluded.

Few Deer Lost During Late Season in 1965

Late deer season in 1965 resulted in fewer wounded deer being lost by hunters, reports Ted Shields, state game and fish director. During the 1965 season, which lasted from Nov. 13 - 21, hunter reports indicated that losses of deer which were wounded but not recovered amounted to only 7.5 per cent.

This contrasts with 1964 figures when 35 per cent of all hunters reported wounding deer which they were unable to recover. The 1964 season was a week earlier and there was little snow, making tracking of wounded deer very difficult.

Shields pointed out that not all of the deer which are reported as wounded and not recovered are actually lost. Some of them are subsequently shot and recovered by other hunters.

There was sufficient snow for traking purposes in most areas of the state during last year's season, he said, and this factor contributed greatly to the new record take of 130,000 deer.

The later hunting season also resulted in a more balanced kill of bucks and does. In 1965, 41 per cent of the deer taken were adult bucks, 36 per cent adult does, 13 per cent male fawns and 10 per cent female fawns.

The proportion of adult bucks taken last year was seven per cent less than during the earlier season of 1964. Earlier seasons find male deer moving about actively as a result of the fall rut or mating period and as a result they offer more frequent targets to the hunter.

In order to maintain the deer range and provide good future hunting, Shields said, both male and female deer must be taken. "In states where only bucks may be hunted the result has been overbrowsing of the range and a decline in deer herds," he said.

Minnesota has had an "any deer" season for about 30 years. As a result, Shields said, the herd is in good balance with its range and Minnesota deer hunting success is the highest of any state in the Great Lakes region.

Area Students on UND Dean's List

Joseph A. Guzek and David A. Naplin of Red Lake Falls and Sandra D. Wicklund of Greenbush are among 311 University of North Dakota students who have been named to the college of education's dean's list for the first semester of the 1965-66 academic year.

To be eligible for the list, students must receive a 3.00 average or higher while enrolled in 12 or more hours of class work.

Studded Tires Must Be Removed By April 15th

Studded tires will be illegal after April 15, reports the Minnesota highway department. Law states that the studded variety of tire used to improve traction in ice and snow can be used from Oct. 15, 1965, through April 15, 1966, and from Oct. 15, 1966 through April 15, 1967. It is recommended that the tires be taken off on or before the prescribed date in order to avoid possible violation.

Failure to comply with the law in this respect is classified as a misdemeanor under M.S. 169.72.

The two-year test period for the tires will enable the department to gather pertinent information in relation to the effect of studs on road surfaces and general safety when used on ice and snow surfaces.

Council Awards Bids On New Street Signs

Meeting in regular session Tuesday night, the Thief River Falls city council considered bids submitted for street name signs to be erected throughout the city this spring. Contract for the sign posts was awarded to Lyle Signs, Inc., Minneapolis, whose low bid amounted to $787.50. The signs and braces will be furnished by the Gopher Stamp and Die company of St. Paul, who submitted the low bid amounting to $2,594.48.

The signs are to be erected at each interesection in the city and will be visible from all directins. Manpower for placement of the signs will be furnished by the Thief River Falls Jaycees, who have campaigned for the sign project for a number of years, and have conducted necessary survey work for the city.

Bids were also considered on diesel fuel to be furnished to the city during the year. Of the three firms bidding, Western Oil and Fuel company submitted the low bid of 12.19 cents per gallon and was awarded the contract.

Brief assessment hearings were held on street improvement and sewer and water in the Seaverson addition, Duluth av. N., the Chief's Codige and Tindolph av. S. The assessment rolls were adopted on a 20-year basis at an interest rate of six per cent on unpaid balance.

Building permits were approved for Irving M. Brennu, 321 State av. S., garage, $500; and W. Lloyd Spray, 411 Tindolph S., addition to dwelling, $500.

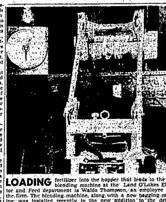
Liquor licenses costing $100 each were granted to the American Legion, Elks, VFW and Eagles clubs.

Police Chief Elton Cummings requested that the council advertise for bids on a portable radar unit to be used by the police department. Bids will be opened May 10 at 3 p.m.

Chief Cummings also recommended that the council approve a request by the Poppler Furniture company for permission to change its [illegible] ment to the alley just west of its current loading zone location. The council granted the request.

City Engineer D. H. Stewart presented the feasibility study for the 1966 street construction project. The council approved the study, called for plans and specificatons and scheduled a hearing for May 17 at 7:30 p.m.

It was resolved to pay the following bills: Hammel, Green and Abrahamson, $320.04; Gene Harmes, $2,758.80; and D. H. Stewart, $350.



LOADING fertilizer into the hopper that leads to the new blending machine at the Land O'Lakes Elevator and Feed department is Waldo Thompson, an employee with the firm. The blending machine, along with a new bagging machine, was installed recently in the new addition to the department. A grand opening on Wednesday, April 20, will permit the public to view the operation.

Boss-Employee Banquet Slated In City Tonight

Thief River Falls businessmen and their male employees are invited by the local Jaycee chapter to attend the annual Boss-Employee banquet to be held this evening at the American Legion club rooms in Thief River Falls. Social hour will begin at 6 p.m. and the banquet will start promptly at 7 p.m., according to James Fisher, arrangements chairman.

Four major awards will be presented at the banquet. These will go to the past year's outstanding boss, young man, young farmer and young educator. Recipients of the awards of 1965 will make the presentations and include, respectively, Sig Quam, Bryant Ulseth and Arnold Stanley. The young educator award, a new addition to the awards program this year, will be made by Dr. George Martin, vice chairman of the local board of education.

Main speaker for the banquet will be Rep. Richard Fitzsimons, veteran Minnesota legislator and chairman of the powerful appropriations committee of the House of Representatives. Now in his seventh term, Rep. Fitzsimons will discuss legislative topics of current interest to this are.

Lt. Harold Shelby, chaplain of the Thief River Falls Jaycees, will give the invocation and Marvin Lindin will serve as master of ceremonies. A welcome will be given by Rick Contos, chapter president.

Rev. F. X. Muttoo

Special Evening Services Slated at Local Tabernacle

Rev. F. X. Muttoo, Pastor of Knox Presbyterian church, Neepawa, Man., Canada, will begin a series of special services at the local Assemblies of God Tabernacle Tuesday evening.

Rev. Muttoo was born in British Guiana, South America and has traveled extensively as an evangelist in Trinidad, Suriname, Central America, Mexico, territories of the Caribbean, England, Canada and the United States. He has pastored churches of both the Presbyterian and Lutheran denominations.

The services will begin each night except Saturday at 8 p.m. and will continue through Sunday, April 24. Everyone is welcome.

Mrs. John Lager returned Friday morning from Modesto, Calif., where she spent the past three and one-half months at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Hal Hubbard and girls.

Morrison Herd Tops Pennington DHIA for Month

Mordy Morrison's dairy herd at Goodridge topped the Pennington County Dairy Herd Improvement association for the month of February, according to the monthly report issued by Orville Peters, DHIA supervisor. The Morrison herd averaged 1,239 pounds of milk and 46.5 pounds of butterfat with a 3.8 test.

Other top herds for the month, with pounds of milk and pounds of butterfat listed respectively, include the following: John Burtness, 1,050 and 42.4; Warren and Lowell Hamrick, 1,071 and 40.4; Myron and Mylo Carlson, 1,022 and 40.2; Carl and Kermit Finstad, 1,044 and 38.7; Darrow Lundeen, 1,049 and 38.4; Dale Svendsgaard, 1,080 and 38; Wallace Reierson, 1,040 and 37.9; Martin Hanson, 1,013 and 36.8; and Albert Koop, 958 and 35.6.

Mehrkens Farms, Inc., placed 13 cows on the list of animals completing lactation in February with more than 500 pounds of butterfat. There were 19 cows finishing with more than 500 pounds in the month of February.

Butterfat production of the Mehrkens cattle included 541, 508, 505, 604, 555, 513, 729, 592, 566, 509, 636, 569 and 700 pounds. Other herd owners and butterfat production of their cows included Orlando Chervestad and Son, 548; Clarence Swanson, 562; Clyde Christenson, 511; Warren and Lowell Hamrick, 529, 562 and 677.

Herd averages are affected by the number of dry cows in the herd. The amount of milk or butterfat produced is averaged out over all the cows. This gives the farmer a record of the earning power of the herd for the month.

If too many dry cows are included in the herd, the average for

EDA Grant for City Land Study Totals $32,000

The Times was informed in a telegram from Senators Walter F. Mondale and Eugene J. McCarthy at 1:40 p.m. Today (Wednesday) that the Economic Development administration has approved a grant of $32,000 for Thief River Falls to study recreational and industrial potential of land adjacent to the city reservoir.

The federal grant will be supplemented by $3,500 in local funds. Proposed investigations include tourist market study, land value appraisal and land use study.

Farmers Invited To Attend Mixer In City April 25

Area farmers are reminded by the agriculture committee of the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce that a farmer - merchant mixer will be held Monday, April 25, at the American Legion club rooms in Thief River Falls. Social hour will start at 6:30 p.m. with a smorgasbord to be served promptly at 7:30 p.m.

The event is financed by the Thief River Falls business fraternity and is free to all farmers who would like to attend. In order that proper arrangements can be made, however, the committee requests farmers planning to atend to call the Chamber of Commerce office (681-3720) and list their names. Complimentary tickets will await them at the door on April 25.

Entertainment for the evening will be a movie of 1965 World Series highlights, featuring key plays and fast action from the seven-game set between the Minnesota Twins and the Los Angeles Dodgers—There is no business on the agenda and the evening will be spent in an entirely social atmosphere.

"We encourage farmers to talk to their neighbors and bring them along to the mixer," stated Vernon Nelson, agriculture committee chairman. "All we ask is that those planning to attend let us know by calling 681-3720 so that we will have an indication of how many people we must prepare to serve."

Nelson emphasized that no special invitation is needed, but he encouraged local businessmen sponsoring the event to invite their farm friends to assure a large attendance at the first of what is expected to be an annual affair.

"Tender Trap" Casting Complete

Casting for "The Tender Trap", first offering of the Thief River Falls Community Theater, has been completed and rehearsals are under way, according to Mrs. Earl (Virginia) Gjernes, publicity chairman for the organization. The production will be staged April 22 and 23 under the direction of William Jensen.

Members of the cast include James McConnell, James Solsten, Francis Womack, William Moeglein, Peggy Stahl, Annette Sebring, Gloria Bjorkman and Pat Anderson. Tickets will go on sale soon for the play which will be presented in the Lincoln senior high school auditorium.

Merle Kruschke, president of the organization, has called a general meeting for this evening at 8 p.m. in the basement meeting room of the city auditorium. Further plans for the production and other items of busines will be discussed at the time.

School Board Conducts Heavy Schedule Monday

12 Resignations Accepted; Bids On Buses Given

Acceptance of 12 teacher resignations, bids on two school buses and approval of a lease for the Thief River Falls junior college were main items on the agenda for the Thief River Falls board of education Monday evening. The monthly session was held in Lincoln senior high school.

Two contracts for bus bodies were awarded by the board. Northern Motors received one contract and Tunberg Motor company was awarded the other. The local firms had bid on two units with Northern Motors bidding $5,749 and Tunberg Motor company bidding $5,750. A third bid was submitted at $6,354 by a third company. Wayne bodies were purchased for both units on a bid of $6,900 with the highest figure among four bidders being $7,075.

Final approval of the junior college lease was given, with the state junior college board to pay $9,260 in annual rental for use of space in the Lincoln senior high school building as temporary quarters. According to Supt. M. R. Hankerson, the amount reflects an estimate of the cost to the district for lights, heat, janitorial services and other expenses. The high school building is being used until a permanent college is built—presumably after the 1967 session of the Minnesota legislature.

Resignations were accepted from the following teachers: William Herzog, boys' physical education and football and tennis coach; Gerald Westby, junior high social studies and assistant football and hockey coach; Mrs. Gerald Westby, first grade at Washington; Miss Kay Knudson, speech therapist; C. W. Pope, vocational school carpentry; and Gerald Lydeen, vocational school business;

Also Shelly Harmon, junior high girls' physical education; Mrs. Cynthia Ray, junior high music; Mary Theis, junior high English; Kermit Kjolhaug, Manpower farm management; Nancy Chermak, vocational school business; and Theresa Efta, second grade at Washington.

Herzog will move to Stillwater where he has accepted a position in that school system. Westby will become head hockey coach in addition to teaching duties at East Grand Forks Central. Pope's re-

Pre-Schoolers To Attend Roundup

Young Librarians Will Hold Area Convention Here

Student librarians numbering 275 from a number of northern Minnesota schools will attend the 11th annual student librarian convention to be held Saturday at Lincoln senior high school in Thief River Falls. Members of the library clubs at Franklin junior high and Lincoln will host the convention.

Delegates are expected to attend from Roseau, Walker, Argyle, Twin Valley, Red Lake, Fosston, Nevis, Warroad, Cass Lake, Bigfork, Coleraine, Blackduck, McIntosh, Laporte, Lake Bronson, Kelliher and Thief River Falls.

Registration will begin at 9:15 p.m. and the session is expected to be completed by 3:30 p.m., according to Virgil Burger, librarian at Lincoln school and advisor to the local library clubs. A snack time and mier will be held at 9:45 a.m. in the school cafeteria and the convention program will begin at 10:15 a.m. in the auditorium.

Supt. M. R. Hankerson will give the welcome at the business session. Campaigning and balloting for "Librarian of the Year" will be featured at the business meeting.

Other items on the agenda include musical selections, skit by the Lincoln high school club and business including National Library Weekx, election of officers and invitation for the 1967 convention.

Following the noon lunch, a presentation of an award to the "Student Librarian of the Year" will be made in the auditorium. Librarians will meet while an entertainment program is presented to student librarians attending.

Annual pre-school roundup sponsored by Thief River Falls PTA units will be held Saturday at the Washington elementary school from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

All children who will be five years of age on or before Sept. 1, 1966, and who will be entering kindergarten in the fall, are invited to attend. It is also emphasized that new residents who will have children entering kindergarten or first grade this fall must call for an appointment with Mrs. Merle Lindberg at 681-1536 or Mrs. Margaret Race at 681-136.

All rural kindergarteners and children who will begin school for the first time must attend the roundup. If a child is unable to attend, the parent should call and notify either Mrs. Lindberg or Mrs. Race.

The child's birth certificate and health information should be brought to the roundup. The birth certificate can be obtained at the clerk of court's office in the county where the child was born. A hospital birth certificate will not be accepted.

At the roundup the child will be registered; a complete medical history taken, and he or she will be measured and weighed. Children will also meet a kindergarten teacher, after which lunch will be served to the children and parents.

William Desrocher and Kenneth Swenson, elementary principals, will be at the roundup to answer questions which parents may have concerning the local schools.

Swanson and Bugge Vows Exchanged At St. Hilaire

Two large bouquets of white gladioli and red roses, accented with blue carnations, graced the chancel of Calvary Lutheran church at St. Hilaire for the marriage of Miss Sharon K. Swanson and Neil W. Bugge on Saturday evening, March 12. The Rev. Lawrence Winter officiated at the eight o'clock double ring ceremony attended by 125 guests. Organist Mrs. Bernard Myers played the traditional nuptial music and accompanied Charlotte Myers who sang "O Perfect Love" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride is a daughter of Mrs. Katharine Swanson of 819 North Duluth Thief River Falls, and the late George Swanson and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bugge of rural Thief River Falls.

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her brother, Chester Swanson. She was attired in a floor-length gown of Chantilly lace fashioned with a scooped neckline, long sleeves that tapered to a point over the wrists and a slim lace skirt with a detachable bouffant train. A crown of sequins and pearls held the waist-length bouffant veil and her bridal bouquet was a cascade of red roses and white carnations. In her attire, she also carried out the tradition of something old, new, borrowed and blue.

Mrs. Charles Richards of rural Thief River Falls attended her sister as matron of honor. Sally Conley of St. Hilaire was bridesmaid. They were peacock blue floor length bowns in empire fashion featuring lace covered bodices and trains. To compliment their attire, each wore peacock blue veiled bow headpiece and shoes and carried a cascade of red roses and white carnations. Their pearl bracelets were gifts from the bride.

Flower girl Karen Richards, a niece of the bride, wore a white satin floor-length gown, also in empire fashion, and carried abasket of red roses and white carnations. Her dainty locket was a gift from the bride.

Ricky Swanson, nephew of the bride, was ringbearer.

The groom was attended by his cousin Larry Nelson of this city, as best man and his brother, John Bugge, as groomsman. Ushers were Leslie Swanson and Bruce Bugge, brothers of the bride and groom, respectively. For their attire, the ringbearer and the men of the wedding party wore white dinner jackets, black trousers and ties and ties were gifts from the groom.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Swanson chose a royal blue one-piece dress with a two strand pearl necklace and beige hat and gloves. Mrs. Bugge wore a two-piece suit with black accessories. Both wore identical corsages of red roses and white carnations.

A reception in the church parlors followed the ceremony with the bride's mother as hostess. Centering the serving table was a five tiered wedding cake, frosted in white with red roses and topped by a miniature church. Descending the winding stairway from the church were miniature replicas of the wedding party.

Cutting and serving the cake were Mrs. Richard Swanson and Mrs. Ed Nelson, aunts of the bride and groom, respectively, while Mrs. Hans Anton, aunt of the bride and Mrs. Hillie Drees, aunt of the groom, poured. Eleanore Swanson, sister of the bride, registered the guests and Gloria Olson and Jo-Ann Wald served the punch. Waitresses were Marlene and Sheryl Rolland and those who opened and arranged the gifts were Pam Hanson, Eileen Lund and Marlys Delorme. All wore corsages, gifts from the bride.

The bride and groom are graduates of Lincoln high school and the Thief River Falls are vocational - Technical school and both are employed in this city. The bride is presently employed at the Jewel Box and the groom is an employee at Northern Motors. They are at home at East Greenwood Boulevard in this city. Photo—Lund Studio, Roseau.

Beth Bryan and Gerald Manning Wed in Illinois

Miss Beth H. Bryan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bryan of 102 East Lincoln avenue, Streator, Ill., beeme the bride of Gerald Lawrence Manning, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Manning of Thief River Falls, in a double ring ceremony Saturday, March 5, at 2 p.m. in the Park Presbyterian church at Streator, Ill.

The pastor of the church, the Rev. Howard Stanton, officiated at the services before a candlelite altar graced with white tapers and arrangements of white mums and roses accented with turquoise daisies. The organist, Mrs. Emerson Ebert, accompanied Mrs. Jean Metcalf as she sang "O Perfect Love" and "The Wedding Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride, a petite blond, wore an ivory linen floor-length gown. The fitted bodice featured a gently scooped neckline and elbow length sleeves. A wide border of lace encircled the sheath skirt at the hemline and edged the sleeves. Appliques of matching roses enhanced her Dior pleated train. A delicate fabric rosette headpiece held her bouffant veil and she carried a cascade arrangement of white roses and stephanotis.

Miss Leslie Clifford of Park Ridge, Ill., attended the bride as maid of honor. Mrs. Coleen Mel of Steator was matron of honor and bridesmaids were Susan Hill, also of Streator and Lowrie Davies of Des Moines, Ia. They were attired in floor-length linen gowns styled with turquoise bodices and ivory sheath skirts fashioned with turquoise trains. Their headpieces were double blusher veils held by linen hats. Each wore white gloves and pearl necklaces, gifts from the bride, and carried a cascade bouquet of carnations, daisies and mums in shades of turquoise, lavender, purple and blues.

The flower girl, Kem Porter, nice of the groom, was dressed similar to the other attendants and carried a miniature bouquet of the same arrangement. Bryan Morhardt, nephew of the bride, served as ring bearer.

The groom chose his brother-in-law, Russell Porter of Sylvania, Ohio, as best man. Groomsmen were his brother, Robert Manning of Thief River Falls and Winton Oftelie of Minneapolis and formerly of Thief River Falls. Ushering the guests to their seats were Ken Sand, Ed Phillips, Terry Eaton, Harold Mann and James Las Saux.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Bryan wore a blue crepe dress with a jeweled bodice and a matching blue hat. Her corsage was a white orchid. The mother of the groom was unable to attend.

A reception in the church parlors followed the ceremony with Miss Collette Berry registering the guests. Mrs. Russell (Shirley) Porter, sister of the groom, cut and served the wedding cake while Mrs. Barbara Morhardt presided at the coffee service and Mrs. Vera Johnston served the punch. Mrs. Pat Ellis and Mrs. Marge Killian opened and displayed the gifts.

Guests attending the wedding were from Toledo, Ohio; Des Moines, Ia.; Galesburg, Chicago, Monmouth and Perola, Ill., Minneapolis and Thief River Falls.

For the wedding trip to Rockton, Ill., the bride wore an off-white suit with Navy blue piping, a Navy blue pea-style jacket and Navy blue accessories.

The bride, a 1961 graduate of Streator high school, graduated in 1965 from Monmouth college where she was affiliated with Kappa Kappa Gamma. She is currently teaching second grade at Des Moines, Ia. Mr. Manning is a graduate of Lincoln high school, Thief River Falls, and graduated from the Bemidji State college in 1963. He is teaching distributive education at Lincoln high school at Des Moines, Ia.

Mr. and Mrs. Manning are now at home at 2908 University Avenue, Ees Moines, Ia. Photo—Loranne Studio, Streator, Ill.

Members of Girl Scout Troop 87 Tour Chicago

Taking part in an excursion planned for all Girl Scouts in Region 10 were 27 members of Girl Scout troop 87 of Thief River Falls, who left Sunday night, April 3, for a guided tour of Chicago, Ill. The girls left here by Soo Line Railroad and boarded the Burlington Vista-dome Zepher at St. Paul that followed the Minnissippi River for 300 miles.

At Chicago they were met at the Union station and taken to the Sherman, a 23-story 1,500-room hotel. The remainder of the afternoon they were free to carry out their own plans with their leaders. Plans included shopping at Marshall Fields and supper at the Holloway House.

Back at the hotel at 7:30 p.m. they boarded buses for a night-time tour of Chicago. They saw Hull house, drove through Skid Row, saw Marina City, the Wrigley building which the girls learned was scrubbed regularly on the exterior, by hand, with soap and water; China town (where the girls stopped to buy souvenirs at the Curio shop) McCormick place, Wacker drive and the fabulous view of Chicago from the point.

The next morning at 8:30 o'clock they were back on the bus heading for the Museum of Science and Industry. Here the various groups toured a coal mine, a submarine, the famous Colleen Moore castle valued at half a million dollars; heard their own voices on records; saw baby chicks hatch; watched a man make liquid light and saw many demonstrations at the Electric Theatre.

After a noon meal they went to the Field Museum and Shedd Aquarium, the largest in the United States. By 2:30 p.m. They were back at the Union Depot to board the train for home. Supper was eaten in the dining car (the first experience for many) and the girls enjoyed the view from the Vista-dome.

On the tour were approximately 300 Girl Scouts and Campfire girls. Sharing the car with Troop 87 were Campfire Girls from St. Paul. The girls exchanged addresses as new friendships were begun.

Girl Scouts from Thief River Falls making the tour were in grades seven through nine. They were Paula Stroble, Lois Olson, Marlene Olsen Jeneen Sagmoen, Susan Knutson, Marshelle Hogenson, Kristy Helm, Nicolette Kloubec, Jill Berry, Frances Hanson Margaret Fox;

Also Cathy Vigness, Sheryl Seulthorp, Marie Olson, Arlene Wilson, Gwen Olson, Darla Bjerke, Dianne Olson, Valerie Scholin, Janet Bednard, Ruth Lafrenz, MaryAnn Arhart, Ellen Vagle, Laurel Onkken, Linda Berger, Valerie Seaverson and Brenda Booth.

Their chaperons were Mrs. Robert Kloubec, Mrs. Glen Arhart Mrs. Byron Sagmoen and Mrs. Donald D. Olson.

TRF School Board Has Full Agenda At April Meeting

tirement from the local school system will mark the end of 41 years of teaching in Thief River Falls.

Teacher contracts were approved for John Erickson, a native of Bagley, to teach sixth grade at Washington elementary school, and Manpower class in farm management. Erickson has seven years of experience, the last three at Browns Valley, and will replace Jack Coombe who resigned a month ago. Gustafson will succeed Kermit Kjolhaug who has resigned to go into private business.

Oen Appointed

Harry Oen, who farms south of Thief River Falls was appointed to the board to fill the unexpired term of John Burtness who resigned due to the pressures of his own farm business. Oen has also filed for election at the annual school election to be held in May. Filings for the board close April 26 and should be made with the clerk, Robert Bredeson, before that date.

Note was made that the district had received $16,346 in reimbursement for the Manpower clerk-typist program, with the reimbursement representing 100 per cent of cost and including $6,061 for salaries, $1,532 for rentals, $8,033 for equipment and $719 for janitor and utilities.

It was also noted that Christiansen Landscape service would begin its work at Franklin and Mark Twain schools early in May. The board had previously approved a contract for $1,634 which has been revised to $1,819. A high school equivalency certificate was granted to Pauletta Joppru.

The board voted to join the Minnesota Vocation School association at a membership cost of $25, will be represented at a meeting of the Minnesota School Boards association in Detroit Lakes and received a letter from the Municipal Drivers and Helpers Union requesting wage increases of 20 cents per hour for janitors and 27 cents per hour for bus drivers.

Vocational Discussion

Considerable time was spent by the board in discussing the proposed vocational - technical school. Present at the meeting were Richard Whiteman of the architectural firm of Jyring and Whiteman, and Ray Jacobson, engineer for the firm. The two men assured the board that immediate inavailability of an exact site presented no problem in planning the proposed building.

A tentative schedule was programmed for the project, with rough plans and preliminary cost estimate to be prepared by the architects by May 15. Final plans could be ready by June 15 and working plans prepared within two months following that date.

Morrison Herd Tops Pennington DHIA in Month

that month may be low even though the cows which are milking produce a lot of milk.

There were 24 herds on test with a total of 715 cows and an average of 29.8 cows per herd during February with the Pennington association; 82 per cent of which were milking. Average amount of milk produced per cow was 870 pounds which tested 3.75 per cent fat. This amounted to 32.6 pounds of Butterfat per cow. There were 16 owner-sampler herds on test with a total of 302 cows.

Services Held In Erskine Saturday For Peter Becken

Masonic funeral services for Peter Becken, 82, a long-time resident of Erskine and formerly of Thief River Falls, were held Saturday at the Erskine high school auditorium. Mr. Becken died Friday evening.

Peter Becken was born March 12, 1884 in the town of Dane Prairie in Otter Tail county to Mikkel Becken and Ane Lusia Bersvenson Becken, who were Norwegian immigrants to this country. He spent his boyhood on a farm near Thief River Falls. In 1905 he became an employee of the Great Northern railroad company at Thief River Falls and after 60 years of continuous service, retired in 1965. During the past year, he had resided at the Pioneer Memorial home east of Erskine.

He was united in marriage to Minnie Habedank on June 14, 1908. The Beckens made their home in Thief River Falls until Sept. 24, 1914 when they moved to Erskine where Mr. Becken became station agent for the Great Northern railroad, remaining at that position until his retirement.

Mr. Becken served his community in many ways. He was chief of the Erskine Fire department for 24 years, a member of the Erskine school board for 27 years, served as president of both the Erskine Booster club and the Erskine PTA and was a member of the Maple Lake Improvement association.

He had been a member and was active in the Masonic lodge since entering lodge 280 at Mahnomen in 1924. He was also a member of the Pierson chapter 41 and the Constantine Commandery 20 at Crookston, the Kem Temple of the Mystic Shrine at Grand Forks, N. D., and the Triangel Lodge 328 at Fosston. He had served as Worshipful Master of these lodges, was a Past Master of the Blue lodge and was a consistent worker for the establishment of the Cancer Memorial hospital at the University of Minnesota. He was also a permanent member of the Shriners Crippled childrens hospital in the Twin Cities.

Survivors include two sons, Eugene Becken of Glen Rock, N. J., and Russell of Fergus Falls, four grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

He was preceded in death by his wife, three brothers and two sisters.

Scouting leaders from more than 50 communities in Minnesota and North Dakota are expected to attend the 47th annual meeting of the Lake Agassiz Boy Scout council at the University of North Dakota Sunday, April 24, according to Judge Kirk Smith, Grand Forks, chairman of the annual meeting committee.

The days events will begin at 1:30 p.m. with registration, followed by a series of committee meetings and workshops in the afternoon. The meeting will be climaxed by the annual recognition banquet at 6 p.m. at the University center.

The afternoon sessions will feature workshops for Cub Scout, Boy scout and Explorer leaders. Dave Lynch and James Nelson, both of Crookston, will meet with Cub scouting leaders to demonstrate ceremonies, games and to discuss summer program ideas.

Meeting with Explorer leaders will be representatives of veterinary medicine, law enforcement, industry and the military to discuss various special interests for the high school age program of the Boy Scouts of America.

Boy Scouting leaders will convene to discuss and see demonstrations regarding the new requirements for the Eagle rank, with emphasis on the requirement of a service project. Also included in the program will be a special presentation regarding the program at the council-operated Camp Wahbaunaquat.

Other Scouters, including executive board members, district committeemen and institutional representatives will meet in the afternoon to develop the budget needs of the council for the coming year. Len Marti, Grand Forks, council president, indicated that all areas of the council are expected to participate in this important phase of the scouting program.

The annual business meeting of the council will follow the budget building meetings. Features will include the election of officers and executive board members for the coming year, a review of accomplishments and goals conducted by Lloyd J. Kraft, St. Paul, deputy regional Scout executive for Region 10, and a presentation pertaining to an annual membership enrollment campaign currently being developed in the council.

While the men are attending the various sessions in the afternoon, the ladies will participate in a program and tea in the Dakota lounge. Mrs. Hugo Magnuson, Grand Forks, is in charge of the ladies program.

Highlights of the annual banquet, to be held in the ballroom, include an address by Kenneth G. Pringle, Minot attorney and former scout executive, as well as the presentation of the Silver Beaver award for "distinguished service to boyhood."

The Silver Beaver is presented annually to men in the council area for their service over the years to scouting and the community. It is the highest award that can be conveyed by a scout council to adults. Earl egstad, Grafton, N. D., will be in charge of the presentaton.

Other features of the banquet program are the presentation of the the man-mile award to the district in the council which accumulates the more number of man-miles traveled to attend the meeting; and recognition of veteran scouters.

Soybeans May Be Grown on Feed Grain Acreage

Soybeans weren't considered part of the feed grain program in past years, but for 1966, they are. Minnesota farmers have a chance to participate if they sign up for the voluntary feed grain program before April 15, according to Richard O. Hawkins, University of Minnesota extension agricultural economist.

He says that continued strong demand for soybeans was a prime consideration behind the U. S. Department of Agriculture's decision to include soybeans in the 1966 feed grain program.

Carryover supplies of soybeans will be quite low this year, so USDA modified the feed grain program and recently raised the support rate from $2.25 to $2.50 per bushel to stimulate increased acreage for soybean production, Hawkins added.

A farmer must sign up for the voluntary feed grain program and divert the required minimum 20 per cent of his feed grain base acreage to conserving uses.

Then he can plant soybeans on permitted feed grain acreage and receive either the support rate for the beans, or the market price—whichever is higher.

The farmer also earns a 30 cent per bushel support payment for corn that would otherwise be grown on these acres. The direct support payment is made on the projected production of 50 per cent of the feed grain base.

Judging Workshop For 4-H Program Set Here in June

Seven workshops for trained home economists and agriculturists who are interested in judging 4-H county fair exhibits are scheduled for the months of April and June throughout Minnesota.

Purposes of the 4-H judging workshops are to discuss the philosophy of 4-H judging to talk specifically about judging demonstrations and to prepare workship participatnts for county fair judging, says Evelyn Harne, associate state 4-H club leader at the University of Minnesota. The workshops are held every third year.

There will be no discussion of open-class judging.

One such workshop is planned for Thief River Falls on June 7 at the county courthouse.

University of Minnesota extension specialists will lead discussion groups on 4-H exhibits during the afternoon session. Athelene Scheid, extension clothing specialist; Mrs. Myra Zabel, extension home furnishing specialist; Verna Mikesh, extension nutritionist; John Lofgren, extension entomologist and James Justin, extension agronomist, will provide guides for judging exhibits in clothing and dress revue, home improvement-family living, foods - nutrition and foods science, entomology and agronomy, respectively. They will also participate in a panel discussion on how to judge 4-H demonstrations.

Crop Report Service Lists 1966 Acreages

Minnesota corn acreage will decrease slightly in 1966, but soybean and oat acreage will be somewhat above last year if the state's farmers proceed with intentions expressed about March 1.

C. W. Estes, statistician with the State and Federal Crop and Livestock Reporting Service, gives some highlights of the U. S. Department of Agriculture report released recently on farmers' intentions for spring planting.

The report presents the acreage that farmers intend to plant this year compared to acres planted last year, said Estes. Actual acreage planted in 1966 could be higher or lower than figures given in the report.

Weather conditions, economic factors, labor supply and agricultural programs, as well as the report itself, could alter farmers' intentions and change planting plans, he noted.

If intentions hold, about 5,635,000 acres of corn will be planted in 1966, compared to 5,750,000 in 1965. This would be seven per cent below the five-year average. In the United States, 1966 corn acreage will be 68,384,000; two per cent above 1965, but three per cent below average.

Minnesota is the nation's leading oat producing state, Estes said, and right now it appears plantings will increase two per cent over 1965. This would mean 3.3 million acres in oats for 1966.

PUBLIC OPINION

Mr. Marvin Lundin, Editor
Thief River Falls Times

Dear Mr. Lundin:

Our office has received considerable praise for the success of our Medicare Alert Project. Conscience compels us to attempt to share it with the deserving.

Our sincere thanks, then, to the wonderful gentlemen we employed as aides. They made their rounds in spite of extremely adverse weather, (one of them even covered part of his territory on skis the day following the storm), in spite of mud and in spite of a few mornings that were chilly enough to congeal the oil in man or machine.

Our thanks to Andrew Nistler and Shirley Cyr who handled the office with such efficiency. To the many generous folks who rode with the aides and gave them directions.

Most certainly our thanks to you, Mr. Lundin, for your generous and creditable publicity, to the radio stations for their immediate response, to ministers and church groups, Welfare and Postal employees, Town Board Members, ASCS Committeemen, time and talent, and to the Village of Oklee for furnishing us with office space.

It is our hope that all of you will feel at least partially compensated by knowing that the canvas was so successful. Many of our elderly folks will be protected under Medicare because of your generous assistance. Thank you again for the kindness that prompted you to help.

Sincerely yours,
Charles G. Dexter, Aide
Inter-County Community Council, Inc.

Mr. Editor, Dear Sir:

I read your editorial of Feb. 9, 1966, in a small pamphlet sent to me by the Minnesota Railroads called "Basic Transportation", and I certainly agree with your view points and your comments concerning their problems. I think that it's shameful to say the very least, that they have to contend with and are subject to, so many obstacles in their valiant fight to serve the transportation system of our nation. It makes me wonder as to the honest intentions of our federal government, when I stop to consider the unfairness that the railroads are being subjected to today.

They have had to fight unfair labor tactics for years, which in itself is enough reason to discourage the incentive of the most dedicated and determined industry on earth, saying nothing about the subsidizing of the airlines and water transportation systems of our nation. Although the trucking industry pays terrific taxes for license fees, gas tax and interstate taxes, they also are being subsidized indirectly by the American taxpayers, by the building of heavier and more expensive highways to carry the increased weight of their payload.

Yes Mr. Editor, I agree with you one hunderd per cent in your statement, that the railroads are the only transportation system in the United States that own their own right of way, pay heavy taxes on them, and actually help pay subsidies to their own competitors.

Their must be something wrong when inequities such as this are allowed to continue and if something isn't done about this situation soon, our railroads may perish, and we cannot afford to let this happen because they are too vital a part of our economy.

Milton E. Larson.

More Medicare Regulations Are Noted for Aged

Anyone 65 in January of this year must sign up for medicare by April 30, according to Clifford Kittelson, district manager for social security.

A person becoming 65 has a seven-month period in which to apply. This seven-month period includes the three months before the month of his 65th birthday, the month of his birthday, and the three months after, anyone born in January, 1901 who does not sign up by April 30 will not have another opportunity until October, 1967, Kittelson said.

Any person becoming 65 in the future should apply for medicare in one of the three months before he is 65, Kittelson added. Only by doing so can he be assured of protection starting with the month of his 65th birthday. A person still working does not have to retire to apply.

Construction Men May Qualify for Navy "Seabees"

For the first time in years, the U. S. Navy has openings for qualified men in its construction battalions (Seabees). It has been reported that an increasing number of experienced construction personnel are required in the Navy for the building of operating bases, port facilities and airfields.

Qualified personnel under the age of 40 may enlist for two, three or four years and may enlist in advanced pay grades. Trades required are builder, construction electrician, construction mechanic, engineering aid, equipment operator, steelworker and utilitiesman.

Formal apprenticeship, experience and leadership ability are the major factors which will determine the pay grade for which a man is qualified. Men enlisted under this program will initially be transferred to Davisville, R. I. for outfitting and a four-week indoctrination course.

Curtis Harris Enlists in Navy 120-Day Program

Curtis Matteson Harris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis T. Harris of Thief River Falls, enlisted in the U. S. Navy's 120-day program recently in ceremonies held at the recruiting substation in Fargo, N. D.

He will begin his active duty tour within 120 days at the recruit training center of his choice, after which he will be assigned to duty with the operating forces at sea or assigned to one of the many service schools available to qualified Navymen.

Otter Tail Power Company Holds Annual Meeting

"There have been increasing evidences of maturity and competence within your company," Albert V. Hartl, president of Otter Tail Power company, told stockholders of his firm at their annual meeting held in Fergus Falls Monday morning. Hartl and other top officers of the company led off the meeting by briefing stockholders on these indications of progress and on the company's operating results in 1965.

Indications of how rapidly the company is moving into the computer age were given by other company officers who informed stockholders of company plans to install two computers within the next couple of years.

A digital computer for engineering services including the economical scheduling of power generation has been ordered and will be in operation in less than a year. Meanwhile, the company has completed a study into the feasibility of installing data processing equipment to perform accounting and control functions. A study to determine the type of equipment most suitable to the company's system is now going on.

During the formal business meeting, the stockholders re-elected Joseph H. Colman, Minneapolis; Robert S. Davis, St. Paul; and Albert V. Hartl, Fergus Falls, to additional three-year terms as directors.

At a directors' meeting following the annual meeting of stockholders, the directors re-elected all officers of the company. They are: Cyrus G. Wright, chairman, board of directors; Albert V. Hartl, president; W. K. Nye, vice president, electrical; R. O. M. Grutle, vice president, production; Robert M. Bigwood, vice president, management services; C. R. Gustafson, vice president, development; Harry C. Johnson, controller and treasurer; John M. West, secretary; Reno O. Mittelstadt, assistant secretary and assistant treasurer; and Donald West, assistant secretary.

UND Honors 1,000 Students at Honors Day Convocation

University of North Dakota honored more than 1,000 of its students for high scholarship and academic excellence at the 30th annual Honors Day convocation in the University center ballroom Thursday. A number of awards and scholarships were presented, and students were honored according to their cumulative grade point average (4.0 equals straight A).

Students from this area given honorable mention at the convocation, with their grade point averages, are as follows: 3.4 to 3.59 Lorraine E. Baugh, Gonvick; and Kathryn Lee Quesnel, Mentor; 3.2 to 3.39 Joseph A. Guzek and Willard R. Schafer, Red Lake Falls; Richard D. Johnson, Greenbush; Roger P. Johnson, Plummer; and Helen E. Brown Goodridge.

Honors Day is held each year to give public recognition to those students who have achieved high academic standing and who have been named to honor societies which require a B average minimum for membership.

Viet Film Will Be Shown Sunday At First Baptist

"Viet Nam Profile", just-completed film production by Dr. Bob Pierce for World Vision, Inc., will be presented in a special showing at the First Baptist church in Thief River Falls Sunday at 7:30 p.m. The public is invited.

Eighty minutes in length, the sound-color film documentary takes the viewer throughout war-torn Viet Nam, including scenes of actual combat, missionaries at work and aboriginal mountain tribespeople.

Newfolden Music Dept. to Compete In District Fest

Newfolden instrumental music department will participate in all areas of the district music contest at Roseau Friday and Saturday. Entries will include eight soloists, six small ensembles and two performances by the band—The Variation Overture by J. Clifton Williams and The Klaxon by Henry Fillmore.

The solo and ensemble contest is slated Friday. The band will play Saturday. Sight reading has been added to the contest this year, with all bands required to participate. To sight read is to perform a given piece without preparation.

Highway Patrol Urges Greater Use Of Safety Belts

campaign is currently underway in Minnesota to double the use of automobile safety belts, according to safety education officer Obert Lillo of the Minnesota highway patrol.

If a question needs asking here, he said, ti should not be, "Why wear a safety belt?" but "Why haven't I been wearing one?".

The safety belt is one of the most effective means of bringing about a reduction in traffic fatalities and injuries, he said. They could save 5,000 of the 50,000 persons killed every year in the nation—if every person traveling in a car would wear them at all times.

A safety belt protects the motorist in case of collision by reducing the force of impact against the car interior, and by helping to keep him inside the car. Statistics show the driver is several times more likely to be killed or injured if thrown from the vehicle.

The safety belt also keeps little accidents from becoming big ones because the driver stays in position and keeps control of the car after a minor collision. Losing control of the vehicle can result in a more serius accident.

Safety belts also make driving easier. They reduce fatigue by holding the driver in a good posture for better breathing and less muscle fatigue, and keep him sitting upright so he can see the road better.

Drivers and passengers should wear safety belts at all times, not just when traveling on the highway at high speed, Officer Lillo said. More than half of all accidents that cause injury or death occur at speeds under 40 miles per hour and within 25 miles of home.

Girl Scout Camp Plans Announced, Director Secured

Pine to Prairie Girl Scout council has announced plans for its established camp for this summer. Mrs. Saul Dulberg of Cheyenne, Wyo., has been employed as the director for Camp Hiawatha this summer.

Mrs. Dulberg has had prior experience as a volunteer in the Girl Scout program and has directed Girl Scout established camps in the past. She has also worked as a day camp staff member and as a counselor at a camp for disturbed children. Mrs. Dulberg is presently working on a masters degree in social work while her husband is stationed in Cheyenne. He is a captain in the United States Air Force.

Many improvements will be made this year at the site of the camp. A new dock is being built, a washhouse will be completed by this spring and other minor repairs will be finished.

Girl Scouts who are interested in attending Camp Hiawatha this summer should register with the council office in Grand Forks. Three 12-day sessions will be held; the fee for each session is $35.

Local Doctors Attend Refresher Course in Cities

Minnesota Academy of General Practice will celebrate the 20th anniversary of its founding with a refresher course at the Radisson hotel in Minneapolis Wednesday and Thursday. Dr. Ernest Thorsgard and Dr. A. F. Berg, both of Thief River Falls, are attending the session.

A number of lectures and round table discussions will be held both days from 9 a.m. to 4:40 p. m. with many nationally-known educators on the program. A total of 650 to 700 "family physicians" are expected to be in attendance.

The annual banquet will be held Wednesday at 7 p.m. Dr. Carroll L. Witten, Louisville, Ky., president-elect of the American Academy of General Practice, will give the banquet address on "Where Do We Go from Here?"

DFL Convention Set June 17-19

Minnesota Democratic - Farmer - Labor state convention will be held at the Leamington hotel in Minneapolis on June 17-18-19, according to George Farr, state chairman.

Over 2,000 delegates and alternates are expected to attend this convention. Of this number 1,106 are delegates elected by conventions in the state's 87 counties and 12 are delegates at large.

It will be the responsibility of the DFL state convention to draft a party platform, elect party officials and endorse DFL candidates for statewide elected offices, Farr concluded.

SBA Fieldman To Counsel Disaster Loan Applicants

A representative of the Small Business administration will be in Grand Forks on Thursday and Friday to meet with anyone interested in seeking assistance through SBA's disaster loan program.

All areas in North Dakota and Minnesota that have been adversely affected by flood waters have been declared disaster areas by the SBA. Individuals, homeowners, business and non-profit organizations in these areas are eligible for long-term, low interest loans. The loans which have a three per cent interest rate and a maximum maturity of 30 years, may be used to repair real estate and repair or replace furnishings, equipment, fixtures and inventory.

Anyone interested in receiving assistance under this program should contact the SBA representative who will be located in the Chamber of Commerce office in Grand Forks April 14 and 15.

"Upward Bound" Plan Will Include Students From Northwest Area

Applications for participants in this summer's Bemidji State college "Upward Bound" project for 100 tenth graders of northern Minnesota high schools are currently being accepted by Dr. William Forseth, project director.

Dates for the seven-week BSC program are July 5 through August 20 with a follow-up visitation program during the 1966-1967 academic school year.

Application blanks may be received by high school principals, counselors, teachers, community action committees, welfare workers, county agriculture agents, clergy, VISTA workers and individuals by writing Dr. Forseth at BSC.

The Bemidji state project was applied for by the Beltrami County Area Development association in cooperation with community action agencies of other northern Minnesota counties and Indian reservations.

According to the BSC proposal, students in the following counties may apply for participation: Beltrami, Cass, Clearwater, Polk, Red Lake, Pennington, Becker, Hubbard, Mahnomen, Itasca, Koochiching, Kittson, Roseau, Marshall, Lake of the Woods and Norman. Also participating are community action councils of the Red Lake, Leech Lake, Nett Lake and White Earth Indian reservations.

The project will be financed by a grant of $106,610 made by the Office of Economic Opportunity. Its purpose is to offer a program of educational enrichment to public and parochial high school students to encourage subsequent enrollment in a regular college or other formal post high school education program.

Qualifications for participants are that they must have completed the tenth grade and reside in the area served by the project; they must show academic promise, be willing to participate, have the consent of the parent and meet the family income requirements as set forth by the Office of Economic Opportunity.

The academic program will provide enrichment courses in art, social studies mathematics, composition and literature. Workshops will be conducted in developmental reading, journalism, modern dance, laboratory, drama, camp craft, art studio, typing and photography.

Participants will live in college dormitories and have use of all college facilities. Room, board, books, travel to and from home and college plus a small "spending money" stipend will be paid through the grant.

The "Upward Bound" students may attend college sponsored lectures, film classics, concerts, art exhibits and productions of the summer theatre.

A week-end field trip to Minneapolis - St. Paul is planned where they will visit Walker Art museum, Minnesota Institute of Art, museum of natural history and attend an evening performance in the Tyrone Guthrie theatre.

A five-day canoe trip into the northern Quetico-Superior boundary wates canoe country is planned for the group and they will be able to participate in the BSC music with hundreds of high school students from many part of the United States.

The program also includes participation in a Paul Bunyan Summer Playhouse production, the publication of an "Upward Bound" newspaper and the opportunity for individual reading or art study.

Dr. Forseth plans a low student ratio of 11-1 with instruction conducted in large groups, small groups and individually. There will be four counselors and 11 tutor counselors on the staff plus a teaching faculty.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

A Surprising Report

That sports item out of Grand Forks on Monday, stating that the varsity hockey coach of the Fighting Sioux of North Dakota U, Bob Peters, had tendered his resignation, was a surprise. And later it was stated that Peters had accepted a position at Bemidji State college, where he will be varsity hockey coach, and in addition will have some administrative duties.

A fieldhouse, which will include an artificial ice rink, is contemplated for the Bemidji campus. And work on this building is slated to start shortly, so you can look for hockey to get a big boost at the Beaver school.

Peters, who played his junior hockey at Fort Frances, as a goalie for the Royals, had been varsity coach at North Dakota for a couple of years, and prior to this he had been freshmen hockey coach there, and had a stint as high school hockey coach at East Grand Forks. Peters came to North Dakota with the intention of playing college hockey, but it was learned that he had accepted expense money to attend a Detroit Red Wings training camp, and for this he was declared ineligible.

And by the way, local high school hockey fans can look for the brand of hockey played by the Bemidji Lumberjacks to improve when the Bemidji fieldhouse rink is completed. The 'Jacks will be getting on the ice earlier than most of the teams in Region Eight.

The Selkirk Fishermen

The Selkirk Fishermen, who finished in second place in the Manitoba Senior Hockey league, trailing the league champion Warroad Lakers, are representing the league in the Allan Cup playdowns.

Selkirk defeated the Winnipeg Maroons, in a best-of-seven series, to gain the league honors. The Maroons had sidelined the Warroad Lakers in a semi-finals series.

In a best-of-five series against the Fort William Beavers, the Selkirk team, by scores of 9-6, and 5-4, holds a two games to none margin. The third game of the series is scheduled for the Winnipeg arena on Friday night, and the Fishermen (a renowned name in Canadian senior hockey) can close out the series and move into the western Canada playdowns.

The Fishermen picked up three players from the Warroad club, adding Billy Christian, Ron Farnfield and Tom Marshall to the Selkirk roster. In the 9-6 win in the series opener at Fort William, Christian scored a pair of goals for the Fishermen.

And speaking of overlapping sports seasons—this is it. The National Basketball association is in its semi-final round of playoffs; the National Hockey league is also in its semi-final round for the Stanley Cup; and this week the professional baseball leagues, the American and the National, began play on their 1966 schedules. And of course the golfers are beginning to move north, what with the Masters Tournament being concluded with a playoff on Monday afternoon. There surely is competition for the fans' entertainment dollar!

An Interesting Visitor

Gene Geer, Andy Williamson and I spent some time on Tuesday afternoon with Gonvick's Cliff Gustafson. Gustafson, a Minnesota university graduate of 1938, and rated as one of the finest heavyweight wrestlers to come out of the U, was in town on business.

Following his graduation in 1938, Cliff entered the professional ranks (he appeared here a couple of times), and moved up into the top flight with the pros. In his college days he won the Big Ten title, and with his speed and finesse (he weighed 240 pounds when wrestling as a pro), he was a credit to professional wrestling. His final season in the pro ranks was in 1948.

In later years Gustafson, who has a farm in the Gonvick area, was in the teaching profession. A year ago he suffered a heart attack, and he has been on an extended period of convalescence, but he appeared to be in good health and he was succeeding in keeping his weight under control, being at 210 pounds at present. When he was a freshman in high school at Gonvick he was stricken with [illegible] and this illness may have been the forerunner for last year's heart attack. But it was fine to see Cliff in town and there is possibility that he may be spending some more time in our city.

HONORED at the annual youth athletic banquet of the local Eagles lodge Friday evening will be these members of the Eagles hockey team, as well as members of last season's baseball team. Team members and their parents will be guests of the Eagles at the banquet and will hear an address by Father Fahnlander of Home on the Range. Pictured left to right are the following: front row, Paul Bedard, coach and co-chairman of youth guidance; Roger Lee, Jeff Hess, Mark Wangberg, Don Bren, Brian Peterson, Dennis Nabben, Ken Lindquist, Gordon Kauppila, and Lowell Collins, co-chairman of youth guidance; back row; Harry Hendrickson, state Eagles president; Paul Olson, Rory Harger, Charles Hanson, Gerald Myers, Mark Mattson, Paul Johnson, Elwood Ehrenstrom, Eagles president; and Chipper Strand, coach. The team completed this year with a record of 10 wins, two losses and a tie, including four wins, one loss and one tie against Canadian competition. The youngsters also scored a 5-4 win over thier dads in the annual father and son game.

Senior League Ball Club Will Form in City

Plans are under way for organization of a senior baseball team to represent Thief River Falls in the Northwest Border League during the 1966 season.

The team, to be known as the Thief River Falls Merchants, will be sponsored by local businessmen and is being organized by SSgt. Garth A. Klein of the U. S. Army recruiting office; William Fahey, city clerk; and Wally Grovum, manager of The Club, with assistance from James Foley of the Park and Recreation department. The first game is scheduled for Sunday, May 22.

Anyone 18 years of age or over who is interested in joining the team is asked to contact Sgt. Klein at the recruiting office anytime Friday.

Legion Band Meet Slated in Fertile

A meeting of the Ninth District American Legion band has been called by President Richard Hefte of Fergus Falls for Sunday at 2 p.m. in the Fertile school. All members ar urged to attend as election of officers will be a part of the program. Following the practice and business sessions, luncheon will be served at a local restaurant.

All Legionnaires who play instruments are invited to attend and join the band for its appearances and practices during the 1966 year. Appearances of the band include participation in the Ninth District American Legion convention, the Detroit Lakes water carnival and the department convention, as well as various practice sessions in preparation for each of these events.

The band was organized in 1929 and has appeared at all district and department conventions since that time. The band is the president departmental champion, a title it has held for several years. Members come from more than 20 towns in the Minnesota Ninth district as well as a few from the Sixth district and adjoining border towns of North Dakota.

Other officers of the band include T. W. Thorson, Crookston, assitant director; Clark Tufte, assistant director; Clark Tufte, Fergus Falls, vice president; Henry Gibson, Ulen, Business manager; and Herschel Lysaker, Crookston, assistant business manager.

AAA Recommends Spring Car Care After Long Winter

"Automobiles had some hard wear this winter because of potholes in the streets, salt and chemicals on the roads, stresses on the battery and electrical system, and unusual demand on their mechanical parts," state Arthur C. Tomlinson, executive secretary of the Minnesota AAA.

"An oil change with a new oil filter and proper oil is a good way to begin a spring car care program. Also have a serviceman inspect the muffler and tailpipe. Be certain he drains the radiator, flushes it and adds a rust inhibitor to the fresh water," Tomlinson adds.

"For free and easy rolling, have the serviceman repack the front wheel bearings. Last year's heat and moisture may make this step advisable. The rough winter roads may also have done damage that will show up in unnecessary tire wear," Tomlinson added. "Have your serviceman inspect and rotate the tires, balance the wheels and align the front end. Brake linings and drums are also affected by winter driving and should be checked for wear and proper adjustment."

A motor tune-up, including checks on spark plugs and points, air filter, carburetor cleaning and adjusting and proper timing will add to smoother performance and economy of operation.

"The battery and electrical system have done extra duty during the winter season. A re-charge of the battery may be in order as well as impection of wires and cables to determine whether replacements are required. Also have the serviceman check all lights including stop lights and turn signals and windshield wipers which may have deteriorated during the winter season," the AAA official concluded.

Late Tax Returns Due to Floods Are Penalty-Free

Devastating spring floods which hit the surrounding territory will be taken into account if taxpayers are unable to prepare and mail their 1965 federal tax returns to the Internal Revenue service by the deadline date, Friday, April 15, at midnight, according to George O. Lethert, district director.

"If you are unable to assemble your records because of the flood emergency, we suggest that you make out your return as soon as possible after the disaster conditions have ended," Lethert said. "When you mail your return, include a statement explaining that your delay in filing was due to floods which prevented you from preparing and filing your return on time."

This explanation will be considered as a reasonable cause for delinquent filing for taxpayers in the 22 Minnesota counties declared to be disaster areas. On any taxable returns filed late, penalty will not be charged, however, simple interest at the rate of 6 per cent must be added for later payment of any tax owing.

"This policy of lenience because of flood conditions is based upon the fact that area taxpayers cannot request official extensions of time for filing because of the emergency," Lethert declared. "This will warrant our considering the delay in filing as being due to reasonable cause."

Several in Area Named to Dean's List at Bemidji

Bemidji State college dean's list certificates were awarded to 457 students for scholastic honors earned during the winter quarter of the current academic year, according to Dr. Judson P. Martin, academic dean.

Students from this area named to the dean's list include Milan Alby, Don J. Bjerke, Wallace Etter, James Hageman, Kathaleen Wold and Diane Sunsdahl, Thief River Falls; Jill Erickson, Plummer, Ronald DeNen, Gene Haugen, Diane Lovly, David Parnow and Andy Wells, Goodridge; David Holte and Adelaide Lillevold, Grygla; Dale McCullough, Newfolden, Diane Stauffenecker, Greenbush; Sylvia Griffin, Middle River; Roxanne Christopherson and Leroy Hestnas, Oklee; Richard Perreault, Brooks; and Ruth Mersy, Dave Odegaard, Beatrice Rowland, David Stark and Orlan Thorbeck, Gonvick.

27 Million Tree Seedlings Sent From Nurseries

Some 27 million tree seedlings will soon be on their way from state forest nurseries to private individuals, companies and public agencies, according to the Minnesota conservation department.

For maximum survival and best growth after planting, forestry specialists said the trees should be planted as soon as possible after they are received, or placed in refrigerated storage at 32 to 38 degrees.

Another alternative is the "heel-in" the seedlings by placing them in a shallow trench, allowing plenty of room for the roots, and keeping them well watered until they are planted.

Do not leave bundles of trees in warm places and water them as soon as they are received, foresters said.

Most conifer (evergreen) species require full sunlight for best development and should not be planted in the shade.

When trees are planted, the hole should be deep enough to accomodate the rots without doubling them up. The earth should be packed in firmly around the roots to avoid air pockets.

Public Opinion

Mr. Editor:

American agriculture today lacks the strength that is needed to put the farmer on an equal level with the buyers of our farm produce.

The National Farmers Organization gives the farmers this strength and opportunity. The NFO is a complete program for all farmers and includes all farm produce. The Capper - Volstead act, passed on Feb. 18, 1922, gives the farmers this legal right.

The NFO is as it is called — National. It pertains to all farm commodities. It is members working together on any and all farm commodities of r a fair and just price, under contract.

The NFO operates financially on the membership dues and fees and is not financed in any other way.

When enough master contracts have been signed at processor level and the members accept these contracts by a two-thirds vote of those members attending a meeting called for this purpose, then the organization will be financed by a check off at processor level. The percent paid in by members to run the organization, also the percent paid for a service rendered by processors, has to be voted on and accepted by a two-thirds vote of members in attendance at these meetings.

The statement was made and I quote "a reckless willingness to be led on the part of the members who seem to believe that anything is better than what they have now".

What have we now in comparison to the goal of our NFO: This goal being contracts with processors for all farm commodities for a fair and just price, or 100 per cent parity.

You farmers who are not members where is your production? The NFO members production is joined together and is working toward this goal of 100 per cent of parity.

Sylvester Johanneck
Red Lake County NFO Chairman.

Refresher Course Is offered to Former Nurses

A tuition-free refresher course for former nurses is being offered at St. Luke's hospital, St. Paul, beginning Monday, April 18, according to Commissioner Robert J. Brown of the state employment service. All formerly registered nurses in the state who wish to update their skills are eligible.

"The need for nurses is acute," Commissioner Brown said. "Transportation and subsistence allowances are available in order to encourage enrollment from all areas".

The four-week class will be limited to 20 nurses. Application can be made through any local state employment service office.

The course, which is federally financed through the Manpower Development and Training Act, is supervised by the state division of vocational education and the St. Paul vocational school.

Local persons interested should call the Thief River Falls office of the state employment service. The telephone number is 681-1100.

Less Than Month Remains to Apply For GI Insurance

Less than a month remains for World War II and Korean conflict veterans with service-connected disabilities to renew lapsed GI insurance policies.

Law which allows these veterans to replace all or part of the GI insurance which had lapsed or which they failed to purchase during active wartime duty will expire at midnight, May 2, according to John R. Murphy, manager of the Veterans Administration center, St. Paul.

The application, together with payment for the first month's premium must be received by the VA by May 2, or must bear a postmark before midnight, May 2, to be acceptable.

Even though the veteran's service connected disability has been rated at zero per cent and carries no monthly compensation on payment, he may still be eligible for one of the new GI insurance policies, Murphy said.

There are several choices of insurance plans: ordinary life, 20-payment life, 20-year endowment and modified life. Eligible veterans may apply for full $10,000 coverage or for any part of that figure to bring their total GI insurance up to $10,000 or they may take out as little as $1,000 if they wish, he said.

Premium rates and full information may be obtained at the VA center at Ft. Snelling.

Masons Celebrate Completion of Hospital Drive

Masons and their wives from throughout the state will be the guests of the University of Minnesota on April 19 for a giant Victory Jubilee, which will herald the completion of a $1.1 - million fund-raising drive among Masonic Lodges.

The $1.1 million will be turned over to university officials in the form of a solid gold check. The funds will finance an addition to the university's Masonic Memorial hospital which will double its capacity. The two-story hospital addition will be dedicated this fall.

The Victory Jubilee will get under way shortly before 8:30 p.m. with music by the University Concert band ensemble. Mortimer B. Miley, grand master of Minnesota Masons, will give the opening remarks, followed by Clyde Hegman, president of Masonic Memorial Hospital Fund, Inc., and campaign chairman, who will tell what the campaign has meant to state Masons. Miley and Hegman then will president the solid gold check to University President O. Meredith Wilson and to Dr. Charles W. Mayo, chairman of the University Board of Regents.

Dennis Kiesow in Navy Boot Camp At San Diego

Seaman Recruit Dennis O. Kiesow, USN, son of Henry W. Kiesow of Goodridge, is undergoing seven weeks of basic training at the Naval Training Center at San Diego, Calif.

Under the supervision of veteran Navy petty officers, he is receiving instructions in naval history and organization customs and courtesies, ordnance and gunnery, seamanship, damage control, first aid, swimming and survival, shipboard drills and sentry duty.

Military drills are emphasized during recruit training, and with various inspections and a planned physical fitness program, keep the recruits mentally and physically alert.

Upon completion of recrit training, he will be assigned to a school, shore station or ship, according to the results of his Navy classification tests, his own desires and the need's of the Navy.

Survey To Study Sale of State's Wood Products

A survey aimed at discovering ways of increasing the sale and use of Minnesota-grown wood will be completed during the next few months in the Twin Cities area, it was announced today.

The Twin Cities survey will complete a state-wide study by the University of Minnesota school of forestry and the forestry division of the Minnesota Conservation Department.

The survey will determine the volume of lumber, plywood and other forest products used, their source, quality requirements and kind of wood.

Foresters say Minnesota is now growing much more wood than is being cut, particularly aspen. Increased harvest of Minnesota timber would not only add to the economy of the state but would improve habitat for deer and other wildlife.

The 1965 value of products made from Minnesota-grown wood was $280,000,000.

That Filing Period

April 15 marks the official end of another filing period in the multitude of such deadlines inflicted on the people by government. April 15, as nearly everyone who hopes to gain a few dollars by honest toil knows, is the date set by the federal government to exact tribute through its income tax scheme.

While this date is perhaps the most familiar of all such dates, it is far from the only one which various segments of the public must remember. There are "filing periods" for a vast array of reports to Uncle Sam, from income tax through social security through unemployment through excise taxes, etc., etc., etc.

Perhaps it is time the government filed a report with the people on how the funds it receives are are being spent. And perhaps this report should be as comprehensive as the forms which an average citizen must complete when filing his income tax—with proof to substantiate the claims, of course.

For instance, the government report should not list so many million dollars for elimination of poverty and stop at that point. The form should include such questions as: "What were the costs of administration?" "How many people actually received benefits?" "How was determination made where this money should be spent?" "What benefits have actually been shown? (If none, write 'None')".

The report should also list each of the forms of taxation by which the government receives its income. We have no idea how many ways there are by which the federal government gains its income, but we will wager there are many, many of them which are never publicized and of which the public is not aware.

Finally, the report could indicate how the government justifies the national debt and deficit spending. And by the way, this report should not be published with public funds but paid for out of salaries of the administrative officials who seem determined to perpetuate and expand their little kingdoms of bureaucracy. Would it be less than fair that an explanation be given honestly as to how the people's money is being spent?

Believe All You Hear?

The following article by Henry J. Taylor appeared in the San Diego, Cal., Union:

Here we go again — sold down the river by an utterly false idea. Another burst of political nonsense floods the nation: A tax increase would dampen the inflation.

In simple, transparent truth it has no more to do with stopping inflation now than Batman or the frug.

It's easy to see why politicians claim a connection between taxes and inflation. People don't like taxes. They also don't like inflation. The political problem, if you must raise taxes, is to show somehow that this helps the public welfare as a "battle against inflation." Hokus — hokey — hokum.

Suppose the government spenders add a thousand dollars a year to your income tax or mine — what happens to the money? They take it from us and spend it themselves.

The money supply and the pressure of purchases has not been reduced by one nickel.

We have a thousand dollars less to spend for ourselves. The bureaucrats have a thousand dollars more.

Actually, under today's conditions, increasing taxes creates more inflation. But are we told this? When taxes go up, take-home pay goes down. Millions need higher wages to live on what they earn, after taxes. This presses wages higher and higher and taxes go higher and higher.

Wages and taxes alike are prime items in the costs of production. Prices mount as wages mount and the higher taxes fuel them both. Up goes the cost of living.

Moreover, the Great Society's currency rotating process passes the people's tax money through a sieve of government overhead that drains off more of its value all the time. It costs the government so much to run itself that, no matter what the spending agencies do with the tax money left over, great loss is sustained by the working people who supply the money in the first place.

The only time income tax is anti-inflationary is when it is used to reduce the government debt or in other ways used to lessen the money supply.

Nothing like that is proposed. All the talk is about more and more spending, more and more blowing into the inflationary balloon.

Taxes have several profoundly important virtues. They are the means by which a properly managed government can pay as it goes. Thus they are, in theory, the only real restraint on unlimited government spending. But the Washington Robin Hoods of the Red Ink found great political advantage by calling the restraints a "myth."

As a result the federal debt of $283 billion, which the New Frontier-Great Society inherited, is now officially expected to be $322 billion by July 1.

The inflationary chickens have come home to roost. The chief inflationary pressure is the government's mishandling of our own money at home and abroad. This pressure cannot be stopped until the deficit financing (government spending beyond income) is stopped. But the politicians have no such intention.

If the opportunist Robin Hoods of the Red Ink said they were increasing taxes to meet and balance expenditures they would be fighting a true battle against inflation. Instead, all they're doing is to couple together in the public mind two badly misunderstood subjects (taxation and inflation), both of which are unpopular, and heroically present one as a solution for the other.

It's astounding that any business or other nonpolitical observers let this false connection go unchallenged. Yet some even say, "We don't like a tax increase, but inflation is worse." The power of cliches and falsities has become enormous and it's tragic to hear them confirm such nonsense.

We're faced by vast needs for government spending, much of which is unavoidable. But it is highly doubtful that we need higher taxes to meet the unavoidable needs because a reduction in the avoidable needs (and waste) probably could see us through without a tax increase. The tax intake is already tremendous.

There May Be A Law

We read recently where John Albright, a news photographer, was covering an airplane crash in Council Bluffs, Iowa, a few months ago. A deputy sheriff, also covering the accident, instructed Albright not to take pictures until the bodies had been removed.

Albright took pictures despite the deputy's instructions, so the deputy arrested him and exposed his film. When the case came to court the judge ordered the charge of disobedience stricken from the court records, bonds returned and costs paid by the arresting deputy sheriff.

The deputy said that he understood there was a federal law prohibiting the taking of such pictures.

At the Times we consider ourselves fortunate that we have enjoyed excellent working relationships with the law enforcement agencies in our area. At no time have we been hindered in our coverage of news events requiring photographs, and frequently have we been assisted by the officers performing their duties at accident scenes. We certainly appreciate this courtesy and cooperation.

We imagine the deputy sheriff in question in the above situation was confused by government policies regarding airplane crashes of a military nature. Military personnel do not want photos taken of crash scenes until it has been determined if items of a classified nature on military aircraft would be visible in such photos. If pictures are taken before such inspection has been made, film may be confiscated and negatives developed and checked for such items.

Action by the deputy in exposing the film was quite irresponsible; he could just as well have confiscated the photographic equipment for military review. As it was, the photographer performing his duties was innocent of wrong as determined by the court but penalized by the action through loss of photos which he would have no opportunity to take again. As a result, he likely missed some once-in-a-lifetime shots through no fault of his own.

The case in point is this: There are so many federal regulations that many people believe almost everything out of the ordinary is against the law. This is a situation law-makers should ponder before passing new laws.

From Little Minds....

Big thoughts and ideas sometimes come from little minds. Such is the manner in which the Rampart dam proposal in Alaska must be considered, for those who propose and support the idea simply have to be short-sighted and mentally blind.

There is no question that the proposal is a big one. The Wildlife Management institute states the following:

"Rampart dam, not including power transmission facilities, would cost $1.5 billion or more, depending on various estimates. Cost estimates are only guesses, because of the remoteness of the dam site, rigors of the sub-Arctic weather, and the quarter-century construction period. The reservoir would flood about eight million acres and take 30 years to fill. It would be 80 miles at its widest point and 280 miles long, would flood 400 miles of the main Yukon (river) and 12,600 miles of tributaries. The reservoir would have a surface area of about 10,500 square miles, nearly 600 larger than Lake Erie.

"In its 1964 adverse report on the proposed project, the U. S. Fish and Wildlife service said, 'Nowhere in the history of water development in North America have the fish and wildlife losses anticipated to result from a single project been so overwhelming.' The (Dr. Stephen H.) Spurr study team agreed with the service's apprehensions, but termed them conservative."

Rampart dam would be located in interior Alaska, far from any existing or even probable industrial users. Electric power created would have to be transmitted hundreds of miles over vast expanses of wild country with these transmission lines subject to the ravages of the elements which are most often severe.

Discounting loss of prime wildlife production areas, the proposal is preposterous. Considering such losses, the idea is incredible. None the less, the proposal has been made. This should prove that mental health is a real problem in the nation today—and not only among the peasantry.

Flood Clean-up Warnings Issued by Health Dep't.

Living under conditions existing during a time of flood is apt to strain any individual's or family's resources, but it is precisely during such periods that special care must be taken to maintain good sanitation practices.

Flood waters inevitably carry with them a number of disease-producing bacteria which may be deposited on food supplies and in flooded wells. During times of flood, special precautions should be observed to make sure that both food and water are obtained from safe sources. If there is any doubt about the safety of either food or water, the food and water should not be used. If they must be used, the food should be thoroughly cooked and the water boiled before use.

The Minnesota department of health is setting up a program of bacteriological testing of flooded wells in cooperation with the county agents, Soil Sonservation service, Civil Defense and other local agencies. Persons having need of this service are asked to see their county agent. Suggestons prepared by the state health department that will help in getting back to normal after flood waters recede are listed as follows:

Flooded basements—The cleaning and reconditioning of basements should be carried out as soon as possible after flood waters recede. If however, the surrounding ground is of a porous nature and is saturated with water, or if a flooded condition still exists above ground, the pumping out and cleaning operations should be delayed in order to avoid collapse of basement walls from outside pressure.

After removal of silt and debris, scrubbing of walls and floors with soap and water will usually prove adequate to eliminate any health or nuisance conditions. Should the individual desire, disinfection of the walls and floors can be accomplished through scrubbing with a solution prepared by adding two ounces of laundry bleach or calcium hypochlorite to a gallon of water.

Flooded Wells—Wells which have been flooded should not be used as a source of drinking water until the well and the entire distribution system has been flushed out, disinfected, tested and found to be safe. Until this has been done water should be boiled. This is best accomplishd by pumping until the water is clear and then pouring a solution consisting of one quart of laundry bleach (Chlorox, Purex, Hilex, or similar hypochlorite solution) in three gallons of water into the well.

The chlorinated water should then be pumped into the piping system and allowed to remain there for at least overnight, after which the system can be pumped and flushed out until the tast and odor of chlorine are no longer apparent. Forty-eight hours after the chlorinated water has been pumped out, the water may be sampled for bacteriological examination. For information on the collection of water samples for bacteriological examination consult the county agent or your local municipal officials.

If a water softeners is included in the system, it should be disconnected during the disinfection procedure. The softener should be regenerated and should be disinfected by introducing a tablespoon of disinfectant into the regenerating solution before being placed back in use.

Flooded Foods—Since flood water may carry sewage or other contaminating substances, it is well foods which have been covered by such waters. Any food contaminated directly by flood water and any packages of food which are not waterproof should be destroy- may be salvaged if the labels are rewashed. The cans should then be disinfected by wiping the entire outer surface with a laundry bleach and water mixture (one ounce laundry bleach to two gallons of water), and finally rinsed in clear water.

Home-canned foods require additional care. After the jars containing home-canned foods have been washed and disinfected in the same manner as prescribed for commercially canned goods, the food should be boiled for ten minutes before using.

"My Fair Lady" To Be Presented At Warren High

Warren high school music department under the direction of Kenneth Sherwood, will present "My Fair Lady" Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

"My Fair Lady", written by Frederick Loewe and Alan Jay Lerner, is Broadway's musical version of "Pygmalion." This American adaptation of George Bernard Shaw's play about the transformation of an uneducated Cockney girl combines songs and dances with some definite points of view about the English language.

The cast includes 75 chorus members. The entire production involves over half the high school student body. The art department designed and painted the numerous and elaborate sets; the English department is rehearsing lines and applying make-up; and the industrial arts department constructed the sets.

All seats are reserved, and tickets are priced at $1.25 and 75 cents. Tickets may be obtained by phoning the Warren high school general office or by writing to the Warren high school, care of "My Fair Lady."

My dear wife died a year ago. Now there's just myself and my little daughter Janice. Don't feel sorry for us, though, because we're managing pretty well.

Last year when the blow came, I admit I went to pieces. We'd only lived in the neighborhood for a few weeks, and it's hard to say what would have happened if it hadn't been for our church. Suddenly I was surrounded by friends. The minister came at once with convincing words of comfort that helped me to face life again. His wife alerted other members and they brought meals, laundered clothing, took care of Janice, and ultimately found the wonderful elderly housekeeper we have now.

I had never given much thought to the meaning of Christian fellowship. Today I know that miracles of kindness can result when people unite in following the "perfect pattern" of self-sacrifice and unquestioning love.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

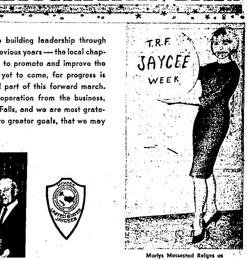
Jaycee RECOGNITION DAYS

Thief River Falls Jaycees are dedicated to building leadership through community service. During the past year — and in previous years — the local chap- has undertaken and completed a number of projects to promote and improve the community in which we live. More such projects are yet to come, for progress is essential to growth and the Jaycees are an integral part of this forward march. Through the years we have received wonderful cooperation from the business, professional and residential people of Thief River Falls, and we are most grateful for this support. It is our desire, as we move on to greater goals, that we may continue to merit the public's confidence.

Christmas Lighting Contest Winners



Marlys Mossestad Reigns as Miss Thief River Falls, 1965

QUESTIONS Answered for VETERANS

Q—I receive monthly compensation payments from the Veterans administration for a service-connected injury. A portion of my payment is for my son who becomes 18 years of age next month. If he remains in school after 18, will I continue to draw this extra income for him?

A—As long as your child remains unmarried and in school, except for normal summer vacation periods, you will continue to receive an extra allowance for him until he is 23 years old. Payment of this extra allowance would cease, however, in the event your son completes his education, drops out of scool, or marries before reaching the age of 23.

Q—Do veterans need to attain age 65 before they are eligible for pension from the Veterans administration?

A—A veteran of wartime service may be eligible for pension at any age if he can prove permanent disability and unemployability, subject to income limitations.

Q—My husband is a veteran of World War II and he has a service-connected disability of 100 per cent. What benefits does he have when one of his family needs hospitilization?

A—The Veterans administration does not provide hospitilization for the dependents of veterans.

Q—My son is a Navy veteran and the father of six children. He is unable to acquire insurance due to disabilities. It is my understanding that the policy he once held while in the Navy is still open to him until May, 1966.

A—He should contact the nearest Veterans administration regional office for information pamphlets on the new insurance being sold to veterans who have a service - connected disability. This insurance will be sold until May 2, 1966.

Q—I am single and receiving a nonservice - connected pension from the VA of $78.75 per month. I would like to know how much I am allowed to earn per year by the Veterans administration. This pension is under the "old Pension law."

A—A veteran without dependents receiving a nonservice - connected pension under the old law may not have an income which exceeds $1,400 per year.

Q—I was a private in the Army in World War I. I had a GI insurance policy of $10,000 and $6.70 was taken from my check every month. I have recently been told that GIs in World War I did not have to pay for their government insurance. Is this correct?

A—Servicemen in World War I had to pay the premiums on their government life insurance policies.

Q—My neighbor, a disabled veteran receiving monthly disability payments received an income questionnaire from VA; his payments would be stopped if he did not report his annual income. I am receiving disability compensation payments but have never received the questionnaire. Should I file a report of income anyway?

A—Your neighbor evidently receives monthly "pension" payments for a nonservice - connected disability. You are receiving "compensation" payments for a service-connected disability which is not affected by your other income. You do not have to file a report.

After completing a pass, do not cut back into your proper lane too quickly. Wait until you can see the car you passed in your rear view mirror before returning to your lane. And remember that on a two-lane roadway you must return to your lane before coming within 100 feet of any approaching vehicle. Finally remember that whenever passing another vehicle you cannot depend on others to make room for you. Never take chances.

Jaycees Honor Four Outstanding Citizens

Four awards to outstanding community citizens were presented at the annual Thief River Falls Jaycees Boss - Employee banquet held Wednesday evening in the American Legion club rooms. Rep. Richard Fitzsimons of Argyle, chairman of the House appropriations committee, was the guest speaker.

Named recipients of the awards presented were Douglass Steiger, Outstanding Young Farmer; Norman Peterson, Outstanding Boss; Richard F. Contos, Outstanding Young Man; and John J. Schmitz, Outstanding Young Educator. Plaques were presented respectively by Arnold Stanley, Sig Quam and Bryant Ulseth, 1965 winners, and Dr. George Martin, vice chairman of the board of education.

Marvin Lundin served as master of ceremonies and Lt. Harold Shelby, Jaycee chaplain, delivered the invocaton. Appreciation awards were presented in behalf of the chapter by president Contos to the Thief River Falls Times and radio station KTRF.

Rep. Fitzsimons discussed a number of legislative issues of current interest to citizens of this area, including reapportionment of the Minnesota legislature, daylight saving time, education, juvenile delinquency and business development.

"I am confident the Legislature will be in session within the next two weeks," Fitzsimons said in regard to the reapportionment issue. "This area will lose some representation, with more legislators to be elected from the suburban communities in the metropolitan area." He said that the present 66th and 67th legislative districts could be expected to lose two representatives and one senator.

Reapportionment will mean that the rural legislators must do a better job, the state representative added. Rural Minnesotans in the legislature have always done what was best for the urban areas, he said, and it is expected that urban area legislators will work with rural representatives in a cooperative manner on rural problems.

Commenting briefly on daylight saving time, he noted that Minnesota will begin fast time on April 24 and remain on fast time for six months in compliance with new federal regulation. He added that he believed the state legislature would have passed a similar law at the next session if the federal directive had not taken effect.

Fitzsimons urged the local community to locate its junior college and proposed vocational - technical school on the same site in accordance with plans now being considered. "Two new buildings or sets of buildings in the same location will make an impressive sight," he noted. "You will have a large enrollment and your students will be proud of their schools and campus. This should be considered as well as long-range developments in education and other benefits of close proximity for the schools."

The legislator added that it was his belief that the permanent college here would be built on schedule, and that request and authorization of an appropriation for its construction would be little more than a formality. The legis-

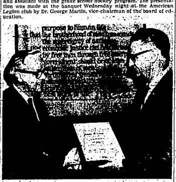
NEW AWARD added to the traditional awards presented at the Boss-Employee banquet is the Outstanding Young Educator award. First recipient of this award is John J. Schmitz, left, algebra and senior mathematics teacher at Lincoln high school. He is also assistant football coach and assistant with the grade school hockey program. The presentation was made at the banquet Wednesday night at the American Legion club by Dr. George Martin, vice-chairman of the board of education.



PRESENTED with the Outstanding Boss award for 1966 at the annual Boss-Employee banquet Wednesday night was Norman Peterson, administrator of Northwestern hospital. Shown presenting the award is Sig Quam, manager of Thief River Jobbing and 1965 Outstanding Boss.

Farmers Reminded To Attend Mixer; Call for Tickets

"It will be a good opportunity for you to enjoy the fellowship of a social evening," states Vernon Nelson, chairman of the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce agriculture committee, in extending an invitation to all area farmers to attend a farmer - merchant mixer. The event is set for Monday, April 25, in the American Legion club rooms.

"So that we can make adequate preparations, we must have an indication as to how many farmers will attend," Nelson said. "There is no charge to farmers for the evening of food and entertainment, but you are requested to call 681-3720 and give your name to the Chamber of Commerce office secretary. Complimentary tickets will await you at the door Monday evening."

Entertainment will include the showing of the 1965 World Series film. A smorgasbord-style evening meal will be served at 7 p.m. sharp, following a social hour from 6 to 7 p.m. Several free door prizes will also be given. The evening is planned as a stag affair.

182 At Roundup For Pre-Schoolers

Attending the annual PTA preschool roundup held Saturday at Washington elementary school were 182 children. Mrs. Merle Lindberg was general chairman of the event and was assisted by Mrs. Randall Noper and Mrs. Margaret Race, school nurse.

Each child who attended the roundup was given an authorization slip which entitles him to a free check-up and free pre-school shots by appointment with his family doctor during the months of April and May.

A permit was also given to each child which will entitle him to a free eye examination by one of the local optometrists during May and June. This permit must be presented to the optometrist at the time of examination.

A pink dental card was issued to each child, and it is suggested that the child's teeth be examined by a dentist during the summer months. After examination the dentist will sign the card and this should be brought to school when the child enters next fall.

PTA chairmen representing the local schools were: Mrs. Clarence Waldera, Washington; Mrs. Clara Olson, Knox; Mrs. Charles Samuelson, Mark Twain; Mrs. E. Thorsgard, Northrop; and Mrs. Robert Wurst, St. Bernards.

Local Tot Shoots Self; Recovering At NW Hospital

A 2½-year-old boy narrowly escaped death shortly before noon Friday when he was wounded by an accidentally self-inflicted gunshot. Scott Ellingson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Ellingson of the West Trailer court, is recovering from the accident in Northwestern hospital.

Sheriff Charles R. Richards, who investigated the mishap, reported that the boy wounded himself while playing with a loaded .22 revolver. At the time of the mishap, his father was preparing to move the family trailer house and was under the trailer connecting it to a pickup. Mrs. Ellingson was in the house, and the boy was alone in the cab of the pickup.

The youngster forced open the glove compartment, which his father stated was locked but had enough space for a finger hold, and found the revolver. In toying with the weapon, he managed to cock and fire it while it was pointed at his body. The bullet entered his chest and exited through his back, fracturing a rib. He was rushed to the hospital, where he is reported in good condition.

Tickets on Sale For "Tender Trap"

Tickets are now on sale at Larson Music company and Ekeren Drugs in Thief River Falls for the local community theatre's production of "The Tender Trap". Termed by director Bill Jensen as "an adult comedy", the play will be the first offering of the new theatre group and will be staged Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m. in the Lincoln high school auditorium.

The play depicts the story of a bachelor in New York City who is pursued by three young ladies until a wholesome young college girl appears on the scene and becomes the "tender trap". Most of the play takes place in the bachelor's apartment, with the play divided into three acts and the first act having two scenes.

Members of the cast include James McConnell, James Solsten, Francis Womack, William Moehlein, Peggy Stahl, Annette Sebring, Gloria Bjorkman and Pat Anderson. Tickets are being sold at $1 for adults and 75 cents for students, and will be sold by theatre members Thursday night at Northern and Union State banks.

Red Lake Falls Voters Reject School Building

Voters in the Red Lake Falls district rejected a $595,000 bond issue for new school construction in a special election held Thursday evening. With a total of 658 votes cast in the election, 298 ballots were cast in favor of the issue while 360 persons voted against the plan.

As presented to the district's voters by the board of education, the plan called for a 17-room building, one story high, to be erected on the hill south of the Otter Tail power substation in the north part of Red Lake Falls. The site includes 12.2 acres.

The proposed building would be 30,000 to 32,000 square feet in size, and would include 12 elementary rooms, two kindergarten rooms, library, combination gymnasium and dining room, special education room, supply space, office space and remedial center.

Supt. Dale Birkeland told the Times Friday in a special telephone interview that the board has authorized him to arrange rental facilities for the coming school term. Kindergarten is now being held in a church basement, he said, and at least two rental rooms will be neded for elementary classes, next fall.

No indication has been given as to whether or not the board will present the bond issue to the voters again at a later date. Remodeling of Lafayette high school was also included in the plan with expansion planned for science laboratories shop, art and music classes, cafeteria and projection room for movies.

Hit-Run Mishap, Shotgun Theft Reported by Police

Three automobile accidents, one involving a hit-run driver, and a larceny were reported today by the Thief River Falls police department. Wednesday at 1:04 p.m. a motorcycle owned by Wayne Zitzow, city, was properly parked in the 300 block of Atlantic av. N. and was backed into by a car driven by Edward Andrew Olson of Goodridge. Olson left the scene and was charged with leaving the scene of an accident and making an illegal U-turn. The cycle was damaged to the extent of about $290. The car was not damaged.

At 11 a.m. Saturday a car driven by Donald R. Peterson, city, was traveling east on Eleventh st. and collided with a pickup driven by Donald Thyren, rt. 3, which pulled away from the curb. Damage was estimated at $50 to the Peterson car and $40 to the Thyren vehicle.

Clinic on Grass Seed Production Set in Grygla

Grass seed production clinic, canceled due to the March 3 blizzard has ben re-scheduled for Thursday at 1 p.m. in the Grygla school gymnasium.

The speaker will be Dr. J. R. Justin, extension agronomist of the University of Minnesota. He will present grass seed production ideas including varieties, practices and research information aimed at top production with maximum quality. Anyone now raising or planning to raise grass seed will find ideas and practices which will help to improve the grass seed production enterprise.

This clinic is jointly sponsored by the Marshall - Beltrami Soil and Water Conservation district, Marshall county extension service and the Beltrami county extension service as a public information session to help the farmers in this area to improve their farming enterprise.

Ideal Weather Gives Way to Arctic Cold Front

Ideal spring weather prevailed in the local area for half of the past week-end. The mercury reached a high for the season to date of 62 on Saturday. It was also the highest mark reached since Nov. 2, 1965.

Sunday brought signs of a return of winter, however, as a fast-moving cold front brought bone-chilling wind. The official Sunday high of 58 was observed at 6 p.m. the previous evening.

Forecast calls for fair to partly cloudy today, tonight and tomorrow with possible snow showers over the entire state, mostly in the south and west. Highs today will range from 28 to 38; lows tonight from 12 to 24.

Temperatures recorded at the airport are as follows: 50 and 28 on Wednesday; 51 and 31 on Thursday; 51 and 30 on Friday; 62 and 39 on Saturday; 58, 33 and a trace of rain on Sunday; and a low this morning of 22.

Reservoir Study Planned in City

A $32,000 project to study the recreational and industrial potential of land adjacent to the city reservoir of Thief River Falls was approved last week by Eugene P. Foley, assistant secretary of commerce for economic development.

The funds are being provided by the Economic Development administration, U. S. Department of Commerce. The city of Thief River Falls, which requested the study with the assistance of the office of U. S. Senator Walter F. Mondale, will contribute an additional $3,500 for the study.

The city believes that developing the recreational potential of the area would make it attractive to the residents of northwestern Minnesota and northeastern North Dakota. In making the application, City Clerk William Fahey pointed out that the city's gains in population have been offset by the loss of residents in the productive age range of 20 to 44.

Objectives of the project are to attract industry and thus provide jobs and encourage young working people to stay in the area, and to further promote the city's recreational industry. Plans are to enlarge the city's river channel, or reservoir, by dredging until it takes on the character of a lake. This enlarged reservoir is to be the focal point of a community recreational - educational complex as proposed during the city's comprehensive planning program. The recreational complex is to feature such regional activities as swimming, picnicking, boating, fishing, hiking, skating, social events and possibly horseback riding.

Economic benefits of the lake and attendant facilities may include resort development, boat works and concession sales; motel accomodations for those who prefer an off-highway location; increased shopping in the city; an opportunity for expansion of sporting goods stores or possibly new specialty stores; to make the city and area more attractive to industry and as a site for future construction of the junior college; and to enhance the value of other nearby properties, the application states.

Procedure of the project, with the estimated cost of each phase subject to review by EDA, is as follows: mapping $2,750; background material (existing facilities inventory, land value study, etc.) $14,250; plan recommendations (land use and engineering plans), $15,000 and implementation (administration and financing), $3,250; for a total of $35,750.

A traverse survey will be made of the Red Lake River from the municipal dam upstream to the point where the river intersects with the east line of Section 35, T. 154 N., R. 43 W.; and of the Thief River from the confluence with the Red Lake river upstream to its intersection with the north line of Section 21, T. 154 N., R. 43 W.

The city plans to start the project as soon as possible to allow dredging of the river channel to proceed.

Sharon Brandt-Jack Lund Exchange Vows at Roseau

Miss Sharon Gail Brandt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Brandt and Jack L. Lund, son of Mr. and Mrs. Palmer Lund, all of Roseau, exchanged marriage vows Saturday, March 19, at the Moe Lutheran church at Roseau. The Rev. Erling Huglen officiated at the double ring ceremony attended by 300 guests. Mrs. Huglen served as organist and accompanied Edward Bakau, who sang "The Song of Ruth" and "The Lord's Prayer," and ReNae Lisell as she sang, "O Promise Me". Arrangements of white mums graced the chancel for the evening wedding.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown designed and made by her mother and Mrs. Roy Erickson, a cousin. Fashioned of white satin, the gown was styled with a slightly scooped neckline, long tapering sleeves and a floor length skirt with a detachable train. Lace appliques graced the fitted bodice and skirt. A matching pillbox headpiece held her fingertip veil and her bridal bouquet was a dainty arrangement of red roses on a white Bible.

Beda Brandt attended her sister as maid of honor. Other attendants were Mrs. James Johnson of Des Moines, Iowa, sister of the groom; Mrs. Mike Carlson, Roseau, cousin of the bride and Joanne Lund. They wore floor length gowns of rose satin with matching lace jackets and carried three long stemmed carnations in white, rose and pink.

The flower girls, Sondra Wold of Crookston, niece of the bride and Sally Miller of Roseau, wore white satin gowns styled similar to the other attendants. Richard Lund of Roseau, brother of the groom was ring bearer.

The groom chose his friend, Victor Lundemo of Roseau as best man. Groomsmen were Douglas Bremner of Bottineau, N. D.; Robert Lund of Roseau, brother of the groom and Dennis MacKay of Duluth cousin of the groom. Serving as ushers were Clayton Brandt and Kennet Lund, brother of the bride and groom, respectively. They all wore black tuxedos with white carnation boutonnieres.

The mother of the bride wore a two-piece turquoise suit with black assessories and the mother of the groom was attired in a blue three-piece knit suit, also with black accessories. Their corsages were white mums and pink carnations. All floral arrangements were made by Mrs. Herbert Lund, of Roseau, an aunt of the groom.

Honor guests attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. John Aune, great-uncle and aunt of the bride, Mrs. Esther Erickson, aunt of the bride and Mr. and Mrs. Ingvald Olson, godparents of the groom.

A reception in the Roseau high school cafeteria for 350 guests followed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Albin Miller served as host and hostess. The three-tiered, all-white wedding cake, baked and decorated by Mrs. Roy Pearson of Crookston, a cousin of the bride, was cut and served by Mrs. Percy Foss and Mrs. Arnold Norquist, aunts of the bride and groom, respectively. Other aunts, Mrs. Thilda Lisell and Mr. Carl Jackson, poured. Mary Miller registered the guests as Lorelei Roth and Mary Jeanne Hovorka served the punch. Waitresses were Louise Brandt of Thief River Falls, Doreen Knowlton, Sally Johnson, Ann Brandt, Bonnie Brandt, Cindy Lisell and Diann Ruud, all cousins of the bride. Those who opened and arranged the gifts were Jody Sprny and Diann Harms both of Thief River Falls and Sharon Norquist. Gift bearers were Blaine Ruglund of Thief River Falls, Tom Lund and Mitchell Brandt.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding were from Des Moines, Ia.; Bottineau, Hillsboro and Fargo, N. D.; Thief River Falls, Duluth, Minneapolis, Crookston, Gatzke, Grygla and Warroad.

For traveling on the wedding trip to Duluth, the bride wore a two-piece winter-white woolen dress with black accessories.

The bride is a graduate of the Roseau high school and attended the Thief River Falls Junior college and Bemidji State college. The groom, also a graduate of Roseau high school, attended the North Dakota School of Forestry at Bottineau, N. D., and is currently associated with his father as a painter. They will make their home at Roseau.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Myrum and children of Chisholm and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Kriel of Anoka were Easter weekend guests at the home of Mrs. Evelyn Prigge. They also visited with other relatives in the area.

Patricia Hinrichs Weds Raymond Nelson at RLF

Bethany Lutheran church of Red Lake Falls was the scene Saturday, March 26, of the wedding of Miss Patricia Hinrichs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hinrichs of Red Lake Falls and Raymond Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Nelson of Escanaba, Mich. The Rev. James Boyd officiated at the five o'clock double ring ceremony. Organist Mrs. Elmer Skare played a program of nuptial music and accompanied Mrs. John Ulrich who sang "O Perfect Love" and "Love Divine and Golden". Baskets of white gladioli with aqua tinted mums graced the altar and the pews were marked with white candles and bows.

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of silk organza over taffeta styled with a scoop neckline, elbow length sleeves and a floor-length skirt detailed with side and back fullness flowing into a sweeping train. Adding interest to the gown were re-embroidered Alencon lace appliques, enhanced with sequins and seed pearls. A scalloped lace headpiece, etched with seed pearls, secured the bouffant silk illusion veil and she carried a cascade bouquet of white stephanotis surrounding a detachable orchid corsage.

A sister of the bride, Judith Hinrichs of Brainerd, was maid of honor and Mrs. Orland Hinrichs, sister-in-law of the bride, was bridesmatron. They wore aqua chiffon over taffeta sheath gowns with lace bodices, scoop neclines and elbow length sleeve. Styled with a satin band at the empire waistline, the gowns featured detachable back lace panels. Their headpieces were circular bustle-type veils secured with three aqua taffeta bows on a matching streamer. Each carried a cascade bouquet of aqua tinted carnations with white baby mums.

The groom was attended by brothers of the bride. Orland Hinrichs of Milwaukee, Wis., was best man, Ernest, Jr., of Minneapolis was groomsman and Roger and Stephen, both of Red Lake Falls, served as ushers. All wore black tuxedos with carnation boutonnieres.

The mother of the bride wore a pale blue taffeta dress with matching jacket and black accessories. Her corsage was of red roses and white carnations. Also presented with a similar corsage was the grandmother of the bride, Mrs. Josie Hanson. She was attired in a Navy blue dress.

A wedding supper in the church parlors followed the ceremony with Mrs. Ernest Hinrichs Jr., as hostess. Mrs. Dunne Jesperson cut and served the wedding cake, Mrs. Walter Cantwell, aunt of the bride, poured and Janice Cantwell, cousin of the bride, presided at the punch bowl. Sisters of the bride, Sandra and Peggy Hinrichs, arranged the gifts and Mrs. James Wheeler, registered the guests.

Guests attending the wedding were from Milwaukee, Wis.; Minneapolis, Wayzata, Pierz, Brainerd, Fosston, Erskine, Maple Bay, Crookston, Winger, Red Lake Falls and Thief River Falls.

The bride is a graduate of Lincoln high school, Thief River Falls, and was employed at the American City bank at Milwaukee, Wis. The groom is a graduate of the Perkins high school, Perkins Mich., and is employed by the Lindberg Construction company at Coldwater, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson are at home at 172 West Waterman avenue, Coldwater, Mich. Photo—Neal Fox Studio, Thief River Falls.

Pixie Planters Jr., Club To Reorganize

A reorganizational meeting of the Pixie Planters Junior garden club will be held Wednesday at 4:15 p.m. at the Carnegie library with Mrs. Marie Cernousek and Mrs. Inga Geving in charge.

Plans will be made for planting and maintaining garden plots in the city, leaders will be appointed and gladioli bulbs, in four new varieties, may be ordered.

Lunch will be served and all boys and girls between the ages of eight to 12 years are encouraged to attend.

Annual Spring Dinner Hosted by Campanula Club

Preceding the regular meeting, members of the Campanula garden club met recently at the R. & S cafe for their annual spring dinner. Following the dinner, they gathered at the home of Mrs. S. S. Nelson for the business session and program.

Roll call was answered by each member naming and describing a wild flower found in this area. It was noted that many that were prevalent several years ago are now hard to find. A letter was read from Southern California. She described many flowers that were in blossom in California.

An announcement was made of the evening program to be held May 3 in the Pennington county court house social room with Mr. Goddard of the Day Lily Farm near Anoka as guest speaker. The public is invited to this meeting. Members were also urged to attend the day-long district spring workshop of garden clubs April 16 at Williams.

Mrs. Gardn Nelson served refreshments following the meeting.

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

Features from the Kitchen of

MRS. ARNIE JOHNSON

With the coming of warmer days, salad recipes will be more and more in demand by the busy homemaker, especially those that require the minimum amount of preparation. During the long winter months, most homemakers don't mind the hours spent in preparing a meal, but as the summer season approaches, various short cuts are utilized to enable the family to spend more time outdoors.

Today's recipe for fruit salad, requires very little preparation and unlike most recipes, is the right size for a family of four or six people.

FRUIT SALAD

1 package lemon or lime gelatine
1 cup hot water
½ cup creamy cottage cheese
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
½ cup broken walnut meats
⅓ cup maraschino cherries, chopped
1 cup crushed pineapple, drained

Method: Dissolve gelatin in hot water and chill until partly set. Fold in remaining ingredients and chill. Mrs. Johnson stated that the whipped cream may be sweetened, if desired. For ease in cutting and serving, she uses her extra refrigerator trays for chilling her salads.

The Arnie Johnsons reside at 708 St. Paul avenue south in this city. They have two children, 13-year-old Steve, who attends eighth grade at Franklin Junior high school and Kerry, their eight year old daughter, who is in second grade at Knox school.

Mrs. Johnson enjoys bowling and lists it as her chief recreation. Mr. Johnson is owner and operator of Custom Motors. As a family, they attend Zion Lutheran church in this city.

Newfolden ALCW to Serve Supper April 20

Newfolden American Lutheran church women will serve a supper Wednesday at the church parlors. Serving will be from 5 to 7:30 p.m. No charges are being made There will be a free-will offering. Everyone is welcome to attend.

The Library Corner

By Flora Allison

An apt slogan for this week, which looms importantly on the American scene as National Library Week, is "Know What You're Talking bout—Read!" This pinpoints the heart of the observance. America has weeks for everything, almost and they range from the wry and ridiculous to the timely and worthwhile, from National Pickle Packers' Week to United Nations Week, and various and sundry other occasions for nationwide publicity for the cause, whatever it may be.

One that a nation of seekers-after-truth-and-knowledge cannot afford to ignore or minimize is this week dedicated to the printed word, especially as it is found in the libraries of the land. Let's really, in this year of the opening of the new cultural center called the Thief River Falls Public library, put libraries in general, and ours in particular, into sharp focus.

Once more, we'll repeat this week's slogan: "Know What You're Talking About—Read!" When have you had a better opportunity, or soon, a finer place in which to use it And don't forget we'll look for you during Open House, this third week of April, when all libraries in the nation come in for a special share of attention. We'll miss YOU if you don't come. Browse for hours of an afternoon or evening; we're open until 9 p.m. each school day, and until 6 p.m. on Saturdays. You're always welcome.

We especially want to encourage the clergy, the business and professional people and the teachers to visit and borrow books and have a cup of coffee on the house on Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday afternoon of this week. It's YOUR library. We need the support of each and everyone of you. Every community effort deserves united support. Without your continued interest even our library would lag in its effectiveness. You're ALL important to its success now and in the future. See you here.

Brainerd to Host Paul Bunyan Dance Festival

The 13th annual Paul Bunyan square dance festival, sponsored by the Brainerd Square dance clubs, will be held at the National Guard Armory at Brainerd on Sunday, May 2, from 1:30 to 5:30 p.m.

Ray O'Reilly and Clarence Harting, popular Brainerd callers, will share the honors as master of ceremonies. They will also introduce the many callers who will come from all over the state to call for the several hundred dancers expected to attend. Popular round dances will be featured between the squares.

A pre-festival dance will be held Saturday evening, April 30, at the Elk's club ballroom at Brainerd. Dancing will begin at 8:30 p.m. with John Hall and Pete McKay as masters of ceremonies. At that time local and early out-of-town dancers may enjoy dancing to the tips of many of the guest callers, who will all participate in this part of the festival. Lunch will be available.

Sugar Adair is general chairman of the event, assisted by Mrs. Dennis Sands, secretary. Other committee chairmen include, Mr. and Mrs. Chuck Holst general arrangements; Mr. and Mrs. Sheridan Adair, registration; Mr. and Mrs. Norman Moser and Mr. and Mrs. Pete McKay, decorations; Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Lundberg and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Anderson, publicity and Mr. and Mrs. John Hall, pre-festival dance.

Jaycees Present Awards at Boss-Employee Banquet

lature created the junior college board, he said, and is committed to carry on its program.

Commenting on rural area business development, he noted that more and more large industries are paying more and more attention to less crowded areas for branch operations and expansions. Much work is being done through the department of business development to sell out-state Minnesota to industry.

Award Winners

Douglass Steiger, winner of the OYF award, started farming in 1949 after purchasing 160 acres, in 1960 he joined with his father and brother in a farm corporation which now operates 3,400 acres. In 1957 he designed and built a four-wheel drive tractor which is still in use although it has logged more than 9,000 hours.

The tractor building operation has grown, and last year the corporation built 12 four-wheel drive tractors. This year the number is expected to double. Steiger is president of the corporation, member of the Mission Covenant church in Thief River Falls and married to the former Kathryn Larson. They have three daughters, ages nine, eight and two years.

Norman Peterson, Outstanding Boss award winner, has served as administrator of Northwestern hospital since 1957. Prior to that time he was assistant to the administrator for two years, and previously was employed by C. Gustafson and Son for 15 years. He has been instrumental in attaining several new programs for medical care of area people through the hospital, such as physical and occupational therapy, radiology and a proposed mental health program.

He assisted in starting the municipal airport here, is a member of many local and area organizations and has served as head of several of them. In the past he was active in the Jaycees. Married, he and his wife Peg have a son and two daughters.

Richard Contos, DSA recipient, has lived in Thief River Falls for only three years but has shown a vital interest in community activities. His Jaycee leadership has provided the chapter with one of its busiest project years. A native of Duluth, he lived for several years at Devils Lake, N. D., before moving to this city to become pharmacist at Northwestern hospital.

He is a member of the advisory board of the Pennington - Red Lake Association for Retarded Children, chairman of the Pennington county Republican party and member of St. Bernard's Catholic church. Married to the former Annette Sollah in 1961, he has two children, Mike and Michelle.

John Schmitz, first recipient of the local Outstanding Young Educator award, is a native of Red Lake Falls. He is a graduate of the University of North Dakota and has taken advanced work at Bemidji state college. After teaching at Pine River for two years, he came to the local school system where he teaches algebra and senior mathematics.

He is also an assistant football coach and assists with the elementary school hockey program. His outside activities include an active role in the Knights of Columbus. Schmitz is married, and he and his wife Rose have two children.

that the brotherhood of man transcends that service to humanity best work

OUTSTANDING Young Man for 1966 and recipient of the Distinguished Service Award is Richard F. Contos, right, pharmacist at Northwestern hospital and president of the Thief River Falls Jaycees. The award was presented in recognition of the interest Rick has shown in the community in the three years he has lived here and the successful Jaycee projects carried out under his auspices. The award was presented at the annual boss-employee banquet Wednesday night by Bryant Ulseth, high school music instructor and 1965 Outstanding Young Man.

We Believe:
that faith in God gives meaning and purpose to human life;
that the brotherhood of man transcends the sovereignty of nations;
that economic justice can best
by free men through free that government should be of rather than of men;
that earth's great treasure lies personality;
to humanity is the work of life.

RECOGNIZED Wednesday night at the Boss-Employee banquet as the 1966 Outstanding Young Farmer was Douglass Steiger, right, who with his father and brother, operates a 3,400-acre farm in Pennington county. He has also designed and built a number of four-wheel-drive tractors. Presenting the award was Arnold Stanley of Grygla, 1965 Outstanding Young Farmer.

Rebekahs Plan Membership Event

Rebekahs of Lyon Lodge 60 announce that a membership dinner will be served at the Odd Fellows hall Tuesday at 6:30 p.m. The dinner will be free to all paid members of the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs and a nominal charge will be made to other members of the families and friends. A social time will follow.

On Saturday evening, the Fisher lodges were host to district meetings of the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs. Recommendation of District Deputies was made and Mrs. Omar Bain of Fisher succeeds Gladys Odegaard of Thief River Falls as district deputy president of the Rebekahs. Millard A. Nelson of this city was recommended for another term as district deputy grand master.

The Odd Fellows district officers were all reelected for district 23, and include, Omar Bain of Fisher, president; and Jorgen Austad and Millard A. Nelson of Thief River Falls, vice president and secretary respectively. The Fisher Rebekahs served a lunch following the meetings.

CORRECTIONS

A local item in last Wednesday's paper was in error, through transposition of lines. It should have read, Mr. and Mrs. John Waltonen and Stuart spent Thursday through Sunday visiting Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Tommerdahl at St. Paul and Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Anderson at Faribault.

In another item, that of the birthday party for Claire Dahlen, the party was given at the home of the hostess, Jeanette Stenvik. The Times is sorry for these errors.

Brodins Purchase Roseau Station

Brodin Sheetmetal of Thief River Falls has purchased the Shell oil dealership in Roseau from Kveen Oil company. The business is now in operation as Community Oil Heating supply and is providing bulk service in gas, oil and lubricants.

In addition to a service program, the firm will also promote renting contract business as a division of the local operation. Lawrence Peterson will remain a driver for the firm and Channing Peterson will serve as office manager. Both are from Roseau.

An open house at the office in Roseau is planned for Friday. Brodin Sheetmetal has been in business in this city for 33 years.

Road Contract in Awarded by State

Marvin E. Lund company of Glenwood has been awarded the contract for grading and surfacing on a 9½ mile section of CSAH 20, in Marshall county. The project is located between CSAH 10, four miles north of Alvarado, and TH 75. The work, which will be supervised by County Engineer H. I. Knutson, is scheduled to begin June 1 and to be completed within 50 working days. The Lund company's bid of $180,552 was the lowest of seven submitted for the work.

Extend Deadline On ACP Practices

Marcel Dahl, chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation county committee, announced today that the deadline date for signing up for ACP practices has been extended to April 29. The extension is to give farmers more time to get the reports of their soil tests back and to enable other farmers to sign up for the 1966 ACP practices.

Golf Class Will Start Here May 3

Golf class sponsored by the Area Vocational - Technical school will begin Tuesday May 3, on the driving range at the Thief River Falls golf course. Class sessions will begin at 4 p.m. and continue for five successive Tuesdays. Please bring a No. 5 iron and a supply of practice balls to the first session.

John Moum is the instructor and the course fee is $8. Interested persons may register by calling the vocational office (681-4588). Fees will be collected at the first session.

McIntosh Village To Dedicate New Municipal Bldg.

McIntosh is preparing to dedicate it's new municipal building at ceremonies on Saturday. The Community Booster Club, under the leadership of B. B. Nornes, is joining with the village council in efforts to make the occasion an important community event.

Open house at the building will be held during the day. The building will be officially designated as the municipal building by the village council. Housed within it's wall are several government offices, the fire fighting equipment and a community meeting room complete with a fully-equipped kitchen, public rest room facilities and the heating plant for the building.

A formal dedication program will be held infront of the building at 2 p.m. with Dr. Ronald Dille of Moorhead state college as the speaker. Also at this time a flag pole and flag will be dedicated by a color guard and Quentin Werpy of Ada, past district commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

All business places in McIntosh will be closed from 2 to 3 p.m. The program will be held at 2 p.m. with free coffee and doughnuts to be served at the city hall from 3 to 5 p.m.

The high school orchestra and chorus, under the direction of Carmen Peters, will be a feature of the program. Mayor C. L. Roboll will give the welcome address and Peter Bovee, a member of the council, will represent the body with a historical report and councilman Eugene Warford will extend recognition of people and firms responsible for the fine new structure.

Also expected to be completed and in service by April 23 will be the new municipal liquor store and lounge and a new village library. These facilities will be located in the former Rodseth store building on the corner of Main street and highway 2. The quarters have been renovated.

The council rooms and library will be located in the quarters formerly housing the East Polk County Farm Bureau office. The liquor lounge will occupy the former Jensen Store space. Work of remodeling the building includes completely paneling the interior, lowering the ceilings, installation of fluorescent indirect lighting and a new heating plant as well as all new plumbing.

CERTIFICATES of appreciation from the Thief River Falls Jaycees were presented to KTRF radio and the Thief River Falls Times at the annual Boss-Employee banquet Wednesday night in the American Legion club. The awards were presented in recognition of the news media's cooperation with the Jaycees in giving publicity to their projects. On behalf of the Jaycees, President Richard F. Contos, center, presented the awards to Howard Rokke, left, KTRF announcer, and Robert Mattson, co-publisher of the Times.

SPEAKER for the 1966 annual Boss-Employee banquet held Wednesday night at the American Legion club was State Representative Richard Fitzsimons of Argyle. He reported on the latest action in the legislature regarding a number of items of local interest, including reapportionment, daylight saving time, juvenile delinquency, higher education in this area and business development.

Farm Management Group Will Hear Grafton Banker

Al Severson, president of the Grafton (N. D.) National bank, will be guest speaker at the annual farm management analysis meeting to be held Wednesday, April 20, at 8 p.m. in the Lincoln senior high school cafeteria in Thief River Falls.

"Changing Needs of Farm Credit" will be discussed by the speaker, according to Peter Probasco, area vocational agriculture coordinator for the Thief River Falls area vocational - technical school. All members of the school's farm management program are encouraged to attend.

Severson was born and reared on a farm near Gary, S. D., is a graduate of South Dakota State university and was associated with the staff at SDU as research assistant in agriculture economics. He was agricultural representative with a bank at Clear Lake, S.D., and vice president at the First National bank in Moorhead before moving to Grafton in July of last year.

Speakers Named For Republican Dist. Convention

Featured speaker at a pre-convention dinner which Seventh District Republicans have planned for April 22 in Fergus Falls will be Rep. Mark Andrews, who represents North Dakota's east district.

The 7 p.m. dinner in Our Lady of Victory school will be the kick-off for the annual district GOP convention, scheduled to open with registration at 8 a.m., April 23, in the Fergus Falls senior high school.

Main item of business at this election-year convention for party delegates from the district's 23 counties is expected to center around possible endorsements of candidates for state offices.

Robert Bigwood, Fergus Falls, district GOP chairman, told a recent party executive committee meeting in Detroit Lakes that all aspirants for this year's Republican nominations for state offices are expected to attend the convention's afternoon session.

The Seventh District's own Rep. Odin Langen of Kennedy is scheduled to address the day-long convention about 11:15 a.m. April 23.

COUNTY BOARD PROCEEDINGS

April 18

OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS
BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS
PENNINGTON COUNTY, MINNESOTA.

April 6, 1966

Pursuant to adjournment the County Commissioners met in the Commissioners' Room in the Court House at 10:00 a.m., April 5, 1966.

Members present: Hanson, Olson, Anderson, Lindberg and Tasa. All present.

The minutes of the meeting of March 8th were read and approved as read.

Moved by Lindberg seconded by Hanson that the Chairman and Auditor be authorized and instructed to enter into a re-newal agreement with the St. Louis County Board for housing prisoners at the rate of $3.24 per day for maintenance. Carried.

The Alfalfa Pellet Plant Board and Township officers of the town of North appeared requesting assistance in rebuilding the service road that lies on the north side of the new Pellet Plant. The road is presently a Township road. Explanation of the problems involved was given by Chairman Tasa. The matter was taken under advisement.

At 11:00 a.m. the Board proceeded to open bids for Base and Bituminous work on CSAH No. 3 known as the Wylie road (SAP 57-603-09) and on the Hazel road CSAH No. 12 5.6 miles East from the south end of the airport road (SAP 57-612-02) as duly advertised and called for. The following bids were opened and read aloud:

McLaughlin & Schulz, Inc., Marshall, $177,685.00.

John Dieseth Co., Fergus Falls, $202,169.50.

Hazelmere Bit. Co., Fairmont, $173,115.00.

REMEMBER "THE GOOD OLD DAYS"

The old kerosene lamp has served its purpose as a lighting fixture . . . today's dependable rural electricity gives us instant light by pressing a button or flicking a switch. Better light in our homes and schools safeguards the eyes of our families. This is one of the many advantages of rural electricity in this area.

Moorhead Wins Indoor Sioux Relay Saturday

Coach Shocky Strand's Moorhead Spuds, scoring in eight of the 11 events on the program, and with Greg Lokken scoring two firsts and a second to take individual honors, won the Sioux Indoor track meet at Grand Forks on Saturday with a total of 36 points. Fargo North earned runner-up honors with 29 points, and Grand Forks Central notched 26 points. Other team totals in the upper bracket were Fargo Central 15½ points; and Detroit Lakes with 14 points.

Coach Roger Solheim's Prowlers were able to garner but two points, and these points were gained by John Olson who finished fourth in the 60-yard low hurdle event.

Lokken won the 60-yard dash, the 60-yard low hurdles, and was runner-up in the 440-yard run.

More than 500 high school athletes from North Dakota and Minnesota participated in the Sioux Indoor meet, but none were able to break the existing records.

On Saturday, April 23, the Sioux Outdoor relays will be held in the Memorial Stadium on the UND campus in Grand Forks, and it is probable that a majority of the athletes who participated in the indoor meet will compete.

The summaries:

High Jump: won by Gary Olson, Detroit Lakes; 2) Joe Reden, Amenia; 3) Larry Lamont, Fargo Shanley; 4) Jerry Pyle, Casselton; 5) Tom Ingstad, Valley City. Height—6 feet, 1¾ inches.

Broad Jump: won by Gary Vaughn, Grand Forks; 2) Howard Anderson, Detroit Lakes; 3) Phil McMartin, Moorhead; 4) Bruce Hella, Fargo North; 5) Paul Linnell, Finley. Distance—21 feet, 1¾ inches.

Mile Run: won by Casey Rynn, Grand Forks; 2) John Deconcini, Fargo Shanley; 3) Bill Kohler, Fargo North; 4) Eddie Broten, Roseau, 5) Mike Haskin, Fargo Central. Time—4:41.6.

Mile relay: won by Fargo North (Ron Iverson, Gary Dahlen, Ron Sahr Bruce Hella; 2) East Grand Forks; 3) Grand Forks Central; 4) Fargo Central; 5) Bemidji. Time—3:43.3.

Shot put: won by Fred Minnear, Fargo Central; 2) Les Nicholas, Dilworth; 3) Barry Maver, Fargo North; 4) Larry Tregfawney, Moorhead; 5) Tom Ingstad, Valley City. Distance—51 feet, 4¾ inches.

60-yard dash: won by Greg Lokken, Moorhead; 2) Howard Anderson, Detroit Lakes; 3) Barry Hauser, Fargo North; 4) Les Nicholas, Dilworth; 5) Dwight Walker, Mayville. Time—:06.6.

440-yard dash: won by Bruce Hella, Fargo North; 2) Greg Lokken, Moorhead; 3) Mike Feslien, Barnesville; 4) Dennis Schiller, Minto; 5) Gary Vaughn, Grand Forks. Time—:53.7.

60-yard high hurdles: won by Tom Hegernes, Moorhead; 2) John Thiele, Walsh County Aggies; 3) James Johnson, School for Deaf; 4) Rex Collins, Havana. Time—:08.2.

60-yard low hurdles: won by Greg Lokken, Moorhead; 2) Scott Leigh, Grand Forks; 3) Kim Krostue, East Grand Forks; 4) John Olson, Thief River Falls; 5) John Sandager, Fargo Central. Time—:07.6.

Pole Vault: won by Don Hulbert, Fargo Central; 2) Rick Hollenbeck, Grand Forks; 3) Dick Kulsen, Moorhead; 4) Don Idso, Fargo Oak Grove; 5) Roger Schultz, Fargo North. Height—12 feet, 1½ inches.

880-yard run: won by Pat Kenney, Moorhead; 2) Ron Sahr, Fargo North; 3) Fred Dahnke, Barnesville; 4) Ron McClure, Grand Forks; tied for 5th) Tom McLaughlin, Fargo Central and Glen Schultz, Valley City. Time—2:06.7.

Trap Club Banquet Slated April 27 At Golf Club

Annual banquet of the Thief River Falls Trap club will be held Wednesday, April 27, at the golf club. Social hour will begin at 6 p.m. and dinner will be served at 7 p.m. Trophies will be awarded after the dinner.

Stockholders of the club held their annual meeting April 4 at Wilson Bros. auto parts shop. Officers elected were Robert Mattson, president; Floyd Ball, vice president; Stanley Wilson, secretary; and Stanley (Sandy) Wilson Jr., treasurer.

Stockholders voted to hold league shooting on Wednesday night only due to conflict with Thursday night store openings. Opening night for shooting is May 18. Traps will be open at 5 p.m. for both singles and doubles.

Two changes in rules were approved. Instead of counting the five top scores out of the first seven men listed on a team, the five highest scores on the entire team will be counted.

In addition, shooters will not be permitted to declare a single score for two weeks, as was done in the past. A shooter will be entitled to shoot separate rounds and declare the scors for weeks ahead, however.

NEPHEW and uncle combination are members of coach Ralph Skay's Prowler baseball squad. Nicky Drees, the uncle, shows his nephew Tony Johnson some of the fine points of batting. Tony is the son of Mrs. Marlene Johnson of St. Hilaire, and she is Nicky's sister. Tony comes by his baseball talents naturally for in addition to being a nephew of Nicky and Harlie Drees, his late father, Don Johnson, was for many years a stellar shortstop for the St. Hilaire Saints.

Senior Hockey League All - Stars

Fred Dunsmore, a member of the Winnipeg Maroons and a one-time member of the Roseau Cloverleafs, were named the most valuable player in the Manitoba Senior Hockey league this past season.

Dunsmore's choice as the MVP of the league followed close upon the annoucement of the MSHL All-Star team. The Selkirk Fishermen, the league playoff champions, had three players on the All-Star squad; the Warroad Lakers, pennant-winners, gained two places; and the Winnipeg Maroons had one All-Star.

From the Selkirk squad, center Stephan Sopher, goalie Chuck Woodlands, and defenseman Dick Braun were named. The Warroad Lakers placed Roger Christian at left wing, and Ed Palamar at defense. And the Winnipeg Maroons' Al Johnson was named at right wing.

Julian Klymkiw, goalie for the Warroad team, was the league's low-average goaltender, and his name will be engraved on the A. Huot trophy. Dave Mazur of the Grand Forks Mixers gained the league's scoring honors overtaking Selkirk's Sopher with an eight-point scoring spree in the Mixers' next-to-last game.

Palamar, a rock-ribbed bone crusher, is the cleanest yet hardest-hitting defenseman in the league, and Christian, the elder half of the Christian brother duo, is a fierce competitor with hockey credentials a mile long. He played for the American Nationals in the 1960 olympics, and gained a gold medal. It was Roger's loss, with a broken leg, that cost Warroad in their battle for the league championship.

Selkirk's Marshall McCarthy was named as All-Star coach; and Warroad's Cal Marvin was named as general manager.

It's a Fact

Some of the boys thought that I was being facetious and straining to be funny when I remarked the other week that the "boat" that Lloyd Samuelson, Don Harbott and Ray Thyren had purchased had been used for grain storage in North Dakota. There was more fact than fiction to that remark.

I had occasion to check the original registration certificate of the cruiser. And the boat was built by Pete Frolander at Angle Inlet on Lake of the Woods. It's made of wood (and holes!), 24 feet long, and 7 feet 8 inches wide. But here is the pertinent statement in the record. Under the classification of use, it was certified that the boat was to be used for the "delivery of farm produce".

The boys have been putting in some extra hours in refurbishing the boat, and they have placed a big order with a marine company for a couple of barrels of calking compound!

If they can get the cruiser to the lake, and if it will float, I predict that the boat will take the fishing championship— in the sauger and eelpout category! "Delivery of farm produce", and that's not a joke, either!

Check that Computer!

The current issue of the "Sporting News" carries an article on the use of a computer to determine the American League's top "Clutch" hitters.

General Electric's GE235 computer accepted every batting experience in every American League game last season and burped out the loop's top clutch hitters. And the computer, basing its results on at least 340 at bats for each player, came up with the Twins' Harmon Killebrew, Don Mincher and Jimmie Hall; Baltimore's Curt Blefary; New York's Mickey Mantle; Cleveland's Pedro Gonzalez; and Chicago's Smoky Burgess as the league's top clutch hitters.

The article adds, "While the computer's top choices would hardly surprise even the most casual fans, it exposed American League batting champion Tony Oliva, Most Valuable Player Zoilo Versalles, both of Minnesota; former MVP Brooks Robinson of Baltimore and Detroit's great hitter Al Kaline as below-average performers when the heat was on in 1965."

Oliva led the league with .321, but as the pressure rose, his batting average slid to .192. Computermen predicted that Tony would hit far below his .321 average in the higher pressure of World's Series competition. Oliva's Series average was .192.

But let's check that computer. Even if Tony O, who is said to hit at only .190 pace under pressure, is not a "clutch" hitter, his presence in the lineup would mean the pennant to about five or six teams in the American league.

Beef Cows Differ In Abilities to Produce Profits

Best producing beef cows in the herd can outproduce the lowest producers by $500 or more during their lifetime of production, says C. J. Christians, extension animal husbandman at the University of Minnesota.

Beef cows can differ substantially in their ability to produce faster growing calves, he points out. The difference is emphasized in the records of two production-tested cows at the Oklahoma experiment station.

The study compared 12 calves produced by each cow during her productive life. Cow A did wean one more calf than Cow B. But more important, the 12 calves studied from Cow A averaged nine days younger at weaning, gained two-thirds of a pound more per day, and weighed 144 pounds more than Cow B's calves, says Christians.

Over her productive lifetime, Cow A, produced 2,148 pounds more calves at weining age—the equivalent of four more calves at 538 pounds each—than Cow B. And at a value of 25 cents per pound, Cow A produced $537 more income than Cow B.

The results illustrate the extreme differences found among cows in the same herd and maintained under the same conditions.

Christians says the best way for Minnesota cattlemen to measure their cow herd performance is to enroll in the Minnesota beef improvement program and keep accurate calving records this spring.

Enrollment in the program doesn't cost—it pays, says Christians, because low performing cows can be identified and culled. Replacement stock can be selected from the best producing cows.

Information on the performance testing program is available at the Pennington county extension office.

State Could Lose Much Money in Highway Grants

Minnesota could lose $9 million a year in federal highway aid if it fails to comply with the federal highway beautification act of 1965, according to Highway Commissioner John R. Jamieson.

Jamieson made this observation in connection with the public hearing held recently to consider regulations proposed by the Minnesota highway department for the regulation of advertising signs along 900 miles of Interstate and 12,000 miles of primary trunk highways in the state. The department drew up the regulations under authority of the billboard control law passed by the 1965 state legislature. The hearing was designed to give interested persons a change to hear and comment on the regulations.

"Our proposed regulations are about as strict as they can be under state law," said Jamieson, "but further tightening will be needed if Minnesota is to comply with the federal beautification law. Failure to do so by Jan. 1, 1968, could mean a loss of 10 per cent annually in federal highway grants."

Carole Wald in Social Sorority

Formal initiation ceremonies were held April 3 at Moorhead State college for members of a new chapter of the national honorary scholastic sorority, Alpha Lambda Delta, which has been established at the college. Carole Wald of Thief River Falls is a student charter member.

Alpha Lambda Delta is a national honorary sorority which was organized at the University of Illinois in 1924 to recognize high scholastic achievement and to promote higher standards of scholarship among college women. Eligibility for membership is based on maintaining a 3.5 cumulative grade point average for two quarters of the freshman year.

Swarm of Bees

The following article by Mayme Sharp in the Becker County Record at Detroit Lakes makes a good comparison:

I groaned a little when I looked at the calendar. There is something so disturbing about having another birthday—so soon. Pete laughed at me, "Would you rather not have one?" he said.

"No, I know when you quit having them you're dead," I said. "Besides, with the mess the world is in, I'm glad that I have as many years as I have."

We got to thinking. I remembered summers a long time ago when there was a big swarm of bees in the south wall of our house. We were afraid of them so we let them alone. Then they worked each year to make their cells bigger and, as they became stronger they became more troublesome and vicious. Then one summer day along came a good neighbor and he took on the job of getting rid of those swarms. He sure stirred up a lot of trouble and the bees were mighty mad. We were all mad before it was finished for we all got stung. Our neighbor was stung worst of all but he was persistent and tough. He said there was no easy way to get rid of them; we had to smoke them out! We had to kill the bees that were making the trouble!

Somehow, it seems like that now. Communist cells are growing everywhere. U. S. has made it legal here. U. S. is making it easy everywhere. And so the angry swarms are working. In Viet Nam we are pecking at them with hand to hand weapons—fighting without trying to win. Just like swatting angry bees in a swarm. And, our own beloved land, now is freer to Communists and killing mobs than it is to decent law abiding citizens. On a city street, an innocent man was stabbed to death in broad daylight with many people near and nobody answered his cries for help nor even called the police! We who love our great America and want to see our flag held high with pride, deplore such insults of hate and disgrace.

We asked Reverend Smythe, "Is U. S. a joke to Communists? Is the President, 'L.B.J.' becoming a joke even to U. S.?"

"We are all afraid", he said. "But courage is fear which has said its prayers. We all need courage and we all need prayers. History teaches us that our country needs prayers too."

Pete laid down his pipe. "Hum-m," he said, "They say that a birthday should be a guide post—not a hitching post."

Rifles and Ruffles

If the federal government continues its "rifles and ruffles" program, informed Republicans are saying on Capitol Hill, the result can only be runaway inflation and a rash of increased taxes. This opinion is expressed by Washington News service.

Many economists, favoring no political party, are saying the same thing. They note that for the first time in six years, the cost-of-living has begun to break through the overhead. They expect higher and higher prices, particularly in such items as food and clothing—the necessities of life. Restoring the taxes which the Johnson Administration cut with so much fanfare in the 1964 election year will not do very much good to stop the upward zoom of living costs, they say.

Political observers in Washington point out that whereas the President signed the civil rights bill at the Lincoln Memorial and the new immigration bill at the Statue of Liberty—all with considerable fanfare—he put his name on the new tax bill in his office at the White House, with no publicity whatsoever.

The solution being proposed by those with no political axes to grind is a halt in the multi-billion dollar programs being pushed by the White House. It is argued that the President got enough "handout legislation" passed in the last session of Congress to hold him for the next years, or at least until the bill for the Vietnamese war has been presented. There can be no cutback there if the United States is to stem the tide of Red agression and protect her flanks in southeast Asia.

But businessmen, big and small—as well as farmers and those with limited earnings or fixed pensions—feel that expanding the Great Society's programs can only lead to further shrinkage in the purchasing power of the dollar, with hardship to the vast majority of Americans. Foreign aid, they believe, has run its course and is only helping the perennial 'gimmes" of countries whose sole interest is in the Yankee dollar, not the Yankee well-being.

"The big businessman always makes out," one Republican congressman recently remarked, "but when inflation hits, it's the housewife who has to cope with higher prices at the market and shop, plus a family pay envelope which gets lighter every week".

If taxes are to remain down and inflation curb, federal expenditures must be cut. The administration hopes to hold the line against GOP attempts to break through with a 10 per cent cut on authorizations and appropriations for new and expensive projects. In the past, the most effective method has been to ask for more than was wanted, in the formal White House requests to Congress, thereby getting what the heads of departments and agencies had sought in the first place.

This technique may work again this year. But if congressional mail continues to run as it does, overwhelmingly anti-spending, the House of Representatives and the Senate may seriously hone their knives for deflating the new "inflation bbudget".

Keep Growing — Read

"A good book is the precious life-blood of a master spirit," wrote John Milton in 1644 during a period of great tension in England. The uncertainities of our own time urge us on to renew the blind poet's faith in books as the potent civilizer of men. And if one good book is precious, a thousand are a thousand times more precious. Thus is a library at once a symbol of our social values and a laboratory for the cultivation of the mind.

A world without libraries would be a savage place. If you would quickly know the quality of a community, look to its library. There you will see its true worth in a way that you will never see by inspecting its streets, its business or its politics. A town with a strong library is a town with a purpose.

As we observe National Library Week from April 17 to April 23, let us make it a time of celebration, an occasion for self-renewal, a period of re-dedication to the wisdom of our fathers who had the foresight to set aside some of their hard earned wealth for the education of their children through books.

The knowledge available to us in 1966 is growing at an astonishing rate. This knowledge can be diffused throughout the countryside only if we insure that our libraries prosper and thrive.

It won't be so very long before the new library building is ready for use. With the new facility will come new services and added opportunities for the public. Library Week in 1966 is especially important in Thief River Falls as we look forward to a transition in library services in the community.

I Can't Spel

The following poem by Roy Zylstra appeared in the Sleepy Eye "Herald - Dispatch":

There are folk who have a most dificult time
In trying to get certain words to rime
And others who can't tell red from greah
Still others who can't recall wot they've seen
But if my one falt I were asked to tel
It would simply be that 'I can't spel.'

I've studied and tried til I'm blue in the face
But the impruvement I've shown is hardly a trace
I can see the wurds in the mind of my eye
And see them reflected in stars in the sky
But I get so upset I could both screem and yell
'Cause when it comes to writing, 'I can't spel.'

Now you take a wurd, say like 'paralal'
My only truble is not with the 'l.'
And simple numbers like too and fore
To me have become a most dificult chore
They say it's 'ie' except after 'c'
But just what that means is lost on me.

I am sure that my thinking is clear as a belle
And this in itself is helping me spel
And I'm sure as the days move into years,
That speling will not be one of my fears
'Cause you can already see the impruvement I've shoan

Nope, he works for Otter Tail

With thousands of miles of transmission lines spread over a wide area, Otter Tail uses "line-hopping" regularly to spot a broken insulator, damaged cross-arm, or perhaps a weakened pole that might mean trouble in the future.

Air patrol is just a part of your electrical-insurance package from Otter Tail. Spotting potential trouble before it develops is a good way to guarantee the dependable electric service you expect and get from Otter Tail. And to guarantee your electric future, Otter Tail engineers today are planning 10 and 20 years ahead—studying the most efficient, economical ways to serve you.

IN SEED WE LEAD
SEED BARLEY
"Larker" "Conquest"

All of our Larker Barley will be pre-tested for Smut, and we will try to have our seed below 3% of Smut, all of our Seed will be bright with high plump and test weight

We will also have a new Blue Barley "Conquest" a Canadian release. We feel that this is the finest Barley, which we have had in a long time. It has straw strength comparable to our Wheats. We feel that this will replace Perkland as a Blue Barley, with better yielding and more disease resistance. This Barley is absolutly resistant to Smut.

Soon the boating season will arrive for Minnesotans, and many will be towing boats behind their vehicles. Be sure that boat trailers are equipped with stop lights so the driver behind will know when the driver is applying the brakes. Without brake lights, serious accidents can and do result.

REMEMBER "THE GOOD OLD DAYS"

There's something nostalgic about the old kerosene lamps . . . but there is nothing nostalgic about the memory of washing those chimneys, or trimming the wick, or the kerosene spilling as you fill the base! If you didn't get your homework done before dark, you strained your eyes poring over those arithmetic problems in the fickle flicker of the lamp.

TODAY: The kerosene lamp has become quite popular again, as a collector's item! Dependable rural electricity banished the lamps to cellars, attics, junkyards . . . and antique shops! Today's students have good lighting in their homes as well as their schools to safeguard their eyes at all times. It's so comforting to have instant light at the flick of a switch at any time of the day or night. Dependable rural electricity has lightened and brightened the homes throughout Minnkotaland.
